Manwaring, Richard G FLNR:EX

Dear Colleagues,

For Friday's meeting, our goal is to build off the productive conversation we started on Friday, October 26. Our key tasks for the meeting are to:

1. Agree on a definition of wildland fire resilience
2. Confirm report structure
3. Identify and agree on general themes, and specific priority actions
4. Identify next steps

To advance our discussions on developing a definition of 'wildland fire resilience' for the report, a working definition has been developed and is attached for your review and feedback.

We would like to note one specific issue that we did not discuss on Oct 26. The tight timeline we are working towards does not allow for meaningful engagement with others, particularly indigenous people. We suggest that we will need to consider what we might recommend to ministers on this topic.

Given the tight timelines, we need to make effective use of our time. As such, we request that each jurisdiction be prepared at the meeting to identify its top priority actions. Providing some of this information, using the supplied table or some other format, before the start of the Friday's meeting would be very helpful. These priority actions will be compiled into a comprehensive list, which would serve as the focal point for the Friday's discussion and prioritization exercise. Again, the tasking is to ensure that recommendations are specific and actionable, and we should make use of information compiled last year to the maximum extent possible.
