Franner/B.C. Oil & Gas Report magazine - First Nations support for LNG pipelines

Reporter/Outlet/Contact: Melanie Franner/B.C. Oil & Gas
Report magazine/705-431-4204; melaniefranner@gmail.com

Request:

Reporter is writing an article on First Nations support for LNG pipeline projects and is seeking a phone interview with Minister Rustad.

Reporter is willing to provide excerpts of the story for review prior to print, and is seeking suggestions of First Nations to interview regarding pipeline benefit agreements.

Questions:

- How many LNG pipeline benefits agreements have been signed with the province to date? How many currently under negotiation? Status?
- Names of the projects involved with and without benefits agreements?
- On average, how long does it take to reach a benefit agreement?
- Major factors/issues covered in the agreements?
- What are First Nations communities looking for in these agreements?
- What is the government looking for?
- What are some of the more controversial/sensitive areas of these agreements?
- How important is it to reach a benefits agreement? What happens if no agreement reached?
- How does BC government feel about achievements made to date?
- Is it getting easier to reach benefits agreements with First Nations communities or back to square one for each?
