

Health Sector Information Management/Information Management Division Information Technology Services

This document responds to Freedom of Information (FOI) Call for Records, HLTH-2012-00050:

“A table or list identifying which information technology services are provided to the ministry by ministry staff or through a contract, as of March 1, 2012. For services provided by ministry staff, please include the list of positions that perform each service, including title and classification.”

There are two parts to this request:

1. Which IT services are provided by contract; and,
2. Which IT services are provided by staff

The following response is specific to the Health Sector Information Management/Information Management (HSIMT) Division. The division provides the majority of Information Technology (IT) services to Ministry of Health program areas but does not provide all IT services; for example, some ministry program areas may have contracts for some of their web services or hosting of which the HSIMT would not be aware, given the programs have not requested these IT services through the HSIMT division.

1. Which IT services are provided by contract

There is no existing machine-readable source from which to generate the requested information regarding specific contracted IT services; however, the following lists the general types of IT services known to be provided through various contracts in place for the period requested.

- IT architecture services, including solution architecture and technical consulting and/or related architecture planning advice.
- IT business change implementation and management services, including business analysis, project management and/or change support.
- IT solution development and implementation, including systems development, network design and support, software development, installation and integration, and/or testing.
- IT service management, including capacity management, service-level management, software release and deployment, security administration, application support, service operations, web-hosting, help desk and/or incident management services.

The above is a general summary. The listed services are not mutually exclusive to one contract, and not every contract provides all of the services.

Note: Contractors' names were not requested and, therefore, are not included in this response.

2. Which IT services are provided by staff
