Message: Hi there.

Please let me know what information pertaining to real estate transactions is available as open data - also if you know of other sources (free or otherwise).

As an example, how can I get the following details for a typical transaction:

* type (residential/commercial, foreclosure, estate sale etc.)
* private sale vs. handled by realtor(s)
* list price and list date
* list price adjustments (with dates)
* sold price if applicable (with date)
* conditions if any
* possession date
* seller and owner information, observing privacy laws
* commissions
* open houses (dates and times)
* etc.

Fully realize that some of the above may only be available through the BCREA (is that a private organization) - but as far as I understand RECBC regulates them, so data should be somehow available. I definitely need your guidance on how to maximize the info above.

Thank you,
S 22

I'm a BCIT investigative reporting student. My group is doing a project on the BC Court systems. Though I'm finding a lot of the data very useful here, there are a few specific data figures I'm having trouble locating. I wonder if you could provide me with statistics for the following, please?

1. The number of court cases in BC during 2011-2012 that have had 'stay of proceedings' or been dismissed due to trial wait times?

2. How many of those court cases that have been dismissed are drunk-driving related?

3. How many of those court cases that have been dismissed are internet-luring related charges?

4. How many of those court cases that have been dismissed are 'indictable offenses charges'?

5. How many of those court cases that have been dismissed are 'summary conviction charges'?

6. How many of those court cases that have been dismissed are 'dual offenses' -OR- 'hybrid offenses related charges'?

I know there are a few questions here so Thank-you for your assistance, Message: First of all, congratulations for opening up data to the public. This is great! Now, in regards to the dataset "BC Liquor Store Product Price List - Current Prices" - it would become much more rich if the Varietal attribute was also included. That would allow, for an instance, the design of food pairing mashups. I am aware this info is in the long name.

However, this needs to be parsed and it makes things more complicated. A VARIETAL column in that dataset would be awesome. It shouldn't be that much work to do it because, as seen in the product search tool featured at http://www.bcliquorstores.com/product-catalogue, it is already possible to search for VARIETAL. Is this something that could be done? thx!

Message: Hi,

I'm not sure if I'm not searching correctly, or if this data is not available through DataBC..I can't find any property registry or BC Assessment data at all.

I would like be able to build a list of high-value buildings in BC, and to do that I would like to use assessment data about improvement value and date of last major improvement. I can get this data from the web sites of some municipalities (e.g. Vancouver), but it would be nice to be able to get all the data for BC from one source.

I know that BC Assessment data can be queried (at a cost of $7 per individual query!!) via BC Online, but I am hoping at least some of the assessment data is freely available through DataBC.   Am I just not looking in the right place, or is the available only via BC Online at $7/request??

Message: Greetings,

I just downloaded the Water Intakes (Extraction Points) for Human Consumption - BC shapefile.

The data set is partial, and I was wondering if this is an additional shapefile or data set to make this complete for the province?

I'm trying to locate all of the drinking water intakes for the entire province.

Thanks!

Zach

Message: Hi, I am looking for versions of GIS files for Grizzly Bear Populations Units from 2003 to 2012. I would also like to see the Compulsory Inspection Database (CID) that stores animal mortality opened to the public. Currently, some people sign data sharing agreements to get the information and some people don't. I have run into situations where I was told that I could not use the same dataset from a partner because we were under different data sharing agreements. I also frequently request updates. I think it makes sense to open this information to the public.

I would like to build a google based app that explains grizzly bear management and policy.

Thanks

Message: TRIM DEM & Positional and TRIM Orthophotos would be a huge benefit to small companies like mine. We simply can't compete with larger engineering firms that have data sharing agreements with the government which, in many cases, tend to be just one way (they receive data and provide little or none). This creates a huge imbalance where the cost for my company to produce projects reliant on TRIM mapping data is thousands of dollars more costly than it is for a larger firm - simply because I have to purchase the same data that they can use freely.

Please consider providing TRIM data and orthophotos on Data BC.

Province expands protected areas system

VICTORIA - The B.C. government introduced legislation today that will add more than 550,000 hectares to the province's parks and protected areas system, Environment Minister Terry Lake announced today.

Bill 49, the Protected Areas of British Columbia Amendment Act, 2012, will begin the implementation of the Atlin Taku River Land Use Plan by establishing 10 new conservancies and adding land to the existing Atlin Provincial Park. The new conservancies and additions to Atlin Provincial Park will add more than 413,000 hectares to the province's protected areas system.

The legislation will add more than 166,000 hectares of marine foreshore area to nine existing conservancies and 611 hectares of land to five existing conservancies on Haida Gwaii.

Bill 49 also upgrades two recreation areas (Cascade and Porteau Cove) and a portion of the Atlin Recreation Area to Class A park status. It adds a total of approximately 233 hectares to five other Class A provincial parks including Cultus Lake, Gowlland Tod, Main Lake, Skagit Valley and Stawamus Chief.

Message: I was wondering if you happen to have the data for Ranch lands. I have a pasture poly for parts of southern BC, but no information on the location of actual Ranch lands to the north. My area of interest is surrounded by Quesnel up to Prince George, over to Burns Lake, down to Bella Coola and back to Quesnel. Essentially this is the Cariboo Chilcotin Coast region.

Of particular interest is the home ranch. I would really appreciate any help that you may be able to provide.

According to the registry website, the registry information is made available to the public.
Unfortunately, online access requires a BC Online account - which virtually no member of the provincial corporate registry of Quebec are both available online for free.

Something similar to the document that shows 2005-2010 already in this databank would be very useful. I think back to 2000 would be sufficient, but if there is more info, I would appreciate that as well.

I would also like a similar table that illustrates the Annual Capital Allowance funding provided by the government to post-secondaries. Back to 2000 would be good, but more is better.

Thank you! This databank is great.

Message: To David Wrate and other DataBC Team members,

I would like to make a request to have a breakdown of MCFD wages, (inclusive of travel expenses, benefits, etc) by position, sent to my email address. I am also requesting an organizational chart of MCFD's admin and staffing structure to be sent to me. If this is too large of a task, an organizational chart related more specifically to MCFD's aboriginal services would be of use.

My co-worker Jason Simmonds contacted David Wrate in early-mid September requesting this material and was directed to the BC Public Service Agency directory contact information. The contacts there never returned Jason's calls. I am following up now because these materials will be immensely beneficial to our current work. Any help you can be in tracking down this information on MCFD's structure, positions and wages is greatly appreciated. We truly appreciate the help DataBC has been to us already in this process.

Message: Hi,

I was happy to find the private liquor store data set (including the geospatial information) on your site, but where is the government liquour store data? I contacted the LDB and they simply sent me a .pdf (marketing material) with all of their liquour store addresses. Sure, I can scrape out all of the addresses and geocode them, but that isn't the point. The data should be available already, don't ya think? Any chance that you can get the LDB to pony up the data, and keep it up-to-date on a regular basis?

The other data set I was looking for was the casino locations? Any chance of that?

Thanks...

Message: At the recent hackathon in Vancouver, I liked the idea of making a winery tour planner app based on the list DataBC had posted. I started putting in quite a bit of time to enhance the data set, and was wondering if B.C. had any other info on wine or grape producers in the province.. vs. wine or grape imports (i.e. is there data on what and how much is grown and where, vs. how much of what type of grape is imported.) The imports might be federal-level stuff, but I would think there is some Province-level agricultural data about growers.
I wanted to make the app a bit more useful by differentiating between B.C.-grown grapes vs.
imported grapes.

I'm also interested in the list of breweries in B.C. in order to add it to the winery/cidery app.

On a different project: I'm interested in how much of what type of alcohol the BC LDB clears each year, and the breakdowns by type and/or brand, and by type of buyer (retail, private store, restaurant, hotel, etc.) and by general geography. There are some (alarmist) stats from a few years ago that put consumption in B.C. as quite high per capita compared to the rest of Canada; but if there is in fact a spike in consumption in summer months in tourist areas, that tells a different story.

Message: The Residential Tenancy Branch already publishes decisions made by adjudicators on its site in searchable form at: http://www.housing.gov.bc.ca/rtb/search.html.

These PDF files are highly structured, but searching them for relevance to a particular topic is nevertheless very difficult and time consuming, in part because of the way that search results are displayed, and because of the limited amount of metadata that is catalogued.
Searching results for relevant issues that have already been decided is very important, because it might reduce the strain on dispute resolution services. It would be nice to see:
1. This document database catalogued with metadata to increase the likelihood of returning relevant search results.
2. The document data itself being stored differently, e.g. in XML, so that re-parsing it was not necessary.

Message: I now have another question for the record!

The Integrated Cadastral Information Society has been facilitating the consolidation of a BC Provincial Cadastral (privately owned lands, surveyed parcels, etc) dataset. They have been collecting information from local governments and other proponents to do so.

I understand Tantalis is available already but it not always up-to-date (especially for us Northerners) and focuses on Crown Lands, so can one expect to see the "ICIS Parcels/Cadastre" available publicly as part of data.gov?

I am not sure if the ICIS business model would support that, but they do use the words "open data" in almost all of their presentations when encouraging others to submit their data.

ICIS cadastral is already distributed publicly by viewing through a public web map from the ICIS site. Or one can simply contact the local governments themselves to acquire digital data (a tedious/time consuming process).

If there was transparency it would provide homeowners and potential homeowners a choice as to how much they need to rely on a real estate agent. Commissions have always been high but now with the increase in prices they are huge. Without a level playing field ordinary homeowners and potential homeowners have no choice but to pay the commissions and increase their debt with only the value of the house to show for it?! In the U.S. "sold" prices are available on the internet. I just accessed them through Zillow.com . Thank you for your serious consideration.

Message: Hi, I would like to access to public BCAA data.

They make it availble here:

http://evaluebc.bcassessment.ca/Search.aspx

But they refuse to give the data in a format that can be used for usefull things like Google Maps Mashups, which is what I have been trying to do for the last six months. The idea is simple. Click a parcel on the map and get the BCAA public data for that parcel.

BCAA also has the public map cadastral data here:

http://maps.geocortex.net/imf-5.1.002-dd/imf.jsp?site=icis_public

But again they refuse to give the public data in a useful format so that it can be mashed up with Google Maps.

ICIS, the "non-profit" who control the data, want to sell public data, that they got for free, back to the public for $5000, if I ask them very nicely.

http://www.icisociety.ca/

I would love to chat more about the practices of BCAA and ICIS which restrict competition and eliminate innovation.

Message: I require assessment data for every property in BC, keyed by Property Identifier (PID). The data required (in addition to PID) is the assessed value of the land portion and the assessed value of the improvements portion. For convenience this could be organized into one file per logical geographical area (such as Regional District).

My immediate need is for all properties within Assessment Area Code 08 (North Shore-Squamish Valley).

Message: Hello,

I am Canadian citizen in BC., I wanted to know specifically about government funding projects that award to non profit organizations for community activities and services.

For example: I know that there are a few non-profit organizations use public money for their activities. But I have not seen these organizations contribute any help to the community, rather, they use public money as a way to profit and often reuse of the citizen information for application of the funds over and over again.

To be specific, several groups of social workers who has direct connection with MOSAIC and SUCCESS as employees. Rather than filing for MOSAIC. They use this knowledge to file the funds for their own independent group to help the Canadian of Vietnamese background in BC.
However, they have not helped anyone but to promote their own concerts which make more money from the events, and to generate more donations.

It would be help to share with us, the public on funding information, so that we can have ways to make sure where the fund goes to and helps the ethnic community rather than for special interest groups who abuse the fund.

Best Regards,
    S 22

Message: I love this!
Suggestions:
1 - Have an app that you can put in a property number or address or something and have it draw the approximate property boundaries on google earth.
Note: when I tried the geoaddress app it missed my house by about 2 homes. Would be nice to be able to move the marker to correct the data?

2 - Increase the teen data and apps. I think a great project for youth would be to look at their own school district data (gender, age, high-school completion, pregnancy, ethnic?) and they could look at "declining enrollment" or growth for their own school district or other topics.

Message: I'd love to have access to BC property assessment data. Is there any chance we'll see some of that information opened up in the near future?

Thanks,

Message: Would like to see data on # of self identified Visible Minorities in the provincial government as employees. Would like to see by their job type. In particular, how many and what % are in management level.

Also data on employees by their age and genger would very useful.
