Hi there – yes, the week has been unfolding nicely until today's terrible events in Ottawa. We are on heightened security here at the Legislature, as well. Something like this touches all of us.

Sounds to me like the Minister was referencing the Buy BC program, where BC companies that believe they have relevant businesses identify themselves and we connect them with LNG proponents who may need their services. It is still in the pre-registration stage – more info is available here: <http://engage.gov.bc.ca/Inginbc/lng-buy-bc-program/>

If you think he meant something else, I'll try to talk to him about it later today or tomorrow. However, if this is reasonably close to the mark, I'll get you a contact in the Ministry of JTST, which has responsibility for Buy BC.

Tobie

Hi Tobie,
Congrats on the LNG Tax and GHG announcements this week. It looks like they are being relatively well received...no tissue rejection that I've seen.
At our session in Whistler, Rich mentioned that you have a list of companies that might benefit from LNG. We have assembled a team to help assist these companies in get their heads around the LNG opportunity. Who would we follow-up with in this regard? Is there a list that can be shared?
Best regards,
Jamie

Hi Tobie,

I don't think we've met, but I'm sure we will soon enough. Thank you very much for passing this along.

Hi Jeff. Not sure that we've met, yet. I'm Minister Coleman's Chief of Staff – he's the Minister of Natural Gas Development here in British Columbia.

Our ministers just spoke on the phone a few minutes ago and we committed to send you more information about the proposed LNG tax we just introduced this afternoon in our Legislature. Attached is the news release and a few background documents, including a PowerPoint that our Minister of Finance used in the budget lockup. In addition, information can be found online at:

<http://engage.gov.bc.ca/lnginbc/>

Do let me know if your minister would like anything else. I look forward to meeting you at some point.

Tobie
