Subject: How is BC going to get a handle on this debt?

Today, B.C.'s provincial debt is $57.6 billion. Our debt grows by $209 a second. $12,515 a minute. It takes just 80 minutes to add another million in debt – debt we, our children and grandchildren will have to pay back through increased taxes, fewer services or both. Even with balanced provincial budgets over the next four years – as promised by Premier Christy Clark – our province's debt will grow to $69.4 billion by 2016.

In 2011, Premier Clark stood in front of our B.C. Debt Clock and said, "It has never been more important to have a fiscally conservative government in British Columbia."

It looks like we are on a collision course for bankruptcy.

Hello Madame Premier.

As with most British Columbians, I am disgusted by the BC Ferries pay packages.

We are 56 billion in debt , which we both know cannot be paid off.

When will this nonsense stop?

Thank you.

Subject: Suggestion to use Bonds to reduce the debt.

Good morning Premier Clark,

After reading this article in the Toronto Star about Kathleen Wynne's proposal to use 'green bonds' to fund public transit in Ontario, it occurred to me that BC could use 'debt bonds' to help reduce the provincial debt.

Similar to war bonds which helped the war effort in WWII, BC could use this tool to offer citizens a unique opportunity to invest in their province.

Respectfully suggested,
