Re: Provincial Government Funding Commitment for the National Soccer Development Centre

Dear Minister Chong,

Further to your letter received October 22, 2010, and our subsequent discussions, Vancouver Whitecaps FC has continued to actively pursue an alternative site for the National Soccer Development Centre (NSDC). I am writing today to advise you that Vancouver Whitecaps FC has identified an alternative site for the NSDC at the University of British Columbia; the site directly aligns with the vision for the project.

S12

Vancouver Whitecaps FC is very excited at the opportunity to finally bring this great initiative to fruition in partnership with the Government. We are ready to move this initiative forward upon receipt of the funds, and look forward to your favourable review of the enclosed business case.

RE: Community usage of Athletics and Recreation facilities at UBC, including Whitecaps National Soccer Development Centre (NSDC)

The University of British Columbia has a significant role with the community through sport in promoting healthy-balanced lifestyles, building community and creating important sport partnerships. UBC President, Dr. Stephen Toope, was recently quoted as stating: "Sport can transform people, communities, even cultures, delivering lasting economic, social and health benefits."

Currently, UBC has significant community participation in our Athletics and Recreation facilities and the partnership with the Whitecaps to build NSDC will only serve to enhance this. Listed below is a summary of just some of the participation numbers and associated partnerships that currently exist at UBC.

- There are over 1.8M annual community visits to UBC Athletics and Recreation facilities
- Over 5000 youth from across B.C. participate in UBC sport camps annually
- A partnership with the University Neighborhood Association focuses on community-based programs and facility access for the over 9000 non-university campus residents
- Formal partnerships with over 10 community sport groups including: Urban Rec, Vancouver United Soccer Club, Vancouver Pacific Swim Club, BC Rugby and others that allow community usage / joint programming of UBC facilities.
- Have partnered / hosted over 100 major community events.

Specifically in Thunderbird Park (the area containing turf fields, grass fields, a track and baseball field and also the site for the NSDC) community usage / participation accounts for approximately 65% of current play and over 480,000 community visits annually. The Whitecaps NSDC would create a state-of-the-art training centre and create important recreational and high performance sport legacies for the community; this will allow for significant expansion of existing programs. Based on our preliminary planning, we are anticipating that both the Fieldhouse and new and upgraded fields would retain the same balance of institutional usage vs. community usage. In short, the proposed partnership presents a significant opportunity to engage community, promote physical well-being, build community and create valuable sport legacies. If you have any questions or require further information please feel free to contact me at 604-822-1688 or kavie.toor@ubc.ca.

RE: Community usage of Athletics and Recreation facilities at UBC, including Whitecaps National Soccer Development Centre (NSDC)

The University of British Columbia has a significant role with the community through sport in promoting healthy-balanced lifestyles, building community and creating important sport partnerships. UBC President, Dr. Stephen Toope, was recently quoted as stating: "Sport can transform people, communities, even cultures, delivering lasting economic, social and health benefits."

Currently, UBC has significant community participation in our Athletics and Recreation facilities and the partnership with the Whitecaps to build NSDC will only serve to enhance this. Listed below is a summary of just some of the participation numbers and associated partnerships that currently exist at UBC.

- There are over 1.8M annual community visits to UBC Athletics and Recreation facilities
- Over 5000 youth from across B.C. participate in UBC sport camps annually
- A partnership with the University Neighborhood Association focuses on community-based programs and facility access for the over 9000 non-university campus residents
- Formal partnerships with over 10 community sport groups including: Urban Rec, Vancouver United Soccer Club, Vancouver Pacific Swim Club, BC Rugby and others that allow community usage / joint programming of UBC facilities.
- Have partnered / hosted over 100 major community events.

Specifically in Thunderbird Park (the area containing turf fields, grass fields, a track and baseball field and also the site for the NSDC) community usage / participation accounts for approximately 65% of current play and over 480,000 community visits annually. The Whitecaps NSDC would create a state-of-the-art training centre and create important recreational and high performance sport legacies for the community; this will allow for significant expansion of existing programs. Based on our preliminary planning, we are anticipating that both the Fieldhouse and new and upgraded fields would retain the same balance of institutional usage vs. community usage. In short, the proposed partnership presents a significant opportunity to engage community, promote physical well-being, build community and create valuable sport legacies. VANCOUVER WHITECAPS FC

NATIONAL SOCCER DEVELOPMENT CENTRE

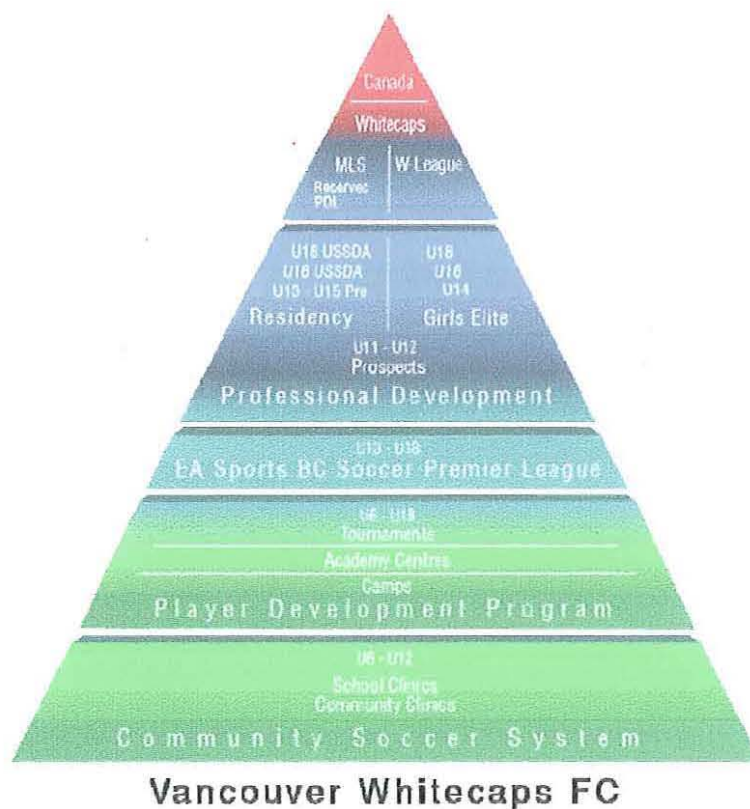

As British Columbia's professional club, player development is a vital area for the Whitecaps FC. The Whitecaps are working closely with community clubs across BC to produce a high quality pipeline of talented young players that supports the Whitecaps and the Canadian national teams, as well as helping to improve the standard of soccer within local clubs at grass roots levels.

Equally important as elite player development to the Whitecaps are the clubs community development and partnership with the provincial soccer association, BC Soccer. This partnership enhances the ability through all of the partner clubs throughout the many regions of BC to continue to increase the overall participation rate in the sport.

Vancouver Whitecaps FC is built on a European Club model and is one of the most unique and integrated soccer development programs in North America. From grassroots programs to professional teams the club model reaches over 33,500 participants and is expected to grow to 41,000 by 2014. This number represents nearly 1/3 of the registered soccer players in British Columbia alone.

The Whitecaps FC National Soccer Development Centre will be a very important part of the growth of soccer across BC as it acts as a central hub for all the community programs. Each regional program acts as a spoke on a wheel leading to opportunities at the central hub.

In addition to the professional development programs based out of the centre (both UBC and SFU components), there will be many opportunities within the Whitecaps player development and community partner model for access to the Whitecaps FC National Soccer Development Centre.

One last request which we need before the announcement can officially be made. We need two letters addressed to our Minister.

I have taken a stab at some wording. Please just use as a general GUIDE so you get a sense of what we need. And please excuse any factual errors – I am typing this very quickly and much from memory so I might get something wrong. If you have time, please send me a draft so I can make sure the key points that need to go in are represented. Also happy to chat by phone if you have any questions/require clarification.

Thanks! And we're almost done!

Re: Community Use – Whitecaps National Soccer Development Centre

Dear Minister Chong,

This is to confirm that the successful construction of the National Soccer Development Centre will result in a significant level of access for community-based programming. Indeed this is as core to the Whitecaps strategy to building and spreading the sport as it is to our investment in high performance and excellence. Detailed program schedules still need to be worked out and will, as you would expect, change and adapt in accordance with broad and changing needs, ensuring the very best year over year results and participation. Once the project is made public - the process of consultation can begin and early programming blocks can be mapped out. The table below summarizes the kind of community use that we anticipate.

Partner	Community % of time	Community Hours/Year	Estimates and Targets for Usage
UBC	65%	892	Partnerships with local community sport clubs (e.g. Vancouver United Soccer Club) Partnership with University Neighborhood Association Youth sport camps Community sport events
WFC	44%	1,127	Provide 10 hours of access each week for local club community use (350 hours, 1,200 youth reached) Coaching days with BC Soccer Association (200 coaches) Regular school day opportunities for school PE or soccer teams (800 youth reached) Community Clinics Community tournaments for ages 8-12 (960 youth reached) BC Soccer Premier League with participants from regions throughout the province (720 youth from across BC reached) BC Soccer Association grassroots coaching programs (900 youth coaches trained each year)
Total	51%	2,019	Total participants reached at the Centre over 10,000 annually – primarily youth programs and grassroots coach development.

SINCE 1974

These guideline allocations have been shared with and are supported by the BC Soccer Association (BCSA) which represents over 120,000 members across British Columbia. The BCSA has been and is a valued partner in the development of the Centre and we look forward to our work with them against a common vision of making positive contributions and growing soccer in our communities. Not to mention the broad impact on children's health and wellness through soccer development.

Rachel Lewis

Re: Community Use – Whitecaps National Soccer Development Centre

Dear Deputy Minister Fast,

This letter is to confirm that the successful construction of the National Soccer Development Centre ("NSDC") will result in a significant level of access for community-based programming. Indeed this is core to the Whitecaps strategy to building and spreading the sport. Detailed program schedules still need to be worked out and will, as you would expect, change and adapt in accordance with broad and changing needs, ensuring the very best year over year results and participation. However, our unwavering guarantee, in partnership with our facility partner, the University of British Columbia, and our largest community partner, BC Soccer, is a commitment to make the new NSDC a significant community, local and provincial asset. In fact, BC Soccer is already our partner in the integrated delivery model of all of our community programs, and all three parties are excited at the impact on grassroots soccer that having a facility such as the NSDC in our Province will provide.

At this early stage in the project, using standard field usage statistics, it is conservatively estimated that once completed, the two new grass fields at the current site of Matthews Field will have a combined 1,000 annual usable hours, and once constructed, the new artificial turf field will have approximately 2,920 annual usable hours. Therefore, a total of 3,920 annual hours will be created by the new fields. In addition, this partnership with UBC will also result in upgrades to two existing fields which will significantly enhance their usable capacity, and ultimately, also increase their total hours available for use to UBC.

Conservatively estimating the additional usable hours created by the NSDC, the table on the following page summarizes the allocation and type of community use that we anticipate would comprise approximately 51% of available field time:

SINCE 1974

Field	Community % of time	Community Hours/Year	Estimates and Targets for Community Usage
UBC	65%	892	NSDC field time allocated to community programs, community rentals and additional access for broader community groups including: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Partnerships with local community sport clubs (e.g. Vancouver United Soccer Club) • Partnership with University Neighborhood Association • Youth sport camps • Community sport events
WFC	44%	1,127	NSDC field time allocated to broad youth soccer programs which may be operated by the Whitecaps (e.g. summer camps, tournaments, clinics which are open to the public at large), BC Soccer or the community at large and which are focused on grassroots soccer development including such things as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Provide 10 hours of access each week for local club community use (350 hours, 1,200 youth reached) • Coaching days with BC Soccer Association (200 coaches) • Regular school day opportunities for school PE or soccer teams (800 youth reached) • Community Clinics • Community tournaments for ages 8-12 (960 youth reached) • BC Soccer Premier League with participants from regions throughout the province (720 youth from across BC reached) • BC Soccer Association grassroots coaching programs (900 youth coaches trained each year)
Total	51%	2,019	Total participants reached at the Centre over 10,000 annually – primarily youth programs and grassroots coach development.

SINCE 1974

These guideline allocations have been prepared in co-ordination with our facility partner UBC, and shared with and are supported by the BC Soccer Association (BCSA) which represents over 120,000 members across British Columbia. The BCSA has been and continues to be a valued partner in the development of the Centre. Please find attached, a letter of support from the BCSA to Minister Chong dated July 31, 2012. The letter outlines BCSA's support and partnership in helping to deliver the over 2,000 hours of community based programming for children, youth and community based coaches and officials. We look forward to our work with them against a common vision of making positive contributions and growing soccer in our communities. Not to mention the broad impact on children's health and wellness through soccer development.

What is especially exciting about all of this is that now, here in British Columbia, thanks to this world class soccer initiative, we will have a center that profoundly elevates the development and delivery of the game for the benefit of so many. The sport and community legacies will continue for generations and BC will be recognized as the both the home and the champion for soccer in this country. The Government of BC can be enormously proud of what is being accomplished here and the spirit of partnership that brought it about.

John Furlong, OC, OBC
