Subject: Additional summaries from Model scenarios

Hi all,

I'm sending some additional summaries of the scenario results based on the discussion last Friday with the Canadian Commissioners and also requests from Brian. With this email, the attached Word document provides a summary table for each Model stock which contains average 2009-16 catch in the major fishery groupings, and in the terminal run and escapement. So, most types of Model output, with the exception of exploitation rate, is brought together in a one place. Also, the percentage differences use Scenario B (scenario based on actual catches and stock returns) as the base case instead of Scenario A. Comparison against actual results may make assessment of the scenario results more straightforward. The hope is also that it may be easier to determine the relative benefits s.13,s.16

s.13,s.16

The stocks are grouped and organized in the following sequence:

Canadian stocks

Puget Sound stocks

Coastal southern US stocks

Columbia River stocks

Southeast Alaska stock

Another email with data summaries that provide more specifics for the individual ISBM fisheries will be forthcoming.

The Department has completed a Discussion Document intended to provide information to support your feedback and recommendations on the determination of reference points and allowable exploitation rate caps for southern Canadian Coho management units (MUs) within the bilateral framework of the Pacific Salmon Treaty (PST).

The Departments' Discussion Document: "Pacific Salmon Treaty (PST) Southern Coho Reference Points and Exploitation Rate Caps" may be found at the following link:

Webinars will be held on April 11 and 24, 2018. These webinars will provide an overview of the Discussion Document, an opportunity for questions and brief discussion to help support participants feedback on the core question: Do you think the current maximum allowable bilateral exploitation rate under the Pacific Salmon Treaty Southern Coho Management Plan be maintained, reduced or increased? A questionnaire is included in the Discussion Document and may be returned directly to Department. Please send all completed questionnaires to Cynthia.Johnston@dfo-mpo.gc.ca.

PST Briefing Note

- I will work on a new Briefing Note to cover more details on the negotiations and on current status/next step.
- Note: another negotiating session with the US has now been set for April 16-20 in Vancouver.

s.13,s.16

I hope this helps. Shall I go ahead and contact Rebecca/Sue, now that I've spoken with Paul?

Next steps?

Cheers, Larry

Use this version as I caught some typos. There is a highlighted sentence in there that I can't understand so it needs to be rewritten – probably into two or more sentences.
Once complete, you can send to IGRS noting that our DM has not yet reviewed.

Subject: PST April Negotiation Meeting Schedule

Negotiating Team Members,

At the last session in Portland, it was decided that additional meetings in April would be set aside to continue negotiations. As such, please note the following:

April 16-20, Vancouver, BC

• Location

- The Parties are still deciding on where to meet and caucus from (DFO or another location downtown).
- A follow up email will be provided tomorrow on this.

• Meeting Schedule

- The U.S. will caucus on Monday, April 16th and Tuesday, April 17th with bilateral discussions to be scheduled afterwards (April 18th -20th).
- The Canadian delegation will start on Tuesday, April 17th from 1:00pm – 4:00pm.
- Both Parties have agreed to adjourn at 12:00pm Friday, April 20th.

• Hotel Accommodation

- The PSC will not block book hotel rooms so negotiating team members will need to secure rooms on their own.
- Please keep in mind that the meeting will occur downtown and close to the DFO office.
- Suggested hotels include: Vancouver Marriott Pinnacle, Coast Coal Harbour, the Delta, and the Hyatt.

April 30-May 4, Location TBD

• Location

- As of current, Seattle, Portland, and Vancouver have been proposed as options.
- The PSC is working to determine availability in Vancouver first.
- DFO meeting space is also being explored to host the Parties.

• Meeting Schedule TBD

• Hotel Accommodation

- The PSC is still looking for block booking options however, because Vancouver is busy during this time it's become a challenge.

Good afternoon,
Forests shared their correspondence with MLA Adam Olsen – a copy of the incoming and response is attached.
For Minister Trevena's correspondence, we didn't locate any correspondence to or from MLA Olsen on the topic.
The closest "match" in terms of mentioning fish (in technical terms) is our log 269345 – November 2017 correspondence to Watershed Watch Salmon Society talking about fish-friendly flood control infrastructure. It briefly references our work and was copied to Ministers Farnworth and Donaldson. It wasn't shared on our side with MLA Olsen.

Please let Aaron or I know if you'd like this for reference.

Hi AGRI folks -

Can we chat tomorrow about the Pacific Salmon Treaty? I'd like to brief you on what was discussed while the Premier met with Govs Inslee and Brown and get an update from you on the status.

All are invited but I know you're busy so please let me know if you'd like to join. I can find a time that works.

Thanks,

Jeremy

Subject: RT Agenda Items

Hi James and Arif,

For RT on Monday, March 26th, could you please send me your 3 (or less) topics by 11am tomorrow (Friday, March 23)?

The MO has not put forward any items for either of you at this time. On my bring forward list, I have only one item for Wes, which is the length of term for BCFIRB appointments (this question was posed by CABRO). Wes may add additional items for himself though, as per usual, when I discuss the agenda with him tomorrow.

Thanks,

Georgina

Scenario Summary Tables

March 6, 2018

This document contains tables summarizing Model scenario results for the individual Canadian and US ISBM fisheries.

The following summaries occur in the following order:

- 1) Average 2009-16 total Model catch in ISBM fisheries, one table with Scenario A as the base case and one with scenario B as the base case
- 2) A series of tables, one for each Model stock, arranged in alphabetical order, using the same table format as above with scenario B as the base case (a list of the Model stocks is given below)
- 3) A series of tables based on a specific grouping of Model stocks (geographical and regionally-based stock-of-concern), using the same table format as above with scenario B as the base case (the geographical and stock-of-concern groupings are given below in the table listing the Model stocks)

Summary Table of Scenarios:

Scenario	SEAK	NBC	WCVI	US ISBM G.O.=0.60	CDN ISBM G.O.=0.635
A	2009 Table 1			General Obligation
B	Actual Fisheries
C	85% of Scenario A values
F	75% Table 1	Table 1		75% G.O.	G.O.
Scenario	SEAK	NBC	WCVI	US ISBM & N CDN ISBM	Southern CDN ISBM
D	Table 1	85% Table 1	75% Table 1	09–15 Average	75% 09–15 Average
E	92.5% Table 1

Expectation for changes in catch relative to Scenario B based on actual catch data and spawning returns (not yet complete)

Scenario	Description	US Fisheries		Canadian Fisheries
		SEAK AABM	SUS ISBM	NBC AABM	WCVI AABM	N/C BC ISBM	SBC ISBM
A	Match PST 09 perfectly preseason	D		U	D
C	15% reduction -all	U		S	D
F	US fisheries only reduced	D		U	S
D	CA fisheries only reduced	D		U	D
E	D + small SEAK reduction	D		D	D

The following Model fisheries form the major fishery groupings in the scenarios:

SEAK	SUS ISBM	NBC	WCVI	N/C ISBM	SBC ISBM
SEAK T	WA/OR T	North T	WCVI T	North N	Geo St T
SEAK S	Puget Sd North N	Nor/Cen S	WCVI AABM S	Central T	WCVI N
SEAK N	Puget Sd South N			Central N	Juan De Fuca N
	Wash Coastal N				John St N
	Columbia R N				Fraser N
	Wash Ocean S				Geo St S
	Puget Sd North S
	Puget Sd South S
	Columbia R S

Note the following:

1. Fisheries highlighted in red font no longer exist or they exist but the currently small catch occurs as by-catch in fisheries directed at other salmon. Historically, these fisheries were directed at Chinook, the catch was a mixture of local and non-local stocks, and the catch was substantial.
2. Fisheries highlighted in blue font still occur but they now occur in terminal areas directed at local stocks and the catch is much smaller. Historically, these fisheries were less terminal, caught a broader mixture of stocks, and the catch was larger.
3. The current Model does not include the WCVI ISBM sport fishery. This fishery is included in the new Model.
4. The North ISBM sport and Central sport fisheries are aggregated with the North AABM sport fishery in the current Model. These fisheries have all been separated in the new Model.
5. The 'Georgia St Sport' sport fishery in the current Model combines together all areas encompassed from Juan de Fuca to Johnstone Strait. The Juan de Fuca area is separated from Georgia/Johnstone Strait in the new Model.

The table below contains the list of Model stocks, arranged alphabetically, and in the same order as a summary table containing ISBM catches occurs in this document. The two columns on the right hand side of the table also shows two different aggregations of stocks for which summary tables are provided in this document following the stock-specific tables.

Subject: NRS Fish
Date: Thursday, March 29, 2018 2:09:21 PM

Hey guys,

Here's an update from NRS fish this aft:

FLNRO Reorganizations

- Marine Planning/Oceans unit moved out of Tom Ethier's division, into Coast areas Division under Charlie Short and Craig Sutherland.
- Fish and Wildlife split into two branches- Jen P went to wildlife, Jennifer Davies new director for Fish. Jennifer D's background is as ED of resource management branch, lots of experience as and ED, but no direct experience with fish.
- Also another new branch created – the Species at Risk Branch. That branch will also support fish. i.e. if steelhead get listed, then both the Fish and Aquatic Habitat Branch and the Species At Risk Branch would support work on that.
- There is going to be a transition over the next while, especially as those people near retirement weigh their options about the new pension changes coming April 1. Not sure if that was in reference to s.22 or someone else there.
- Mike R is acting manager of the Aquatic Habitat unit until they fill that position. In addition to his regular position currently.

Fisheries Act:

- Moving to biweekly FATG meetings to discuss the changes
- Still waiting to see how BC can submit direct feedback into parliamentary process

s.13,s.16

- Lisa will get C&E engaged for enforcement pieces

Oceans:

- I updated about the MCT panel meeting
- Lisa updated that work is complete on ocean acidification mapping along the Pacific Coast – will share

Seafood Secretariat

- Lisa asked that coordination around the ENV fish processing plant work be added to next SS agenda

Steelhead

s.13,s.16

PST

- I gave updated on PST situation and let them know that PJH may be briefed at some point but nothing firm yet.

NRS Coordination project

- Rebecca (the one who led the brainstorm session at ENV) gave an update on the coordination project.
- They are still collecting data but the next step will be to take that data, organize it, and report back to a group of directors and EDs from each agency. David- sounds like you'll be on that group.

Any next steps planned?

Use this version as I caught some typos. There is a highlighted sentence in there that I can't understand so it needs to be rewritten – probably into two or more sentences.

Once complete, you can send to IGRS noting that our DM has not yet reviewed.

Use this version as I caught some typos. There is a highlighted sentence in there that I can't understand so it needs to be rewritten – probably into two or more sentences. Once complete, you can send to IGRS noting that our DM has not yet reviewed. Melissa can approve on my behalf to DMO.

I spoke with Will late today and he's requested the following items which he will raise:

Buy BC stickers on fruit

Salmon file (specifically, plans for year of the salmon)

PST exemption for agriculture

Meat regs

Cannabis file

Dominic Leblanc messaging for MLP meeting

Wine file

I don't have the numbers with me. Could be big - up to 14 million. But given what may be going on out there, it may be about 3 million and then likely no fisheries. Larry

Good thinking all!

And Brian Riddell as well as Beamish. Both are quite involved. Don't forget there will some fairly big activities up at the Adams river. Salute to the Sockeye I think it's called. Julia McKenzie will likely know more about DFO plans for this. Or even Andy T.

Thank you David! You put this together so quickly !

Regarding a presentation on steelhead, both Al Martin (now with BCWF) and Andrew Wilson (now with FWFSBC) have made excellent presentations on steelhead to international groups. I'm sure Jen P could do so as well. I have the one that Al gave to the Pacific Salmon Commission a few years ago. Of course what is really needed is funding and real Provincial action on steelhead.

The MO has not put forward any items for either of you at this time. On my bring forward list, I have only one item for Wes, which is the length of term for BCFIRB appointments (this question was posed by CABRO). Wes may add additional items for himself though, as per usual, when I discuss the agenda with him tomorrow.

Thanks,

Georgina

I followed up today with a quick call to Corey Jackson, who is now back on the PST file for DFO Pacific Region. He also thinks this could be helpful, if coordinated with them. He's going to chat with Rebecca and Sue as head of CDN Delegation to try to get a temperature check. James, I suspect that Rebecca may reach out to you directly at some point as well.

FLNRO Reorganizations

<!--[if !supportLists]-->•<!--[endif]-->Marine Planning/Oceans unit moved out of Tom Ethier's division, into Coast areas Division under Charlie Short and Craig Sutherland.

<!--[if !supportLists]-->•<!--[endif]-->Fish and Wildlife split into two branches- Jen P went to wildlife, Jennifer Davies new director for Fish. Jennifer D's background is as ED of resource management branch, lots of experience as and ED, but no direct experience with fish.

<!--[if !supportLists]-->•<!--[endif]-->Also another new branch created – the Species at Risk Branch. That branch will also support fish. i.e. if steelhead get listed, then both the Fish and Aquatic Habitat Branch and the Species At Risk Branch would support work on that.

<!--[if !supportLists]-->•<!--[endif]-->There is going to be a transition over the next while, especially as those people near retirement weigh their options about the new pension changes coming April 1. Not sure if that was in reference to s.22 or someone else there.

Subject: PST April Negotiation Meeting Schedule

Negotiating Team Members,

At the last session in Portland, it was decided that additional meetings in April would be set aside to continue negotiations. As such, please note the following:

April 16-20, Vancouver, BC

- Location
 - o The Parties are still deciding on where to meet and caucus from (DFO or another location downtown).
 - o A follow up email will be provided tomorrow on this.
- Meeting Schedule
 - o The U.S. will caucus on Monday, April 16th and Tuesday, April 17th with bilateral discussions to be scheduled afterwards (April 18th -20th).
 - o The Canadian delegation will start on Tuesday, April 17th from 1:00pm – 4:00pm.
 - o Both Parties have agreed to adjourn at 12:00pm Friday, April 20th.
- Hotel Accommodation
 - o The PSC will not block book hotel rooms so negotiating team members will need to secure rooms on their own.
 - o Please keep in mind that the meeting will occur downtown and close to the DFO office.
 - o Suggested hotels include: Vancouver Marriott Pinnacle, Coast Coal Harbour, the Delta, and the Hyatt.

April 30-May 4, Location TBD

- Location
 - o As of current, Seattle, Portland, and Vancouver have been proposed as options.
 - o The PSC is working to determine availability in Vancouver first.
 - o DFO meeting space is also being explored to host the Parties.
- Meeting Schedule TBD
- Hotel Accommodation
 - o The PSC is still looking for block booking options however, because Vancouver is busy during this time it's become a challenge.
 - o Negotiating team members may have to again book their own rooms.

A follow-up email will be provided shortly with further details on meeting logistics.

Should you have any questions or require assistance please let me know.

 - o The PSC will not block book hotel rooms so negotiating team members will need to secure rooms on their own.

- o Please keep in mind that the meeting will occur downtown and close to the DFO office.
- o Suggested hotels include: Vancouver Marriott Pinnacle, Coast Coal Harbour, the Delta, and the Hyatt.

April 30-May 4, Location TBD

• Location

- o As of current, Seattle, Portland, and Vancouver have been proposed as options.
- o The PSC is working to determine availability in Vancouver first.
- o DFO meeting space is also being explored to host the Parties.

• Meeting Schedule TBD

• Hotel Accommodation

- o The PSC is still looking for block booking options however, because Vancouver is busy during this time it's become a challenge.
- o Negotiating team members may have to again book their own rooms.

A follow-up email will be provided shortly with further details on meeting logistics.

Negotiating Team Members,

As a follow-up to the message below, please note that the Parties have agreed to host the bilateral meetings at the PSC office in Vancouver. The U.S. section will caucus at the PSC office while, Canada will caucus at DFO headquarters. To support your hotel bookings, I've included the address of both DFO and the PSC offices below:

- Pacific Salmon Commission Office
00-1155 Robson St, Vancouver, BC
- Fisheries and Oceans Canada
401 Burrard St #200, Vancouver, BC

Please note that the Canadian delegation will caucus out of DFO's Executive Boardroom located on the 15th floor. When you arrive, please first go to the 2nd floor to receive your visitor pass. This will give you access to the 15th floor.

Thank you,
Sukhraj

Hi AGRI folks -

Can we chat tomorrow about the Pacific Salmon Treaty? I'd like to brief you on what was discussed while the Premier met with Govs Inslee and Brown and get an update from you on the status.

All are invited but I know you're busy so please let me know if you'd like to join. I can find a time that works.

Thanks,

Jeremy

Colleagues:

Apologies for the short notice. I have just been informed that ^{s.13,s.16}
s.13,s.16

Items to be discussed include the following:
s.13,s.16

I would be grateful if each one of you could send me a few paragraphs on your respective items no later than 3:00 pm today. Emphasis should be on "Points to Register" as opposed to "Background" although some background is welcome.

Also, please feel free to add any significant issues not listed above that you would like the s.13,s.16 (including Dave, Fazil and Mark S).

Many thanks and apologies for the short turn-around time.

Hi again -

I think these look good. The focus will be s.13,s.16

s.13,s.16

s.13,s.16 . Keep in mind there will be many topics so time will be short.

Thanks,
Jeremy

Coho Ref Points - Questionnaire FINAL Mar 26 2018.docx

Hi Folks,

I'd like to take this opportunity to remind you of an upcoming webinar which will take place on April 24th from 10:00 to 12:00 re: "Pacific Salmon Treaty (PST) Southern Coho Reference Points and Exploitation Rate Caps." I apologize for any duplicate emails. Webinar details and link to sign in are located at the end of this email.

Overview:

As outlined in the Departments Engagement Plan, distributed to you in January, 2018, a Discussion Document has been developed and is intended to provide information to support your feedback and recommendations on the determination of reference points and allowable exploitation rate caps for southern Canadian Coho management units (MUs) within the bilateral framework of the Pacific Salmon Treaty (PST). This discussion document is available in DFO's library: <http://waves-vagues.dfo-mpo.gc.ca/Library/40673972.pdf>. Also included as an attachment to the Discussion Document (and attached separately in this email – although intended to be completed while referencing the Discussion Document) is a questionnaire intended to help solicit feedback in a consistent manner. We are asking that the questionnaires be submitted to Cynthia.Johnston@dfo-mpo.gc.ca by May 11, 2018. Partially completed questionnaires are also welcome.

In an effort to ensure wide review and consistent understanding of the Discussion Document and supporting science, the Department is holding webinars. These webinars are intended to introduce the Discussion Document and provide an opportunity for questions and clarification prior to completing and submitting the Questionnaires. One webinar has been held thus far and the recording of this webinar is available here <https://pwgsc-nh.webex.com/pwgsc-nh/ldr.php?RCID=5793a48fd2a3c406c9106b0211e0c16f> (please note the dialogue starts at 4 minutes). Also available is a copy of the presentation (attached) which will also be used for the upcoming webinar on April 24th.

Additional background information as well as links to relevant documents may be accessed on the Coho ER consultation page at: <http://www.pac.dfo-mpo.gc.ca/consultation/smon/pst-coho-tsp/index-eng.html>. This website will be updated shortly to include a link to the presentation. For any questions on the process, please contact Cynthia via email or at the number outlined below.

Thank you

Cynthia

Salmon

- There are a variety of high profile files underway in British Columbia relating to both farmed and wild salmon. Due to a variety of factors, many wild salmon runs are expected to have very low returns this year, including a number of Fraser River species being considered for listing as species at risk. Because Fisheries and Oceans Canada has the primary authority for both farmed and wild Pacific salmon, it is important for BC and Canada to work collaboratively on these issues.

Key messages:

1) MAACFA

- On April 5th, BC released the final report of the Minister of Agriculture's Advisory Council on Finfish Aquaculture (MAACFA).
- This multi-stakeholder advisory process had conflicting perspectives on salmon farming but was able to reach consensus on six overarching themes, including 29 recommended actions. Many of are the responsibility of Fisheries and Oceans Canada (DFO).
- DFO has been engaged in this process, and BC has been pleased to see many of these recommendations gaining traction, such as the National Science Advisor's new initiative on aquaculture science and the new cost-shared Fisheries and Aquaculture Clean Tech Adoption Program. It will be important that our two governments work together to assess and implement these recommendations.

2) Negotiations with Broughton First Nations

- BC is undertaking sensitive negotiations with five First Nations in the Broughton Archipelago. These First Nations have been consistently opposed to salmon farms in their traditional territories.
- Early discussions have been focused on the province's consideration of tenure renewals coming up in June 2018. However, given DFO's responsibility for fish health and the licensing of salmon farms, we will need senior level engagement by the Minister and DFO as these discussions progress.
- Approximately one-third of total salmon farm production in BC is in the Broughton Archipelago, so these discussions with First Nations will have important implications for the industry.

3) International Year of the Salmon – funding for fisheries

- The International Year of the Salmon (IYS) will be announced in Fall 2018, with its focal year being 2019, and projects and activities continuing into 2020.
- This could be an opportunity for Canada and BC to increase the profile of wild salmon and to prepare for further investments in fisheries as part of the Budget 2019 process.
- BC recognizes the significant recent federal investments in fisheries science and habitat protection.
- There remain outstanding funding gaps, in particular relating to monitoring and stock assessment, that currently limit our ability to effectively manage these fisheries and represent ourselves well in negotiations with the US.

4) Canada-US Pacific Salmon Treaty

- BC is participating in the Canadian negotiating team seeking to reach a new agreement with the US, on expiring conservation and sharing arrangements under the Treaty. It is critical that we reach an agreement with the US but it is also critical that Canada not accept "a bad deal".

- We are concerned about the risks of not reaching an agreement by May 2018, but see positive signs of progress in that another negotiating round is planned for April.
- Premier Horgan has discussed the importance of this agreement with the Governors of Washington and Oregon. Given the importance of the treaty to BC, the Premier will consider any other diplomatic efforts that align with Canada's strategy.
- BC is interested in knowing how it can assist with a Team Canada approach to advocacy on this issue with the US.

Hi Lorie – this may help!

Lars

Ministry of Agriculture
BRIEFING NOTE FOR MINISTER FOR INFORMATION

Ref: 185200

Date: October 21, 2016

Issue: BC's support for continuing engagement in international Pacific fisheries negotiations.

Background: In 2015, commercial capture fisheries in BC harvested 158,900 metric tonnes of seafood with a wholesale value of $773.5 million. Capture fisheries account for about 54% of the total wholesale value of all BC seafood (wild capture and culture). Many of BC's resources are highly migratory or straddling fish stocks that are impacted by management and harvesting actions of other nations. International fisheries management cooperation is critical to achieving our shared interests regarding conservation, the environment, sustainable economic and community wellbeing, and climate change.

Although sovereign nations are responsible for international treaties and agreements, sub-national states such as BC also have strong interests. BC has significant authority, either exclusive or shared with the Federal Government, over many areas that are critical for fish, including managing habitat and forest practices, and the commerce of fisheries. The Province's direct engagement in international treaty negotiations has been noted as helpful in reaching successful conclusions, by both the federal government and industry.

A number of fishing arrangements including those under the CDA-US Pacific Salmon Treaty and the Albacore Tuna Treaty are set to expire in the near future (2018 and 2016 respectively). Both Parties are now making plans to enter renegotiation, and issues are beginning to emerge. Provincial fisheries agencies and the Intergovernmental Relations Secretariat (IGRS) may also need to be made aware of the issues.

It is important that BC remains directly involved in international fisheries negotiations to ensure sustainable management and sharing of regional resources. BC seeks to ensure that stable fishing agreements are reached, and they remain focused on fisheries issues (See Appendix1).

First Nations Considerations: Consultations with First Nations regarding international agreements are the responsibility of Fisheries and Oceans Canada (DFO). BC First Nations have a long history of involvement in commercial fisheries and processing. BC First Nations are actively involved in the Pacific Salmon Commission, as Commissioners and on panels and committees. First Nations also have a Commissioner on the International Pacific Halibut Commission and the Tri-National Sardine Forum.

Discussion: BC supports Canada's participation in international fisheries agreements as a mechanism for conservation and effective management of highly migratory and straddling fisheries stocks, including: Pacific salmon, hake, albacore tuna, halibut and sardines. International fisheries treaties and agreements:

- protect possible fishing opportunities for British Columbians and Canadian stocks that migrate outside Canada's Exclusive Economic Zone;
- ensure that rules and access for international fisheries in the North Pacific reflect BC's interests;
- protect BC interests in ensuring that they remain fisheries focussed, and not delve into other areas of provincial jurisdiction (such as environment assessment); and,
- advance protective measures for vulnerable marine ecosystems that are consistent with BC's interests.

Conclusion:

- Ministry staff are and need to continue to actively participate in negotiations and meetings of international commissions to ensure BC's interests and position are represented and recognized by DFO and other states.

- Good relations with the United States and other Pacific nations are important to the Province.
- BC continues to stay involved in the Pacific fisheries negotiations to ensure BC priorities and interests continue to be recognized and to avoid unreasonable intrusion into areas of BC jurisdiction.

Appendix 1

International Pacific Fisheries Management Treaties and Agreements:

Pacific Salmon Treaty (Canada/United States)

- The Pacific Salmon Treaty (PST) was the first bilateral salmon agreement that addresses the range of salmon interceptions on a coast-wide basis. It provides a forum for the countries to meet and develop coordinated fisheries management plans to achieve the objectives of the PST – conservation and sharing.
- The commercial and recreational salmon fisheries provide significant economic and social benefits to the Province. The commercial salmon fleet includes 1,809 licences, while 228,162 (in 2010) recreational saltwater anglers are licensed.
- Pacific salmon are of great social and economic importance to BC, sustaining communities' coast wide, generating a wholesale value of $172.8 million in 2015, and the mainstay of the recreational fisheries sector.
- The Province has participated in the Pacific Salmon Commission (PSC) process since the PST was signed in 1985. Since 2001, the Province has had a Commissioner representing its interests; Mr. Paul Sprout is currently "BC's" Commissioner.
- Although a few chapters of the PST were recently re-negotiated, including the Fraser River sockeye and pink chapter, a number will expire in 2018, including chinook, coho, chum and transboundary.
- The Parties are currently preparing for renegotiations, and BC will be asked for its priorities, as part of Canada's negotiation plan (mandate).

International Pacific Halibut Commission (Canada/United States)

- The International Pacific Halibut Commission (IPHC), established in 1923, manages halibut stocks shared by Canada and the United States (US).
- The 2015 coast-wide catch limits for halibut were increased by 6% from 2014. However, using stock assessment information for the Canadian fishing zone (Area 2B), Canadian Commissioners negotiated an allowable catch of 7.038 million pounds which represents an increase of 3% from 2014 (and equal to the 2013 allocation), noting facts regarding the health and management of stocks in BC. This is 2.08 million pounds more than the limit initially suggested for the Canadian Fishing Zone, and an increase of 188,000 pounds from the 2014 allocation.
- BC's commercial harvest has averaged 3,667 metric tonnes (MT) and $103.5 million in wholesale value (2013-2015).
- The 2015 BC recreational allocation will be 1.0557 million pounds which should be sufficient for the recreational fishery and provide charter operators and sport fishing lodges the longest possible operating season.
- AGRI staff played an active role in this year's negotiation and advice on the balance of domestic allocation, harvest rules and posture with respect to international commitments.

Treaty on Pacific Coast Albacore Tuna Vessels and Port Privileges

- The Canada-US Albacore Tuna Treaty (Treaty) was signed in 1981, after changes in ocean temperatures caused the majority of Pacific albacore stocks to shift northward into Canadian waters. The Treaty provided for reciprocal access to ports for albacore landings and vessel supplies, and to Exclusive Economic Zones (EEZ) for albacore fishing. In some years, ocean conditions cause the majority of the albacore stocks to shift to US waters.
- The fishing arrangement was suspended by the US for the 2012 fishing season. As a result, the landed volume of albacore caught by BC vessels was reduced from 5,415 MT valued at $48.2 million (wholesale) in 2011 to 2,536 MT and $36 million in 2012.
- In December 2013, Canada attempted to negotiate restored access to US waters for the Canadian fleet. Meetings, and advocacy efforts, which included the Federal Government, AGRI staff, industry, and the Premier's Office, eventually resulted in an agreement on a renewed one-year fishing regime for 2013, allowing only 45 Canadian vessels to fish in US waters. In 2013, the total BC harvest was 5,100 MT with a wholesale value of $53 million.

- Following intense negotiations, meetings on April 16 and 17, 2014 resulted in an agreement with the US Government on a three-year fishing regime which provides access for 45 Canadian vessels to the US zone under the same terms of the 2013 agreement until 2016.
- Canadians will have access to US waters from June 15 to September 15. The season for US harvesters in Canadian waters remains from June 15 to October 31.
- The fishing arrangement has now expired, and Canada, industry, and BC are continuing to seek means to start some form of negotiations with the US. This is a high priority for Canada and BC.
- AGRI staff played a key role in design and negotiation of the previous fishing arrangements and is actively engaged in treaty discussions and developing Canadian negotiation strategies.

Hake Joint Management Committee (Canada/United States)

- In 2003, governments signed a treaty on the management of Pacific hake that was ratified in 2007. Pacific hake is a highly migratory stock that spawns off Southern California and Mexico and migrates north during the summer as far as BC. Hake fisheries occur off Oregon, Washington and BC which led to the need for a Canada/US Pacific hake agreement regarding stock assessment, management and harvest sharing.
- Pacific hake is the largest fishery by volume in BC with average landings of over 46,300 MT/year (2013-2015). The average wholesale value for the same period was $39.6 million.
- AGRI staff is actively engaged in domestic management and allocation committees for this fishery.
- Under the Treaty, a Joint Management Committee (JMC) is created; made up of four representatives from each country. The Province has an AGRI staff member on the JMC. The JMC negotiates the annual total allowable catch (TAC) for this fishery: for 2017 fisheries, they will meet in Seattle on February 28 – March 2, 2017. In 2016, a TAC of 130,000 MT was set. However, due to a number of factors, including water temperature and stock distribution changes, only about 60,000MT has been harvested in BC as of October, 2016.

Tri-National Sardine Forum (Canada, United States, Mexico)

- Although there is no current treaty or formal agreement between the parties, the Tri-National Sardine Forum (TSF) has met annually since 2000 to review the status of the stock and management of their fisheries. The next meeting is planned for December 8/9, 2016 in La Jolla, California.
- At some time in the future it is likely that Canada and the US will want to have a more formal agreement.
- BC fishermen have developed a modest fishery for sardines (averaging over 20,000 metric tonnes, and $20 million in wholesale value – 2010-2012). The 2013 TAC was 25,477 MT; however, there was no harvest as the fish did not show up in BC waters. Similarly in 2014, the TAC was 17,174 MT, but again there was no harvest, due to an apparent absence of Pacific sardines in BC waters.
- There is a zero TAC for 2016, but early indications from DFO and the Sport Fishing Advisory Board (SIAB) point to the potential of a BC sardine fishery in June 2017.
- It is estimated that 50% of the sardine licences are held by BC First Nation Tribal Council/Bands.
- AGRI staff participated in the first TSF (2001) in Mexico and has actively engaged several times since.

Ministry of Agriculture
BRIEFING NOTE FOR MINISTER FOR INFORMATION

Ref: 187930

Date: March 8, 2018

Title: Canada-United States Pacific Salmon Treaty (PST) negotiations.

Issue: Update on the status of current negotiations under the PST to renew chapters which expire in 2018.

Background:

- The Pacific Salmon Treaty (PST) was the first bilateral salmon agreement that addresses the range of salmon interceptions on a coast-wide basis. It provides a forum for the countries to meet and develop coordinated fisheries management plans to achieve the objectives of the PST – conservation and sharing.
- Wild Pacific salmon are of great social and economic importance to British Columbia, sustaining communities' coast wide, generating a wholesale value of $207 million in 2016. New data indicate that these fish generate $4.8 Billion to the economy of Canada and the U.S. over the 2012 to 2015 period (over $1B to B.C.). Commercial and recreational salmon fisheries provide significant economic and social benefits to B.C. The commercial salmon fleet includes 1,809 licences, while 228,162 (in 2010) recreational saltwater anglers are licensed.
- The Province has participated in the Pacific Salmon Commission (PSC) process since the PST was signed in 1985. Since 2001, the Province has had a Commissioner representing its interests with Mr. Paul Sprout currently appointed as "BC's" Commissioner.
- Most chapters are re-negotiated on a 10-year cycle and Canadian and U.S. representatives through the PSC process with potential negotiation of renewal of five chapters under Annex IV of the Treaty that expire December 31, 2018. These chapters are critical to the functioning of the Treaty as they set out the specific conservation and harvest sharing arrangements for Canadian and US salmon stocks and fisheries, subject to the Treaty.
- The Chinook Chapter (Chapter 3) is the most complex and difficult, due to the biology, and lifecycle of chinook, and the elaborate system in place in both countries to manage them.
- Complicating this are the uncertainties at play due to coastwide impacts of climate change, reduced marine survival, low abundance of most stocks, (potential SARA listing), and the need to protect chinook as primary prey species for SARA-listed Southern Resident Killer Whales (SRKW).
- B.C. through its Commissioner, participates directly as part of Canada's negotiating team as the Parties continue to renegotiate.
- Canada has signalled to the US that we are now essentially at an impasse, if cuts to harvest are expected to be taken only in B.C. waters. It is not prepared to sign a deal that is not beneficial to Canada.

First Nations Considerations: Consultations with First Nations regarding international agreements are the responsibility of Fisheries and Oceans Canada (DFO). BC First Nations are actively involved in the PSC, as Commissioners and on panels and committees. B.C. First Nations have a long history of involvement in commercial fisheries and in fish processing – about 31 percent of all commercial fishing jobs (including processing) are held by B.C.'s Indigenous people.

Request

I am freelancing a feature article for a Canada-US magazine, based in Seattle, about salmon-fish farms. I have two sets of questions related to "Salmon Treaty" talks, and BC's review of fish processing plants.

"Salmon Treaty"

On March 16th, at a joint-newser seated beside B.C. Premier Horgan in Vancouver, Washington Gov. Inslee described negotiations for a "Salmon Treaty" with Canadian jurisdictions. Gov. Inslee said he was hopeful the "treaty" talks would conclude in the "weeks ahead" to protect salmon along our shared coast. That timeline would put us to about now.

1. What is the status and purpose of these "Salmon Treaty" negotiations with BC, described by Gov. Inslee?
2. Technically, is this a Canada-US "treaty", or some kind of other agreement between Washington state and

B.C. (and possibly other jurisdictions)?

3. Do those negotiations for a treaty/agreement touch upon salmon aquaculture farms (a.k.a. fish farms)?

4. Does the "Salmon Treaty" described by Gov. Inslee have anything to do with negotiations for an updated "Columbia River Treaty"?

BC review of fish processing plants

In December, Minister Heyman announced a review of fish processing plants, in the wake of a "blood water" video that went public.

1. What has this B.C. review found so far?

2. A Dec. 20 CBC report said in December that the province conducted its own tests of the blood water, but "the results [were] not back yet." Are those provincial test results back in now -- and if so, what have tests shown?

3. What efforts, if any, is the BC government exploring to move BC's salmon fish farms inland?

Deadline: end of week (May 4) if possible.

Background

Recommendation

Provide the following bullets on background:

Attributable on background to Ministry of Agriculture

- The treaty Gov. Inslee was referring to is the Canada-US Pacific Salmon Treaty (PST)
- The Federal Department of Fisheries and Oceans (DFO) is the Canadian lead on the PST negotiations.
- Detailed comments about negotiations and the current process need to be sent to DFO, as the lead agency.
- The PST represents a bilateral Pacific salmon agreement that addresses conservation and harvest sharing on a coast-wide basis. It provides a forum for the countries to meet and develop coordinated fisheries management plans to achieve the objectives of Treaty – conservation and sharing.
 - The Province has participated in the Pacific Salmon Commission (PSC) process since the Treaty was signed in 1985.
 - The Province has had a Commissioner representing its interests at the table since 2001.
 - The BC Commissioner is appointed by the federal Minister of Fisheries and Oceans. Paul Sprout is the current appointee.
 - No, the PST does not have a connection to the Columbia River Treaty.

Attributable on background to Ministry of Environment

- Following an announced review of fish processing plants on December 20, the provincial government initiated inspections of the 30 fish processing plants with provincial permits. The inspections will review whether:
 - o Effluent discharge is potentially causing harmful pollution
 - o Current authorizations contain strong environmental protection provisions.
 - o Current authorization holders in the fish processing sector are in compliance with their permit.
 - o Best achievable technology (BAT) is being used in the treatment of effluent from fish processing plants.

* Audit is on track to be complete by May 31, 2018.

* Once inspections and data collection is complete, Ministry staff will be reviewing permits and/or regulations to require that best available technology is used in the treatment of effluent from fish processing plants to protect wild salmon stocks.

Information about the audit and fish processing is available here: : <https://www2.gov.bc.ca/gov/content/environment/research-monitoring-reporting/reporting/environmental-enforcement-reporting/e-p-compliance-audit-reports/fish-processing-compliance-audit>

(On Closed Containment)

- The Province is committed to helping the aquaculture industry transition to closed containment where possible.
- Government is also committed to protecting wild salmon and the nearly 10,000 good-paying jobs that depend on it.
- DFO is responsible for aquaculture licensing in B.C.
- The Province has started on a path forward with First Nations in the Broughton Archipelago that will engage them as true partners in protecting wild salmon on our coast.
- There is a cross-ministry effort to also work closely with the aquaculture industry and the federal government – responsible for fish farm licensing.
