Subject: Package 2 LPR Announcement - In Effect Now

Good morning LCLB,

Another milestone has come!

In a few minutes Government is announcing implementation of the following six LPR recommendations:

- Happy Hours and Minimum Prices (LPR #16)
- Transferring Small Amounts of Liquor between Establishments (LPR #61)
- Patrons Carrying Liquor Between Adjoining Establishments (LPR #63)
- Liquor Service without Food in Food-primary Establishments (LPR #36)
- Family SOLs can serve UBrew/UVin or Homemade Wine, Beer and Cider (LPR #53)
- UBrew/UVin Licensees May Now Own Other Liquor-related Establishments (LPR #70)

These are in effect now. For details on each, please refer to the relevant policy directives, which we have just posted on the Liquor Transformation SharePoint site.

Government is issuing a news release (which we will also be putting on the SharePoint site), and we are notifying stakeholders.

PP&C staff have organized a staff info session through Outlook on Tuesday June 24th via conference call for staff in the regions to go through the changes in more detail.

If you have immediate questions on any of these, they can be directed to:

- Janice – Happy Hours and Minimum Prices
- Melanie – Transferring Liquor, Patrons Carrying Liquor, UBrew/UVin changes
- Elaine – Food-primaries serving liquor without Food

I want to thank everyone who worked so hard to get this completed on time.

More to follow shortly...

Happy Friday,

Doug

Just to clarify, licensed establishments are not required to adopt the minimum pricing, they just can't go below it. So if this licensee feels that he can't afford to staff his bar charging $2 for spirits then he can absolutely price above that level.

Minors allowed in LPs

The government has released new details about minors allowed in LPs.

Effective June 21st, a new Family Foodservice term and condition has been created to allow LP licensees to permit minors, accompanied by a parent or guardian, into their establishment until 10 p.m. LPs can apply for a Family Foodservice term and condition by contacting the LCLB.

To qualify for the Family Foodservice term, LPs must offer a selection of appetizers and main courses.

Other details include:

- The new policy does not further restrict liquor primaries that already permit minors.
- Approved liquor primaries may also employ minors as long as they do not sell or serve liquor.

If your establishment is approved, the new permission will be added to the face of your license.

Licensees must post signs informing the public that minors must be accompanied by a parent or guardian and are permitted until 10 pm. ABLE BC will have signage available for download shortly.

Subject: rationale for minimum drink pricing
Attachments: background to min price decision.docx

Good afternoon everyone,

FYI, attached is a point form summary of the rationale behind the new minimum drink pricing, for use if you get asked questions.

Janice Carlson | Policy Analyst

Minimum Drink Price Rationale and Background

- The Liquor Policy Review (LPR) Report recommendations struck a balance between liberalization of the liquor laws and the need to protect public health and safety, and minimum pricing is an important evidence-based tool to maintain this balance.
- The LPR report recommendation (#16) suggested allowing happy hours but only if minimum pricing (as recommended by health advocates) was put in place.
- Several decades of international research show that increasing the price of alcohol is one of the most effective approaches for reducing over-consumption and alcohol-related harm.
(Wagenaar, Salois & Komro, 2009; Babor et al., 2010; Wagenaar, Tobler & Komro, 2010).
- A recent national study (before minimum pricing was implemented) showed BC is a bottom ranking province for liquor pricing policy, compared to other Canadian provinces.
(Murie, A., Plamondon, L., Stockwell, T., Thomas, G., Thompson, K., & Vallance, K. (2013). Strategies to Reduce Alcohol-Related Harms and Costs in Canada: A Comparison of Provincial Policies. Toronto: Centre for Addiction and Mental Health.
- The new minimum price levels reflect the need to protect public health and safety and are based on recommendations of health advocates, industry, and a review of minimum price levels in other jurisdictions and BC local governments.
- During Liquor Policy Review consultations, health advocates recommended pricing at the $3.00 level per standard drink (12oz beer/cider/cooler, 5 oz wine, and 1.5 oz spirits).
- Every other province in Canada has minimum pricing in place. Some of them have been in place for a long time and the levels are currently under review.
- Four BC local governments (Nanaimo, Victoria, Vancouver, and Kamloops) already had bylaws in place imposing minimum drink pricing. These levels were significantly above the minimum provincial pricing in other provinces, and are similar to what was adopted provincially.
- During further consultations following the LPR, industry recommendations for minimum drink pricing ranged from $2.50 to $4.00 per standard drink.
- The new minimum pricing replaces the previous minimum price requirements, which required licensed establishments to set prices above the purchase price of the liquor from the Liquor Distribution Branch.

Thank you for your quick and clear response. I have just one more question regarding your answer #2 below regarding if I were to price one corona at $4, could I discount a bucket of 3 coronas for $3 per bottle. I was aware that 3 bottles were outside the serving limit for one person. The scenario I had in mind was if a table ordered the bucket, so that I would still fall within the accepted limit per person, similar to the idea of buying a pitcher of draught for the table. I know you can charge less per ounce for draught...ie pitcher price vs pint price is usually lower by volume.

Thank you

Hi Michael,

Thank you for writing with your questions.

1. You can change pricing multiple times during the day. The special can be brand-specific although it would be illegal to accept any kind of inducement from a manufacturer or agent for putting a certain brand on sale.
 - a. There is no minimum or maximum length of time that the special pricing must be offered or any restricted time during which it cannot be offered (as long as it is within the hours of service stated on your liquor licence). So yes, in your example, you could put another beer on special at 6pm to direct purchases away from the shortage. Please note that you still cannot use a sales strategy that is likely to promote or encourage over-consumption.
 - b. You must have a list available showing the types of liquor available, the size of each drink you sell and its price. Your price list should also include any drink specials you are currently offering. You may post the price list as a printed list or on a board, or it can be available at all tables. At a minimum, it must be available to customers on request.
2. You must still adhere to serving size limits. A bucket of 3 Coronas would exceed the serving size limit for bottled beer ("Bottled beer: You may serve a maximum of two standard-sized or one large-sized (up to 24 oz or 680 ml) bottle of beer to a single patron at one time.") You can find more information on serving size limits on page 35 of your Liquor Primary Terms & Conditions guidebook.

3. You could offer a discount to "registered league bowlers" and it could be all day, rather than just a certain time of day.

Subject: Liquor Licence General Inquiry - question about Happy hour policy from a licensee

Hello,

I have three topics with a few questions so that I can fully understand the new policy and implement it properly.

#1 Under the new happy hour laws, it states that we can vary the pricing of liquor at any time during the day so long as it is at or above the minimum pricing. Does this mean I can change pricing at multiple times during the same day or can it only be changed for a certain period once? For example, could I sell Lucky Beer on special from 12-1 and Budweiser from 1-2 and Miller from 2-3 etc..? Also, is there a minimum or maximum length of time that the special pricing may be offered or any times during a given day that we are not allowed to offer the "happy hour" type special? Also, do the prices and times HAVE to be advertised prior to the price change? For example, if we were running low on a certain beer, could we decide to put another beer on special at 6pm to try to direct purchases away from the shortage? If all of the pricing and price changes have to be advertised, how far in advance do they need to be posted? Start of business day? A certain amount of time before the special starts? Longer in advance than start of day?

#2 As long as the price stays within the minimum pricing, are we allowed to offer a volume type discount? For example, say our regular rate for Corona is $4 per bottle. Could we offer a special wherein a Bucket of 3 Coronas were $9 which works out to $3 per bottle as per the minimum. I understand that we cannot offer a "two for one" price, but I am not sure where this type of special would fall.

#3 The new law states that we can vary the price for certain groups, ie team night or ladies night. Our establishment is a bowling alley. Are we allowed to offer lower price to group like "registered league bowlers"? Would we be allowed to offer this lower price at all times or does it have to be during a certain period of the day?

I assume that you are being overwhelmed with questions regarding the new law. It is both much more restrictive (in pricing) and much less restrictive in terms of the rest of the policy than I was expecting. We appreciate any clarification that you can offer as

Thank you for your time

Dear Sirs and Madams,

As a consumer, I would very much appreciate if the BC Govt. would effective immediately align the bar/restaurant minimum alcohol pricing regulations to the rest of Canada. A listing of minimum pricing across Canada is provided below.

<http://www.vancitybuzz.com/2014/06/happy-hour-introduced-in-b-c-but-minimum-pricing-now-highest-in-canada/>

My arguments for this request are below:

1. BC's minimum pricing is 40%-50% higher than the rest of Canada. As an example, draught beer minimum pricing in BC is $0.25 while in Ontario it is $0.167; this is 50% higher than Ontario. I don't believe BC residents are 50% wealthier than Ontario or 50% more susceptible to intoxication than other provinces.
2. There was no notice or public consultation on this minimum pricing. It was announced on Friday, effective immediately and the news release stated business owners and industry associations were consulted; it seems consumers were left out. As a consumer, I felt the impact immediately, when I went to one of my local restaurants (a Japanese tapas place on Smithe) for appetizers and beer with friends, and the price had been raised from $10 to $15 over-night on their draft beer.
3. There is no peer-reviewed, evidence based, health study that minimum pricing reduces regulations reduces health risks and intoxication as it is suggested in your news release. I am surprised that such a drastic policy change, which points to reducing health risks, would be done without quoting such findings or paying for such a study.

If you are not prepared to reduce the minimum pricing, please answer:

1. Why the minimum price is 50% higher than the rest of Canada?
2. Why there was no consumer consultation?
3. Why there was no evidence based health study cited?

Kind regards,

Subject: Strong displeasure regarding liquor price increase via "Happy Hour"

Dear Mesdames/Sirs:

I reside in the Vancouver-Langara riding. I am writing to voice my extreme dismay at the recent increase in liquor prices instituted under the guise of "Happy Hour." As you are well aware, the minimum pricing scheme chosen will increase the price of drinks in most areas of British Columbia (with the exception of certain expensive urban establishments), and will have a deleterious effect on the pocketbooks and choices available to the ordinary, responsible majority of British Columbians. Introducing these changes via a false promise of Happy Hours and in the name of furthering unfounded and unnecessary public health ends smacks of trickery and backroom dealings.

In short, this is an obvious tax grab (higher prices = more liquor tax collected). This is also an obvious barrel of pork for the bigger licensees, such as those represented by ABLE, whereby you have given them the means to keep their prices high and to avoid competition, at the expense of all British Columbians and the possibility of a more modern and healthy social environment. And this is clearly a bone thrown to certain prohibitionist pressure groups who are bent on the development of a puritan state, which also provides a convenient though totally misleading excuse for this price increase. (For example, the government/LCLB has set a minimum price based on volume served, but the Attorney General also stated separately that service volumes will not be checked or enforced.)

Further detail on my above-noted and vigorous objections is easily found throughout various online sources. I am fully confident my opinion matches the opinion of most informed British Columbians; I imagine you also have a feeling for what a fairly-worded and informed poll would reveal. Rather than the promised modernization, BC's liquor rules are clearly diving back through time towards prohibition and worse, unlike most every other jurisdiction in the world. I can only imagine the vehement public outcry if this administration ever attempts to institute alcohol-content-related pricing on top of this recent price increase.

By these actions, the BC Liberal Party, and the LCLB in particular, have lost 100% of my faith and trust, as well as my vote. Not only will I be continuing to oppose these changes, but I feel betrayed enough that I am seriously considering working against the BC Liberal Party in general, and actively supporting a different party which puts the interests of ordinary British Columbians first.

Yours very sincerely,

Dear Justice Minister,

I am a resident of the Sunshine Coast and a registered voter and am writing this letter to voice my extreme displeasure with the new minimum drink price policy which was announced June 20th.

This policy has seen the prices of beer increase in many of the bars and restaurants in my community and those licensees who did not have to raise their prices to meet the new minimum are not able to offer much of a discount, if any, during the newly allowed "happy hours", as their prices are at, or just above, the minimum price allowed to be charged.

This new policy simply does not work in my community and in no way benefits consumers or offers them a "price break". I urge you strongly to adjust this new drink price minimum to fall in line with those we see in the rest of Canada where it is still possible to find a pint of beer at a reasonable price.

I thank you for your time

Subject: Concerns regarding changes to BC's liquor laws

Dear Mr. Heyman and Ms. Anton,

I am writing to express my concern and disappointment with some of the impacts of the recent changes to BC's liquor laws. I was initially happy to hear that the province was reconsidering some of the regulations around the sale and consumption of alcohol. However, I just learned from my local neighbourhood pub (Martini's in Vancouver-Fairview) that the changes have in fact increased the restrictions on independent businesses and interfered with their ability to set the prices for their drinks. This pub, by the way, is a family-friendly institution that happens to offer nightly drink specials that used to include a popular $3.50 pint night that drew a regular crowd of local residents and workers.

While I understand that the government must play a role in the regulation of alcohol, I feel very strongly that these new regulations are overreaching, and that they will have a negative impact for consumers and local businesses in my neighbourhood. I ask that you and your party reconsider your position on these changes to BC's liquor laws.

Sincerely,

Mr. Yap

The recent changes to regulations permitting "happy hour" offerings is a move in the right direction, but why have you and your colleagues actually increased the price of beer? I am sure the big chains and hotels encouraged this, but what makes sense is support for smaller outlets such as the brew pubs that actually draw tourists and and encourage responsible consumption based on taste, not volume.

I am hoping this was just an administrative oversight [likely caused by inefficient staff] and that you will act quickly to adjust the new regulation to benefit citizen consumers. To fail to do this would once again cement your government's reputation of disregard for citizens. I hope this is not the case.

PS I have read that you justified this price increase as a safety issue i.e. moderating consumption. It is a fact that there is no factual basis for this argument, so please don't insult us anymore.

I've read numerous reports that changes to liquor laws in BC will allow restaurants and bars to offer happy hours, and that this will be introduced in spring/summer 2014.

I have not been able to find an actual date for this, or more specific information about the requirements for these businesses.

Please let me know where this info can be found, or when it will be released. I was surprised not to be able to find it already, given that we are a month away from the start of summer 2014.

Comments & Feedback

Hi,

I wanted to register my discontent with the latest changes to the liquor laws that came out. I feel like it's one step forward, two steps back - the laws have been modernized to include time-based discounts but those discounts are required to be higher than many places already had prices all day. Some discount!

I believe that dive bars have an important role in setting the culture of our city. Increasing the cost of alcohol will decrease the competitive advantage that these bars have and drive away their clientele. The Cambie, for instance, is a melting pot of international visitors, residents and locals and is one of the few truly social bars in the city. In fact, I find that there is a strong correlation between the cost of an establishment with the lack of social contact between those present. Vancouver has many bars where the patrons talk only with their friends and putting dive bars out of business will further enhance the clique culture that is endemic in Vancouver.

Please reconsider the backwards changes that are taking place with our liquor laws. If this is the modernization that we're going to get, then the Liberals haven't delivered on their promise.

Regards,

Re: the new minimum pricing scheme included in the legalisation of Happy Hour

I could not be more disgusted with the lack of consultation involved in this change and the disregard for rural and low-income people. This new rule is disrespectful to the working people of this Province in the extreme, appears extremely ill-considered and the fact now that no one in government has even stood up to take questions and defend the move adds insult to injury.

Why did the Government choose not to address this change during its extensive consultation period with stakeholders? Why does the Government think that taking more money from the working poor of this Province will achieve the health outcomes it seeks?

Mrs. Suzanne Anton

While the whole city was looking forward to happy hour, now that it is finally in place, the set "minimum" pricing is absolutely ridiculous.

We are the most expensive in the country by a long shot, and in fact drink prices will INCREASE in certain situations.

This is NOT happy hour. Every other major city in the world has a happy hour. We finally get the law passed, and our government still screws it up?

At the agreement of all the citizens of Vancouver, start treating us like adults and change these minimums. At least put us in line with the other provinces who are significantly less than BC.

You can do better. We expect better. Rectify this to what the people want.

Subject: "Happy Hour" and Minimum Pricing

To the Honourable Suzanne Anton,

My name is s. 22 and I'm a resident of British Columbia. s. 22

I'm just writing because I am dismayed about the new rules surrounding "Happy Hour" and minimum drink pricing.

"Happy Hour" was supposed to be a law that INCREASED flexibility for pubs and bars to market themselves and attract clientele. It was supposed to be a step towards modernizing our liquor laws.

Unfortunately, due to the ridiculously high minimum pricing imposed along with it, "Happy Hour" is the exact opposite. Aside from upscale downtown bars, most establishments have had to RAISE their prices just to meet the minimum charge. A pitcher that used to cost $13 after tax at McRae's in Victoria for example, is now nearly $17 after tax!!!! This makes "Happy Hour" specials on pints or pitchers impossible, as they have raised their prices to hit the minimum.

This is a lose-lose-lose situation. Let's be frank...people that are going to drink are still going to do so and be poorer for it. LOSE. Pubs that catered to lower income clientele are going to see less business as people can no longer afford to frequent their establishments (talk to the elderly members of the Eagle's Club in Esquimalt who go there to enjoy a pint with friends but could barely afford the prices BEFORE the minimum charge was imposed). LOSE. Government will see less taxes from establishments as people pre-drink, or simply stop going like they used to (in favour of drinking at home). LOSE.

The minimum charge in BC is SIGNIFICANTLY higher than those found in any other province (most provinces are at, or below, 17 cents per ml for beer). We should be lowering our minimum charge to come in line with the other provinces, not standing by a minimum charge that stifles all market diversity in our pub/bar culture. Our liquor modernization was supposed to "modernize" our laws, not impose even stricter draconian rule. The government needs to recognize this issue and stop gouging the people of BC with charges that they don't want.

You are obviously out of touch with what the average income residents of this province can afford. Do the right thing and lower the minimum charge so that those that want to enjoy an affordable pitcher of beer can actually do so.

Thanks for your time.

Subject: Liqueur laws reform

Dear Honorable Suzanne Anthon,

This concerns the new regulations pertaining to the new liquor laws.

I am extremely disappointed in the way you have reformed the liquor laws in British Columbia as it pertains to the price of beer. That has affected average and low income people who used to be able to afford to have a few drinks in different establishments. It also takes freedom away from the owners to regulate their own prices and establish competition including the happy hours.

What is it to you if an owner who has paid his for liqueur and taxes sets a price to attract customers or certain types of clients whom may come from a lower bracket of income or social status to keep his business alive —or to simply let less privileged people enjoy themselves. I find the new regulations to be outrageous and completely unacceptable. Low-income people like me— who used to go out on specific days to a pub to enjoy a few drinks with friends when the beer is less expensive and affordable. You just took away one aspect of my enjoyment in life. Life is becoming very expensive in this province— and sadly we see many such increases, and people struggling to make ends meet.

I thought it was a positive step when you announced a few months ago that this province would be taking the necessary steps in moving forward to relax the liquor laws. It gave me hope. I have taken time to fill out your survey online about liquor laws recently. I really hope to make my own contribution to this debate by affirming the desirability of more relaxed and liquor laws. I was born in s. 22 and live there for part of my life. The liquor laws are totally open and very progressive. When I moved out here s. 25 I thought the liquor laws were regressive. Progress has been made over the years, but way too slowly. I did have hope with the announced changes, but they are not good enough.

It is a very sad day for many people to see that nothing seems to be moving in the right direction in this province. Average people are already suffering or deprived from enjoying a quality of life because of inappropriate decisions that this government seems to make without taking in consideration the overall population. About only 10 percent of the population in BC who are very wealthy benefits from the system. I urge you to review your new liquor laws and let the pub owners decide for themselves to set their own prices so that we can afford to go out once a while. I hope you take the time to reflect on my words and I am looking forward to hear from you. Thank you.

I first want you to know that I have been pleased with much of the government's progress in modernizing and streamlining BC's antiquated liquor laws. For example, the new laws governing alcoholic beverages at farmer's markets or the possibility of allowing families in pubs are welcome, positive changes.

Because you've done so well in the process, I was stunned to read about the new minimum pricing for "Happy Hour". I can't begin to imagine how you arrived at the minimum prices that you did, but frankly this means that I am going to have to pay more for a beer during "Happy Hour" than I often pay for a normal pint!

The licensees I've spoken to are as unhappy about this as I am, suggesting to me that you've ignored both consumers and the affected businesses with this decision. Thanks to this law, BC becomes the most expensive province in which to buy a pint of beer – a ridiculous situation considering the fast-growing craft beer industry in the province and the accompanying rapid growth in beer tourism.

The steep minimum pricing requirement is both anti-business and anti-consumer, and I am one tax payer who is very unhappy indeed!

Hi, the new rules regarding happy hour in BC aren't making consumers and taxpayers happy at all. Need more proof? Just search for "#unhappyhour":

<https://twitter.com/search?q=%23unhappyhour>

The whole idea of happy hour is to ENCOURAGE people to go out and drink and eat and spend money supporting businesses and (in my case) the growing craft beer industry. It's really discouraging to have new minimum drink prices that are the highest in the country.

You want to prevent overconsumption? That's what Serving It Right is for, and it's already in place!

Please try harder and fix this legislation. Consumer groups like CAMRA Vancouver and CAMRA BC are filled to the brim with industry experts from every corner of the craft beer community, and their door is always open.

Also, I understand that for the majority of Vancouverites, we will not be able to buy beer in our grocery stores after all (due to the fact the new bylaws actually only affect a select few grocery stores). I thought the goals of the new liquor legislation were to loosen liquor laws and let free market dictate pricing. Dear Minister:

I write to express my displeasure with the British Columbia Liquor Control and Licensing Branch's recent Policy Directive No. 14-07, which implements "happy hours."

While the implementation of variable pricing itself is a welcome change, the government's inexplicable decision to tie this improvement with a massive increase in minimum liquor pricing is a decision that I simply cannot support.

The result of the Policy Directive is to increase, by more than 100%, the minimum price a licensee may charge for beer. To comply with this new minimum, many establishments in low income or rural parts of British Columbia have actually had to increase their regular beer pricing.

The notion of variable pricing—the very intent of recommendation #16 of the Liquor Policy Review Report—cannot and will not enter into the picture in such establishments. The new minimum pricing is now the only pricing. As such, many areas of the Province will never see a happy hour, and many patrons will simply forgo having a beer in a restaurant and pubs.

This policy is bad for restaurants; it is bad for service industry employees; it is bad for British Columbians as a whole, and I urge the British Columbia Provincial Government to reconsider this decision, and to fulfill their mandate: to implement policy that represents the best interests of all British Columbians.

Greetings,

I'm writing to you as a BC resident, father, small business man, craft beer lover, and former lover of all things B.C!

In response to the outcry that has taken place in response to the recent changes to B.C liquor laws, in particular happy hours, I'm penning this message to share my outrage and complete disgust for what has been taking place.

It's only been a couple of years since I returned to BC, having left years ago mainly due to outrage with the government in place at the time and the "BC Ferry fiasco". I have to say though that I'm almost at the point where I will be gladly taking myself, my family, my business out of B.C in favor of residing in a place where people have a choice, are treated as responsible adults, and are free to live in a thriving community - we have none of that here and it's quickly eroding.

I'm sitting back and watching the BC government implement ridiculous rules that are made via a knee jerk reaction by people who obviously have no experience or knowledge of the liquor, micro brew, or tourism industries. We are fortunate to have a thriving population of makers, engineers, and crafts persons who have developed an amazing craft beer industry that has created World class brews, many jobs, and perhaps most important, help foster and grow a community of like minded people. However, you are managing to undermine all their amazing efforts and implement ridiculous laws that are removing choices from free enterprise and impose your moral judgement on people who you know nothing about. Who are you to tell me how much beer I should consume (for my own better health) or think about implementing higher prices because a craft beer is a higher alcohol content?

I've been a business owner, a long time worker and s. 22 in the past and I've also been fortunate to reside in an area of the USA that was largely built on the craft beer industry s. 22
s. 22 where there is now a highly educated, healthy, vibrant population who love craft beer, are excited about their community, love their towns, are healthy and much of that due to the massive growth experienced by their craft beer industry.

I am disgusted that I can no longer enjoy a pitcher of my favorite beer on Wednesday evenings for $12 with my son because it has now been replaced with a $15 minimum price tag (I can get that any day at any place). I have been to "Happy Hour" times at popular Victoria bars only to see dismal crowds of people who are displeased, upset, and taken aback from these new rules.

You have removed choices from business owners and once again hurt the working man, but most important you are putting a dent in a thriving industry that is actually creating jobs.

I want a choice, I want to be able to enjoy a fine, made in BC craft beer at a price that is set by a small business owner and most of all, I want to make my own choices regarding my health... I'm a big boy and educated so I think I can handle that.

Please don't drive me out of BC once again, but honestly, I have one foot out of the Province already.

Ms. Clark, if you are interested in consulting me one on one regarding this matter I'd be glad to sit down and enjoy a fine BC craft beer during happy hour with you and discuss... my treat. Feel free to bring Mr. Yap along as well

You need to re-think these rules you have put in place and you also need to find a panel of experts, with experience, to create such important changes to our economy.

Your truly

I was very happy when I first heard that we, as a province, would start eliminating the archaic laws regarding alcohol consumption and adopt a more progressive stance. Unfortunately with the announcement of "Happy Hour" and minimum pricing it seems we've gone right back to silly laws that really help no one, except a few larger chains of restaurant and pubs.

With the 25 cent/oz minimum we are now the highest price province to have a drink in by far. This is not only bad for us BC residents but also for visiting tourists. We regularly host international travelers via couch surfing and almost all of them are shocked by the high prices of beer and drinks and lack of standard measuring sizes, and the enforcement there of.

Please help me figure out the following:

Why 25 cents per oz? Why can't it be more in line with other provinces' minimum of 16-18 cents?

Are not the SIR rules effective enough to deter over consumption?

Why was this not discussed with public groups such as CAMRA?

95.4% of the people polled HERE say that the price is too high. Do you feel, as elected officials, that you are serving your constituents interests well?

Since many establishments don't offer proper serving sizes (claiming an 18oz or smaller glass as a pint), how do we as consumers know we're getting what we're paying for? I know there is a law saying that an establishment must state their serving sizes in writing, but I have yet to see it enforced. Will you be enforcing this law now to the same extent you'll be enforcing the minimum pricing?

I am embarrassed to tell our visiting guests about the systems we have in place regarding liquor control and I truly hope that you all reconsider this rule and revise it to something more reasonable.

I look forward to your replies.

Dear Members of the Legislature

While I commend the government on attempting to update B.C. Liquor regulations to bring us in line with other Provinces, I wonder if any consideration was given to the prices of beer in this province.

Happy Hour seems to be an area of contention, especially since in a great number of bars, the price as increased rather than giving the customer any kind of break. My bar of choice in the West End for example, offered a Kegger price on 2.90 on Sundays for one particular brand which was very much appreciated. The new regulations of 25 cents per ounce now makes the price of a 20 ounce pint at now 5.00 plus tax. I would now imagine that if their regular price during the week was 5.50, the new Happy Hour priced would now be 5.25. WOW, what a break.

And what of the bars in the East side of Vancouver, where seniors and others of like means were able to purchase a pint for 3.50 or so. They will now have their (Working man's drink) priced way out of reach for many. One really wonders what the Government was thinking, or NOT thinking with this pricing regulation.

I have noticed that some bars are continuing to advertise their beer prices as they were before the new regulations came into effect.

I, along with many of my friends are sadly disappointed by the new regulations, and I strongly urge the government to review this regulation, especially with respect to beer prices.

A long time Liberal supporter, but beginning to wonder if my votes were misplaced.

Thank you.

Dear Hon. Yap,

As a consumer and tax payer in BC, I am greatly disappointed in the 42% increase in min beer pricing ahead of your much publicized "Happy Hour" reforms to the BCLCB. This is a flagrant bait and switch at first glance and reeks of much bigger issues these new no so reform changes bring.

*Min Pricing to control consumption: Well this reeks rich will no issues with the higher prices, but working class adults, young adults and the poor are being gouged. Not sure if this is nanny state at work protecting us or the BC Liberal Party saying we must protect the poor and working class from themselves? Both a insult as in the United States s. 22 does not have these practices in most states, yet does not have responsible adults running wild and drunk every day in the streets.

Next this will effect the economy which your party says is a concern. Less people will go out, meaning less revenue for Restaurants and their employees, who themselves will not be able to go out and enjoy themselves with adult beverages.

Is this a public health issue or greed by the BCLCB and the Government? I say greed but short sighted greed as sales will tank and new business just opening around the beer and wine industry will suffer. Just like with the HST.

But to throw this in after you got the public's support for "Happy Hours" and other liquor board reforms is cheap and dishonest. As I am sure if you polled us for this and included the steep rise in pricing it would "NOT" have been supported.

Politically in the next elections this will not be forgotten as you and the BC Liberal Party have woken a already grumpy bear who are tired of being squeezed by ever increasing unaffordability of this province by all but the most wealthy. You may think you are hiding behind protecting the public from ourselves which is a insult to begin with, But that statement is more of a red herring to hide your greed. We are now not only the most expensive province to live in, we are the most expensive to have a drink with friends in after work, that is if we have a job because of your industry killing liquor laws.

Respectfully Yours.

I'm writing to voice my disapproval of the new "Happy Hour" policies. At first, I was encouraged by the early press that seemed to indicate that this province had finally started to address the archaic and unfair laws affecting the sell and production of liquor. I see the extension of patio hours and the proliferation of microbreweries and small-scale distilleries as positive steps forward (admittedly some of these are city initiatives) but the policies pertaining to Happy Hours are in my mind, ill-conceived and it makes me concerned about what the future "improvements" will bring when they are rolled out publicly.

As a small business owner, I find myself constantly shelling out money for both corporate and personal taxes and I seem to get less and less in return. Now the province has effectively made "the working man's beverage" the highest in the country and I again I find myself getting less for more. To me, this policy ensures that the rich (larger hospitality conglomerates) continue to get richer and the poor (independent brewers, pubs and your average beer drinker) are kept poor. Please explain your rationale behind introducing this policy.

As a registered voter in Vancouver-Fairview, I am terribly disappointed with the new minimum prices for liquor in BC. One of my favourite local spots to visit is Ouisi Bistro – as a long-established, well-respected restaurant and Vancouver Jazz Fest venue, hardly a spot that suggests excessive drunkenness. Almost all of their daily drink specials will have to increase in price based on the new minimum pricing. So much for happy hour. These are nanny-state prices well above the Canadian average, giving BC some of the highest liquor prices in the world. This makes me very unhappy indeed.

Subject: Confusion About Supposed "Happy Hour" Benefits

To Honorable Attorney General Susan Anton:

I am having a hard time understanding a statement you made recently (as quoted by the Vancouver Sun):

"Attorney General Suzanne Anton said in a statement that bringing in minimum drink prices allows establishments to offer happy hours. "As long as they adhere to the new minimum prices, consumers will have more chances to save a few dollars throughout the week and continue to support their local businesses.""

The confusion arises from the fact that the new minimum pricing rules will not only prevent local businesses from determining market-competitive pricing, but will in fact raise prices on product they were already offering at non-happy hour times. Surely it doesn't take an economist to see that this will not encourage the support of local business, but will in fact do the exact opposite.

In fact, the only thing the minimum pricing stipulation seems to do is encourage consumers to drink from home products offered by the BCL from large "macro-" breweries, who can now offer the perception of cheaper pricing.

Surely the interests of local brewers, restaurant and pub owners, and the individual consumers outweigh those of the Molson's of the world. Surely?

I implore you to reconsider the support of this decision and actively work to help consumers in this province.

Thank you for your time,

I live in North Delta and am writing to express my extreme frustration at the poor execution of the liquor policy changes. There are a number of things I don't like, but the thing that prompted me to write this letter is the minimum liquor pricing to accommodate happy hour. I mean, if it's going to be this ridiculous, then simply acknowledge that the stupid laws we've already got are as good as it can get (in BC) and leave them alone. This is not a matter of hysteria from an crazed member of the public - my opinion is informed by reading scholarly works such as the book written by a university professor: "Demon Rum or Easy Money: Government Control of Liquor in BC from Prohibition to Privatization" by Robert Campbell.

At a minimum, repeal this minimum pricing rule, or make the minimum low enough that it actually does result in cost reductions to BC bar/restaurant patrons. A preferred approach would be to not put a minimum and let the market figure it out.

I would appreciate you adding my name to the list of angry citizens who are complaining so you can really see the extent of the dissatisfaction. My request is that when the minimum number of letters have been received, you will take action to correct the mistake that was made.

Thanks and regards,

Subject: Minimum Pricing Laws are Misguided

Good morning,

I am writing to convey my disdain and disappointment in the recent Happy Hour and Minimum Pricing laws recently enacted. They are, in a word, misguided.

BC is now an embarrassment across Canada. Our minimum drink prices are the highest, by a wide margin, in Canada. This just doesn't make any sense. The purpose of Happy Hour is to allow business to lower their prices for a period of time to encourage people to visit. At many of my local establishments, I am now paying MORE for a drink than I was before happy hour pricing.

That's right, thanks to your new law, I am now paying more to support my local establishment than I was before. This is ridiculous. It suggests that (a) you don't support local establishments by forcing them charge more and therefore lose customers, and (b) that you just don't get it.

I am writing to ask you to change these laws immediately. Reduce the minimum pricing to reflect what the rest of the country and North America has done. Allow me to support my local establishments without breaking my bank account.

Additionally, I understand the government may be considering tying prices to alcohol volume. This too is misguided and another attempt to take hard earned money from the pockets of constituents.

Let us support our local brewerics, bars and restaurants without going broke. At the same time, you'll encourage tourists to spend their money here.

If these laws are not changed, my voice will be heard come election time. I know I am not the only person who feels this way.

Regards,

Greetings,

I'm writing to show my shock and disappointment and the recent announcement of the Minimum Pricing of alcohol.

Although I believe the Happy Hour concept to be a good one, which will allow businesses to try and encourage trade during their slow periods, the addition of such high minimum pricing will essentially make it useless. Why is it so much higher than ALL the other provinces?

In the United Kingdom, pricing of beer has increased dramatically in the past few years. The result is pubs shutting down in record numbers because people choose to stay home and drink, in many cases excessively, before going out. This results in less trade for pubs and restaurants and an INCREASE in public drunkenness.

I've been a long time Liberal supporter and am surprised at a policy that will essentially hurt business and hurt consumers at the same time.

Thank you for your time.

Regards,

Subject: Minimum pricing for alcohol

The BC government recently introduced so-called "Happy Hour" rules. This was, in fact, just a disguise to introduce MINIMUM PRICING for all alcohol sold in BC. In many cases, the price of beer and other drinks will INCREASING around the province - the only pubs that will be able to actually lower their drink prices for Happy Hour will be those that regularly charge an arm and a leg for drinks.

Minimum price for beer is $5 per 20 oz. pint. That's $5.75 after tax but before tip. Minimum - even for Molson Canadian at the Legion in a small interior town.

I think (based on various intelligence collected) this is combination tax grab, and a benefit for the big-pub-chain lobby groups. Your average British Columbian does not need this, and our alcohol was already the most highly-taxed on the continent BEFORE the price increase.

We adamantly oppose this increase, and feel it is not fair to the people of BC.

Please look into this matter and fix this large problem and mistake.
Thanks you for your attention to this matter.

Dear Ms. Anton:

With all due respect, the new minimum drink pricing is an ill thought out scheme that seems nothing more than a sly tax grab by the Provincial Government. Did the Liberals not run on a platform of free enterprise in the last election? How then is Government intervention into minimum drink prices reflective of free enterprise? This Government does not seem content unless it is taking from the hands of its citizens at every opportunity possible. Please, look at the minimum drink pricing in other Provinces and come back with something a little more reasonable and implement a policy that won't force some bars to raise their drink prices from present prices.

Sent: Friday, June 20, 2014 3:27 PM
To: Minister, JAG JAG:EX
Subject: Feedback to Liquor Control and Licensing Branch Policy Directive No 14-07

Dear Minister Anton,

My name is s. 22. A friend passed along the newly released Liquor Control and Licensing Branch Policy Directive No 14-07 on (Changes to regulations permitting variable pricing (happy hours) and imposing minimum drink prices in licensed establishments). While I was delighted to see that happy hour pricing will now be allowed in BC restaurants and bars, I was so frustrated to see the new minimum pricing for drinks.

I urge you to amend policy directive 14-07 to bring BC's minimum drink prices in line with Alberta's pricing.

When the review of liquor licensing in BC started, I was honestly under the impression that the goal was to make it easier and less expensive for responsible BC'ers to go have a drink with their friends or enjoy a drink in a more humane manner at a community event. I expected that the BC government was going to stand up for me.

When I see however, that some of my favourite local restaurants and bars will now have to raise prices, rather than just being able to offer better deals during happy hour, I get incredibly frustrated. I feel as though the BC Government took the recommendations of big business lobbying groups, without balancing it with common sense.

For example, there's a great Indian restaurant in Kits that have these big tables and offer traditional Indian family-style dining that's perfect for getting a group of friends who don't have the extra money to go out all the time (family style is always cheaper than individual entrees). Undeniably though, the real draw is that they sell pitchers of beer for just $10. Their food is amazing, but it's that $10 pitcher that always gets me and my friends in the door. Under the new minimum drink prices, they will have to raise their pitchers to $15. Honestly, if there are no more $10 pitchers, that restaurant isn't going to be my go-to place anymore.

Another example, there's this gastropub in downtown Vancouver that I love for their pub trivia nights (they have some of the best trivia hosts in the city). They don't have fantastic food, but I usually order a bowl of chips and salsa and take advantage of their occasional $15 bottle of wine special. This is a fantastic night out and most importantly it's inexpensive enough that I'll come downtown, instead of hanging out in my own neighbourhood. Under the new minimum drink rules, they'll have to raise that $15 bottle of wine special to $16 at minimum and won't be able to discount it to anything less than that.

These changes are made all the more frustrating for me when the new BC minimum drink prices are compared to the Alberta minimum drink prices. If I was in Alberta, that downtown gastropub could discount their bottles of wine to as low as $9 and that Indian restaurant could keep their pitchers of beer around $10. Why wouldn't the BC Government follow these norms found acceptable for years in other Western provinces like Alberta?

I'm frustrated by today's policy directive because it does not benefit my wallet or my enjoyment of local bars and restaurants in any way. This is particularly confusing when it was my understanding that this review of liquor policies in BC was meant to make BC more fun, more current, and more consumer friendly. This is a clear example of BC not standing up for me or my friends and family.

I urge you to amend policy directive 14-07 to bring BC's minimum drink prices in line with Alberta's pricing.

I would very much like to hear back from you about why this policy directive was written and whether you have any plans to change it.

Thank you for your time.

Dear Minister Anton,

I am writing you in my capacity as President of Campaign for Real Ale (CAMRA) Society of British Columbia – Powell River branch, to register our extreme displeasure with the recent implementation of alcoholic drink price minimums in British Columbia.

As you know, CAMRA BC is an independent consumer advocacy group, numbering close to 1,500 paid members, which champions the cause for BC craft beer consumers. The Powell River branch of CAMRA BC represents the specific issues relating to craft beer consumers in Powell River and the Sunshine Coast area as well as supporting the wider-spread issues that impact that entire province.

The new drink price minimums, in concert with announced allowance of temporary drink specials, otherwise known as "happy hour", forces many licensees in our area to increase their regular prices and any "daily special" prices for beer to meet the new minimum. Many other licensees have their regular prices pegged so close to the new minimum that they either cannot offer any discount for happy hour or if they can, it is so negligible that it appears insulting to their customers.

At the time of the announcement you were quoted saying there may be "the occasional case" in BC where licensees will have to increase their drink prices. This is not only grossly inaccurate: it is simply not true. All over British Columbia, including overpriced Vancouver, there are literally hundreds of licensees impacted by this new policy.

My local pub in Powell River has had to increase the regular price for a pint of craft beer from $4.50, tax included, to $5, before tax. The price for mainstream lagers went from $4, including tax, to $5. Another bar owner I spoke to yesterday said the new price minimums means his customers enjoy a happy hour rate all of $0.05 less than his current regular price. And he must raise his former daily special prices in order to meet the new minimum.

This same licensee has spoken to several other licensees in Powell River who are in similar situation of telling their loyal customers your government's 'happy hour' actually raises the price of their beer, up to 30 percent more, in some cases.

Powell River and the Sunshine Coast are not unique in BC. This scenario is certainly being played out all over the province. Outside of the Great Vancouver area and South Vancouver Island, economies and price structure are often very different due to economic factors in particular regions. Pricing in Powell River, from everything from the price of a house to the price of a beer has little in common with the bigger urban areas. And those establishments in the more expensive areas of the province can no longer offer a true break on the price of a drink due to your new policy.

BC liquor policy needs to make sense for all of British Columbia: this new policy comes nowhere it.

You and others associated with the recent liquor policy review have stated new liquor policies must strike a balance between promoting public health and safety with the wants and needs of industry stakeholders and consumers.

Again, this policy falls short and makes no sense in that regard.

Previously under the BC liquor policies we had "daily specials" set for the entire time an establishment was open and serving alcohol that date. Those daily specials, often for much less than the current new minimum prices, had no visible problems with widespread over-serving, public intoxication or increased drinking and despite the fact they lasted for hours and hours.

Now you are saying, paradoxically, a special offered for a shorter period of time somehow has a greater risk of problems and therefore prices must be increased.

BC now has the highest minimum drink prices in Canada to help ensure public health and safety, yet in all other provinces in Canada, despite having happy hours and lower minimum drink prices, we do not see drunken mayhem in the streets or marked issues related to over-serving and over-consumption.

So why do BC consumers need this increased price to help us control ourselves?

On behalf of the craft beer consumers of Powell River and the Sunshine Coast, I implore you to withdraw this new policy. If the BC Liberals insist on implementing a drink price minimum, it needs to be one that works for all of BC. We have strict liquor policies and the Serving it Right program in place in BC to stop over-serving and control over-consumption. Why not use those laws to punish those not serving it right instead of punishing all BC beer consumers.

I thank you for your time and consideration. I would be more than happy to discuss with you, face-to-face or by telephone, redesigning a liquor policy that works for all of BC concerning drink price minimums in more rural and isolated communities.

Sincerely,

Paddy Treavor

CCSA CONGRATULATES BRITISH COLUMBIA ON NEW MINIMUM PRICING MEASURE

The Canadian Centre on Substance Abuse (CCSA) congratulates British Columbia on its announcement last week to introduce minimum pricing for on-premise alcohol outlets, in addition to the off-premise minimum prices already in place.

As described in Reducing Alcohol-related Harm in Canada: Toward a Culture of Moderation, minimum pricing is an important policy lever governments can use to ensure prices are not set at levels that encourage drinking above the low-risk drinking guidelines. By reducing hazardous alcohol consumption, British Columbians can expect to see lower rates of injuries, violence, and certain chronic diseases.

The CCSA applauds the efforts by British Columbia to promote public health by making use of the best available evidence to inform its policies.

Regarding Friday's announcement on Happy Hours and Minimum Drink Prices, there is a correction to the standard drink size for cocktails. The $3.00 minimum price an establishment can charge is for a 1.5 ounce cocktail, rather than a 1 ounce cocktail. We have posted a new info graphic with the correct information on the home page of our website.

Just talked to Janice who confirmed the new minimum price rules are not meant to apply to growlers. However the PD says these rules apply for all liquor sales from these establishments:

New Policy

Effective immediately, liquor primaries, liquor primary clubs, food primaries, and manufacturer lounge and special event endorsement areas may vary the price of liquor at any time during liquor service hours as long as the price of liquor in each category does not fall below the minimum pricing specified in the table. Minimum pricing applies to all liquor sales in these establishments, including the sale of manufacturer samples.

Product Category	Minimum Price per ounce (not including sales tax)	Price per drink - examples of some common sizes (not including sales tax)
Draught cider/beer	$0.25 per oz (28 ml)	$3 per 341 ml (12 oz) (sleeve) $5 per 20 oz (pint) $15 per 60 oz (jug)

Hi Cindy

I am looking for clarification about the new minimum drink pricing.

Some folks I have talked to seem to think that growler fills, sold via tasting rooms and on-site, manufacturer beer lounges, will be under the new policy that states minimum price is $0.25 per ounce. Others, like myself believe they are not because they are packaged products that are bought to be consumed off-site from where they are purchased.

Can you or someone from the LCLB clarify this for me. I want to write an article clarifying the subject.

s. 22

1. The 1oz equivalency for spirits is a standard measure used across the country.
2. The analysis used the same values for consistency and to make comparators easier to relate
3. More recently than when most of those standards were established - the Canadian Low Risk Drinking Guidelines were established setting the equivalency at 1.5. Understanding there is potential confusion because of the different standards, we evaluated the health advocates submissions to be based on the Low risk Guidelines and so made the adjustments.

Good morning all,

As you are aware, government had announced and will be later on today announcing the implementation of the various recommendations of the LPR.

Please be aware that the adjustment to the minimum price for the spirits is based on 1.5 oz serving...NOT the 1 oz as previously noted.

Also please be conscious that with these various changes, there needs to be a time of adjustment. Therefore we are in an educational period for the next 3-4 weeks. Please refrain from issuing CNs at this time for any mistakes or contraventions committed due to confusion or unfamiliarity of the changes. Of course please exercise your discretion and judgement. If someone is flagrantly disregarding the rules and policies, it is an entirely different story. There has to be administrative fairness when we issue a CN or taking any follow up action. Subject: Details and Clarification on Recent Liquor Policy Changes

ALLIANCE OF BEVERAGE LICENSEES FOR A RESPONSIBLE LIQUOR INDUSTRY

Clarification to Minimum Drink Prices

The LCLB has provided further clarity about happy hours and minimum drink prices.

The correct minimum price for spirits is $2.00 per ounce or $4.00 for two ounces (in comparison to the previously announced price of $3.00 per ounce).

Pricing for other types of alcohol remains the same as the initial announcement on June 20th.

Minors allowed in LPs

The government has released new details about minors allowed in LPs.

Effective June 21st, a new Family Foodservice term and condition has been created to allow LP licensees to permit minors, accompanied by a parent or guardian, into their establishment until 10 p.m. LPs can apply for a Family Foodservice term and condition by contacting the LCLB.

To qualify for the Family Foodservice term, LPs must offer a selection of appetizers and main courses.

Other details include:

- The new policy does not further restrict liquor primaries that already permit minors.
- Approved liquor primaries may also employ minors as long as they do not sell or serve liquor.

If your establishment is approved, the new permission will be added to the face of your license.

Licensees must post signs informing the public that minors must be accompanied by a parent or guardian and are permitted until 10 pm. ABLE BC will have signage available for download shortly.

Liquor Sales at Food & Beverage Festivals

The government also announced allowing sales at Food and Beverage Festivals.

Private liquor stores and wine stores can now set up temporary stores at liquor and food and beverage festivals to sell products that are featured at the festival. This opportunity is available to LRSs and wine stores only.

To be eligible to sell liquor off-site:

- An LRS/WS must apply for a temporary off-site sale endorsement.
- An endorsed LRS must notify the LCLB to obtain an event-specific authorization to set up a temporary retail store at an event licensed under an SOL.
- Festivals must have a primary focus on tasting or introduction of liquor products and/or accompanying food.
- Licensed wine stores who set up a temporary store can only sell the products they are permitted to sell under the license of the permanent store.
- Temporary stores are only permitted in association with a special occasion licensed event.
- Temporary stores are only permitted during savings and long term rate stability.

Liquor Sales at Farmer's Markets

Another announcement on June 21st included allowing sales at Farmer's Markets.

Beer, wine, cider and spirits can be sampled and sold at farmer's markets across B.C. This opportunity is only available to liquor manufacturers.

Details include:

- Liquor manufacturers with on-site store endorsement can apply directly to the farmer's market they would like to participate in for market authorization.
- The market authorization is valid during the market hours only and liquor may not be sold outside of store endorsement hours 9 am to 11 pm.
- Market associations will decide which manufacturers can sample and sell their products; subject to municipal by-laws
- Liquor vendors at farmer's markets must have Serving it Right certification.

Subject: rationale for minimum drink pricing
Attachments: background to min price decision.docx

Good afternoon everyone,

FYI, attached is a point form summary of the rationale behind the new minimum drink pricing, for use if you get asked questions.

Minimum Drink Price Rationale and Background

- The Liquor Policy Review (LPR) Report recommendations struck a balance between liberalization of the liquor laws and the need to protect public health and safety, and minimum pricing is an important evidence-based tool to maintain this balance.
- The LPR report recommendation (#16) suggested allowing happy hours but only if minimum pricing (as recommended by health advocates) was put in place.
- Several decades of international research show that increasing the price of alcohol is one of the most effective approaches for reducing over-consumption and alcohol-related harm.
(Wagenaar, Salois & Komro, 2009; Babor et al., 2010; Wagenaar, Tobler & Komro, 2010).
- A recent national study (before minimum pricing was implemented) showed BC is a bottom ranking province for liquor pricing policy, compared to other Canadian provinces.
(Murie, A., Plamondon, L., Stockwell, T., Thomas, G., Thompson, K., & Vallance, K. (2013). Strategies to Reduce Alcohol-Related Harms and Costs in Canada: A Comparison of Provincial Policies. Toronto: Centre for Addiction and Mental Health.
- The new minimum price levels reflect the need to protect public health and safety and are based on recommendations of health advocates, industry, and a review of minimum price levels in other jurisdictions and BC local governments.
- During Liquor Policy Review consultations, health advocates recommended pricing at the $3.00 level per standard drink (12oz beer/cider/cooler, 5 oz wine, and 1.5 oz spirits).
- Every other province in Canada has minimum pricing in place. Some of them have been in place for a long time and the levels are currently under review.
- Four BC local governments (Nanaimo, Victoria, Vancouver, and Kamloops) already had bylaws in place imposing minimum drink pricing. These levels were significantly above the minimum provincial pricing in other provinces, and are similar to what was adopted provincially.
- During further consultations following the LPR, industry recommendations for minimum drink pricing ranged from $2.50 to $4.00 per standard drink.
- The new minimum pricing replaces the previous minimum price requirements, which required licensed establishments to set prices above the purchase price of the liquor from the Liquor Distribution Branch.

The wording in the LP guide is correct, and may be a nice way of phrasing it. Since there is a bit of confusion, we could also add a sentence that it does not apply to off-premises sales.

Revised

Liqueurs / Spirits	$3 per oz (28 ml)	$3 per oz (28 ml)
--------------------	--------------------	--------------------

- Minimum pricing applies to all liquor served in your establishment, including manufacturer samples.
- You may also vary the price of liquor for certain groups (e.g. "t" for players in uniform).

Just talked to Janice who confirmed the new minimum price rules are not meant to apply to growlers. However the PD says these rules apply for all liquor sales from these establishments:

New Policy

Effective immediately, liquor primaries, liquor primary clubs, food primaries, and manufacturer lounge and special event endorsement areas may vary the price of liquor at any time during liquor service hours as long as the price of liquor in each category does not fall below the minimum pricing specified in the table. Minimum pricing applies to all liquor sales in these establishments, including the sale of manufacturer samples.

Product Category	Minimum Price per ounce (not including sales tax)	Price per drink - examples of some common sizes (not including sales tax)
Draught cider/beer	$0.25 per oz (28 ml)	$3 per 341 ml (12 oz) (sleeve) $5 per 20 oz (pint) $15 per 60 oz (jug)
Packaged beer, cider and coolers	$0.25 per oz (28 ml)	$3 per 341 ml (12 oz) bottle or 355 ml can
Wine/Fortified wine (including sake)	$0.60 per oz (28 ml)	$3 per 5 oz glass (125 ml) $3.60 per 6 oz glass (170 ml) $5.40 per 9 oz glass (255 ml) $15.85 per 750 ml bottle (26.4 oz)
Liqueurs/Spirits	$3 per oz (28 ml)	$3 per oz (28 ml)

Also, brew pubs sell growlers.

No, the new min price rules don't apply to sales from a retail store, including a man store. Their pricing requirements have not changed. They still have to abide by the requirement that they must not sell liquor for less than the LDB purchase price.

Hi Cindy

I am looking for clarification about the new minimum drink pricing.

Some folks I have talked to seem to think that growler fills, sold via tasting rooms and on-site, manufacturer beer lounges, will be under the new policy that states minimum price is $0.25 per ounce. Others, like myself believe they are not because they are packaged products that are bought to be consumed off-site from where they are purchased.

Can you or someone from the LCLB clarify this for me. I want to write an article clarifying the subject.

Thank you.

Background: Reporter is wondering if the new minimum pricing affects the growlers people are able to buy from smaller brewers and micro brewers.

Questions: How does the new minimum pricing affect microbreweries that sell growlers to consumers?

Suggested Response:

- Minimum pricing only applies to liquor that is consumed on-site at an establishment and does not apply to liquor products sold for off-premise consumption at retail stores such as BC Liquor Stores, licensee retail stores (private) or wine stores. This would include growlers.

SCHEDULE

1 Section 1 of the Liquor Control and Licensing Regulation, B.C. Reg. 244/2002, is amended

(a) in subsection (1) by adding the following definition:

“catered event” means an event catered by a caterer at which liquor is sold, but does not include a residential event; ,

(b) in subsection (1) by repealing the definition of “event”,

(c) in subsection (1) in the definition of “occupant load” by striking out “or the site of a catered event” and substituting “or event site”,

(d) by adding the following definition:

“parent or guardian”, with respect to a minor, means a parent or guardian of the minor but does not include a parent or guardian who is himself or herself a minor; ,

(e) in subsection (1) in the definition of “private special occasion” by striking out “, but does not include a pre-wedding party commonly known as a bachelor or bachelorette party”,

(f) by repealing subsection (4), and

(g) by adding the following subsection:

- (5) A reference to “establishment” or “licensed establishment” in sections 13 (3) and (4), 16 (1) (b) and (c), 21 (3), 22 (1), 23 (2.1), 49 (3), 76 (3) and 77 (1) of the Act does not include an event site.

2 The following section is added:

Definitions of “charitable fundraiser” and “charitable representative” in the Act

1.1 (1) For the purposes of the definition of “charitable fundraiser” in the Act, the following classes of non-profit organizations are prescribed:

(a) an organization that

- (i) is incorporated under the Society Act, the Canada Not-for-profit Corporations Act or Part II of the Canada Corporations Act, and
- (ii) has no director who is remunerated, other than in reimbursement of actual expenses that are directly related to his or her duties as a director;

13.07 At a residential event, when provided to the caterer by the host of the event, a caterer may serve liquor owned by the host.

8 The following sections are added to Division 2 of Part 3:

Temporary off-site sale endorsement

14.2 A licensee who holds a licence for a licensee retail store or wine store may apply for a temporary off-site sale endorsement.

Temporary off-site sale authorization

14.3 (1) In this section, section 14.4 and Schedule 4, "food or beverage festival" means an event the primary focus of which is on tasting or showcasing food or liquor.

(2) A licensee who holds a licence for a licensee retail store or wine store with a temporary off-site sale endorsement may apply under section 89 (1) of the Act for a temporary off-site sale authorization in relation to an event site at a food or beverage festival that is the subject of a special occasion licence.

(3) An application under subsection (2) must include the following information:

- (a) the name of the licensee who holds the special occasion licence;
- (b) the name of the food or beverage festival in respect of which the special occasion licence has been issued;
- (c) the date, time and location of the food or beverage festival in respect of which the special occasion licence has been issued;
- (d) the hours during which the applicant licensee proposes to sell liquor at the food or beverage festival;
- (e) any other information required by the general manager to assess the application.

(4) A licensee applying for a temporary off-site sale authorization must disclose all material facts required by the form of application and must not make false or misleading statements in the form of application.

Terms and conditions of temporary off-site sale authorization

14.4 (1) A licensee who holds a licensee retail store or wine store licence may, on being granted a temporary off-site sale authorization by the general manager, sell liquor at an event site at a food or beverage festival in accordance with section 86 (1) of the Act.

- (2) The following terms and conditions apply to a temporary off-site sale authorization:
- (a) the authorization is valid only during the event dates and hours specified in the application under subsection (1);
 - (b) subject to limitation by the general manager in the authorization, liquor may be sold no earlier than 9 a.m. and no later than 11 p.m.;
 - (c) consumption of liquor at the event site is not permitted;
 - (d) minors are allowed to be present if they are allowed to be present at the food or beverage festival in respect of which the special occasion licence has been issued;
 - (e) sales of liquor must be recorded as sales from the licensee retail store or wine store, as the case may be;
 - (f) in the case of a temporary off-site sale authorization granted under a temporary off-site sale endorsement in respect of a wine store, the licensee may sell only the liquor that is permitted to be sold under the licensee's wine store licence.

9 Section 15 is amended by adding the following subsections:

- (12) A person to whom a special occasion licence has been issued under section 7 of the Act may, in accordance with the Act, this regulation and the terms and conditions of the licence, sell liquor that has been purchased from the Liquor Distribution Branch and given to the person by an agent, as defined in section 1 (1) of the Act, or a liquor manufacturer if
- (a) the person is a charitable fundraiser or charitable representative, and
 - (b) the purpose of the special occasion is to raise funds for a charitable purpose.
- (13) A licensee to whom a special occasion licence is issued for an event described in paragraph (c) of the definition of "private special occasion" in section 1 (1) of this regulation may serve at the private special occasion wine, beer or cider that is produced or manufactured
- (a) in a residence, or
 - (b) in an establishment licensed under section 12.1 of the Act
- for his or her own consumption or consumption at no charge by other persons.

10 Section 18 (4) is amended by striking out "or" at the end of paragraph (a), by adding ", or" at the end of paragraph (b) and by adding the following paragraph:

- (c) employed to do work or provide a service in the establishment, other than selling or serving liquor.

11 Section 18.1 is amended by adding the following subsection:

- (4.3) Despite subsections (3), (4), (4.1) and (4.2), wine, beer and spirituous liquors that are not produced or manufactured by the winery, brewery or distillery, as the case may be, may be consumed within the picnic endorsement area of the winery, brewery or distillery if the wine, beer or spirituous liquor is purchased from or served by the licensee in another licensed establishment

- (a) that is located on the same manufacturer site, and
- (b) in respect of which another licence is held by the licensee.

12 The following sections are added:

Farmers' market

18.3 In this section, sections 18.4 to 18.6 and Schedule 4, "farmers' market" means a market that meets the following criteria:

- (a) the market is composed entirely of vendors, excluding a licensee who holds a farmers' market authorization, who make, bake, grow or raise the products they sell at that market;
- (b) the market is managed or carried on by an organization that is incorporated under the Society Act or the Business Corporations Act;
- (c) the market comprises at least 6 vendors;
- (d) the market operates
 - (i) at least 4 times per year, but no more than twice a week, and
 - (ii) at least 2 hours per day.

Who may apply for farmers' market authorization

18.4 A licensee who holds a manufacturer licence with a manufacturer on-site store endorsement referred to in section 18.2 may apply under section 89 (1) of the Act for a farmers' market authorization in relation to an event site at a farmers' market.

Information required in application for authorization

- 18.5 (1) In this section, "registration information" means the name and registration number shown on the certificate of incorporation of a society or company.
- (2) An application under section 89 (1) of the Act for a farmers' market authorization must include the following information:
- (a) the registration information of the organization that manages or carries on the farmers' market that is proposed to be the subject of the authorization;
 - (b) the date, time and location of the farmers' market that is proposed to be the subject of the authorization;
 - (c) any other information required by the general manager to assess the application.
- (3) A licensee applying for a farmers' market authorization must disclose all material facts required by the form of application and must not make false or misleading statements in the form of application.

Terms and conditions of farmers' market authorization

18.6 (1) A licensee referred to in section 18.4 of this regulation may, on being granted a farmers' market authorization by the general manager, sell or serve liquor at an event site at a farmers' market in accordance with section 86 (1) of the Act.

- (2) The following terms and conditions apply to a farmers' market authorization:
 - (a) the authorization is valid only during the farmers' market hours and only during the hours stated in the licensee's manufacturer on-site store endorsement;
 - (b) the licensee may sell only the liquor that is permitted to be sold under the licensee's manufacturer on-site store endorsement;
 - (c) consumption of liquor at the event site is not allowed except as authorized by the general manager;
 - (d) minors are allowed to be present.

13 Section 34 (1) (j) is repealed and the following substituted:

- (j) records of incidents or events, if any, that occurred in or adjacent to the licensed establishment, and,
 - (i) in the case of a licensee who holds a catering licence, that occurred in or adjacent to the caterer's business location, or
 - (ii) in the case of a licensee who holds an authorization, that occurred in or adjacent to an event site that is the subject of the authorization; .

14 Section 37 (1), (2) (b) and (3) is repealed and the following substituted:

- (1) Subject to subsection (2), a licensee must
 - (a) post his or her licence in a conspicuous place in the licensed establishment, and
 - (b) provide access to the approved floor plan of the licensed establishment on request of the general manager.
- (3) A licensee who holds an authorization must, in addition to the requirements in subsection (1), display in a conspicuous place at each event site associated with the authorization, during the event, a copy of his or her licence and a copy of the authorization applicable to the event.

15 Section 38 (3) is repealed and the following substituted:

- (3) Without limiting subsection (2), if an event site adjoins an establishment for which a licence has been issued, the event site must be separated from the licensed establishment in a manner that is satisfactory to the general manager.

16 Section 41 is amended

- (a) by repealing subsections (1), (2), (1.2) and (1.3),
- (b) in subsection (2) by adding "or" at the end of paragraph (a), by striking out "or" at the end of paragraph (b) and by repealing paragraph (c), and

MINISTRY OF JUSTICE
LIQUOR CONTROL AND LICENSING BRANCH
BRIEFING NOTE

DATE: April 15, 2014

PURPOSE: For DECISION by LCLB executive

ISSUE: Permitting happy hours and establishing minimum drink prices in licensed establishments (implementation of Yap Report recommendation #16).

BACKGROUND:

- Happy hours are currently prohibited by the regulations (s. 41(2)(c), which do not allow the licensee to vary the price of liquor once it has been set for the day.
- All other Canadian provinces allow happy hours and impose a minimum price per drink. In the absence of provincial regulation of minimum drink prices, some local governments have passed bylaws imposing a minimum price on liquor sold in licensed establishments within their jurisdictions (see Appendix 1 for details).
- Licensed establishment drink prices vary depending on the type of establishment and its location. In general, BC prices for a standard drink range from about $3.00 up to about $8.00. Prices in urban centres and for specialty liquor can be much higher. Lower prices are usually found during daily “drink specials” in establishments catering to younger, lower income people or students, which tend to be where drink specials fall below the $3.00 level.
- Health advocates support minimum drink pricing to promote social responsibility and recommended they be set at the $3 level.
- The Surich report (1999) recommended pricing based on a multiple of the LDB floor price for each product category, but this poses practical problems for calculating drinks that cross categories and floor price changes are not always consistent with alcohol content (see Appendix 2 for information on this model).

PROPOSED MODEL/DECISIONS REQUIRED:

Recommended level of minimum pricing to be placed in regulation:

Product Category	Price per drink	Price per oz (not including sales tax)

Draught cider/beer	$3 per 341 ml (12 oz) (sleeve) $5 per 20 oz (pint) $15 per 60 oz (jug)	$0.25 per oz (28 ml)
Packaged beer, cider and coolers	$3 per 341 ml (12 oz) bottle or 355 ml can	$0.25 per oz (28 ml)
Wine/ Fortified wine (including sake)	$3 per 5 oz glass $3.60 per 6 oz glass (170 ml) $5.40 per 9 oz glass (255 ml) $15.85 per 750 ml bottle (26.4 oz)	$0.60 per oz (28 ml)
Liqueurs/ Spirits	$3 per oz (28 ml)	$3 per oz (28 ml)

- Industry will not be supportive of a minimum price set at such a high level that it will encourage home consumption at the expense of sales in licensed establishments.
- Recommended minimum pricing is higher than other provincial jurisdictions but in line with those adopted by BC local governments.
- Not necessary to have separate pricing for draft beer/packaged beer and fortified wine/wine, as some jurisdictions do.
 - Fortified wine and liqueurs, although they have different costs, are not high volume products.
 - Provides clarity and simplicity for licensees/staff/inspectors.
 - Industry split on this issue.
- No restrictions on types of FP or LP establishments that may hold happy hours.
 - No happy hours to be permitted at SOL or catered events.
 - Minimum drink prices would also not apply to SOL or catered events.
 - Reg to be drafted so that GM will have ability to restrict happy hours in a particular establishment as a result of compliance problems.
 - Generally supported by industry but ABLE opposes permitting happy hours in FPs.
- No time restrictions on happy hours.
 - Industry input is split on this issue.
 - Alberta is the only jurisdiction that restricts hours (before 8 pm).
- Maintain prohibition on “two for one” drink specials.
 - Most other jurisdictions restrict this as well.
 - Industry supports except for Restaurants Canada who suggest two-for-one’s should be permitted as long as the price of each drink remains above the minimum.
- No additional, specific advertising restrictions on happy hours needed.

- Current guidelines on advertising would apply (i.e. may not encourage consumption or irresponsible behaviour).
- Industry does not support advertising restrictions.
- Some other jurisdictions do restrict this e.g. Ontario does not allow the use of the terms “happy hour” or “cheap drinks”, and Manitoba does not allow advertising to mention liquor or prices.
- BCRFA also recommends advertising have a message of moderation.
- No restrictions on happy hour specials being targeted to particular groups.
 - Ontario is the only jurisdiction that restricts licensees from targeting specific groups (no deals for ladies, students, etc).
 - Not supported by industry.

OTHER MINISTRIES/ORGANIZATIONS IMPACTED:

- Provincial model would supersede any local government bylaws. Intention is to have one regulation that applies provincially.
 - LCLB is consulting with local governments to ensure transition is as smooth as possible.

Appendix 2: Minimum Price Calculations based on multiple of LDB floor price (as recommended by Surich Report)

The 1999 Surich report recommended prices be based on a multiple of the LDB floor price for each product category, i.e. wine: 1.5 times; bottled beer: 2 times; draft beer/spirits: 2.5 times. The report did not specify a minimum price for cider or coolers but these have been included in the chart below and multiplied by a factor of 2, and liqueurs have been multiplied by a factor of 2.5.

Product Category	LDB Floor Price	Price per Drink* (before tax)
Draught cider	$2.45 per litre	$3.06 per 0.5 litre (17.5 oz) or $0.17 per oz (28 ml)
Draught beer	$2.22 per litre	$2.75 per 0.5 litre (17.5 oz) or $0.20 per oz (28 ml)
Packaged cider and coolers	$3 per litre	$2.04 per 341 ml bottle
Packaged beer	$3.54 per litre	$2.41 per 341 ml bottle
Wine and sake	$7.20 per litre (for packages less than 10 litres)	$8.09 per 750 ml bottle or $1.53 per 5 oz (142 ml) glass
Liqueurs	$16.15 per litre	$1.13 per oz (28 ml)
Spirits	$31.66 per litre	$2.22 per oz (28 ml)

Note: These prices are calculated based on the absolute number of servings per litre and do not take into account that the number may in reality be lower due to spillage, customer returns, etc. If the calculation included a factor for spillage, return, etc, the price per drink would be higher.

*Price calculations between metric and imperial are rounded to the nearest cent.

Liquor Control and Licensing Branch Consultation

Proposal: Implementation of happy hours and minimum drink prices in licensed establishments

Background:

At the end of January, 2014, government announced acceptance of recommendation # 16 of the Liquor Policy Review Report, which would permit licensees to offer time-limited drink specials (i.e. happy hours), provided the price is not below a prescribed minimum.

Currently, liquor prices must be at least as much as the original Liquor Distribution Branch purchase price. The minimum specifications for pricing are set out in s. 41 of the Liquor Control and Licensing Regulations. Under this section there is a requirement that the price of liquor not be altered during the course of the business day. This regulation prohibits price reductions such as happy hours or two for one drink specials.

As part of ongoing policy work to support implementation of the Liquor Policy Review Report, the branch is requesting industry input. The following table summarizes happy hour and minimum drink policy in other Canadian provinces and the four BC local governments which have already implemented minimum price bylaws.

Table: Legislated Minimum Drink Prices* and Happy Hour Rules – Summary Table

NOTE: All prices are listed first as they appear in the relevant legislation. Brackets indicate either prices of common drink sizes or conversions to price by the ounce for ease of comparison.

Input Requested:

What is the appropriate level of minimum pricing?

Is it necessary to have separate pricing for draft beer/packaged beer and fortified wine/wine, as some jurisdictions do?

Are there any types of establishments where happy hours should NOT be permitted ?

Should there be time restrictions on happy hours (Alberta limits hours, happy hour must end at 8 p.m.) Is there any appetite/reason to do so here?

Should “two for one” drink specials continue to be prohibited?

Are advertising restrictions on happy hours needed (see Ontario and Manitoba rules)?

Should there be restrictions on happy hour specials being targeted to particular groups (e.g. ladies night or student discounts as in Ontario)?

Any other thoughts or comments about happy hours or minimum drink prices?

Ministry of Justice
LIQUOR CONTROL AND LICENSING REGULATION AMENDMENTS FOR IMPLEMENTATION OF YAP REPORT
Speaking Points

The OLC package contains changes to the Liquor Control and Licensing Regulation to implement some of the recommendations (package #2) of the Yap Report.

Government has committed to implementation of these recommendations.

An announcement is scheduled subsequent to Cabinet approval.

ISSUE: Permit variable drink pricing (happy hours) and impose minimum drink pricing in licensed establishments (LPR #16)

BACKGROUND:

- removes the restriction preventing licensed establishments from varying the price of liquor during the day
- adds minimum pricing for by-the glass establishments
- minimum prices: $0.25 per ounce for beer, cider and coolers, $0.60 per ounce for wine, and $3 per ounce for liqueurs and spirits
- prices are in line with BC local governments and consistent with levels recommended by health advocates
- BC minimum drink pricing will be the highest in Canada
- prohibition on “two for one” drink specials is maintained

- affects all establishments selling liquor by the glass (food/liquor primary manufacturer lounge and special event area endorsements).

MINISTRY OF JUSTICE
BRIEFING NOTE

DATE: May 7, 2014

PURPOSE: For INFORMATION for working group

ISSUE: Permitting happy hours and establishing minimum drink prices in licensed establishments (implementation of Yap Report recommendation #16).

BACKGROUND:

- All other Canadian provinces allow happy hours and impose a minimum price per drink. In the absence of provincial regulation of minimum drink prices, some local governments have passed bylaws imposing a minimum price on liquor sold in licensed establishments within their jurisdictions (see Appendix 1 for details).
- Licensed establishment drink prices vary depending on the type of establishment and its location. In general, BC prices for a standard drink range from about $3.00 up to about $8.00. Prices in urban centres and for specialty liquor can be much higher. Lower prices are usually found during daily “drink specials” in establishments catering to younger, lower income people or students, which tend to be where drink specials fall below the $3.00 level.
- Health advocates support minimum drink pricing to promote social responsibility and recommended they be set at the $3 level.
- Industry input is summarized in Appendix 2.

PROPOSED MODEL/RATIONALE:

Recommended level of minimum pricing to be placed in regulation:

Product Category	Price per drink	Price per oz (not including sales tax)
Draught cider/beer	$3 per 341 ml (12 oz) (sleeve) $5 per 20 oz (pint) $15 per 60 oz (jug)	$0.25 per oz (28 ml)
Packaged beer, cider and coolers	$3 per 341 ml (12 oz) bottle or 355 ml can	$0.25 per oz (28 ml)

Wine/ Fortified wine (including sake)	$3 per 5 oz glass $3.60 per 6 oz glass (170 ml) $5.40 per 9 oz glass (255 ml) $15.85 per 750 ml bottle (26.4 oz)	$0.60 per oz (28 ml)
Liqueurs/ Spirits	$3 per oz (28 ml)	$3 per oz (28 ml)

- Industry will not be supportive of a minimum price set at such a high level that it will encourage home consumption at the expense of sales in licensed establishments.
- Recommended minimum pricing is higher than other provincial jurisdictions (will be the highest in Canada) but in line with those adopted by BC local governments.
- Not necessary to have separate pricing for draft beer/package beer and fortified wine/wine, as some jurisdictions do.
 - Fortified wine and liqueurs, although they have different costs, are not high volume products.
 - Provides clarity and simplicity for licensees/staff/inspectors.
 - Industry split on this issue.
- No restrictions on types of FP or LP establishments that may hold happy hours.
 - Caterers may continue to vary prices for different events and may now vary the price during an event. They may also continue to give liquor away (e.g. a wedding where the host provides wine with dinner and then there is a cash bar) but minimum prices do not apply to catered events.
 - Variable pricing and minimum drink pricing does not apply to SOL events, which will continue to be subject to the current rules.
 - GM will have ability to impose terms and conditions on an individual licence restricting variable pricing (happy hours) in a particular establishment as a result of compliance problems.
 - Generally supported by industry but ABLE opposes permitting happy hours in FPs.
- No time restrictions on happy hours.
 - Gives industry flexibility to make pricing decisions as they see fit.
 - Industry input is split on this issue.
 - Alberta is the only jurisdiction that restricts hours (before 8 pm).
- Maintain prohibition on “two for one” drink specials.
 - Most other jurisdictions restrict this as well.
 - Industry supports this except for Restaurants Canada who suggest two-for-one’s should be permitted as long as the price of each drink remains above the minimum.

- No additional, specific advertising restrictions on happy hours needed.
 - Current guidelines on advertising would apply (i.e. may not encourage consumption or irresponsible behaviour).
 - Industry does not support advertising restrictions.
 - Some other jurisdictions do restrict this e.g. Ontario does not allow the use of the terms “happy hour” or “cheap drinks”, and Manitoba does not allow advertising to mention liquor or prices.
 - BCRFA also recommends advertising have a message of moderation.
- No restrictions on happy hour specials being targeted to particular groups.
 - Ontario is the only jurisdiction that restricts licensees from targeting specific groups (no deals for ladies, students, etc).
 - Not supported by industry.

OTHER MINISTRIES/ORGANIZATIONS IMPACTED:

- Provincial model would supersede any local government bylaws. Intention is to have one regulation that applies provincially.
 - LCLB is consulting with local governments to ensure transition is as smooth as possible.

 - Draft Beer - 18 ounce serving
 - Bottled Refreshment Beverages containing more than

1.5% alcohol by volume, including Cider and Coolers;

2. (b) hi-balls, other than a standard serving, except where at least $3.00 for the first ounce of spirits plus $2.00 for each additional ounce of spirits, or portion thereof, is charged;
3. (c) draft beer, other than a standard serving, except where in a larger or smaller serving, an increase or decrease in price is charged in the same proportion as the increase or decrease over a standard serving of draft beer.

Liquor Control and Licensing Branch Consultation

Proposal: Implementation of happy hours and minimum drink prices in licensed establishments

Background:

At the end of January, 2014, government announced acceptance of recommendation # 16 of the Liquor Policy Review Report, which would permit licensees to offer time-limited drink specials (i.e. happy hours), provided the price is not below a prescribed minimum.

Currently, liquor prices must be at least as much as the original Liquor Distribution Branch purchase price. The minimum specifications for pricing are set out in s. 41 of the Liquor Control and Licensing Regulations. Under this section there is a requirement that the price of liquor not be altered during the course of the business day. This regulation prohibits price reductions such as happy hours or two for one drink specials.

As part of ongoing policy work to support implementation of the Liquor Policy Review Report, the branch is requesting industry input. The following table summarizes happy hour and minimum drink policy in other Canadian provinces and the four BC local governments which have already implemented minimum price bylaws. Note that the imposition of provincial regulation of minimum drink pricing will supersede local government bylaws.

Table: Legislated Minimum Drink Prices* and Happy Hour Rules – Summary Table

NOTE: All prices are listed first as they appear in the relevant legislation. Brackets indicate either prices of common drink sizes or conversions to price by the ounce for ease of comparison.

Jurisdiction	Draught Beer	Bottle/Can Beer, Cider, Coolers	Wine	Fortified Wine	Spirits	Happy Hour Rules

Combined Average	$0.17/oz	$0.20/oz	$0.48/oz	$0.68/oz	$2.40/oz

Input Requested:

What is the appropriate level of minimum pricing?

Is it necessary to have separate pricing for draft beer/packaged beer and fortified wine/wine, as some jurisdictions do?

Are there any types of establishments where happy hours should NOT be permitted ?

Should there be time restrictions on happy hours (Alberta limits hours, happy hour must end at 8 p.m.) Is there any appetite/reason to do so here?

Should “two for one” drink specials continue to be prohibited?

Are advertising restrictions on happy hours needed (see Ontario and Manitoba rules)?

Should there be restrictions on happy hour specials being targeted to particular groups (e.g. ladies night or student discounts as in Ontario)?

Any other thoughts or comments about happy hours or minimum drink prices?

Happy Hours Policy

Question #3

With respect to the new directive which outlines the requirement for minimum drink prices for Happy Hours: We have been made aware that some of our branches have been providing alcohol at a price lower than the new minimum price required during Happy Hours, as a regular day-to-day price. Can these branches continue with those lower than minimum drink prices if those prices are their fixed price and they don't engage in Happy Hours?

The new pricing is the new minimum prices that must be followed regardless of happy hour or if it's the standard price in the establishment. I've attached a copy of the rationale the branch followed when establishing the minimum prices.

Please call me if you would like to discuss these questions for further clarification.

Minimum Drink Price Rationale and Background

- The Liquor Policy Review (LPR) Report recommendations struck a balance between liberalization of the liquor laws and the need to protect public health and safety, and minimum pricing is an important evidence-based tool to maintain this balance.
- The LPR report recommendation (#16) suggested allowing happy hours but only if minimum pricing (as recommended by health advocates) was put in place.
- Several decades of international research show that increasing the price of alcohol is one of the most effective approaches for reducing over-consumption and alcohol-related harm.
(Wagenaar, Salois & Komro, 2009; Babor et al., 2010; Wagenaar, Tobler & Komro, 2010).
- A recent national study (before minimum pricing was implemented) showed BC is a bottom ranking province for liquor pricing policy, compared to other Canadian provinces.
(Murie, A., Plamondon, L., Stockwell, T., Thomas, G., Thompson, K., & Vallance, K. (2013). Strategies to Reduce Alcohol-Related Harms and Costs in Canada: A Comparison of Provincial Policies. Toronto: Centre for Addiction and Mental Health.
- The new minimum price levels reflect the need to protect public health and safety and are based on recommendations of health advocates, industry, and a review of minimum price levels in other jurisdictions and BC local governments.
- During Liquor Policy Review consultations, health advocates recommended pricing at the $3.00 level per standard drink (12oz beer/cider/cooler, 5 oz wine, and 1.5 oz spirits).
- Every other province in Canada has minimum pricing in place. Some of them have been in place for a long time and the levels are currently under review.
- Four BC local governments (Nanaimo, Victoria, Vancouver, and Kamloops) already had bylaws in place imposing minimum drink pricing. These levels were significantly above the minimum provincial pricing in other provinces, and are similar to what was adopted provincially.
- During further consultations following the LPR, industry recommendations for minimum drink pricing ranged from $2.50 to $4.00 per standard drink.
- The new minimum pricing replaces the previous minimum price requirements, which required licensed establishments to set prices above the purchase price of the liquor from the Liquor Distribution Branch.

Hi Janice and Barry,

I received the following email regarding the current policy changes. Before I reply, I need some input. Can you give me some guidance on these questions.

Question 3 has to do with minimum pricing (of course, what else). My understanding is the prices are the minimum prices which various liquor can sell for, happy hour or not.

I have the rationale that Janice sent out on Friday so I will attach that when I draft up my reply.

Thanks for your assistance.

Subject: Minimum Drink Pricing

Hi Ray

I have spoken to a number of licensee's about the minimum drink pricing. Nanaimo's licensee's overall have no concerns about the new minimums however the smaller communities like Campbell River, Port Hardy, Port McNeill, Quadra Island and Gabriola Island are concerned about having to raise their prices to comply with the minimum for draught beer specifically. They are primarily concerned because they have struggled to get customers at their current prices and now most will be increasing prices. Most were selling the 20 oz pint for around $3-$4 and will now have to increase to $5. The Jugs of beer also were selling for around $14-$14.50 for a 60oz jug which will now increase to $15. The Club Licenses (Legions and Yacht clubs) have also raised concerns about the minimum pricing of beer as it is higher in most cases than they were selling previously and again struggling to bring customers through the door. The rest of the pricing everyone seems pretty happy with.

Subject: Re: Industry Feedback

Hey Jay

I fielded about 7 calls today from licensee' of both lp and fp's. Seems to be a consistent complaint with the minimum pricing.

It is a matter that we have allowed the happy hour issue but have raised the cost to hold such. So basically a pitcher of beer they used to put on special for 12 or 13 dollars, now they have to charge 15.00.

Al deacon was on the noon new yapping about that today.

Marlene from the reynolds hotel was saying that their margins are so tight now on their draft and this will probably loose them money because they suspect it will result in less volume.

Few other things but not related to the review.

Complaints:

- A. Minimum pricing of beer may be too high for rural areas. The argument is that the minimum price per day is a hardship for those groups that offer beer near cost as an incentive to attend the establishment. Examples are recreational facilities like volunteer golf clubs and curling clubs or Legions. Despite the complaint the numbers don't support that the min beer price is too high. Typical --Beer 16oz mug = $4.75 10 oz glass=$2.85 – Single high ball is $4:75. It appears that the hardship will be on clubs that offer price discounts for purchasing in quantity. Example cheaper beer when ordered by a jug.
- B. The $3:00 shot of spirit is too low. It will not cover the cost of labor. Not sure the numbers support this claim either. Cheap sprits will be more than 100% mark up.

Jay,

I haven't received a ton of feedback yet; however, here is what I have heard so far....

Re: Friday's announcements - Strathcona was unhappy that they weren't given more time before the announcement took effect.

- They weren't happy with the fact that the prices for some liquor (ie Jugs) has actually increased compared to what industry is currently selling them for.

NR

- Some places drink prices were below the new minimum prices; therefore, they had to amend their menus that day in order to comply with the new min prices. Again, not enough notice for industry or LCLB staff.

Re: Saturday's announcements - I had a call from the City of Duncan who is concerned; and, wondering what their role is? They don't feel that they had much of a say. They didn't have any existing bylaws as these things were previously not allowed. Now, they can't do much about it unless they create new bylaws.

Personal perspective: We need to do better job of informing our staff prior to the announcements. My phone was ringing off the hook on Friday and this morning. I haven't had a chance to fully read and understand the changes prior to having to try and educate industry.

Hi Jay / Ray:

Further to my last , spoke too soon – I had 9 voicemails this morning; 7 of which were enquiring about the minimum pricing.

Most have an issue with beer pricing as any existing promotions they did come in at around $2.85 per sleeve all in; which has now gone to $3.45 all in.

Like Jim, most of these licensees are in rural areas / smaller centres – Elkford; Sparwood; Columbia Valley; Greater Golden Area; Lake Louise West, and Kimberley. So far Cranbrook and Fernie seem okay with it.

As in my previous e mail:

So far most seem more interested in the fact the can vary prices; and I have had no one complaining about the minimum. Those I have spoken to indicate they don't price below what is being implemented anyway. I am guessing we will not see a negative reaction until 'Happy Hours' etc perhaps don't live up to their expectations.

Further to them saying they do not price below what is being implemented, there were comments that they could not afford to go lower. In fairness I have spoken to only one Services Club so far - They were happy.

What most figured their pricing on was their pitcher rate, and to date none of them came in under the new minimum. Several said they would only apply 'happy hour' pricing to individual servings; and may be likely to reduce pitcher promotion if the happy hour or similar promotions work for them.

Just a snap shot so far though.....

For the next few weeks our emphasis is on education, making sure everyone is up to speed on the new rules. If a licensee purposely charged less and it was clear they were aware of the change, an inspector could issue a CN, however overall, our emphasis is on getting the word out and licensees some time to adjust. I also tell people there has been a correction to the minimum price for spirits.

Hi Janice,

Inspectors are dealing with licenses who are asking if they have to follow the minimum drink prices if they do not offer happy hours....ie: they put a 12 oz sleeve of beer on special for the day at $2.75 ...they will not be changing the prices at any point of the day to offer a happy hour , can they still offer the $2.75 price or must they still make it a minimum of $3.

I believe during the phone call yesterday you states that the minimum drink prices apply all day but I think the wording in the policy directive states that licensed establishments "may vary the price of liquor at any time during liquor service hours as long as the price of liquor in each category does not fall below the minimum pricing specified in the table". ...and many licenses are interpreting this to mean they do not have to follow minimum drink prices if they do not offer happy hour.

I left you a voice mail as well but you can ignore that if the email works better for you.

Thanks so much,

Rupi

So far most seem more interested in the fact they can vary prices; and I have had no one complaining about the minimum. I am guessing we will not see a negative reaction until 'Happy Hours' etc perhaps don't live up to their expectations.

Hi Holly,
Thank you for sending me the email from ABL and the one from Gibbons.
I've forwarded to the executives and spoke with Doug.
First regarding the confusion between the website and the policy directives. The website is correct. It is $2 per oz. Policy directives amendments will occur later.

Regarding Joey Gibbons' concern, I hope you understand we didn't just arbitrarily adjust the pricing of liquor. It was done through studies and research and with input from various health and addiction groups. It is under the Low Risk Drinking Guidelines that the price was adjusted.

I understand the concerns regarding $2/oz, but let's not forget the onus has always been on the licensees to be diligent in how much and who they serve.

The LCLB has provided further clarity about happy hours and minimum drink prices.

The correct minimum price for spirits is $2.00 per ounce or $4.00 for two ounces (in comparison to the previously announced price of $3.00 per ounce).

Pricing for other types of alcohol remains the same as the initial announcement on June 20th.

Minors allowed in LPs

The government has released new details about minors allowed in LPs.

Effective June 21st, a new Family Foodservice term and condition has been created to allow LP licensees to permit minors, accompanied by a parent or guardian, into their establishment until 10 p.m. LPs can apply for a Family Foodservice term and condition by contacting the LCLB.

To qualify for the Family Foodservice term, LPs must offer a selection of appetizers and main courses.

Other details include:

- The new policy does not further restrict liquor primaries that already permit minors.
- Approved liquor primaries may also employ minors as long as they do not sell or serve liquor.

If your establishment is approved, the new permission will be added to the face of your license.

Licensees must post signs informing the public that minors must be accompanied by a parent or guardian and are permitted until 10 pm. ABLE BC will have signage available for download shortly.

The government also announced allowing sales at Food and Beverage Festivals.

Private liquor stores and wine stores can now set up temporary stores at liquor and food and beverage festivals to sell products that are featured at the festival. This opportunity is available to LRSs and wine stores only.

To be eligible to sell liquor off-site:

- An LRS/WS must apply for a temporary off-site sale endorsement.
- An endorsed LRS must notify the LCLB to obtain an event-specific authorization to set up a temporary retail store at an event licensed under an SOL.
- Festivals must have a primary focus on tasting or introduction of liquor products and/or accompanying food.
- Licensed wine stores who set up a temporary store can only sell the products they are permitted to sell under the license of the permanent store.
- Temporary stores are only permitted in association with a special occasion licensed event.
- Temporary stores are only permitted during the hours and days of the festival subject to regular retail hours of 9 am to 11 pm.

If we are thinking of tinkering with the min pricing for draft beer/cider, here is a table showing what the pricing would be for the various drink sizes.

Importance: High

Yesterday when I was getting all the calls, licensees asked if the prices were based on actual liquor in the glass or the size of the glass. I told them it was actual liquor. Some have a 60 oz pitcher but only pour 56 oz. They would base their price on 56 oz. Some have 10 oz glasses and pour 9, etc. Barry confirmed this. Hopefully that's consistent with what you are saying.

CCSA CONGRATULATES BRITISH COLUMBIA ON NEW MINIMUM PRICING MEASURE

The Canadian Centre on Substance Abuse (CCSA) congratulates British Columbia on its announcement last week to introduce minimum pricing for on-premise alcohol outlets, in addition to the off-premise minimum prices already in place.

As described in Reducing Alcohol-related Harm in Canada: Toward a Culture of Moderation, minimum pricing is an important policy lever governments can use to ensure prices are not set at levels that encourage drinking above the low-risk drinking guidelines. By reducing hazardous alcohol consumption, British Columbians can expect to see lower rates of injuries, violence, and certain chronic diseases.

The CCSA applauds the efforts by British Columbia to promote public health by making use of the best available evidence to inform its policies.

So far most seem more interested in the fact the can vary prices; and I have had no one complaining about the minimum. Those I have spoken to indicate they don't price below what is being implemented anyway. I am guessing we will not see a negative reaction until 'Happy Hours' etc perhaps don't live up to their expectations.

Hi Doug,

I'm fielding some calls today regarding the concerns that C&E staff have in relation to the Media Roll out strategy.

Inspectors had been fielding phone calls from licensees after the news broke. Even with my email yesterday advising them the government news conference today, many inspectors feel inadequately informed. Even after they read the information on our SharePoint site, there remain questions which need clarification. All the inspectors have to be prepared for not only fielding questions from licensees but also from the police. I honestly do not believe the police members will go on our website to learn about the new recommendation implementations and their intricate policies and directives that go along with them. They would rather call their area inspectors.

As the recommendations are all on line, read by all the staff and the packages actually listed out which recommendations are included in each package, the only confidential part is the date of the rollout.

Sharing thoughts in moving forward.

Good morning LCLB,

Another milestone has come!

In a few minutes Government is announcing implementation of the following six LPR recommendations:

- Happy Hours and Minimum Prices (LPR #16)

NR

These are in effect now. For details on each, please refer to the relevant policy directives, which we have just posted on the Liquor Transformation SharePoint site.

Government is issuing a news release (which we will also be putting on the SharePoint site), and we are notifying stakeholders.

PP&C staff have organized a staff info session through Outlook on Tuesday June 24th via conference call for staff in the regions to go through the changes in more detail.

If you have immediate questions on any of these, they can be directed to:

- Janice – Happy Hours and Minimum Prices

- Liquor primaries, liquor primary clubs, food primaries, and manufacturer lounge and special event endorsement areas may vary the price of liquor at any time during liquor service hours as long as the price of liquor in each category does not fall below a prescribed minimum price (roughly equivalent to $3.00 per standard drink). For the above named licence types, the previous requirement that licensees not sell product below the LDB purchase price no longer applies. Licensees may also vary the price of liquor for certain groups (e.g. “team night” price reductions for players in uniform). As with most other Canadian jurisdictions, “two for one” drink specials are still prohibited, as they are considered a strategy likely to promote intoxication. Industry associations will receive the policy directive, but individual licensees will not be notified until the Liquor Line newsletter goes out in a couple of weeks. For that reason, I’d suggest taking an educational approach with licensees during these first few weeks.

Sorry Cindy, I'm still confused. (Maybe I haven't had enough coffee today)!

Do the new minimum prices supersede all minimum pricing that is currently in place? Meaning, for example, that the lowest price any FP/LP/lounge can charge for a 1oz spirit is $3, regardless of whether it's happy hour or not? And the LDB purchase price no longer matters?

For those establishments that sell liquor by the glass (such as bars, restaurants, and winery lounges) – they will be able to vary the price through the day as long as they don't go below the new minimum prices.

For those places that sell packaged liquor, they are already allowed to vary the price, and in their case, they can't go below the LDB minimum purchase price. For them there is no change.

In terms of the logic behind this, the minimum prices for packaged liquor can be lower because people aren't actually consuming the product onsite, whereas they are in a bar.

Here are the changes we are making to the licensee guides for liquor-primaries as FYI. I have also attached the policy directive:

This letter is to notify you of changes to provincial regulations affecting minimum drink prices, as the contact person in your local government during our recent consultations on this issue, and given that your respective municipalities already have minimum drink prices in place. Your municipal government will be also receiving information about this change as well.

Today, government announced implementation of Liquor Policy Review Recommendation #16, which will allow liquor licensees to offer happy hours, subject to a new regulatory requirement for minimum drink pricing. A copy of the full report is available online.

The new minimum price regulations permit licensees to vary the price of liquor at any time during the business day, as long as prices do not fall below the prescribed minimum at any time. A copy of the policy directive is attached. British Columbia's new minimum drink price levels are the highest in the country among provincial jurisdictions and meet or exceed the price levels imposed by local government bylaws already in place. The new provincial minimum drink price regulation takes effect immediately. Liquor licensees are required to comply with the provincial requirements regardless of any local government bylaws that may be already in place. Liquor Control and Licensing Branch liquor inspectors will be monitoring compliance with this requirement, and we will also be writing to all licensees to notify them of this change.

Thank you to those of you who provided feedback on this issue to my staff. Your input and the input from health advocates during the Liquor Policy Review was instrumental in establishing minimum drink price levels.

Yours sincerely,

Douglas S. Scott

Questions and Answers

B.C. Liquor Policy Review

June 20th Announcement – Happy Hours / Hospitality Changes

June 12, 2014 - DRAFT

1. What are you announcing today?

- A new batch of Liquor Policy Review recommendations has been implemented, including happy hours and a number of changes that will cut red tape and simplify liquor licensing for the industry.
- Our government has an aggressive agenda – we promised British Columbians and the industry that we would modernize B.C.'s liquor laws, and we're following through on that commitment.

NR

Happy Hours

3. How soon can businesses hold happy hours?

- This change is effective today – June 20.
- Happy hours offer socially engaging, interactive environments for British Columbians while also helping B.C. restaurants and pubs bring in customers during specific times in the day when business may be slow.

4. What exactly are the minimum drink prices?

- The minimum drink prices are based on ounces of alcohol.
- For example, the minimum price an establishment can charge is $3 for a single ounce cocktail, $3.60 for a six ounce glass of wine and $4 for a 16 ounce sleeve of beer.
- (See table on following page).

Product Category	Minimum Price per ounce (not including sales tax)	Price per drink: Examples of some common sizes
Draught cider/beer	$0.25 per oz (28 ml)	$3 per 341 ml (12 oz) (sleeve) $5 per 20 oz (pint) $15 per 60 oz (jug)
Packaged beer, cider and coolers	$0.25 per oz (28 ml)	$3 per 341 ml (12 oz) bottle or 355 ml can
Wine/ Fortified wine (including sake)	$0.60 per oz (28 ml)	$3 per 5 oz glass $3.60 per 6 oz glass (170 ml) $5.40 per 9 oz glass (255 ml) $15.85 per 750 ml bottle (26.4 oz)
Liqueurs/ Spirits	$3 per oz (28 ml)	$3 per oz (28 ml)

5. What were the prices suggested by health advocates?

- Most health advocates that participated in the B.C. Liquor Policy Review suggested price minimum around $3.00 per standard drink – and these changes align with those recommendations.
- Research has shown that minimum price policies can be effective in reducing alcohol abuse by at-risk groups.

6. How does B.C.'s minimum pricing compare to other jurisdictions?

- B.C.'s minimum prices – in line with prices that have been adopted by a number of local governments in B.C. and consistent with levels recommended by health advocate – will be the highest in Canada.
- We've been clear that any changes to B.C.'s liquor laws must also safeguard health and public safety – and we remain committed to that.

7. Are you going to set specific hours within which happy hours must be held?

- As part of this change, businesses may vary their price through the day at any time during liquor service hours, as per the terms and conditions of their licence.
- Typically, happy hours are offered at times of the day when business is slow – such as late afternoon, before the dinner crowd.

8. Are all establishments – liquor-primary and food-primary – allowed to have happy hours?

- Yes, this change affects all establishments that sell liquor by the glass, including food-primary and liquor-primary licences, as well as manufacturer lounge and special event area endorsements.
- We see this as a way to offer socially engaging, interactive environments for British Columbians while also helping B.C.'s licensed establishments bring in customers during specific times in the day when business may be slow.

9. Do happy hour prices apply to shooters?

s. 13

- Most people in B.C. who choose to consume alcohol do so responsibly and in moderation.
- It's also important to recognize that all staff who serve liquor at licensed establishments must have Serving it Right certification – helping to ensure staff have the effective skills and techniques, should they encounter challenging scenarios in which patrons are over-drinking.

10. Won't happy hours just lead to binge drinking, which is clearly harmful?

- Most people in B.C. who choose to consume alcohol do so responsibly and in moderation.
- Minimum price policies can be effective in reducing alcohol abuse by at-risk groups, according to evidence presented during the B.C. Liquor Policy Review by health advocacy groups (the Centre for Addictions Research of BC, University of British Columbia, the Health Officers Council of B.C. and B.C.'s Provincial Health Officer).
- Parliamentary Secretary John Yap consulted with many health and public safety advocates on these changes – their opinions and research helped inform his recommendations and the policy work.
- At the same time, we also need to ensure that licensees and staff are taking the necessary steps to ensure responsible liquor service.
- We have plans to expand and enhance B.C.'s Serving it Right program – providing licensees and waitstaff with up-to-date knowledge about responsible beverage service and effective skills and techniques, should they encounter challenging scenarios in which patrons are over-drinking.
- In addition to Serving it Right, B.C. has some excellent programs in place that provide information about alcohol consumption, such as the Healthy Minds/Healthy Campuses program targeted at post-secondary students.

11. We saw a lot of civil disobedience during the Stanley Cup riots in Vancouver – aren't we just encouraging more riots or civil disobedience in moving forward with happy hours?

- Most people in B.C. who choose to consume alcohol do so responsibly and in moderation.
- These changes are about striking the right balance – and that's why, with the introduction of happy hours, we have implemented minimum drink pricing, consistent with the views expressed by health advocates during the Liquor Policy Review.
- That's also why we have plans to expand and enhance B.C.'s Serving it Right program – providing licensees and waitstaff with up-to-date knowledge about responsible beverage service and effective skills and techniques, should they encounter challenging scenarios in which patrons are over-drinking.

- Liquor inspectors also have a very important role to play in helping to protect public safety and to ensure that our laws are being followed.
- I can tell you that the Liquor Control and Licensing Branch (LCLB)'s staff work with police on a regular basis to promote voluntary compliance with provincial liquor laws and mitigate risks to public safety, such as over-service.
- Our inspectors do everything they can to work with licensees and make sure they understand the terms and conditions of their liquor licence.

12. Won't happy hours lead to increased drinking and driving?

- B.C. has some of the toughest drinking and driving laws in Canada.
- In the three years since our new drinking and driving laws have been in force, an estimated 190 lives have been saved – that's a 52 per cent decrease in alcohol-impaired driving fatalities.
- Many people in B.C. have changed their behaviour because of these laws.
- British Columbians can rest assured that police will continue to be out on highways enforcing the laws against impaired driving.
- B.C. will continue to work closely with police and road safety partners across the country to address the serious consequences of drinking and driving.

13. What are the penalties for an establishment that is caught over-serving patrons?

- It is the responsibility of licensees and their staff to ensure patrons do not become inappropriately intoxicated in their establishment.
- If licensees are caught permitting a person to become intoxicated, selling or giving liquor to an intoxicated person, or allowing an intoxicated person to remain in the establishment, they could face a $5,000-$7,000 fine and/or a 4-7 day suspension for a first offence, 10-14 day suspension for a second offence and 18-20 day suspension on subsequent offences.

14. Can local governments implement bylaws to allow for lower or higher minimum prices? Why not?

s. 13

15. Can establishments hold "two for one" specials? Why not?

- No, the current policy prohibiting "two for one" drink specials will be maintained, as in most other jurisdictions.
- Two for one specials can encourage binge drinking. We've been clear that any changes to B.C.'s liquor laws must safeguard health and public safety – and we remain committed to that.

16. Can establishments hold specials such as "ladies night" or "team night" for players in uniform?

- Yes, as long as the minimum drink prices are adhered to, licensees may offer time-limited drink specials to specific groups.

- This aligns with other Canadian jurisdictions.

Happy hours make their debut in B.C.

VICTORIA – B.C. officially opened the door to happy hours today – a pocket-book friendly change for British Columbians that also benefits B.C. businesses and the hospitality industry.

To protect health and public safety, happy hours have minimum drink pricing consistent with the views heard from health advocates during the B.C. Liquor Policy Review. For example, the minimum price an establishment can charge is $3 for a single ounce cocktail, $3.60 for a six ounce glass of wine and $4 for a 16 ounce sleeve of beer.

Check out this infographic for detailed information on B.C.'s minimum drink prices:

XXXXXXXXXXXX

Allowing licensees, such as pubs, restaurants and lounges, to alter their liquor prices throughout the course of the day offers new social and interactive settings for British Columbians, while also helping the industry attract customers at times when business may typically be slow.

Additional changes stemming from the Liquor Policy Review also came into effect today – cutting red tape and simplifying liquor licensing rules.

If patrons simply wish to order drinks at a food-primary establishment, they are no longer obligated to order food as well. Also, customers can now move freely with their beverage from one adjoining licensed area to another, such as from a pub to an adjoining restaurant – a common-sense change from the previous rules, which required staff to carry customers' drinks for them.

Licensees may now transfer small amounts of liquor between similar types of establishments. For instance, if a pub is experiencing a shortage of a specific liquor product, a nearby restaurant can transfer liquor to it, or a liquor store can transfer alcohol to another store with the same kind of liquor licence.

Hosts of family Special Occasion Licence (SOL) events may now serve homemade beer, wine or cider – offering further flexibility for consumers. Also, owners of UBrews and UVins, as well as their family members, are now permitted to own other liquor-related establishments – an out-of-date rule that has been updated under modernized liquor policies.

Suzanne Anton, Attorney General and Minister of Justice –

“Happy hours – with minimum prices in place to protect health and safety – will provide fun, engaging environments for consumers to save a few dollars while supporting local businesses. British Columbians told us they wanted to see happy hours brought to B.C. – we listened, we’re delivering that change and, at the same time, cutting further red tape for the hospitality industry.”

John Yap, Parliamentary Secretary for Liquor Policy Reform –

“Whether it’s meeting after work for a discounted pint, for example, or enjoying a happy hour cocktail on a Saturday afternoon, this change creates new social opportunities for British Columbians. To balance health and safety, our price floors align with the views expressed by health advocates during our liquor consultations and will help to encourage responsible consumption.”

Mark von Schellwitz, vice president, Western Canada, Canadian Restaurant and Foodservices Association –

“Happy hours are a readily welcomed change for the food and beverage industry, creating revenue opportunities at times of the day when business may be slow and providing new occasions for customers around the province to catch up over a discounted drink at one of B.C.’s many restaurants. Additional liquor policy updates, like allowing restaurants to serve guests a drink without complicated rules on food consumption, will also reduce confusion for consumers and cut red tape for businesses.”

Poma Dhaliwal, president, Alliance of Beverage Licensees (ABLE) –

“With happy hours up and running in B.C., operators can cater to groups by offering drink specials for ‘team nights,’ for example, helping fill their seats on slow days or during not-so-busy times. I know staff in the industry will also be happy to hear they no longer need to inconvenience their customers by making them wait until a staff member is available to carry their drinks when they simply move from the bar or patio into the restaurant.”

Quick Facts:

- Although not part of the Liquor Policy Review, government has also updated an outdated regulation so that bachelor/bachelorette parties are now eligible to apply for SOLs.
- The production, distribution and sale of B.C. liquors have significant economic benefits for the Province, contributing more than $1.1 billion annually.

MINISTRY OF JUSTICE
BRIEFING NOTE

DATE: April 15, 2014

PURPOSE: For DECISION by LCLB executive

ISSUE: Permitting happy hours and establishing minimum drink prices in licensed establishments (implementation of Yap Report recommendation #16).

BACKGROUND:

- Happy hours are currently prohibited by the regulations (s. 41(2)(c), which do not allow the licensee to vary the price of liquor once it has been set for the day.
- All other Canadian provinces allow happy hours and impose a minimum price per drink. In the absence of provincial regulation of minimum drink prices, some local governments have passed bylaws imposing a minimum price on liquor sold in licensed establishments within their jurisdictions (see Appendix 1 for details).
- Licensed establishment drink prices vary depending on the type of establishment and its location. In general, BC prices for a standard drink range from about $3.00 up to about $8.00. Prices in urban centres and for specialty liquor can be much higher. Lower prices are usually found during daily “drink specials” in establishments catering to younger, lower income people or students, which tend to be where drink specials fall below the $3.00 level.
- Health advocates support minimum drink pricing to promote social responsibility and recommended they be set at the $3 level.
- The Surich report (1999) recommended pricing based on a multiple of the LDB floor price for each product category, but this poses practical problems for calculating drinks that cross categories and floor price changes are not always consistent with alcohol content (see Appendix 2 for information on this model).

PROPOSED MODEL/DECISIONS REQUIRED:

Recommended level of minimum pricing to be placed in regulation:

Product Category	Price per drink	Price per oz (not including sales tax)

Draught cider/beer	$3 per 341 ml (12 oz) (sleeve) $5 per 20 oz (pint) $15 per 60 oz (jug)	$0.25 per oz (28 ml)
Packaged beer, cider and coolers	$3 per 341 ml (12 oz) bottle or 355 ml can	$0.25 per oz (28 ml)
Wine/ Fortified wine (including sake)	$3 per 5 oz glass $3.60 per 6 oz glass (170 ml) $5.40 per 9 oz glass (255 ml) $15.85 per 750 ml bottle (26.4 oz)	$0.60 per oz (28 ml)
Liqueurs/ Spirits	$3 per oz (28 ml)	$3 per oz (28 ml)

- Industry will not be supportive of a minimum price set at such a high level that it will encourage home consumption at the expense of sales in licensed establishments.
- Recommended minimum pricing is higher than other provincial jurisdictions but in line with those adopted by BC local governments.
- Not necessary to have separate pricing for draft beer/packaged beer and fortified wine/wine, as some jurisdictions do.
 - Fortified wine and liqueurs, although they have different costs, are not high volume products.
 - Provides clarity and simplicity for licensees/staff/inspectors.
 - Industry split on this issue.
- No restrictions on types of FP or LP establishments that may hold happy hours.
 - No happy hours to be permitted at SOL or catered events.
 - Minimum drink prices would also not apply to SOL or catered events.
 - Reg to be drafted so that GM will have ability to restrict happy hours in a particular establishment as a result of compliance problems.
 - Generally supported by industry but ABLE opposes permitting happy hours in FPs.
- No time restrictions on happy hours.
 - Industry input is split on this issue.
 - Alberta is the only jurisdiction that restricts hours (before 8 pm).
- Maintain prohibition on “two for one” drink specials.
 - Most other jurisdictions restrict this as well.
 - Industry supports except for Restaurants Canada who suggest two-for-one’s should be permitted as long as the price of each drink remains above the minimum.
- No additional, specific advertising restrictions on happy hours needed.

- Current guidelines on advertising would apply (i.e. may not encourage consumption or irresponsible behaviour).
- Industry does not support advertising restrictions.
- Some other jurisdictions do restrict this e.g. Ontario does not allow the use of the terms “happy hour” or “cheap drinks”, and Manitoba does not allow advertising to mention liquor or prices.
- BCRFA also recommends advertising have a message of moderation.
- No restrictions on happy hour specials being targeted to particular groups.
 - Ontario is the only jurisdiction that restricts licensees from targeting specific groups (no deals for ladies, students, etc).
 - Not supported by industry.

OTHER MINISTRIES/ORGANIZATIONS IMPACTED:

- Provincial model would supersede any local government bylaws. Intention is to have one regulation that applies provincially.
 - LCLB is consulting with local governments to ensure transition is as smooth as possible.

Attachment(s): Appendices 1, 2 and 3

APPENDIX 1: Legislated Minimum Drink Prices* and Happy Hour Rules – Summary Table

Juris-diction	Draught Beer	Bottle/ Can Beer, Cider, Coolers	Wine	Fort-ified Wine	Spirits	Other Happy Hour Rules
Alberta	$0.16 per oz ($3.20 per 20 oz glass)	$2.75 per 12 oz ($0.23 per oz)	$0.35 per oz ($1.75 per 5 oz glass)	$0.35 per oz ($1.75 per 5 oz glass)	$2.75 per oz	Must end by 8 pm No “free liquor” specials No “all you can drink” specials No “two for one” specials
Sask	$0.16 per oz	$2.25 per 12 oz ($0.19/oz)	$0.35 per oz	$0.35 per oz	$2.25 per oz	“Two for one” promotions are allowed provided that minimum prices are charged per serving. No “all you can drink” specials.
Note: In Saskatchewan a separate set of lower min prices apply to military messes and veteran canteens which are considered to have a unique character ($1 for 1 oz spirits or 12 oz beer, coolers, ciders, draught beer is $0.14/oz and wine is $0.35/oz)
Man	$2.25 per 12 oz ($0.19 per oz)	$2.25 per 12 oz ($0.19 per oz)	$2.25 per 5 oz ($0.45 per oz)	$2.25 per 2 oz ($1.13 per oz)	$2.25 per oz	Happy hours advertising permitted only if there is no mention of liquor or prices. A licensee may offer a drink and food promotion with a single price, provided patrons are advised of the food and drink included in the price and that substitution of non-alcoholic beverages are available. No unlimited drinks at a single price.
Ontario	$2 per 12 oz ($0.17 per oz)	$2 per 12 oz ($0.17/oz)	$2 per 5 oz ($0.40 per oz)	$2 per 3 oz ($0.67 per oz)	$2/oz	No free liquor specials. No “all you can drink”. No “two for one” specials. Liquor prices must be the same for all patrons (no deals for ladies, students etc) but may vary in separate locations of their establishment, e.g. different prices in a patio area. Advertising of liquor prices and promotions must be responsible in nature, i.e. may not include term like “happy hour” or “cheap drinks”.
Nfld	$1.65 per 12 oz ($0.14 per oz)	$1.65 per 12.5 oz ($0.13 per oz)	$1.65 per 4 oz ($0.41 per oz)	$1.65 per 4 oz ($0.41 per oz)	$1.65/oz	no “all you can drink”

Nanaimo	$3/18oz ($0.17 per oz)	$3/bottle or can (size not specified)	$3/6oz ($0.50 per oz)	$3/6 oz ($0.50 per oz)	$3/oz for 1 st oz plus $2/ each add'l oz	Bylaw 5713
LG Avg	$0.19 per oz	$0.22/oz	$0.58 per oz	$0.58/oz	$3/oz
Com-bined Avg	$0.17 per oz	$0.20 per oz	$0.48 per oz	$0.68 per oz	$2.40 per oz

Note: All prices include applicable taxes except Alberta and PEI

Appendix 2: Minimum Price Calculations based on multiple of LDB floor price (as recommended by Surich Report)

The 1999 Surich report recommended prices be based on a multiple of the LDB floor price for each product category, i.e. wine: 1.5 times; bottled beer: 2 times; draft beer/spirits: 2.5 times. The report did not specify a minimum price for cider or coolers but these have been included in the chart below and multiplied by a factor of 2, and liqueurs have been multiplied by a factor of 2.5.

Product Category	LDB Floor Price	Price per Drink* (before tax)
Draught cider	$2.45 per litre	$3.06 per 0.5 litre (17.5 oz) or $0.17 per oz (28 ml)
Draught beer	$2.22 per litre	$2.75 per 0.5 litre (17.5 oz) or $0.20 per oz (28 ml)
Packaged cider and coolers	$3 per litre	$2.04 per 341 ml bottle
Packaged beer	$3.54 per litre	$2.41 per 341 ml bottle
Wine and sake	$7.20 per litre (for packages less than 10 litres)	$8.09 per 750 ml bottle or $1.53 per 5 oz (142 ml) glass
Liqueurs	$16.15 per litre	$1.13 per oz (28 ml)
Spirits	$31.66 per litre	$2.22 per oz (28 ml)

Note: These prices are calculated based on the absolute number of servings per litre and do not take into account that the number may in reality be lower due to spillage, customer returns, etc. If the calculation included a factor for spillage, return, etc, the price per drink would be higher.

*Price calculations between metric and imperial are rounded to the nearest cent.

Hi everyone,

Attached is the proposed policy, which is now in drafting for the reg change. We are scheduled for Cabinet on June 18 for approvals. Just wanted to update you on where things stand and get any final suggestions for improvement or identify any potential problems before I draft up the policy directive. As you know the details have not yet been announced so please don't share outside the branch. Thanks Shannan and Ed for the great input from licensees. I also consulted the industry associations and you'll see a summary of their views in an appendix.

Regulation Privacy Impact Assessment (RPIA)

Is this RPIA necessary?

Yes: FOIPPA's section. 69 (5.1) states that the PIA must be submitted to the minister responsible for FOIPPA for review during the development of any new project, program or activity, system or proposed enactment (which includes a regulation) or when making changes to an existing one. Ministries must complete the RPIA and submit it to KIS even if no personal information is apparently involved.

Please submit a completed Regulation Privacy Impact Assessment (RPIA) for all Regulations to Legislation, Privacy and Policy Branch (LPP). If you have any questions regarding this process or when filling out the RPIA, please contact LPP at 250 356 0361.

Part 1 – GENERAL

Name of Draft Regulation:	Liquor Control and Licensing Regulation (Happy Hours)
Date of Draft Regulation:	May 2, 2014
Name of Associated Legislation:	Liquor Control and Licensing Regulation
Name of Ministry:	Justice

1. Please indicate whether the regulation is:

<input type="checkbox"/>	New
<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	Amended
Name of the Regulation being replaced (if applicable):

2. Please provide a brief summary of the proposed regulation.

The proposed regulatory change removes a restriction preventing licensed establishments from varying the price of liquor throughout the course of the business day, and adds requirements specifying minimum pricing for licensed establishments that sell liquor by the glass.

3. Please state whether:

a)	You have a targeted Cabinet meeting date (Y/N):	Yes	If yes, for what date?	June 18, 2014
b)	LPP has reviewed a Legislative PIA (LPIA) on legislative amendments that relate to the proposed regulation (Y/N):	No

Regulation Privacy Impact Assessment (RPIA)

If yes, please attach a copy and indicate the relevant parts.

Part 2 – PRIVACY (Protection of Privacy)

In the following questions, “proposed regulation” means the new or amended regulation that your ministry is putting forward. This RPIA deals strictly with that regulation and does not assess compliance under FOIPPA as it applies to existing legislation or regulations or the programs that are operational under your legislation.

Dear Ms. Carlson:

Re: Implementation of Happy Hours and Minimum Drink Prices in Licensed Establishments - City Of Nanaimo Response

Thank you for contacting the City of Nanaimo as part of the policy work to support implementation of the happy hours and minimum drink prices policies in licensed establishments.

As you are aware, the City of Nanaimo has a Minimum Drink Price Bylaw. The bylaw was enacted in response to recommendations from the City of Nanaimo Liquor Control Strategy published in 2002, which observed the following problem.

"In an effort to gain market share, the city's nightclubs offer cheap drink promotions that are designed solely to encourage patrons to over-drink to the point of intoxication."

The prevailing issue is the continued competition among liquor primary establishments to gain market share. The nightclub industry is highly competitive and owners are continuously offering promotions to attract patrons. The RCMP Barwatch detail has expressed concerns that inexpensive drink prices consistently result in over service and intoxication, while club owners often struggle to compete with other clubs offering discounted drinks.

The City's response to the input requested is noted below:

1. What is the appropriate level of minimum pricing?

Recently, the City's Barwatch group, which includes representatives from downtown nightclubs as well as local liquor inspectors, the RCMP and City Staff members, unanimously voted to recommend that the city amend the minimum drink price in the Minimum Drink Price Bylaw to $3.50.

While an appropriate level of pricing will vary by municipality depending on local conditions including the cost of living and the nightclub atmosphere; based on the Barwatch recommendation, the City feels strongly that $3.50 for a pint of beer is an appropriate level of pricing for Nanaimo.

2. Is it necessary to have separate pricing for draft beer/packaged beer and fortified wine/wine, as some jurisdictions do?

The intent of a Minimum Drink Bylaw is to prevent over-intoxication and, as such, it is important to tie the price of a drink to drink type/alcohol content and serving size.

Please note: this is the only copy of this correspondence you will receive, if you require an original, please contact the sender.

3. Are there any types of establishments where happy hours should NOT be permitted?

With the emergence of 'club restaurants', such as Cactus Club and Original Joes, and the other recommendations within Mr. Yap's report concerning food primary establishments (most notably recommendations #36 and 37), the difference between a liquor primary establishment and a food primary establishment has become somewhat blurred. The City's Minimum Drink Price Bylaw applies to all licensed establishments.

It is the City of Nanaimo's belief that any happy hour regulations or provincial minimum drink price that is established should be applied to both liquor and food primary establishments.

4. Should there be time restrictions on happy hours (Alberta limits hours, happy hour must end at 8 p.m.). Is there any appetite/reason to do so here?

Yes, most noise and disturbance issues associated with liquor licensed establishments occur at night. Cheap drink specials offered shortly before night club closing hours will result in a number of intoxicated patrons being discharged onto City streets at the same time.

It is also important to note that happy hours be applied consistently within the same municipality. It was noted by representatives within the City's Barwatch group that happy hours times should not be staggered among establishments. Staggered happy hour times could result in patrons 'staggering' between establishments in order to attend a number of happy hours within the same day.

5. Should "two for one" drink specials continue to be prohibited?

For the reasons previously stated above, we do not believe two for one drink specials should be offered late at night at any liquor licensed establishment.

6. Are advertising restrictions on happy hours needed (see Ontario and Manitoba rules)?

The City of Nanaimo does not have a strong opinion on this matter, but would like to be kept informed of any changes to LCLB policy concerning advertising for drink specials.

7. Should there be restrictions on happy hour specials being targeted to particular groups (e.g. ladies night or student discounts as in Ontario)?

The City of Nanaimo does not have a strong opinion on this matter but would like to be kept informed of any changes to LCLB policy.

8. Any other thoughts or comments about happy hours or minimum drink prices?

The City of Nanaimo is continuing to consult with its Barwatch group regarding the proposed 'happy hour' legislation and, if possible, would like the opportunity to continue to offer feedback throughout the policy adoption process.

Hi Janice,

Sorry for the late reply and thank you for giving us the opportunity to comment on happy hour and the minimum drink pricing. In general, we don't happy hour due to the number of negative outcomes associated with it (binge drinking, overconsumption...). However, we understand the recommendation is moving forward and we feel it's important to set minimum drink prices high enough to help curtail some of the negative effects of happy hour. Please see the attached document with our comments.

Thanks again,

Subject: LCLB CONSULTATION

Good morning,

As part of the ongoing implementation of the Liquor Policy Review Report, LCLB is in the process of developing a model for implementing minimum drink pricing in licensed establishments. Attached is a consultation document for your review. As one of the local government jurisdictions with a minimum drink price bylaw your input would be greatly appreciated.

Please let me know if you have any questions or would like to discuss.

Response to LCLB on Minimum Drink Pricing and Happy Hour

1. What is the appropriate level of minimum pricing?

Research consistently identifies alcohol pricing as being the most effective in curtailing harm (i.e. increase in price reduces consumption and less consumption equals less harms)¹. One BC study found that a 10 percent increase in the average minimum price of all alcoholic beverages was associated with an equivalent decrease in acute and chronic alcohol-attributable hospital admissions. Research also shows that limiting or restricting happy hours is one of the effective ways in reducing harms like violence².

In order to set the level of minimum pricing, it is not recommended to look to other jurisdictions. Their price minimums are inconsistent with each other, mostly likely due to inflation (and elapsed time), rather than a conscious policy rationale. As a result, BC should look at the evidence-based research on best practice for price minimums. The Provincial Health Officer (PHO) recommended a minimum price of $3.00 per standard drink served on premise. For purposes of this calculation, a standard drink amounts are 12 ounces of beer, five ounces of wine, and 1.5 ounces of spirits. Note: This recommendation was made in 2008 and will require updating to reflect inflation over the intervening six years. Also, the minimum drink price should be annually adjusted to inflation, so that the effective alcohol minimums do not effectively decline over time.

Given that drink sizes can vary considerably, it is important to set a price minimum based on volume (e.g. on a per ounce or millilitre) basis, rather than an assumed standard glass size. The table below indicates the PHO's recommended minimum price per ounce:

	Health Officer's 2008 Advice ³ (and minimum of $3.00/drink)
Beer	$0.25/oz
Wine	$0.6/oz
Spirits*	$2/oz

*See additional discussion in #2 below.

2. Is it necessary to have separate pricing for draft beer/package beer and fortified wine/wine, as some jurisdictions do?

The City supports different minimum pricing for different types of alcohol based on alcohol content.

It is likely that the categories will need to be broader than simply differentiating draft and package beer, or wine and fortified wine. Drink strengths vary considerably, even within a seemingly-consistent category. For example, beer ranges from 3 to well over 7 percent alcohol; wine ranges from 5 to over 15 percent; and spirits range from 7 to over 60 percent⁴. If the price minimums are overly simplistic, an especially strong drink (e.g. cask strength whisky) could be priced low to sell rapidly, while a low strength drink (e.g. light beer, wine spritzer) could be priced punitively high.

A one size fits all approach will not be effective in reducing overconsumption. A minimum drink pricing policy should be based on:

- a) percentage of alcohol by volume, and as necessary, the role of non-alcoholic mixers play in reducing alcohol strength; and,
- b) size of the drink (e.g. ounces/millilitres)

Furthermore, we encourage the LCLB to pay additional attention to spirits. As a much higher strength alcohol, spirits give rise to potentially faster consumption. For example, a shooter of spirits can be consumed much more quickly than a glass of beer. To counteract this risk, we recommend:

- i) a higher minimum price for spirits; and
- ii) requirements to provide information to encourage drinkers to monitor speed and volume of alcohol consumption, and to engage in healthy practices such as eating food or alternating each drink with a glass of water.

3. Are there any types of establishments where happy hours should NOT be permitted ?

The City (and the LCLB) should retain the right to revoke the happy hour privilege in individual establishments that generate a high number of issues related to overconsumption (e.g. fighting, OD/intoxication, DUI).

4. Should there be time restrictions on happy hours (Alberta limits hours, happy hour must end at 8 p.m.) Is there any appetite/reason to do so here?

Research indicates that restricting happy hours reduces harms or alcohol such as violence⁵; however, the City is concerned that setting a time of day restriction on happy hour (e.g. before 8 pm) would encourage patrons to arrive at a bar early and drink quickly (and possibly without eating) to beat the deadline. The unintended effect of a time-of day-restriction may be higher incidents of severe intoxication. The LCLB should consider carefully the pros and cons of time of day restrictions.

5. Should “two for one” drink specials continue to be prohibited?

Two for one specials should be required to meet the minimum drink prices set out in section 1, above.

6. Are advertising restrictions on happy hours needed (see Ontario and Manitoba rules)?

As the City does not possess the necessary expertise on advertisement policy, we will refrain from providing comment on this question.

7. Should there be restrictions on happy hour specials being targeted to particular groups (e.g. ladies night or student discounts as in Ontario)?

Given that targeted happy hour would, by definition, exclude certain people (e.g. males, non-students) from accessing the drink special, it may reduce consumption. Careful consideration of this type of restriction is warranted.

⁵ Stockwell et al: “Operator and Regulatory Best Practices in the Reduction of Violence in and Around Licensed Premises: A Review of Australian and Canadian Research”, April 2013.

8. Any other thoughts or comments about happy hours or minimum drink prices?

By allowing happy hour, the LCLB will be enabling a milieu that financially rewards fast drinking, copious drinking, and, if happy hour is structured earlier in the evening (i.e. during a slower period), earlier commencement of drinking. All three pressures may lead to overconsumption and its numerous harmful effects. As a result the LCLB should carefully monitor the key indicators of alcohol harms arising from happy hours: hospital visits for intoxication and overdose, Police calls (e.g. violence, disturbance) and DUIs. As necessary, the LCLB should be prepared to amend or revoke the happy hour privilege if it is determined that significant harms have resulted.

Janice

Thank you for including the City of Nanaimo in your referral process. In order to provide a more detailed referral I would to speak with members of our Barwatch program (consisting of City Staff, the RCMP and downtown nightclub owners/managers) who helped develop our minimum drink price bylaw. In order to do this I am requesting an extension to the April 22nd deadline for the referral. I hope to be able to provide a comprehensive response by the 25th.

Liquor Control and Licensing Branch Consultation

Proposal: Implementation of happy hours and minimum drink prices in licensed establishments

Background:

At the end of January, 2014, government announced acceptance of recommendation # 16 of the Liquor Policy Review Report, which would permit licensees to offer time-limited drink specials (i.e. happy hours), provided the price is not below a prescribed minimum.

Currently, liquor prices must be at least as much as the original Liquor Distribution Branch purchase price. The minimum specifications for pricing are set out in s. 41 of the Liquor Control and Licensing Regulations. Under this section there is a requirement that the price of liquor not be altered during the course of the business day. This regulation prohibits price reductions such as happy hours or two for one drink specials.

As part of ongoing policy work to support implementation of the Liquor Policy Review Report, the branch is requesting industry input. The following table summarizes happy hour and minimum drink policy in other Canadian provinces and the four BC local governments which have already implemented minimum price bylaws. Note that the imposition of provincial regulation of minimum drink pricing will supersede local government bylaws.

Table: Legislated Minimum Drink Prices* and Happy Hour Rules – Summary Table

Jurisdiction	Draught Beer	Bottle/Can Beer, Cider, Coolers	Wine	Fortified Wine	Spirits	Happy Hour Rules

Input Requested: City of Victoria comments in (Red).

What is the appropriate level of minimum pricing? The City of Victoria still believes the minimum pricing that it has in place is still applicable and necessary – the City supports minimum drink pricing.

Is it necessary to have separate pricing for draft beer/package beer and fortified wine/wine, as some jurisdictions do? Support the minimum price per ounce for each “class” of beverage (beer, wine, spirits). Suggest that pricing by class reflect relative harm of each class of beverage (e.g. spirits carry a higher per unit price relative to beer)

Are there any types of establishments where happy hours should NOT be permitted ? See answer to the following question.

Should there be time restrictions on happy hours (Alberta limits hours, happy hour must end at 8 p.m.) Is there any appetite/reason to do so here? Not certain that “happy hour” regulations are necessary/needed if minimum drink prices are established.

Should “two for one” drink specials continue to be prohibited? See comments on minimum drink prices. If minimum drink prices are in place, then regulations such as “2 for 1” become irrelevant.

Are advertising restrictions on happy hours needed (see Ontario and Manitoba rules)? Again, if you have minimum drink prices in place, then regulations related to this issue are probably unnecessary.

Should there be restrictions on happy hour specials being targeted to particular groups (e.g. ladies night or student discounts as in Ontario)? This is not an issue if you have minimum drink pricing in place. If not, then it would be a consideration – especially for young persons.

Any other thoughts or comments about happy hours or minimum drink prices? As previously stated, the City of Victoria strongly believes that these issues are best regulated through “minimum pricing” regulations.

Hi Mark,

Just wanted to get back to you about your submission and answer your question about the interaction between local government minimum price bylaws and how they would be affected by the introduction of a provincial regulation. Any change to the Liquor Control and Licensing Regulation imposing minimum drink prices in licensed establishments would supersede local government bylaws. Our intention is to have one regulation that applies provincially. I am in the process of consulting on this with the 4 local governments that will be affected so that the transition will be as smooth as possible.

Please call if you'd like more information or would like to discuss.

Good morning,

As part of the ongoing implementation of the Liquor Policy Review Report, LCLB is in the process of developing a model for implementing minimum drink pricing in licensed establishments. Attached is a consultation document for your review. As one of the local government jurisdictions with a minimum drink price bylaw your input would be greatly appreciated.

Please let me know if you have any questions or would like to discuss.

LCLB Policy Consultation: Happy Hour and Minimum Drink Prices

BC/Yukon Command of The Royal Canadian Legion

Summary

Our provincial head office sent out the LCLB consultation document and a survey link on April 4, 2014 to collect our branch's feedback. We received 149 responses from branches throughout the province. BC Legion branches are enthusiastic for the policy change consultation process, and provided their careful consideration. We provided the answers which are specific and applicable to our branches below.

Survey Questions and Responses

1. Should there be time restrictions on happy hours (Alberta limits hours, happy hour must end at 8 p.m.)?

According to our survey, 79% of branches state "yes," there should be time restrictions on happy hours.

Reasons provided by branches in favour of restricting happy hours:

- a. Assists with moderation of drinking.
 - b. Happy hour is usually a lower rate of prices, and branches don't want this to go on all day.
 - c. Other events could be happening, starting after 8pm, which they would want full drink prices for.
 - d. To encourage attendance during slow times, and to not promote late night drinking.
2. Should "two for one" drink specials continue to be prohibited?

77% of branches state "yes," these drink specials should continue to be prohibited.

Reasons for prohibiting "two for one":

- a. Assists with moderation of drinking.
- b. This particular drink special may be costly to the branch.

3. Do you think it is necessary to have separate pricing for draft beer/package beer and fortified wine/wine, as some jurisdictions do?

71% of branches state "yes," it is necessary to have separate pricing.

The main reason expressed to have separate pricing:

- a. Different purchasing prices.

4. Should there be restrictions on happy hour specials being targeted to particular groups (e.g. ladies night or student discounts as in Ontario)?

58% of branches state "no," there should not be restrictions on targeted happy hour specials to groups.

The main reason provided in favour of targeted happy hour specials:

- a. It is a way to bring certain groups into your establishment.

The main reason provided against targeted happy hour specials:

- a. All branch patrons should be treated equally.

Thank you again for the opportunity to participate in the consultation process. If you have any questions or comments please let me know, we are happy to be of assistance.

Best regards,

Angus Stanfield

British Columbia Restaurant and Foodservices Assn. Happy Hour Pricing

April, 8,2014

Submitted to LCLB-Janice Carlson.

Janice, in response to your request for industry input, please see our positions below:

What is the appropriate level of minimum pricing?

Recommend, $3.00 across the board.

Is it necessary to have separate pricing for draft beer/packaged beer and fortified wine/wine, as some jurisdictions do?

It is not necessary to separate.

Are there any types of establishments where happy hours should NOT be permitted ?

Kids themed concepts that are licensed.

Should there be time restrictions on happy hours (Alberta limits hours, happy hour must end at 8 p.m.) Is there any appetite/reason to do so here?

No restrictions as the market is untraditional and peoples dining patterns no longer follow traditional day part definitions. Let the business owner do what is right for their guests.

Should "two for one" drink specials continue to be prohibited?

Continue to prohibit

Are advertising restrictions on happy hours needed (see Ontario and Manitoba rules)?

No, but it must be in good taste, not overtly trying to sell cheap and have a message of moderation.

Should there be restrictions on happy hour specials being targeted to particular groups (e.g. ladies night or student discounts as in Ontario)?

No, but the message must be responsible without taking away from the marketing effort. This is the hospitality business and we want to create responsible fun.

Any other thoughts or comments about happy hours or minimum drink prices?

Allow maximum flexibility for the operator to be creative to provide programming to its patrons. We would suggest that some level of responsibility message be encouraged. For example, enjoy responsibly etc.

Importance: High

Hi all,

I would to get some feedback about liquor pricing from our industry licensees.

Here are some questions:

1. Where do you see Happy Hour pricing being set for liquor in each of the following categories?
 - Beer $3.50 FOR BOTTLE OR SLEEVE OF DRAFT
 - Wine $4.00 FOR 50Z SERVING OF B.C WINE
 - Spirits $4.00 FOR SINGLE SHOT WITH NO DISCOUNT FOR 2ND SHOT
2. When or if you hold a Happy Hour in the future what would you like to charge for the following items?
 - Jug of beer $13.00 FOR JUG (CONTAINS APPROX 4 SLEEBE)
 - Bucket of Beer $13.00 FOR BUCKET OF 4
 - Highball $4.00
 - Shooter $4.00

3. As a licensee what are your thoughts and expectations of what a Happy Hour in BC will look like?

HAPPY HOUR SIBE SET FOR A SPECIFIC TIME I.E. 4PM - 6PM - 5PM - 7PM
 PRICE FOR DRINK SIBE REASONABLE BUT NOT TOO LITTLE - MINIMUM OF $3.50

Re: Happy Hour and Minimum Drink Prices in Licensed Establishments Consultation

Dear Ms. Carlson:

Thank you for your March 25th email and happy hour minimum drink price consultation document attachment. The consultation document provides a good summary of minimum drink prices and related happy hour rules from other Canadian jurisdictions which makes it easier to provide reasonable feedback. Restaurants Canada (RC) has since solicited the views of a number of members on the issue including both large chain and independent licensees. I will summarize their views in answering your questions.

What is the appropriate level of minimum pricing?

Member responses to this question varied from making the minimum drink price no less than a licensee's liquor cost to a $3.00 minimum standard drink price comparable to municipal minimum prices already in place. Many asked if a new provincial minimum drink price would supersede existing municipal minimum prices as it would be confusing to have two different minimum drink prices in these jurisdictions. We would appreciate more information on how a provincial minimum drink price would impact municipal minimum drink prices.

Restaurants Canada members are in favour of harmonizing minimum prices as much as possible with other jurisdictions and would prefer one simple consistent easy to remember minimum drink price formula for all liquor products instead of more complicated separate minimum price formulas for beer (draught/bottle), wine/fortified wine and spirits. As minimum drink pricing already fluctuates considerably by jurisdiction it is difficult to come up with one harmonized standard minimum drink price for all jurisdictions. The minimum drink price should be high enough so as not encourage overconsumption but low enough to act as an incentive to attract value conscious customers during slow business day parts.

Restaurants Canada supports a simple standard minimum drink price in the middle range of minimum drink prices across jurisdictions that can be used to attract customers without encouraging over consumption. Nova Scotia's $2.50 standard minimum drink price seems to strike the right balance as it is between Alberta's ($2.75) and Saskatchewan and Manitoba's ($2.25) but considerably higher than the $2.11 average provincial minimum drink price.

Restaurants Canada recommends British Columbia implement a standard minimum drink price of $2.50 (eg. $.21/oz for beer, cider and coolers, $.50/oz for wine, and $2.50/oz for spirits) that is consistent across the province. In order to avoid a confusing patch work of minimum drink prices by municipality, those municipalities who have set minimum drink prices should adjust their municipal minimum drink prices to be consistent with the provincial minimum drink price.

Is it necessary to have separate pricing for draft/package beer and fortified wine/wine as some jurisdictions do?

No. As mentioned above Restaurants Canada supports a simple easy to remember minimum price formula. Having separate pricing for draft/package beer and fortified wine/wine unnecessarily complicates minimum pricing.

Are there any types of establishments where happy hours should NOT be permitted?

No. There should be a level playing field where all licensed establishments are allowed to offer happy hours.

Should there be time restrictions on happy hours (Alberta limits hours, happy hour must end at 8PM.) Is there any appetite/reason to do so here?

No. There are a wide variety of licensed establishments located in different areas that cater to different demographic groups at different times. Licensees are busy and slow at different times of the day. Licensees should have the business freedom to offer happy hour specials to attract customers at whatever time best suits their business objectives.

Should "two for one" drink specials continue to be prohibited?

No. Licensees should be able to offer two for one drink specials as long as each drink is above the minimum drink price (Saskatchewan model). For example, if a licensee offers a two for one drink special where one drink is $6.00, each drink is still $3.00 which is above the recommended $2.50 minimum drink price.

Are advertising restrictions on happy hours needed?

No. Licensees should be able to advertise happy hours without restrictions assuming they are not advertising something prohibited by liquor regulation/policy such as "free drinks". Adding advertising restrictions will add unnecessary complexity and red tape for licensees and will be difficult to consistently enforce.

Should there be restrictions on happy hour specials being targeted to particular groups (eg. ladies night or student discounts as in Ontario)?

No. As mentioned previously there are a wide variety of licensed establishments that cater to different demographic groups at different times. Licensees should have the business freedom to offer happy hour specials to attract different types of customers at times that best suits their business objectives.

Any other thoughts or comments about happy hours or minimum drink prices?

Restaurants Canada appreciates that British Columbia will join the rest of North America in allowing licensees the flexibility to sell liquor at different prices at different times during the day.

To summarize the points made in answering the questions above, Restaurants Canada supports implementing a reasonable minimum price that is high enough to discourage overconsumption while being low enough to attract value driven customers to licensed establishments during certain hours of the day. Restaurants Canada members want the flexibility to offer happy hour specials at times that best work for their particular businesses. They are asking for simple easy to follow happy hour and minimum price policies that apply equally to all licensees and that are consistent province wide.

Please contact me if you have any questions or would like to discuss any of the above answers. Restaurants Canada looks forward to continuing to work with the Liquor Control and Licensing Branch on implementing the many Liquor Review recommendations that impact our members.

Sincerely,

Hi Janice,

Thank you for consulting with the Alliance of Beverage Licensees regarding Happy Hours in BC. As the industry advocate for pubs and private liquor stores, we are in a unique position to provide information directly from business owners and operators. We have spent the last week discussing this issue amongst our Board and our membership and would like to provide you with a summary of our findings:

What is the appropriate level of minimum pricing?

- Minimum pricing should be restricted to $4 per drink. Anything lower than $4 shows no value for the service or products being sold and would start a race to the bottom in pricing. This will especially be an issue in small towns where there are fewer options in a smaller space with a smaller population. $4 per drink allows operators to provide a greater variety of happy hour specials to customers, prevent a race to the bottom, and ensure stability in the industry.

Is it necessary to have separate pricing for draft beer/packaged beer and fortified wine/wine, as some jurisdictions do?

- Cost for each of these items is different. For that reason, they should have separate pricing.

Are there any types of establishments where happy hours should NOT be permitted?

- The primary purpose of happy hour is to sell liquor at a discounted rate. Liquor Primaries are an age controlled environment with staff that is trained to primarily serve liquor, and more heavily regulated—primary purpose is to sell liquor. The primary purpose of a Food Primary is to serve food, not liquor. Happy Hour should not be permitted in Food Primaries.
- Other establishments where happy hours should not exist include:
 - Properties with recurring infractions
 - Sports arenas, banquet halls, event venues, ect
 - Casinos

Should there be time restrictions on happy hours (Alberta limits hours, happy hour must end at 8 p.m.) Is there any appetite/reason to do so here?

- We believe happy hours should be 4pm-6pm; however, operators have also requested some flexibility in timing to suit their locations.

Should “two for one” drink specials continue to be prohibited?

- Yes. An overwhelming majority of our membership and Board disagree with the idea of “two for one” drink specials.

Are advertising restrictions on happy hours needed (see Ontario and Manitoba rules)?

- We don't think there should be restrictions on advertising happy hours.

Should there be restrictions on happy hour specials being targeted to particular groups (e.g. ladies night or student discounts as in Ontario)?

- There should not be restrictions on happy hour specials targeted towards particular groups.

Any other thoughts or comments about happy hours or minimum drink prices?

We support Happy Hours, but would like to continue seeing a responsible liquor industry with responsible service and consumption. Having a minimum price on liquor allows for regulation, while providing consumers with a discounted item for a period of the day.

We look forward to continuing our work with the Liquor Control and Licensing Branch as regulation for our industry develops.

Sincerely,
Poma Dhaliwal

Hi Janice,

It was brought to my attention that you had contacted the ABLE BC office on behalf of LCLB to consult on the implementation of Happy Hour.

As you can imagine, this announcement has brought much excitement to our industry. ABLE BC advocates for pubs across BC giving us a unique perspective on what small businesses are looking for in this new change.

Could you please call me at your earliest convenience to further discuss how ABLE BC can be involved in this process? I can be reached at 604-819-2602.

Subject: FW: Media Request - Xtra - Happy Hours/Minimum Pricing

Importance: High

Hi Doug,

For your review. Much of this is canned response provided by GCPE from earlier requests. Barry thinks it is fine.

Cheers,
Terry

Date/Time: 26/June

Deadline @ 5 p.m.

Media: Xtra

Reporter: Shauna Lewis,

s. 22

Topic: Happy hour minimum pricing

Background: Reporter says the public has responded negatively to the minimum pricing, particularly from bars that have been forced to raise prices (especially on beer). She has general questions about the pricing changes.

Suggested Response:

Is the pricing mandatory for happy hours only? Why set a minimum pricing?

- B.C.'s new minimum drink prices are in place at all times, for all licensed establishments that sell alcohol by the glass.
- Both health advocates and the industry asked for minimum pricing, as it encourages responsible consumption and creates a level playing field for licensees.
- Restaurants Canada, the BC Restaurant and Foodservice Association and the Alliance of Beverage licensees (ABLE) recommendations ranged from $2.50 to a $4 minimum.
- In setting B.C.'s minimum prices, it was important to us that we listened to both industry and health advocates.
- We have done exactly that, and believe our established minimum prices achieve a good balance for the industry and for British Columbians, while protecting health and safety.

What exactly are the new regulations pertaining to happy hour? Other than pricing, what are the other regulations regarding happy hour?

- This is a change that is being celebrated by many licensees who now have the flexibility to be creative with drink specials and to attract customers during off-peak times.
- It applies to all establishments that sell liquor by the glass, including food-primary and liquor-primary licences, as well as manufacturer lounge and special event area endorsements.
- These businesses may vary their price through the day at any time during liquor service hours, as per the terms and conditions of their licence.
- As in most other jurisdictions, the current policy prohibiting “two for one” drink specials will be maintained, as this can encourage binge drinking.
- We’ve been clear that any changes to B.C.’s liquor laws must safeguard health and public safety – and we remain committed to that.

Will bars face penalties for noncompliance to the regulation?

- In most cases, licensees already charge more than the new prescribed minimum prices. They have a business to run and need to cover their costs.
- Liquor inspectors will continue their routine inspections and, when necessary, remind licensees that the new minimum prices are in place.
- If a liquor inspector finds that a licensee was not aware of the minimum prices, he or she will share the new policies with that licensee, take the time to ensure they understand the changes, and follow-up at a later date.
- If a licensee is found to be purposely charging less than the new minimum prices, it will face a contravention notice and possible enforcement action.

What is government’s response to the new pricing and its potential impact on bars?

- This change was not made without serious thought and extensive consultation.
- In deciding on minimum pricing, we listened to health advocates, we listened to the restaurant and pub industries and we heard from British Columbians during the Liquor Policy Review.
- When Parliamentary Secretary John Yap recommended this change, he knew we needed to find a balance that was fair, but also that wouldn’t encourage over-consumption.
- We’ve heard some concern around beer pricing since we made the announcement last week, but let’s be clear, when you take the report as a whole, minimum pricing is one of the most critical changes we’re making.
- I know that there may be the occasional case where British Columbians will see a drink price go up by a small amount, but, overall, we don’t expect consumers will see much of a difference. In fact, we’ve looked at a number of restaurants and pubs around the province – the vast majority are actually selling above the new minimum prices.
- If anything, consumers will notice new happy hour drink specials offered by licensees, which weren’t allowed under the previous rules.
- Without setting a price floor at a responsible level, a number of the other changes we’re making to increase convenience could very well be considered harmful to the health and safety of British Columbians.

Subject: Stakeholder email - Minimum Drink Price Correction for Cocktails

Importance: High

Doug/Kathy – This will go out later this morning from the generic email account to industry, local government and police

Good morning,

We want to provide further clarity with respect to Friday’s announcement about happy hours and minimum drink prices. Please note that the correct minimum price for spirits is $2.00 per ounce or $4.00 for two ounces. For example, the minimum price an establishment can charge for a 1.5 ounce cocktail would be $3.00.

With regard to other types of alcohol, examples of minimum pricing would be $3 for standard drink sizes – a five-ounce glass of wine, 341 ml bottles of coolers, beer and cider, or a 12-ounce sleeve of beer or cider. This remains the same as the initial policy directive.

Please refer to the updated pricing chart here.

We apologize for any inconvenience this may cause. We will also be writing to all licensees later this week, to let them know about all of the recent changes.

Here is the line from the NR:

Consistent with the views heard from both industry and health advocates during the Liquor Policy Review, B.C.'s minimum drink prices are in place to encourage responsible consumption and are based on ounces of alcohol sold at licensed establishments. For example, the minimum price an establishment can charge for a 1.5-ounce cocktail, a five-ounce glass of wine, 341 ml bottles of coolers, beer and cider, or a 12-ounce sleeve of beer or cider, would be $3.

Good morning,

This email is to notify you of changes to provincial regulations affecting minimum drink prices, as the contact person in your local government during our recent consultations on this issue, and given that your respective municipalities already have minimum drink prices in place. Your municipal government will be also receiving information about this change as well.

Today, government announced implementation of Liquor Policy Review Recommendation #16, which will allow liquor licensees to offer happy hours, subject to a new regulatory requirement for minimum drink pricing. A copy of the full report is available online, and the policy directive is attached.

The new minimum price regulations permit licensees to vary the price of liquor at any time during the business day, as long as prices do not fall below the prescribed minimum at any time. A copy of the policy directive is attached. British Columbia's new minimum drink price levels are the highest in the country among provincial jurisdictions and meet or exceed the price levels imposed by local government bylaws already in place. The new provincial minimum drink price regulation takes effect immediately. Liquor licensees are required to comply with the provincial requirements regardless of any local government bylaws that may be already in place. Liquor Control and Licensing Branch liquor inspectors will be monitoring compliance with this requirement, and we will also be writing to all licensees to notify them of this change.

Thank you to those of you who provided feedback on this issue to my staff. Your input and the input from health advocates during the Liquor Policy Review was instrumental in establishing minimum drink price levels.

Yours sincerely,

Re: Changes to regulations permitting variable pricing (happy hours) and imposing minimum drink prices in licensed establishments

Introduction

Variable pricing throughout the day (i.e. happy hours) has up to now been prohibited by the regulations, except for licensee retail stores and caterers.

Recommendation #16 of the Liquor Policy Review Report has recommended that variable pricing throughout the day be permitted as long as minimum drink prices in licensed establishments are put in place.

The new regulation provides flexibility for licensees to adapt their business model to best suit their establishment, while the introduction of minimum drink pricing is intended to prevent aggressive pricing strategies that may lead to intoxication.

New Policy

Effective immediately, liquor primaries, liquor primary clubs, food primaries, and manufacturer lounge and special event endorsement areas may vary the price of liquor at any time during liquor service hours as long as the price of liquor in each category does not fall below the minimum pricing specified in the table. Minimum pricing applies to all liquor sales in these establishments, including the sale of manufacturer samples.

Product Category	Minimum Price per ounce (not including sales tax)	Price per drink - examples of some common sizes (not including sales tax)
Draught cider/beer	$0.25 per oz (28 ml)	$3 per 341 ml (12 oz) (sleeve) $5 per 20 oz (pint) $15 per 60 oz (jug)
Packaged beer, cider and coolers	$0.25 per oz (28 ml)	$3 per 341 ml (12 oz) bottle or 355 ml can
Wine/Fortified wine (including sake)	$0.60 per oz (28 ml)	$3 per 5 oz glass (125 ml) $3.60 per 6 oz glass (170 ml) $5.40 per 9 oz glass (255 ml) $15.85 per 750 ml bottle (26.4 oz)
Liqueurs/Spirits	$3 per oz (28 ml)	$3 per oz (28 ml)

The minimum price levels apply provincially, and supersede any local government bylaws that may already be in place. Minimum price levels will be monitored and may be periodically adjusted for inflation.

Licensees may also vary the price of liquor for certain groups (e.g. “team night” price reductions for players in uniform, “ladies night” price reductions for women).

Minimum drink pricing does not apply to catered events. Caterers may continue to vary prices for different events and may now vary the price during the course of an event. They may also continue to give liquor away (e.g. a wedding where the host provides wine with dinner followed by a cash bar).

Variable pricing and minimum drink pricing does not apply to special occasion licensed (SOL) events, which will continue to be subject to the current rules.

There are no changes to pricing requirements for licensee retail stores, manufacturer stores and wine stores, which continue to be able to vary the price of liquor throughout the day, as long as the price is set at or above the purchase price of the product from the Liquor Distribution Branch.

“Two for one” drink specials continue to be prohibited, as in most other Canadian jurisdictions, since they are considered a strategy likely to promote intoxication.

Happy hour advertising is permitted, subject to the CRTC Code for Broadcast Advertising of Alcoholic Beverages.

The general manager may impose terms and conditions on an individual licence restricting variable pricing in a particular establishment as a result of compliance problems.

NEWS RELEASE

Happy hours and minimum pricing take effect in B.C.

VICTORIA - B.C. officially opened the door to happy hours and implemented minimum drink pricing today, offering flexibility for businesses and their customers while preserving health and public safety.

Consistent with the views heard from both industry and health advocates during the Liquor Policy Review, B.C.'s minimum drink prices are in place to encourage responsible consumption and are based on ounces of alcohol sold at licensed establishments. The minimum price an establishment can charge is $3 for a drink - which, for example, would buy a single ounce cocktail, a five ounce glass of wine or 12 ounce sleeve of beer or cider.

Check out this infographic for detailed information on B.C.'s new minimum drink prices: <https://flic.kr/p/o2NVEq>

Allowing licensees, such as pubs, restaurants and lounges, to alter their liquor prices throughout the course of the day is a pocket-book friendly change for British Columbians that will help the industry attract customers at times when business may typically be slow.

Additional changes stemming from the Liquor Policy Review also came into effect today - cutting red tape and simplifying liquor licensing rules.

Food-primary establishments must continue to offer a full menu, but if patrons simply wish to order drinks they are not obligated to order food as well. Also, customers can now move freely with their beverage from one adjoining licensed area to another, such as from a pub to an adjoining restaurant - a common-sense change from the previous rules, which required staff to carry customers' drinks for them.

Licensees may now transfer small amounts of liquor between similar types of establishments. For instance, if a pub is experiencing a shortage of a specific liquor product, a nearby restaurant can transfer liquor to it, or a liquor store can transfer alcohol to another store with the same kind of liquor licence.

Hosts of family Special Occasion Licence (SOL) events may now serve homemade and UBrew/UVin beer, wine or cider - offering further flexibility for consumers. Also, owners of UBrews and UVins, as well as their family members, are now permitted to own other liquor-related establishments - an out-of-date rule that has been updated under modernized liquor policies.

Quotes:

Suzanne Anton, Attorney General and Minister of Justice -

"Implementing minimum drink prices is an important part of our commitment to protect health and safety, as we move forward on modernizing B.C.'s liquor laws. In setting the minimum price, it was important to us that we listened to both industry and health advocates. We have done that and I believe establishing a $3 per drink minimum achieves a good balance for them, and for British Columbians."

"By allowing establishments to offer happy hours, as long as they adhere to the new minimum prices, consumers will have more chances to save a few dollars throughout the week and continue to support their local businesses."

John Yap, Parliamentary Secretary for Liquor Policy Reform -

"Whether it's meeting after work for a discounted pint, for example, or enjoying a happy hour cocktail on a Saturday afternoon, these changes create new social opportunities for British Columbians. To balance health and safety, we have put into effect price floors that align with the views expressed by health advocates during our liquor consultations and will help to encourage responsible consumption."

Ian Tostenson, president, B.C. Restaurant and Foodservices Association -

"Happy hours are a welcome change for the food and beverage industry, both creating revenue opportunities at times of the day when business may be slow and providing new occasions for customers around the province to catch up over a discounted drink at one of B.C.'s many restaurants. Additional liquor policy updates, like allowing restaurants to serve guests a drink without complicated rules on food consumption, will also reduce confusion for consumers and cut red tape for businesses."

Mark von Schellwitz, vice president, Western Canada, Restaurants Canada -

"Cutting red tape for licensees and allowing them to transfer liquor between one another is a simple change that will make a big difference for restaurant owners, helping them to ensure they have their customers' favourite products in stock. This change - as well as allowing variable pricing for drink specials throughout the day - will help ensure a strong and vibrant restaurant and foodservice industry in B.C."

Poma Dhaliwal, president, Alliance of Beverage Licensees (ABLE BC) -

"With happy hours up and running in B.C., operators can cater to groups by offering drink specials for 'team nights,' for example, helping fill their seats on slow days or during not-so-busy times. I know staff in the industry will also be happy to hear they no longer need to inconvenience their customers by making them wait until a staff member is available to carry their drinks when they simply move from the bar or patio into the restaurant."

Quick Facts:

- * The production, distribution and sale of B.C. liquors have significant economic benefits for the Province, contributing more than $1.1 billion annually to things like health and social programs.
- * To date, 14 of the 73 recommendations from the B.C. Liquor Policy Review have been implemented.
- * Government's goal is to implement 70% of the 73 recommendations by spring 2015.

* A complete re-write of the Liquor Control and Licensing Act is planned for spring 2015. In the meantime, government has adopted a phased-in approach to modernizing B.C.'s liquor laws. The first set of amendments, which modernized outdated provisions and provide the foundation for implementation of key recommendations, received Royal Assent on May 29, 2014.

* Although not part of the Liquor Policy Review, government has also updated an outdated regulation so that bachelor/bachelorette parties are now eligible to apply for SOLs.

Happy hours and minimum pricing take effect in B.C.

VICTORIA – B.C. officially opened the door to happy hours and implemented minimum drink pricing today, offering flexibility for businesses and their customers while preserving health and public safety.

Consistent with the views heard from both industry and health advocates during the Liquor Policy Review, B.C.'s minimum drink prices are in place to encourage responsible consumption and are based on ounces of alcohol sold at licensed establishments. The minimum price an establishment can charge is $3 for a drink – which, for example, would buy a single ounce cocktail, a five ounce glass of wine or 12 ounce sleeve of beer or cider.

Check out this infographic for detailed information on B.C.'s new minimum drink prices:
<https://flic.kr/p/o2NVEq>

Allowing licensees, such as pubs, restaurants and lounges, to alter their liquor prices throughout the course of the day is a pocket-book friendly change for British Columbians that will help the industry attract customers at times when business may typically be slow.

Additional changes stemming from the Liquor Policy Review also came into effect today – cutting red tape and simplifying liquor licensing rules.

Food-primary establishments must continue to offer a full menu, but if patrons simply wish to order drinks they are not obligated to order food as well. Also, customers can now move freely with their beverage from one adjoining licensed area to another, such as from a pub to an adjoining restaurant – a common-sense change from the previous rules, which required staff to carry customers' drinks for them.

Licensees may now transfer small amounts of liquor between similar types of establishments. For instance, if a pub is experiencing a shortage of a specific liquor product, a nearby restaurant can transfer liquor to it, or a liquor store can transfer alcohol to another store with the same kind of liquor licence.

Hosts of family Special Occasion Licence (SOL) events may now serve homemade and UBrew/UVin beer, wine or cider – offering further flexibility for consumers. Also, owners of UBrews and UVins, as well as their family members, are now permitted to own other liquor-related establishments – an out-of-date rule that has been updated under modernized liquor policies.

GCPE has added 6 additional questions/answers related to minimum pricing (highlighted in yellow). Barry and I have reviewed them and think they are fine. Just running them by you:

Are minimum drink prices just in place for happy hours, or are they in effect all the time?

- B.C.'s new minimum drink prices are in place at all times, for all licensed establishments that sell alcohol by the glass.
- Both health advocates and the industry asked for minimum pricing, as it encourages responsible consumption and creates a level playing field for licensees.
- In setting B.C.'s minimum prices, it was important to us that we listened to both industry and health advocates.
- We have done exactly that, and believe establishing a $3 per drink minimum achieves a good balance for the industry and for British Columbians, while protecting health and safety.

I thought you said the Liquor Policy Review wouldn't result in higher prices. Doesn't this mean the price for consumers will actually go up?

- There may be the occasional case where consumers see a drink price go up by 50 cents or so. For example, an establishment that only charges $5.50 for a double high-ball must now charge at least $6.
- That said, overall, we don't expect consumers will see much of a difference in terms of drink prices. If anything, they will notice new happy hour drink specials offered by licensees, which weren't allowed under the previous rules.
- Bear in mind, licensees have a business to run and, in most cases, already charge more than the new prescribed minimum prices.

Licensees may need to review their menus and pricing. How will they find out about these changes? Is there any sort of grace period for them?

s. 13

- Liquor inspectors will continue their routine inspections and, when necessary, remind licensees that the new minimum prices are in place.
- The Liquor Control and Licensing Branch (LCLB) – as per its normal process– issued a policy directive today (June 20) that gets posted on its website and is shared with industry associations.
- These changes are also detailed in 'Liquor Line' – the LCLB's newsletter to all licensees – which will be sent out next week.

If needed re: enforcement:

- If a liquor inspector finds that a licensee was not aware of the minimum prices, he or she will share the new policies with that licensee, take the time to ensure they understand the changes, and follow-up at a later date.
- If a licensee is found to be purposely charging less than the new minimum prices, it will face a contravention notice and possible enforcement action.

Questions and Answers

B.C. Liquor Policy Review

June 20th Announcement – Happy Hours / Hospitality Changes

June 19, 2014 - DRAFT

1. What are you announcing today?

- A new batch of Liquor Policy Review recommendations has been implemented, including happy hours, minimum drink pricing and a number of changes that will cut red tape and simplify liquor licensing for the industry.
- Our government has an aggressive agenda – we promised British Columbians and the industry that we would modernize B.C.'s liquor laws, and we're following through on that commitment.

2. When is the change that allows kids in pubs going to be made? When are farmers' markets going to allow liquor sales?

- We've said we would make those changes by July – and we remain committed to that.
- Stay tuned for further announcements.

Minimum Pricing

3. Are minimum drink prices just in place for happy hours, or are they in effect all the time?

- B.C.'s new minimum drink prices are in place at all times, for all licensed establishments that sell alcohol by the glass.
- Both health advocates and the industry asked for minimum pricing, as it encourages responsible consumption and creates a level playing field for licensees.
- In setting B.C.'s minimum prices, it was important to us that we listened to both industry and health advocates.
- We have done exactly that, and believe establishing a $3 per drink minimum achieves a good balance for the industry and for British Columbians, while protecting health and safety.

4. I thought you said the Liquor Policy Review wouldn't result in higher prices. Doesn't this mean the price for consumers will actually go up?

- There may be the occasional case where consumers see a drink price go up by 50 cents or so. For example, an establishment that only charges $5.50 for a double high-ball must now charge at least $6.

- That said, overall, we don't expect consumers will see much of a difference in terms of drink prices. If anything, they will notice new happy hour drink specials offered by licensees, which weren't allowed under the previous rules.
- Bear in mind, licensees have a business to run and, in most cases, already charge more than the new prescribed minimum prices.

5. Licensees may need to review their menus and pricing. How will they find out about these changes? Is there any sort of grace period for them?

s. 15

- Liquor inspectors will continue their routine inspections and, when necessary, remind licensees that the new minimum prices are in place.
- The Liquor Control and Licensing Branch (LCLB) – as per its normal process– issued a policy directive today (June 20) that gets posted on its website and is shared with industry associations.
- These changes are also detailed in 'Liquor Line' – the LCLB's newsletter to all licensees – which will be sent out next week.

If needed re: enforcement:

- If a liquor inspector finds that a licensee was not aware of the minimum prices, he or she will share the new policies with that that licensee, take the time to ensure they understand the changes, and follow-up at a later date.
- If a licensee is found to be purposely charging less than the new minimum prices, it will face a contravention notice and possible enforcement action.

s. 13

8. What were the prices suggested by health advocates?

- Most health advocates that participated in the B.C. Liquor Policy Review suggested a price minimum around $3.00 per standard drink – and these changes align with those recommendations.
- Research has shown that minimum price policies can be effective in reducing alcohol abuse by at-risk groups.

9. How does B.C.'s minimum pricing compare to other jurisdictions?

- B.C.'s minimum prices will be the highest in Canada.
- They are consistent with levels recommended by health advocates and are in line with prices that have been adopted by a number of local governments in B.C.
- We've been clear that any changes to B.C.'s liquor laws must also safeguard health and public safety – and we remain committed to that.

11. What exactly are the minimum drink prices?

- It was important to us to listen to the health and safety advocates, and we've done that.
- The minimum drink prices are based on ounces of alcohol.
- For example, the minimum price an establishment can charge for a drink is $3 – that's for a single ounce cocktail, a 5 oz glass of wine or a 12 oz glass of beer or cider.
- (See table on next page).

Product Category	Minimum Price per ounce (not including sales tax)	Price per drink: Examples of some common sizes
Draught cider/beer	$0.25 per oz (28 ml)	$3 per 341 ml (12 oz) (sleeve) $5 per 20 oz (pint) $15 per 60 oz (jug)
Packaged beer, cider and coolers	$0.25 per oz (28 ml)	$3 per 341 ml (12 oz) bottle or 355 ml can
Wine/ Fortified wine (including sake)	$0.60 per oz (28 ml)	$3 per 5 oz glass $3.60 per 6 oz glass (170 ml) $5.40 per 9 oz glass (255 ml) $15.85 per 750 ml bottle (26.4 oz)
Liqueurs/ Spirits	$3 per oz (28 ml)	$3 per oz (28 ml)

12. What were the previous rules for establishments who wanted to offer drink specials? What were the minimum drink prices?

- Prior to this change, liquor licensees had to set their prices when they opened for the day and they couldn't change the price throughout the business day. However, they were free to change the price the next business day.
- Licensees were required to charge no less than the original Liquor Distribution Branch purchase price.

13. Can local governments implement bylaws to allow for lower or higher minimum prices? Why not?

- The provincial minimum prices will take precedence over any local government bylaws that are in place.
- If a municipality wishes to set a higher minimum price level, they are welcome to explore this option.

Happy Hours

14. How soon can businesses hold happy hours?

- This change is effective today – June 20.

- Happy hours offer socially engaging, interactive environments for British Columbians while also helping B.C. restaurants and pubs bring in customers during specific times in the day when business may be slow.
- This is a change that provides flexibility for licensees to vary their drink prices throughout the day and adapt their business model to best suit their establishment, while the introduction of minimum drink pricing will prevent aggressive pricing strategies that may lead to over-consumption.

15. Can shots be sold at happy hour prices?

- Yes, as long as the minimum price charged per shooter adheres to the minimum prices we have outlined per ounce of liqueurs/spirits ($3.00).
- Most people in B.C. who choose to consume alcohol do so responsibly and in moderation.
- It's also important to recognize that all staff who serve liquor at licensed establishments must have Serving it Right certification – helping to ensure staff have the effective skills and techniques, should they encounter challenging scenarios in which patrons are over-drinking.

16. Are you going to set specific hours within which happy hours must be held?

- As part of this change, businesses may vary their price through the day at any time during liquor service hours, as per the terms and conditions of their licence.
- Typically, happy hours are offered at times of the day when business is slow – such as late afternoon, before the dinner crowd.

17. Are all establishments – liquor-primary and food-primary – allowed to have happy hours?

- Yes, this change affects all establishments that sell liquor by the glass, including food-primary and liquor-primary licences, as well as manufacturer lounge and special event area endorsements.
- We see this as a way to offer socially engaging, interactive environments for British Columbians while also helping B.C.'s licensed establishments bring in customers during specific times in the day when business may be slow.

18. Won't happy hours just lead to binge drinking, which is clearly harmful?

- Most people in B.C. who choose to consume alcohol do so responsibly and in moderation.
- Minimum price policies can be effective in reducing alcohol abuse by at-risk groups, according to evidence presented during the B.C. Liquor Policy Review by health advocacy groups (the Centre for Addictions Research of BC, University of British Columbia, the Health Officers Council of B.C. and B.C.'s Provincial Health Officer).
- Parliamentary Secretary John Yap consulted with many health and public safety advocates on these changes – their opinions and research helped inform his recommendations and the policy work.
- At the same time, we also need to ensure that licensees and staff are taking the necessary steps to ensure responsible liquor service.

- We have plans to expand and enhance B.C.'s Serving it Right program – providing licensees and waitstaff with up-to-date knowledge about responsible beverage service and effective skills and techniques, should they encounter challenging scenarios in which patrons are over-drinking.
- In addition to Serving it Right, B.C. has some excellent programs in place that provide information about alcohol consumption, such as the Healthy Minds/Healthy Campuses program targeted at post-secondary students.

19. We saw a lot of civil disobedience during the Stanley Cup riots in Vancouver – aren't we just encouraging more riots or civil disobedience in moving forward with happy hours?

- Most people in B.C. who choose to consume alcohol do so responsibly and in moderation.
- These changes are about striking the right balance – and that's why, with the introduction of happy hours, we have implemented minimum drink pricing, consistent with the views expressed by health advocates during the Liquor Policy Review.
- That's also why we have plans to expand and enhance B.C.'s Serving it Right program – providing licensees and waitstaff with up-to-date knowledge about responsible beverage service and effective skills and techniques, should they encounter challenging scenarios in which patrons are over-drinking.
- Liquor inspectors also have a very important role to play in helping to protect public safety and to ensure that our laws are being followed.
- I can tell you that the Liquor Control and Licensing Branch (LCLB)'s staff work with police on a regular basis to promote voluntary compliance with provincial liquor laws and mitigate risks to public safety, such as over-service.
- Our inspectors do everything they can to work with licensees and make sure they understand the terms and conditions of their liquor licence.

20. Won't happy hours lead to increased drinking and driving?

- The implementation of happy hours isn't an invitation to get behind the wheel of your car.
- The choice is clear – if you're going to drink, during happy hours or otherwise – don't drive.
- B.C. has some of the toughest drinking and driving laws in Canada.
- In the three years since our new drinking and driving laws have been in force, an estimated 190 lives have been saved – that's a 52 per cent decrease in alcohol-impaired driving fatalities.
- Many people in B.C. have changed their behaviour because of these laws.
- British Columbians can rest assured that police will continue to be out on highways enforcing the laws against impaired driving.
- B.C. will continue to work closely with police and road safety partners across the country to address the serious consequences of drinking and driving.

21. The City of Victoria has suggested implementing a drink levy to pay for the additional costs in policing and enforcement that will be needed under liberalized liquor laws. Is this something the Province is considering?

- We've been clear that any changes to B.C.'s liquor laws must also safeguard health and public safety – and we remain committed to that.

- I understand the City of Victoria is exploring the idea of imposing a per-drink levy.
- Local governments need to ensure they have the legal authority to pursue this option – which is a municipal decision, and not something the Province would play a role in approving or administering.

If asked whether the Province will pay for the levy:

- I understand that, at this point, a levy is something the City of Victoria is merely exploring.
- Should they submit a proposal to the Province, we would certainly take a look at it.
- It's important to note that the production, distribution and sale of liquor returns $1.1 billion to the Ministry of Finance, which helps pay for health and social programs.

22. Is the Province going to provide municipalities with additional resources for enforcement and policing?

- All licensees will continue to be made aware of the laws and rules regarding liquor service as part of their licensing process – and events where liquor service takes place will continue to be routinely inspected.
- Our Minors as Agents Program will continue to test whether private and government liquor stores, licensees and SOL events are selling to minors. We'll be adding grocery stores into the mix next year.
- Liquor Control and Licensing branch (LCLB) staff work with police on a regular basis to promote voluntary compliance with provincial liquor laws and mitigate risks to public safety, such as over service.
- Police forces and boards determine local policing priorities and allocate resources accordingly.

23. How are you going to balance changes like happy hours – which will lead to increase consumption – with health and safety?

- Most people in B.C. who choose to consume alcohol do so responsibly and in moderation.
- However, it's important to ensure that licensees and staff who serve alcohol are responsible for making sure they take the steps necessary to ensure responsible liquor service.
- Over one-quarter of Parliamentary Secretary Yap's recommendations are geared towards health, safety and social responsibility – and we are taking action to implement those recommendations.
- For example, we are working on expanding and enhancing Serving it Right – ensuring those serving or selling alcohol have effective skills and techniques, should they encounter challenging scenarios in which patrons are over-drinking.
- We will more closely link the price of liquor to alcohol content to reduce alcohol abuse by at-risk groups.
- We'll explore a last drink program with police agencies, so that if an impaired person's last drink was in a licensed establishment, the LCLB can investigate and possibly levy penalties for over-serving clients.

- We will also be collaborating with local government, public health officials and industry to develop effective and meaningful social responsibility educational campaigns for display in licensed establishments and liquor stores.

24. What are the penalties for an establishment that is caught over-serving patrons?

- It is the responsibility of licensees and their staff to ensure patrons do not become inappropriately intoxicated in their establishment.
- If licensees are caught permitting a person to become intoxicated, selling or giving liquor to an intoxicated person, or allowing an intoxicated person to remain in the establishment, they could face a $5,000-$7,000 fine and/or a 4-7 day suspension for a first offence, 10-14 day suspension for a second offence and 18-20 day suspension on subsequent offences.

25. Can establishments hold “two for one” specials? Why not?

- No, the current policy prohibiting “two for one” drink specials will be maintained, as in most other jurisdictions.
- Two for one specials can encourage binge drinking. We’ve been clear that any changes to B.C.’s liquor laws must safeguard health and public safety – and we remain committed to that.

26. Can establishments hold specials such as “ladies night” or “team night” for players in uniform?

- Yes, as long as the minimum drink prices are adhered to, licensees may offer time-limited drink specials to specific groups.
- This aligns with other Canadian jurisdictions.

27. The Campaign for Real Ale is saying many businesses that sell liquor aren’t actually selling full-sized pints. Is government going to do anything about regulating pint sizes?

- Our focus is primarily on public safety – we have clearly defined maximum drink sizes per person, as a way of encouraging moderate consumption and preventing over-service.
- Businesses are free to measure and pour their own drinks, provided they are not more than the maximum drink size.
- Licensees are required to have a price list, available upon request, stating drink serving sizes.

28. Is government going to consider more late-night transit options?

- Local governments set transit priorities, and service levels vary by demand.
- For example, Victoria provides service on some routes on weekends, and Whistler provides it seasonally.
- If local governments see this as a priority, then they can provide transit service later into the evening.

Hospitality Industry Changes

29. Aren't you concerned about over-consumption, if you're allowing customers to order a drink without food?

- Most people in B.C. who choose to consume alcohol do so responsibly and in moderation.
- We're leaving the decision up to patrons, who should not feel obliged to eat if they're not hungry.
- Many pubs have food and atmosphere similar to that of a restaurant – so allowing a customer at a restaurant to enjoy a pint without ordering a meal is a balanced change.
- Additionally, all staff who serve liquor in bars/pubs and restaurants with a licensed lounge must have Serving it Right certification.
- We also have plans to expand and enhance B.C.'s Serving it Right program – providing licensees and all waitstaff with up-to-date knowledge about responsible beverage service and effective skills and techniques, should they encounter challenging scenarios in which patrons are over-drinking.
- Even with this change, restaurants will still have to ensure their primary focus is on the service of food.

Subject: Minimum pricing - industry response

Hi guys,

I checked the industry response from our consultation on the minimum price. Here's what they said:

BC Restaurant and Food Services Association – favours $3.00 min

ABLE – favours $4.00 min as anything lower is a race to the bottom

Legions – did not respond to this issue

Restaurants Canada – favours $2.50 min as this is halfway between minimum of $2.25 in some jurisdictions and $2.75 in others.

Cheers,

Barry
