Subject: Innovation Symposium Schedule and Vendor Information

Just to keep everyone in the loop, the following is what Max and I sent out today to all of the invited guests of the Symposium.

Have a great evening!

Hello,

Following up on our previous email, the Research and Innovation business area is pleased to release the schedule of vendor presentations that are taking place during the Innovation Symposium at the PWCC from March 4th-8th.

Attached you will find the presentation schedule as well as a synopsis of each of the products and services being presented. This is being provided to assist you in determining which day/s of the Symposium are of most interest for you and your program to attend. Due to the nature of the Symposium, we cannot guarantee that small changes will not be made to the schedule.

Please note that we have attempted to group similar products and services together, to best accommodate the schedules of our invited audience members. However, this was not always possible, and we apologise in advance for any inconvenience.

The Innovation Symposium is designed to collaboratively address a backlog of vendor offers that may assist in creating innovative solutions to manage B.C.'s increasingly complex wildfire environment. It is our intention that audience members are in attendance to help identify products and services that may have potential value and warrant further conversation. To support effective collaboration both within the BCWS and with other agencies in attendance, we ask that attendees refrain from initiating individual relationships with vendors at the Symposium. More information will be provided regarding the process for expressing interest in a vendor.

Due to limited seating availability in the Kamloops boardroom at the PWCC, we kindly ask that you let us know which day/s you or your delegate are planning to attend, by Friday February 22nd at 12:00 noon, so we may offer vacant seats to others

For more information, or if you have any questions, please contact the BCWS.RD_Innovation@gov.bc.ca inbox.

Sincerely,

Lindsey and Max

Hello Lisa, one item reviewed by ELUC today must report out to Cabinet on Wednesday because of timing considerations. I have prepared an ELUC minute for Minister's review that addresses this item only. If the minute is acceptable, an approval by email is fine, if at all possible this afternoon. I will send speaking notes for Minister tomorrow. Thanks.

Hi! CBC said they would also ask about reporting requirements and associated costs. (but I think they meant investigations)

The reporting provision in the amendments does not have any impacts on the costs associated with archaeological work. Currently under the HCA, a permit is required to alter any heritage site, which may or may not have associated archaeological costs. Adding a provision to require reporting only increases the Province's knowledge of site locations. The requirement for a permit is necessary for all sites – both known and unknown. In fact, more information about the location of sites allows developers to identify the costs associated with archaeology prior to beginning development, as opposed to incurring the costs mid-development if a site has not been identified previously.

Investigations

- Requiring a heritage inspection (or archaeological impact assessment) as a precondition of a site alteration permit in situations where there is insufficient information about the heritage value of the property, can better inform decisions on whether a development should proceed as proposed. For example, a heritage inspection might find that there is a significant archaeological site that shouldn't be disturbed, so plans can be altered earlier, saving time and money.

Hi Lisa,

The Minister currently has option 1 selected and we pay $1583.33 directly to his landlord. The Minister's rent is higher than this and now he is entitled to have $1791.66 max per month now. Does he want to take advantage of the allowance increase that takes into effect on April 1st?

I need to know today as we need to process the paperwork to have the landlord's payment processed on the 15th.

Thanks so much!

Importance: High

Hi Lisa,

The Minister currently has option 1 selected and we pay $1583.33 directly to his landlord. The Minister's rent is higher than this and now he is entitled to have $1791.66 max per month now. Does he want to take advantage of the allowance increase that takes into effect on April 1st?

I need to know today as we need to process the paperwork to have the landlord's payment processed on the 15th.

Thanks so much!

Hi Lisa:

Here some info on what I mentioned on our call this morning:

April 3: ~~s.22~~ accompanying travel AC Terrace-YVR 15:25 depart (AC8243) can you book please

~~s.22~~ will join me in downtown Vancouver so overnight at Fairmont Waterfront on April 3

Then the rest of her accompanying flight on that leg will be with me April 4 on that Harbour Air 9:30 am flight

April 4/5 staying in Vic so no need for my flights back to Smithers

April 11 ~~s.22~~ on Harbour Air as well to Van Harbour as part of her return leg on accompanying

April 12: Change AC YVR-YYD to AC YVR-Terrace 6:10 pm flight for both ~~s.22~~ and I

The only other thing is that there is now a 21:55 AC8081 flight from Van-Vic and my YYD-YVR flight now leaves earlier on Sunday and gets in at 9:28. I was able to get on standby from the concierge desk before getting on my Smithers flight last time I came down and got a seat on that earlier flight to Vic. It is WAY better than getting in so late and then having to function on Monday at 100%. It is probably the 25 min layover time that doesn't allow you to automatically book the 21:55 flight (under 30 usually the cut off). So can you book two separate flights for me for March 24. One the 7:40-9:28 Smithers-Van and the other 21:55-22:25. If weather looks bad in Smithers for a delay then I will just contact the concierge desk and rebook the second flight on the later time. So book me on the fare that doesn't result in the 100 change fee. Thanks!

IPCAs are a relatively new concept in British Columbia; one that takes many forms depending on the specific interests of the interested nation. British Columbia is working to better understand how IPCAs fit in within the context of existing land management and stewardship initiatives and we hope to continue discussions with you on your proposal in the future. This is important work that will take some time before the Province can work with the Kaska Dena Council on a specific proposal.

Local gov letter good. Can attach my signature.
Elf letter says in first paragraph responding on behalf of me then signed by me. So content is good. Just needs a different signature if that was the intent.

Hello John,

As a follow up to our meeting in Victoria, please find attached an invitation to Minister Donaldson, inviting him (and you of course) to join us in the Okanagan on May 22nd to view some of the FESBC funded fuel management work underway around Kelowna. You suggested that we send the invitation to you and you can work with his staff on his schedule.

Our plan is to spend most of the day visiting projects in this area, so we can certainly work around your schedules if you are able to join us. It's a great opportunity to see some of the FESBC funded work first hand and to meet some of the local government, industry and First Nations stakeholders.

Hope you are able to join us.

1. Chief Wilson had some great quotes in the call we had with media in Thurs. I hope someone recorded that presser and they can be included in my QP caribou notes today. If not could one of you get a recording from a reporter who was on the call? Narwhal had some but not all.

I've attached news release & backgrounder, speaking notes (itinerary embedded), key messages (for the conference call speech) and Q&As.

Media briefing will be outside. Kevin Skrepnek will introduce you. You'll say a few words, then open it up for questions. You can defer to Kurtis Isfeld, Manager, Fire Operations on more technical questions. You'll then come inside, and do it again (but shorter, since reporters will have the news release) and take questions over the phone.

Cheers,

He just visited and said the same and he would schedule the Greens in to the last 2 hours then come in and wrap it up at end. He warned his first Q on forestry will be how many mills are currently operating in BC, how many 10 yrs ago and how many 20 yrs ago. So he will try to dispel that 100 mills were shut during their tenure.

Also he will step out at 3 on Thursday and Barnett will do rural development. He will attend the Cheslatta signing. Said he hasn't got an invite yet.

Hi Tim,

Doug asked me this the other week. Sorry for not responding sooner. Depending on when we start, I suspect most of Wed will be on Caribou and wildlife management. If we get through that, we will move into forestry issues starting with the SLA, stumpage and competitive issues. From there (likely on Thursday) we will go into supply, allocation, tenure, transportation and related issues. Then I'd like to discuss coastal revitalization, interior revitalization, waste and forest health. There may also be a grab bag of issues at this time. From there, we go into BCTS and likely MPS. I think Doug has the rest of the list.

I was originally trying to incorporate the greens into this schedule but that proved to be too difficult so they will end up asking a broad range of questions at the end of estimates.

Getting the indication from MLA Rustad and then seeing in the Green questions that we will be asked about number of operating mills now compared to 10 and 20 years ago, etc s.22 tells me there were hundreds of times bc lib minister of forests overruled TEAC to let exports happen. That would be a nice nugget to have.

Working on this late so don't need to connect til tomorrow.

On Sunday 31st can u get me on that 9:55 flight Van-Vic as a separate booking so I don't get in so late?

I'm in Vic weekend April 6-7 so don't need the flights from YYD-YYJ that are in calendar for Sun April 7.

Thanks

Anyone know why I have 8-10 personal time blocked off in the morning. I'm hoping it's because I'm getting in very late on the evening AC fight and likely won't be getting downtown til at least 12:15. If so that would be awesome.
