Good afternoon.

For the May publishing of the attached ad, please change the end of the review and comment period to June 23. The ad that ran in April had a date of June 6th.

The draft 2023 to 2028 FSP is available to the public for review and comment from April 6, 2022, to June 23, 2022.

Also, I saw the posted ad in the Terrace and Prince Rupert papers. It was also supposed to have appeared in the Kitimat paper - although I'm not sure if that paper is still being published. Could you please confirm the third ad.

Hi Nigel,

I realize you are the one caught in the middle, and the messenger for GCPE HQ marketing's decisions.

That said, these delays are happening more and more often and cause our operations significant delays. As Gail has explained below, we are working with legally mandated time periods, timelines and deadlines for the public review and comment for our Forest Stewardship Plan. We require that 30-day review period to be completed before moving forward with operations. Fiscal year end should not factor into the GCPE delays, and infract the Chinook business area had similar delays with a recent ad, sent it in early February and it took 5 weeks before it made its way to the papers. Additionally, we should not be having to follow up with GCPE about an ad after it and CAP have been accepted, approved and the publishing dates agreed on.

What can be done to improve these timelines and the communications between BCTS and GCPE?
Should we be doing our ads and approaching vendors and simply running the ads by GCPE prior to their publication?

Please let me know who in GCPE HQ or your shop would be the best person to speak to and explain these ads need to have greater priority over others and a given a fixed/reliable publishing date once they are approved. Perhaps it would be helpful for us to explained what legally mandated time periods, timelines and deadlines for the public review and comment for our Forest Stewardship Plan means and the significance?

Thanks for your help with this, Nigel.

Subject: FW: TSK Ad for Proposed FSP

Hi Nigel,

Unfortunately there is no option - the notice has to be published twice - and a month apart - so there's no avoiding the two fiscals.

And my apologies, there is one more change to the ad - the review and comment dates - I've updated the attached ad to reflect the new dates.

Thank you.

Hi Nigel,

I realize you are the one caught in the middle, and the messenger for GCPE HQ marketing's decisions.

That said, these delays are happening more and more often and cause our operations significant delays.

As Gail has explained below – we are working with legally mandated time periods, timelines and deadlines for the public review and comment for our Forest Stewardship Plan.

We require that 30-day review period to be completed before moving forward with operations.

Fiscal year end should not factor into the GCPE delays, and infract the Chinook business area had similar delays with a recent ad – sent it in early February and it took 5 weeks before it made its way to the papers.

Additionally, we should not be having to follow up with GCPE about an ad after it and CAP have been accepted, approved and the publishing dates agreed on.

What can be done to improve these timelines and the communications between BCTS and GCPE? Should we be doing our ads and approaching vendors and simply running the ads by GCPE prior to their publication?

Please let me know who in GCPE HQ or your shop would be the best person to speak to and explain these ads need to have greater priority over others and a given a fixed/reliable publishing date once they are approved.

Perhaps it would be helpful for us to explained what legally mandated time periods, timelines and deadlines for the public review and comment for our Forest Stewardship Plan means and the significance?

Thanks for your help with this, Nigel.

This is quite disappointing as the ad request went in on March 4th and we are working with legally mandated time periods for the public review and comment for our Forest Stewardship Plan. If the April 6th deadline cannot be met, the publish dates should now be the weeks of April 11th and May 9th.

Please note that these emails have been sent in error to Judy Campbell - they should to be sent to Gail Campbell.

Hey Christi,

Here's what I have from the ad team:

"We are planning to book the ads for the week of April 11 and May 4, 2022. We will not make the deadline for April 6, 2022. Please confirm if that is okay to move forward with, as well as if I should send this request to both of you for sign-off?"

Are we ok with those dates?

Hi Nigel,

Unfortunately there is no option - the notice has to be published twice - and a month apart - so there's no avoiding the two fiscals.

And my apologies, there is one more change to the ad - the review and comment dates - I've updated the attached ad to reflect the new dates.

Thank you.

Understood, thanks Neil!

So can we say (Shane, please chime in if you have anything additional to add on suggested response):

- Below you can see a chart of herbicide application over the last 12 years.
- It can be noted that herbicide application actually was far higher in the 1980s and 90s than the high of 2010 seen in this chart.

2010	12816.6	6571.4	19,388

From Reporter: I'm doing some reporting and research for the BCWF. Could you dig up some top-level figures for me? I saw them once on or about October, 2020. I just need the total area sprayed with herbicides on regenerating forests as required to control competing species. Area sprayed each year since 2010 would be good as I believe that is the year that the total treated peaked.

We hope to issue a statement today, so I won't burden you with anything more. Thanks for your help.

Some additional bullets for your consideration (knowing that this note is getting really long)

- The use of herbicides does not eradicate broad leaf species from reforested areas nor is that the management objective.
- Reforested sites are not monocultures and will not become monocultures by the use of herbicides.

- Herbicide treatments are applied once or twice to an area to ensure successful reforestation; an area may not be treated again until it is harvested after a rotation period of 80+ years.

Hi Nigel,

As to the reporters questions generally, I would go with what we have in our info note:

- The effects of glyphosate on human health has been extensively reviewed by international regulatory agencies, including the Pest Management Regulatory Authority (PMRA) for Health Canada, with the conclusion generally being that exposure to glyphosate does not pose a carcinogenic or genotoxic risk to humans.

You can add that Roundup (glyphosate) is readily available for purchase at Canadian Tire and garden centers in BC and Canada for use by the general public because of that fact.

It is used because it has been found over decades of use to be the most effective at controlling vegetation while continuing to get approval for use by PMRA. As we have said many times, herbicides are a small part of the toolbox used in an Integrated Pest Management approach in BC to manage vegetation.

Request

From Reporter: I'm just looking to confirm a few things with you again regarding that matter.

Was the plan set to be accepted on April 1st? Has it been or has the public consultation period been extended?

Recommendation

Background

This is a follow-up to a media request from March 29, 2022.

REQUEST:

From Reporter: My name is Sarah and I work as a journalist with Radio-Canada.

I was wondering if I could have more information regarding the BC Timber Sales pest management plan?

When is the government expected to approve the plan? Were there any issues raised during the public consultation? Have First Nations been consulted?

There has also been an outcry from many organizations and people against this plan, mainly because glyphosate is not believed to be safe for people and biodiversity. Does the ministry have any comment on that matter? Why use this particular herbicide?

If I could have a statement from the ministry and some background info regarding that pest management plan before tomorrow, that would be ideal.

From Gagandeep: Several local residents have been calling and emailing us about the pest management plan and plans to spray herbicide in the area.

I notice that the Ministry has sent a response to Vancouver Sun, which was quoted in this story:
<https://vancouversun.com/news/b-c-government-urged-not-to-spray-herbicides-over-fears-they-will-contaminate-indigenous-food-source>

Can you please send me the response as well.

I also have some additional questions

1. When will the herbicide spraying begin ?
- 2, Will the ministry consider extending the deadline for consultation ?

RESPONSE:

Provided Background

- Any proposed use of herbicides in the reforestation process must be identified and approved by the Ministry of Environment and Climate Change Strategy.
- BC Timber Sales makes a concerted effort to avoid using herbicides, and have only utilized them in situations where other options have not been or may not be completely successful.
- The use of herbicides in B.C.'s forest sector has declined significantly in recent years as foresters use a variety of approaches to manage competing vegetation, including manual, mechanical, burning, biological and herbicides.
- This permit does not mean that application of herbicide will take place. It would simply allow for the planning around the use of the herbicide to begin at that time, with care taken around the protection of multiple resource values as outlined in the permit.

- If after monitoring growth performance it is felt that herbicides may be needed, a notice to apply would have to be consulted and published prior to the application of any herbicides.
- Notification must be consistent with the pest management permit, and could include requirements like posted notices (signs posted in advance of, or immediately following, specified pesticide applications), newspaper and/or radio broadcast notices, and direct notification of individuals, especially those who had been offered notification during the consultation process.
- The permit also outlines all the measures that BCTS will take to avoid and minimize the need to use herbicides. Herbicides are only sparingly used when all attempts to avoid the use of herbicides has not been successful
- The effects of glyphosate on human health has been extensively reviewed by international regulatory agencies, including Health Canada, with the conclusion generally being that exposure to glyphosate does not pose a carcinogenic or genotoxic risk to humans.
- Glyphosate remains an important tool for establishing conifer or conifer–deciduous mixed stands and ensuring future timber supply.

From Reporter: I'm working on a story for The Narwhal following up on the concerns that have been raised about BC Timber Sales pest management plan and in particular the use of glyphosate.

I wonder if you can provide a response to the following questions by Tuesday at noon?

- Has the proposed Integrated Pest Management Plan 2022-2027 for the Chinook Business area been approved?
- What opportunities were First Nations and the public given to provide input?
- The PMP doesn't identify specific locations where glyphosate may be used. What opportunities will First Nations and Indigenous Peoples have to comment on plans to spray specific areas that may affect their access to traditional foods? Where will those opportunities for comment be posted?
- In the legislature MLA Adam Olsen raised concerns that there had been inadequate consultation and reiterated calls for the consultation to be extended. His comments followed the release of the government's Declaration on the Rights on Indigenous Peoples action plan. Does Minister Conroy believe the consultation fulfilled the obligations of the declaration? Why is Minister Conroy unwilling to extend the consultation?
- Given the numerous concerns about Glyphosate, is the province considering a ban on the product? If not, why not?

Hi Nigel,

Here is the link to the 2017 decision which supersedes the 2015 decision which I can no longer access on the web. The 2017 one is adequate as it updates the 2015 work, and then of course was followed up by the 2019 statement from Health Canada.

Hope this helps.

See references below to the PMRA decisions on Glyphosate. I would have to look for the first two, but likely can find them on the internet.

Hey Everyone,

Apologies, once again I have another flurry of clarifications from the MO. I've put in what I understand the answers to be on some; please clarify/correct if you are able:

- The factsheet references consultations with 16 FNs but now we are talking about consultation with 72. Is the 16 not accurate?
 - There are 16 Nations, but outreach was sent out to 72 FN organizations, so there was some overlap.

- There is mention of info-sharing period and consultation period. Are these being used interchangeably? My read is that consultation involves two-way communication whereas info-sharing suggest more of a one way street so just want to clarify here.
 - Correct; info-sharing is sending information, whereas consultation involves dialogue with the FN.
- Are we correct to understand 34 FNs did not respond to request for consultation?
 - **????
- Were all 72 FNs called and emailed four times?
 - **????
- Which FN has stated objection to the PMP? Does this mean that the PMP will not apply to their territory?
 - **????
- Of the 34 where consultations advanced, what was the outcome? Did they approve of the PMP on the condition they were notified at the NIT stage?
 - **????

On a related note that requires clarification from program, I am pulling up a point removed from the March 29 version of the IN.

- The effects of glyphosate on human health has been extensively reviewed by international regulatory agencies, including Health Canada, with the conclusion generally being that exposure to glyphosate does not pose a carcinogenic or genotoxic risk to humans.

Are they able to point towards which reports? This is to help clarify a statement that MKC made in the house that an opposition member has called for a question of privilege on.

Understood, thank you Stacey. With everyone's input, do we have any concerns/edits for (and please confirm the highlighted):

- Has the proposed Integrated Pest Management Plan 2022-2027 for the Chinook Business area been approved?
 - BC Timber Sales - Chinook has not yet sent the Pest Management Plan (PMP) package to the Ministry of Environment and Climate Change Strategy for consideration and approval.
 - The Pest Management Plan is still in the proposal phase.
- What opportunities were First Nations and the public given to provide input?
 - Area First Nations were consulted during the drafting of this PMP; in 2021 for those Nations who chose to engage (16 Nations), there were meetings, field visits and further notification strategies developed for the Notice of Intent to Treat (NIT) stage. Public opportunity to provide input is ongoing.
 - It is also important to note that the BCTS PMP will not result in any herbicides being sprayed in the outlined area in 2022 by BCTS.

- The PMP doesn't identify specific locations where glyphosate may be used. What opportunities will First Nations and Indigenous Peoples have to comment on plans to spray specific areas that may affect their access to traditional foods? Where will those opportunities for comment be posted?

- A PMP does not outline specific treatment areas. Specific areas are identified in the NIT, which has not and may not occur. A PMP includes a map of the geographic area covered by the PMP.
- BCTS has committed to an NIT consultation process of 90 days.
- No application by BCTS will occur without further consultations with First Nations as outlined in the PMP, and no spraying at all will occur in this area by BCTS in 2022.

- In the legislature MLA Adam Olsen raised concerns that there had been inadequate consultation and reiterated calls for the consultation to be extended. His comments followed the release of the government's Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples action plan. Does Minister Conroy believe the consultation fulfilled the obligations of the declaration? Why is Minister Conroy unwilling to extend the consultation?

- Any extension to the consultation period would come from the Ministry of Environment and Climate Change Strategy.
- BC Timber Sales is following all the legal requirements for public input; it is up to the Ministry of Environment and Climate Change Strategy to determine during this proposal period if additional consultation time is required.

- Given the numerous concerns about Glyphosate, is the province considering a ban on the product? If not, why not?

I am always reluctant to respond to this publication. It just never seems to go well for us. Knowing this, I favour short responses to limit slicing and dicing potential...

I have attached the draft factsheet where many of the responses in red below came from. One change I have asked for in the factsheet is to make MOECSS more front and centre in terms of having jurisdiction over this process.

This is fairly specific information that needs to come from the business area

Even though I believe the Bcts business area worked closely with fn in preparing the plan and as per the Squamish nation news release the pmp outlines that specific block level consultation will occur if herbicides are deemed necessary together used

From Reporter: I'm working on a story for The Narwhal following up on the concerns that have been raised about BC Timber Sales pest management plan and in particular the use of glyphosate.

I wonder if you can provide a response to the following questions by Tuesday at noon?

- Has the proposed Integrated Pest Management Plan 2022-2027 for the Chinook Business area been approved? BCTS Chinook has not yet sent the PMP package to MOECCS for consideration.

- What opportunities were First Nations and the public given to provide input? First Nations were engaged in late 2021. For those Nations who chose to engage (16) there were meetings, field visits and further notification strategies developed for the Notice of Intent to Treat (NIT) stage.

- The PMP doesn't identify specific locations where glyphosate may be used. What opportunities will First Nations and Indigenous Peoples have to comment on plans to spray specific areas that may affect their access to traditional foods? Where will those opportunities for comment be posted?

A PMP does not outline specific treatment areas. Specific areas are identified in the NIT.

A PMP includes a map of the geographic area covered by the PMP. Future treatment areas, specific cut blocks or portions of cut blocks, are identified in the NIT process.

BCTS has committed to an NIT consultation process of 90 days.

BCTS Chinook is not spraying in 2022.

- In the legislature MLA Adam Olsen raised concerns that there had been inadequate consultation and reiterated calls for the consultation to be extended. His comments followed the release of the government's Declaration on the Rights on Indigenous Peoples action plan. Does Minister Conroy believe the consultation fulfilled the obligations of the declaration? Why is Minister Conroy unwilling to extend the consultation?

The Minister of Environment and Climate Change Strategy has jurisdiction over PMPs, not the Ministry of Forests.

- Given the numerous concerns about Glyphosate, is the province considering a ban on the product? If not, why not?
