Event Title: Release of the Climate Leadership Team's recommendations

Date: Friday, November 27, 2015 Time: 1pm (TBC)	Media Market: Gallery/provincial
Location: Area near Beacon Hill Children's Farm Circle Drive, Victoria	English Media Spokesperson: s.13 s.13 PS Jordan Sturdy, Environment Minister Mary Polak
	Multicultural Media Spokesperson: N/A

THE EVENT

PROACTIVE EVENT OR INVITATION

- GCPE-led event to announce the release of the Climate Leadership Team's recommendations for B.C.'s new climate action plan.

EVENT

- s.13 will announce the release of the Climate Leadership Team's (CLT) recommendations for the development of B.C.'s new Climate Leadership Plan (CLP).
- Parliamentary Secretary for Energy Literacy and the Environment for the Minister of Environment (and CLT chair) Jordan Sturdy to emcee the event.
- There will be s.13 who will also speak.
- The entire CLT will be invited.
- Environment Minister Mary Polak to be in attendance in a non-speaking role. Minister will be made available at the conclusion of the event for media interviews and speak to the impending trip to Paris for the UN climate change conference.
- A news release will be issued provincewide, also referencing the Paris conference.

GOVERNMENT OF BRITISH COLUMBIA FUNDING / PARTNER FUNDING (IF APPLICABLE):

- Government of B.C. funding.

WHO'S ORGANIZING?

- GCPE
- s.1
- CAS

STRATEGIC CONSIDERATIONS

- s.13 and Minister Polak leave for the climate change conference in Paris at the end of November.
- Potential issues: With this announcement so close to COP 21 and following Alberta's recent climate announcement, this might not satisfy appetite for climate action from the Province.

VENUE DESCRIPTION

- Outdoor at an area near Beacon Hill Children's Farm, with a podium:

EVENT PARTICIPANTS (SPEAKERS)

- s.13 Speaker
- Parliamentary Secretary, and Chair of the CLT, Jordan Sturdy – Emcee
- s.13
 - Nancy Olewiler, Professor, Simon Fraser University School of Public Policy, and member of the CLT – TBC Speaker
 - James Gorman, Vice President, Corporate and Government Relations, West Fraser Timber – TBC Speaker
- Environment Minister Mary Polak – Non-speaker

KEY VALIDATORS & STAKEHOLDERS

- CLT members in the audience (TBC).

TARGET AUDIENCE

- Media
- The public
- Stakeholders, including industry groups and ENGOS
- Local governments

WRITTEN MESSAGE(S)

DESIRED SOUNDBITE / KEY NEWS RELEASE SOUNDBITE

- I want to thank all the members of the Climate Leadership Team for their hard work, their dedication to this very important endeavour, and for the thoughtful, constructive recommendations they've put forward.
- In their report, the Climate Leadership Team recommended a wide range of actions for us to consider, including:
 - The need to set and maintain clear goals
 - To underpin those with regular monitoring of our progress
 - And a range of other actions that can bring down emissions in BC.
- They also highlighted the need to consider how the carbon tax could form a foundation for a successful plan.
- We are now going to carefully review the recommendations and, along with the feedback we received from the first public engagement, have them inform a draft Climate Leadership Plan.

KEY MESSAGES

- Over the past several months, the Climate Leadership Team developed a series of recommendations to move B.C.'s climate agenda forward, including the need to set and maintain clear climate action goals, and follow through with regular monitoring and reporting out on progress. The team also recommended a variety of actions to lower GHG emissions throughout the province, while keeping a balance between economic and environmental objectives.
- Building on our global climate leadership, B.C. is developing a new Climate Leadership Plan to move our climate agenda forward.
- The draft Climate Leadership Plan will seek input on specific policies and actions regarding climate change. The final plan is expected to be released in the spring of 2016.
- We want to hear from you before government makes decisions on next steps. We're asking you to join in this next phase, by reviewing this draft plan, and participating in the engagement process through the dedicated website:
<http://engage.gov.bc.ca/climateleadership>.

Alexis has reached out to the CLT members to ask about their availability for a Friday afternoon CLT event. I have also reached out specifically to James Gorman regarding his availability and willingness to say a few words.

We will update you once we have their responses.

If you would share any details of the event, as the information unfolds, that would be appreciated.

Hi Kim,

1. Nancy and Tzeborah are good. We can invite. We will also check Merran's availability. David Collier was not a member of the CLT. If you want industry representation you can choose between David Keane and James Gorman.

2. The guest list looks good except for the advisors. Recommend not including them as they were not actively engaged in the work.

3. We will review the CLT doc and get back to you.

- David Collyer – Is he a member of the CLT now??

Is someone from CAS please able to reach out to them and seek their availability/interest?

Subject:new approach

Hi Dave,

We are looking at separating the CLT recommendations / NR from the posting of Consult Phase 1 results. This would mean going with;

Fri – NR to announce CLT and posting doc on website (as it's from independent team, separate to govt)

Next week (Wed?) – posting consult 1 survey results (no announcement, or maybe just a bulletin)

Then followed by bigger announcement re consult phase 2/ framework for CLP plan mid dec as planned.

What do you think? Do you see any issue? I have an older copy of NR and I don't think it mentioned Consult Phase 1 results.

However, would mean adjusting web copy/pages for Friday.

Let us know, thanks

NEWS RELEASE

For Immediate Release
[release number]
Nov. 27, 2015

Ministry of Environment

Climate Leadership Team Report Released Province to begin public consultations in January 2016

VICTORIA –Environment Minister Mary Polak today announced next steps towards developing a Climate Leadership Plan by Spring 2016, as she marked the release of the Climate Leadership Team’s recommendations for the B.C. government’s new Climate Leadership Plan.

British Columbia is recognized as a world leader in the fight against climate change, while growing a strong economy:

- First jurisdiction in North America to introduce a broad-based, revenue-neutral carbon tax, with a price on carbon of $30/tonne.
- Clean electricity supply through hydro-electric power and renewables. B.C.’s electricity supply was 97.9% clean for the year ending March 31st, 2015.
- First jurisdiction in North America to achieve a carbon-neutral public sector.

With other jurisdictions moving towards B.C.’s price on carbon and climate action, the Climate Leadership Team developed 32 recommendations for consideration by the provincial government to move B.C.’s climate agenda forward to achieve 2050 targets. The recommendations largely address two areas.

Carbon Pricing:

CLT Recommendation: The CLT recommends that B.C. builds on the success of the carbon tax by establishing a new, innovative fiscal policy that helps mitigate impacts on emission-intensive, trade-exposed sectors while putting a higher price on pollution.

Government response: The provincial government has frozen the current $30/per tonne carbon tax until 2018 in order to allow other jurisdictions to catch up to British Columbia. The province would only consider an increase in the carbon tax under a regime where emission-intensive, trade-exposed industries are fully protected from any carbon tax increase.

In January 2016, British Columbia will begin consultations with industry and the public to consider new fiscal policies that would maintain the principle of revenue-neutrality, ensure the affordability of British Columbia families, fully protect our emission-intensive, trade-exposed sectors and maintain the competitiveness of BC businesses.

“I want to thank the members of the Climate Leadership Team who were tasked with an important and challenging job, to consider a broad range of actions across our province’s industrial, transportation and building sectors, helping us move our climate agenda forward,” said Premier Christy Clark.

“The team has now delivered a thoughtful report full of innovative approaches that respects the need to protect industry competitiveness and family affordability,” said Minister Mary Polak. “We will now work diligently with all stakeholders, and all British Columbians to build our new climate plan.”

Taking Actions to Reduce Emissions:

CLT recommendation: The CLT recommends a 2030 target to reduce emissions across three broad sectors: Built Environment, Industry and Transportation by 40%, compared to 2007.

Government response: The province commits to a detailed review and analysis of the CLT’s recommendations as well as other actions to develop a robust plan to establish and achieve emissions reductions across the three broad sectors identified by the Team.

Additionally, government re-affirms B.C.’s commitment to achieve the 2050 targets and will establish periodic reviews of the government’s progress on meeting its targets.

Earlier this year, the Climate Leadership Team, consisting of leaders from the business, academic and environmental communities, as well as First Nations and local governments, was appointed by Premier Clark to review options for economic development and greenhouse-gas emissions reductions, and also make recommendations for government’s new Climate Leadership Plan.

The Climate Leadership Plan, which will help the province remain a global climate action leader and reduce GHG emissions, is being developed through the advice of this strong team of experts and public consultation.

Government is reviewing the Climate Leadership Team’s recommendations, and in January 2016, will begin a public consultation process to engage the public in the development of the next phase of our provincial climate plan.

BACKGROUNDER 1

Development of British Columbia's Climate Leadership Plan

May, 2015 – Premier Christy Clark appoints the Climate Leadership Team, made up of leaders from B.C. businesses, communities, First Nations, academia and the environmental sector, to provide advice and recommendations to government for its new Climate Leadership Plan.

July, 2015 - British Columbians are invited to review and comment on a newly released discussion paper that considers the ideas, values and priorities they want to see in a new Climate Leadership Plan. The 30-day public engagement period is extended into September for those wishing to provide written submissions. In addition to 5,973 completed surveys, government also received over 200 detailed written submissions and more than 300 template letters.

November, 2015 – The Climate Leadership Team submits its report to government, consisting of 32 recommendations for advancing B.C.'s climate leadership.

January, 2016 – The province will begin a public consultation process to engage the public in the development of the next phase of our provincial climate plan.

Spring 2016 – Government's new Climate Leadership Plan will be released, laying out a path for British Columbia to achieve targets for greenhouse gas reductions while growing a strong economy.

Climate Leadership Team Recommendations

On May 12, 2015, Premier Christy Clark appointed the Climate Leadership Team, consisting of leaders from B.C. businesses, communities, First Nations, academia and the environmental sector, to provide advice and recommendations to government for its new Climate Leadership Plan.

Since then the Team met nine times in person, as well as on several occasions through teleconference.

The Team's report consists of 32 recommendations touching several areas including:

- GHG reduction targets, including setting a legislated target for 2030 of 40 per cent GHG reduction from 2007 levels, and reaffirming B.C.'s commitment to the 2050 target of 80 per cent GHG reduction from 2007 levels.
- Fiscal policy, including addressing B.C.'s carbon tax to ensure a fiscal policy to mitigate impacts on emission-intensive, trade-exposed sectors must be in place before increasing the carbon tax.
- Industry Policy in areas including emerging economic opportunities, environmental assessment, electricity, natural gas and LNG, forestry and agriculture.
- Transportation, including low carbon fuels and zero-emission vehicles.
- Buildings, including various measures to reduce GHG emissions.
- Communities, including reducing GHGs from waste and landfills, as well as adapting to climate change.
- First Nations, including ensuring adequate access to climate solutions.
- Offsets, including a review of the province's current offset policy.
- Intergovernmental relations, including ideas to ensure alignment and parity with climate actions in different jurisdictions.
- Periodic review, to ensure momentum and commitment to climate action is maintained.

The complete report from the Climate Leadership Team can be viewed at http://engage.gov.bc.ca/climateleadership/files/2015/11/CLT-recommendations-to-government_Nov26Final.pdf

BACKGROUNDER 3

A history of climate leadership in British Columbia

- Since the introduction of our Climate Action Plan in 2008, B.C. has been recognized as a world leader in the fight against climate change, while growing a strong economy. B.C. was the first jurisdiction in North America to introduce a broad-based, revenue-neutral carbon tax, and to have a carbon-neutral public sector.
- The Clean Energy Act was enacted in 2010, setting out 16 energy objectives including conservation, and greenhouse gas reduction.
- The Act commits BC to having at least 93% of electricity generated from clean or renewable resources. In fact, B.C.'s electricity supply was 97.9% clean for the year ended March 31st, 2015 with 25% coming from private renewables.
- We have shown we can reduce GHG emissions while continuing to grow the economy. In June 2014, we announced that B.C. had reached its first interim GHG emissions reduction target of 6 per cent below 2007 levels by 2012.

Recent, new climate actions

- Re-joining of the Climate Group States and Regions Alliance [November 2015]
- Renewed Clean Energy Vehicle Program [March 2015]
- Carbon Neutral Capital Program for K-to-12 schools was expanded to include health authorities and public post-secondary institutions [March 2014]
- $1.24 million over three years to support local government and First Nations energy capital projects and energy-efficiency improvements [April 2015]
- Expanded utility energy-efficiency programs and support for energy retrofits in low-income households [July 2014]
- New energy-efficiency provisions under the B.C. Building Code [December 2013 and 2014]
- Through the Pacific Coast Collaborative, B.C.'s leading low carbon fuel standards will be the standard for other jurisdictions to match. (2013)

- Working through other important international partnerships like the World Bank Carbon Pricing Leadership Coalition [February 2015] and Compact of States and Regions [December 2014] to encourage other jurisdictions to follow B.C.'s lead on carbon pricing

Carbon pricing across jurisdictions

Putting a price on carbon allows jurisdictions to reduce their greenhouse gas (GHG) emissions at the lowest cost to the economy. Pricing carbon creates a market based incentive for individuals, businesses and the public sector to reduce their GHG emissions, stimulate the green economy, and provide new sources of government revenue.

British Columbia's carbon tax

- B.C. has North America's first and still most comprehensive carbon tax that ensures B.C. industries remain competitive relative to other jurisdictions in the world.
- Every dollar generated by the carbon tax is returned to British Columbians through reductions in other taxes. In fact, for 2015/16, the reduction in provincial revenue is forecasted to exceed carbon tax revenues by $360 million.
- In a December 2014 speech, World Bank President Jim Yong Kim praised B.C.'s carbon tax as "one of the most powerful" examples of carbon pricing.
- Whether at the national or sub-national level, B.C. continues to encourage other governments to take action to combat climate change – to meet or beat our carbon tax.

How does B.C.'s carbon tax compare?

- Carbon prices globally vary widely. Even with these differences considered, B.C.'s carbon tax is among the highest in the world.

For a graphic comparing carbon taxes around the world, please visit: <http://ow.ly/V9O2m>

How and where is carbon priced?

- The World Bank reports that more than 40 countries and more than 20 cities, states and provinces use carbon pricing mechanisms or are planning to implement them.
- There are two main mechanisms to price carbon: through a carbon tax; or through a cap-and-trade system, also known as an emissions trading system (ETS).
- There are currently 17 emissions trading systems operating around the world, incorporating 35 countries, 12 states and provinces, and 7 cities.
- 19 jurisdictions have implemented a carbon tax, ranging from US $130 per tonne of CO₂ equivalent emissions, to less than US $1 per tonne.

- Out of this total, 12 jurisdictions have implemented (or are scheduled to implement) both a carbon tax and an ETS.

If we are to move ahead, they require a filled out print requisition:

They also need the final document by tomorrow morning.

Please let me know at your earliest convenience what the thinking is from CAS. Otherwise, we will print to document here with a simple staple in the top left corner.

Please find attached the revised document. This is in Word format, so feel free to edit as you see fit.

I'm connecting with Jenna from Queen's Printer for a quote on a saddle stitched print run and to see if this is even possible to print in time.

Would 25 copies be appropriate (a dozen for media and then if CAS would like a few hard copies)?

Hi Kim,

Initial feedback below. When do you need to send to printers?

We are waiting to hear back from SLC and Dan J from their review.

Also have you had a chance to review for errors/edits? I could try to find someone to do one last check on that if needed.

- List participants alphabetically (Chair excluded) per Dan's suggestion.
- I wouldn't bold Leadership (not bold in Discussion Paper) – but if others prefer it, not a big deal.
- Need to fix blue lines on bottom of page – either make it part of footer for all. Or get rid of them.
- Pg 15, add period after ...five years thereafter).
- Appendix – suggest cover page saying:
Summary of Navius Modelling Results

*Navius Research Inc.
Vancouver, B.C.*

Then next page start with Carbon tax revenue forecast as subhead

- Need Blank Back page or with same logo as in front

Folks - ok, here's the plan. We'll release the CLT recommendations tomorrow via news release, and then MMP will do a media availability with the press gallery at the leg. Times are still being sorted out, but it looks like a noonish NR, with the media avail a half hour after that.

Pls let the CLT members who were going to come to the event know that that is no longer necessary. You can tell them the recs are being released, just that there's no event.

NEWS RELEASE
Climate Leadership Team Report released
Province to begin public consultations in January 2016

VICTORIA - Environment Minister Mary Polak today announced next steps towards developing a Climate Leadership Plan by spring 2016, as she marked the release of the Climate Leadership Team's recommendations for the B.C. government's new Climate Leadership Plan.

British Columbia is recognized as a world leader in the fight against climate change, while growing a strong economy:

- * First jurisdiction in North America to introduce a broad-based, revenue-neutral carbon tax, with a price on carbon of $30/tonne.

- * Clean electricity supply through hydro-electric power and renewables. B.C.'s electricity supply was 97.9% clean for the year ending Mar. 31, 2015.

- * First jurisdiction in North America to achieve a carbon-neutral public sector.

With other jurisdictions moving towards B.C.'s price on carbon and climate action, the Climate Leadership Team developed 32 recommendations for consideration by the provincial government to move B.C.'s climate agenda forward to achieve 2050 targets.

The recommendations largely address two areas.

Carbon Pricing:

CLT Recommendation: The CLT recommends that B.C. builds on the success of the carbon tax by establishing a new, innovative fiscal policy that helps mitigate impacts on emission-intensive, trade-exposed sectors while putting a higher price on pollution.

Government response: The provincial government has frozen the current $30/per tonne carbon tax until 2018 in order to allow other jurisdictions to catch up to British Columbia. The province would only consider an increase in the carbon tax under a regime where emission-intensive, trade-exposed industries are fully protected from any carbon tax increase.

In January 2016, British Columbia will begin consultations with industry and the public to consider new fiscal policies that would maintain the principle of revenue-neutrality, ensure the affordability of British Columbia families, fully protect our emission-intensive, trade-exposed sectors and maintain the competitiveness of BC businesses.

"I want to thank the members of the Climate Leadership Team who were tasked with an important and challenging job, to consider a broad range of actions across our province's industrial, transportation and building sectors, helping us move our climate agenda forward," said Premier Christy Clark.

"The team has now delivered a thoughtful report full of innovative approaches that respects the need to protect industry competitiveness and family affordability," said Polak. "We will now work diligently with all stakeholders, and all British Columbians to build our new climate plan."

Taking Actions to Reduce Emissions:

CLT recommendation: The CLT recommends a 2030 target to reduce emissions across three broad sectors: Built Environment, Industry and Transportation by 40%, compared to 2007.

Government response: The province commits to a detailed review and analysis of the CLT's recommendations as well as other actions to develop a robust plan to establish and achieve emissions reductions across the three broad sectors identified by the Team.

Additionally, government re-affirms B.C.'s commitment to achieve the 2050 targets and will establish periodic reviews of the government's progress on meeting its targets.

Earlier this year, the Climate Leadership Team, consisting of leaders from the business, academic and environmental communities, as well as First Nations and local governments, was appointed by Premier Clark to review options for economic development and greenhouse-gas emissions reductions, and also make recommendations for government's new Climate Leadership Plan.

The Climate Leadership Plan, which will help the province remain a global climate action leader and reduce greenhouse-gas emissions, is being developed through the advice of this strong team of experts and public consultation.

Government is reviewing the Climate Leadership Team's recommendations, and in January 2016, will begin a public consultation process to engage the public in the development of the next phase of our provincial climate plan.

BACKGROUNDER

Development of British Columbia's Climate Leadership Plan

May 2015 - Premier Christy Clark appoints the Climate Leadership Team, made up of leaders from B.C. businesses, communities, First Nations, academia and the environmental sector, to provide advice and recommendations to government for its new Climate Leadership Plan.

July 2015 - British Columbians are invited to review and comment on a newly released discussion paper that considers the ideas, values and priorities they want to see in a new Climate Leadership Plan. The 30-day public engagement period is extended into September for those wishing to provide written submissions. In addition to 5,973 completed surveys, government also received over 200 detailed written submissions and more than 300 template letters.

November 2015 - The Climate Leadership Team submits its report to government, consisting of 32 recommendations for advancing B.C.'s climate leadership.

January 2016 - The Province will begin a public consultation process to engage the public in the development of the next phase of our provincial climate plan.

Spring 2016 - Government's new Climate Leadership Plan will be released, laying out a path for British Columbia to achieve targets for greenhouse gas reductions while growing a strong economy.

1. Nancy and Tzeporah are good. We can invite. We will also check Merran's availability. David Collier was not a member of the CLT. If you want industry representation you can choose between David Keane and James Gorman.
2. The guest list looks good except for the advisors. Recommend not including them as they were not actively engaged in the work.
3. We will review the CLT doc and get back to you.

Hi Kim,

Do you need anything further from us with respect to EP. I can follow up with Tim if so .

Also, we were trying to get away from s.13

s.13 with The Climate Leadership Plan underscoring title. Not sure if this will hold tho....

Subject: FOR ASAP APPROVAL - EP - CLT EVENT

Hi Theresa, Tim,

1. Please find attached the event proposal for Friday's CLT event.

Minister has asked for three CLT validators to speak:

- Nancy Olewiler
- Tzeporah Berman OR Merran Smith (not both)
- David Collyer – Is he a member of the CLT now??

Is someone from CAS please able to reach out to them and seek their availability/interest?

2. Also attached is the guest list template. This is based off the previous event to include CLT members. Please review and update as necessary.

We need to get these over to the MO and our event coordinator as soon as we can.

3. CLT Recommendations doc: Feel free to give me a shout, Theresa re: getting that to the printer (not sure where that's at).

Thanks!

Kim

There are a few holes I have raised for CAS (primarily validators). Tim said more thought will need to be put into CLT member attendance etc after the meetings this week.

A few things for today:

How is the guest list coming along? I'm hoping we will have a venue finalized today so i can send invites tomorrow. Beacon Hill is still the plan as far as I know.

Please let me know as soon as you have the names of the validators who will be speaking and I will update the itinerary.

Is anyone from your shop attending on Friday? If so, please let me know who and if they are able to come a bit early to help direct people to the site.

Thanks,
Michelle

Hi Dave and Kim,

I headed up comms for Clean Energy Canada for many years and now provide support for a range of companies and organizations active on energy and climate, including my former employer.

I am supporting the BC Sustainable Energy Association, and Climate Smart, a social enterprise that helps companies track, measure, and reduce their carbon emissions. Both will be responding to the CLP and offering their perspective to media.

I'm hoping I can get them into the presser. I'd like to attend myself, but I'm not sure I can get over there.

If this is ok, the names are:

- Ali Grovue, Executive Director, BCSEA
- Tom Hackney, Policy Director, BCSEA
- Elizabeth Sheehan, President, Climate Smart

Also would love the details on where and when. Thanks much.

Hi Kim

I'm just following up on our call re last minute change on page 35 of doc– there are 2 small changes.

Add “ed” into title and word “policy” in first line:

Summary of forecasted fiscal impacts

The estimated fiscal impacts are based on the policy assumptions used in this Navius modelling...

Thanks so much Kim and sorry for last minute change.

If it's been printed, can we print another 50? Thx again, and let me know.

I owe you --- a cold beer or wine for sure!!!

Just missing an "a" in curtain.

And a . after the C in B.C.

We can either ask editors to flip out to the Press Gallery distribution list... (I think there may be more folks on editor list than mine)

Or I can flip to my personal Press Gallery list which is attached (these are the "usual" suspects in the hallways).

Hi Kimberley,

I've booked the Reception Hall but want to give you the heads up that there will be Christmas decorations in the Reception Hall by then. They include ribbon/garlands that are hung from the top of the columns and come down but hang well above people height. There are also two artificial decorated Christmas trees, one on each side of the Queen's portrait area (out of the podium shot but still a big presence in the room. Do you foresee any issues?

Good morning,

I have an update to last Friday's Climate Leadership Plan story:
<https://news.gov.bc.ca/releases/2015ENV0074-001983>

The link to view the Climate Leadership Team's recommendations (found near the bottom of the NR and in the second backgrounder) has been updated.

This is the new link: http://engage.gov.bc.ca/climateleadership/files/2015/11/CLT-recommendations-to-government_Final.pdf

If this could please be updated at some point today, that'd be greatly appreciated.

Good afternoon David,

We are working on confirming CLT members for Friday's announcement, currently Tom Pedersen, Ian Campbell and Zach Parker have said they are available.

As below, after providing more details Tom Pedersen wants to see an advanced copy of the announcement before he can confirm his attendance. Matt Horne is unable to attend but is also looking for more details on the announcement.

Tim has forwarded a copy of the CLT Recommendations and is happy to connect with Tom tomorrow?

Thank you,

Beverley

Tom,

Thanks for confirming your availability.

The Friday event is now confirmed as a public announcement of CLT recommendations by the Premier. The announcement will take place in Beacon Hill Park at 1:30 p.m. We are asking CLT members to meet with Tim Lesiuk outside the Beacon Hill Children's Farm at 12:30 p.m.

As you may be called upon to share remarks about the recommendations, we ask that you have talking points prepared accordingly.

As per usual, any travel expenses related to this announcement can be claimed after the event.

Should you have any questions or concerns, please let me know.

Thank you,
Alexis
