Yeah, I briefly texted with George and ended up telling him no because there's too much on today already. He hasn't replied to my final NO, so I think it's back to tomorrow.

- Lede is expanded to land, coast and waters.
- New quote to complete the thought process in Minister's first quote
- All reference to point 5 is now deleted.

From my perspective, the first quote seems incomplete. We need to add something following "potential spills"
My proposed revision is below:

"We understand the personal connection British Columbians have with our environment and how passionate we all are in making sure it is not put at undue risk from potential spills, and that's why we are asking BC residents for their ideas and suggestions," said George Heyman, Minister of Environment and Climate Change Strategy.

Hi all,

The latest draft of tomorrow's NR is attached. This includes the following changes:

- New lede, a little more on message
- First quote moved up
- Second quote changed first by Caelie then by me
- AG nuances
- Note also that the use of "intentions" paper is gone altogether. With all the changes, it had been relegated to para 5 and, even then, wasn't really defined. So Crebo and I agreed to take it out.

Comments gratefully accepted.

Suggesting we spell out B.C. in first reference, highlighted above.

NEWS RELEASE

B.C. government moves forward on action to protect coast

VICTORIA - The provincial government will be moving forward with consultation around four bitumen-spill safeguards, while referring to the courts the outstanding issue around B.C.'s right to restrict additional bitumen flows and to protect B.C.'s coast, Premier John Horgan announced today.

"We believe it is our right to take appropriate measures to protect our environment, economy and our coast from the drastic consequence of a diluted bitumen spill," Premier Horgan said. "And we are prepared to confirm that right in the courts."

Premier Horgan said that his government has retained expert legal counsel to ready the reference to the courts, adding that it may take several weeks to bring the reference forward. It will centre around B.C.'s position that it has the right to restrict additional bitumen flows, pending further scientific study on oil spill response.

Premier Horgan said that this safeguard has generated disproportionate and unlawful reactions from the Alberta government, specifically its decision to ban the import of wines from British Columbia.

"The actions by the Alberta government threaten an entire industry and the livelihoods of people who depend on it," Premier Horgan said. "We have taken steps to protect our wine industry from the unwarranted trade action by the Government of Alberta.

"It's not about politics. It's not about trade. It's about British Columbians' right to have their voices heard on this critical issue," Premier Horgan said. "And it's about B.C.'s right to defend itself against actions that may threaten our people, our province and our future."

Premier Horgan added that consultations will begin soon on the remaining four safeguards announced in January 2018 by Environment and Climate Change Minister George Heyman. These safeguards include:

- * Spill response time
- * Geographic response plans
- * Compensation for loss of public and cultural use of land
- * Application of regulations to marine spills

Question- can we also include the notes and KMs prepared by Matt's shop (aka Tim)? Sage you may want to finesse in light of final script alignment.

Hi Robb,

Yay for cabinet!

Joleen, Sage and I sat down about the Canucks event on Monday to discuss. I've cut and pasted what we agreed on below. I haven't heard about the video or the players meet and greet but I don't see that being a problem. I'll double check with PJH.

One question for you. I've heard that we still want to record a video with PJH tomorrow. Amber is working hard to find a time but as you can imagine it's tough. Right now we have it at 5:30.

On concourse – pregame or intermission (YES)

Premier, Minister Darcy and Kirk McLean stand at display on concourse, hand out materials and talk to people
Of course there are risks of having him in this setting (very open to the public, the longer the game goes on, the more likely we are to get some rowdy fans, etc).

In arena only media – Intermission (YES)

Premier does in game interview

This will be an interview with one of the Canucks game hosts, broadcast live in-arena. We can work with the Canucks on locations, it will be somewhere in the arena, could see if we can set up a spot in front of the campaign ads.

We can script the questions ahead of time.

Options (OPTION 2 CHOSEN)

1. this can be one on one, or Premier and Minister
2. Panel – we could set this up as a panel with Kirk McLean, Premier and Minister all sitting at a table with one of the Canucks game hosts, similar to the hockey panels you'd see on tv talking about the game. I think this would be a really cool setup.

In arena and broadcast media – intermission (YES TO ALL OF THE BELOW)

Interview on Sportsnet with Dan Murphy (broadcast on TV, not just in arena)

Radio interview with John Shorthouse (he calls the Canucks games)

These would both be kind of cool things to do, have good reach in terms of audience and they're things I think the Premier would enjoy doing.

Media avail (NO)

The Canucks have offered to also have Kirk McLean join for a full media avail if it's determined that we want to do one. Timing on this is optional, but I would expect before/at the start of the game is best.

Hi Kate,

- Confirming cabinet for the 22nd, in case you haven't heard already.
- Digging into details on the somewhat nebulous "pre-event" on the Canucks day. My understanding is they'd like the premier early for some video thing and also to go to meet the players in the dressing room. I'm sure he'll love the latter but I just want to make sure there's nothing wonky in there. Unless you already know it's okay.

Hiya,

I thought this was great. I must admit I saw the first Summary page thingy and saw the reference to 5 minutes s.22
But then I realized it must be a holdover from a previous template.

I think this is great. It's hard to flip the channel from budget to wine but I thought it works well. The only thing I would add is on the para about bullying... I'd just change the end of that para to "...economy, environment and coast". I don't think you'd otherwise mentioned the coast.

Hi all,

Here's what I'm proposing for the research plan we discussed today:

- We start with quantitative: Fairly large sample size to accommodate some oversampling in key areas; gets us a firm take on the key issues/arguments.
- Phone survey: I'd like a more random take on this particular issue and don't want to use self-selected panels who already have a more keen interest in this topic.
- The downside of phone is that it adds to the turnaround time, but we'll do partial marginals during the run to iteratively track the results.
- Then combine the results with the progress on the policy side, put together a draft complan (based on the selected path).
- Take the key elements of the complan to focus groups to get reaction and refine.

Thoughts?

Tks,

Robb

Subject: Survey additions

Hey Mario,

Additions List

At the Front End:

1. Right track/wrong direction (by the way, any survey we do with you should have this)
2. Ranking issues (we would like to see where environment/climate and Kinder Morgan pipeline fall in the scheme of things). If you don't already have a list, use:
  - Helping make life more affordable
  - Making housing more affordable
  - Cutting pollution and protecting the environment
  - Improving health care in your community
  - Providing more teachers, support staff and resources in BC classrooms
  - Bringing down tuition fees for post-secondary students
  - Protecting the coast by stopping Kinder Morgan's expansion of oil pipelines
  - Investing in transit
  - Increasing support for seniors in care centres
  - Making child care more affordable and available

After the KM section, let's move to LNG questions:

- Something like: Some say it's okay for BC to allow LNG development if government puts a strong climate change plan in place first to protect our environment. Others say LNG development should not be allowed under any circumstances. Which is closer to your view?
- BC has the second largest natural gas reserves in Canada. LNG Canada has ambitious plans to make a $40 billion private sector investment in Kitimat to process and ship LNG to Asian markets. Support/Oppose
- LNG Canada's plans to process and ship LNG to Asian markets has the support of the community of Kitimat and the Haisla First Nation. Does this change your support/opposition?
- When it comes to any potential processing of LNG in British Columbia, how important is First Nations support or opposition to your support or opposition? (you'll have to clean this one up a bit for sure).

Hi Robb,

Great chatting with you yesterday.
Here are some preliminary ideas for the research you need.

We have tracking data in Support / Opposition to Trans Mountain going back to 2013.
<https://insightswest.com/news/british-columbians-still-divided-over-pipeline-expansion/>
I suggest keeping the wording the same on the first three questions (Support / Oppose the project, Benefits and Concerns).
That gives us an opportunity to see if the needle moved since September.

I suggest adding the following questions:

- Support / Opposition to BC Gov't decision to study bitumen more.
- Justified / Unjustified on AB Gov't decision to ban BC wine.
- Agree / Disagree with the way BC Gov't has handled the issue since the AB Gov't decision to ban BC wine.
- Should / Should not BC Gov't retract the study in order to get BC wine sales up.

- Would you / Would you not drink more BC wine as a result of the dispute. Thankfully, we have tracking data on wine consumption as well.
<https://insightswest.com/news/more-wine-drinkers-in-british-columbia-enjoying-local-varietals/>
- Some message testing, looking into issues such as environmental stewardship, risks to British Columbia if pipeline goes through, and “share of profits” to BC.

Anything else I’m missing? We’re ready to roll tomorrow morning, once we nail down a questionnaire. Let me know what you think.

Thanks!

Hi Robb.

As discussed, following is a summary of what yourself, Evan, and I discussed. This will essentially be our brief to the creative teams (I have 2 on this end already starting), so please course-correct, chime in:

Background:

- Off the back of BC's recent decision to limit the flow of bitumen to the BC coast from Alberta until we've had a chance to better study the potential environment hazard, the Alberta gov't has reacted on Tuesday by announcing the AGLC "will put an immediate halt to the import of BC wine to Alberta. This is one good step to waking BC up to the fact they can't attack our industry without a response from us. This action will harm the BC wine industry & I wish it didn't have to be this way. ...We don't take this lightly." @rachelnotley
- Albertan's are a large buyer of BC wine: in 2017 that roughly amounted to $70 million paid to BC wineries ... 17.2 million bottles of wine (1.4 million cases)
- Instead of getting into a tit-for-tat trade war, Premier Horgan has responded by refusing to retaliate to the BC wine ban: "It's not the government's intention to respond in any way to the provocation."
- Rather, the gov't will focus on supporting the BC Wine industry and encourage the people of BC (and beyond) to stand up for the industry by buying BC wine and celebrating all that is good about BC's amazing wineries.

Objective:

Primary objective is to get the people of BC raising a glass (or 2) of BC wine in solidarity for the wine industry:

- Choose to buy BC wine in the coming days/weeks/months
- Celebrate your favourite BC winery and share via social media

Target:

- British Columbians 19+
- Other Canadians and beyond
- BC wine industry (and small business) – ie. so they hear our support (and the BC gov't support, in turn)

Key Message:

- BC wine industry needs your support, so choose to drink BC wine
- Share via social media using #toastthecoast
- Go to website: toastthecoast.ca (TBC) to find out more

Tone:

- Celebratory
- Clever/subtle
- Not about a backlash to Kinder Morgan / oil industry / Alberta

Why should they believe us:

- BC wineries are world renowned (one of the best wine regions in the world) ... so it's a great time to celebrate all thing BC Wine
- Alberta consumed upwards of 25% of BC wine, so with this boycott, we need to step up to fill the void
- Opportunity to take advantage of the added fixation on the "war of rosé" to let the rest of Canada and beyond know how great the BC Wine industry is – and to get new brand believers under the tent.

Deliverables:

- Full page black and white ad: Province, Van Sun, Globe, Post, and potentially Seattle Times

Hey,

Here's our thoughts based on your thoughts. Do with as you will. This is NOT prescriptive. In other words, change the type of question, change the wording. You guys are the experts. This is just a guide to our thoughts. I think the hardest part is the Alberta thing, so I put in a question about trade action changing support/opposition. Don't know if it works or not.

Hi Robb,

Great chatting with you yesterday.
Here are some preliminary ideas for the research you need.

We have tracking data in Support / Opposition to Trans Mountain going back to 2013.
<https://insightswest.com/news/british-columbians-still-divided-over-pipeline-expansion/>
I suggest keeping the wording the same on the first three questions (Support / Oppose the project, Benefits and Concerns).
That gives us an opportunity to see if the needle moved since September.

I suggest adding the following questions:

- Support / Opposition to BC Gov't decision to study bitumen more.
- Justified / Unjustified on AB Gov't decision to ban BC wine.
- Agree / Disagree with the way BC Gov't has handled the issue since the AB Gov't decision to ban BC wine.
- Should / Should not BC Gov't retract the study in order to get BC wine sales up.
- Would you / Would you not drink more BC wine as a result of the dispute. Thankfully, we have tracking data on wine consumption as well.
<https://insightswest.com/news/more-wine-drinkers-in-british-columbia-enjoying-local-varietals/>
- Some message testing, looking into issues such as environmental stewardship, risks to British Columbia if pipeline goes through, and "share of profits" to BC.

Anything else I'm missing? We're ready to roll tomorrow morning, once we nail down a questionnaire.
Let me know what you think.

Thanks!

Hi Jas,

I'm going later to see the current state of the budget document. But I've been probing specifically around Health, and I'm hearing it's possibly underwhelming. I had wanted a highlight box around Pharma for example, but I think the document is getting pretty closed to locked (note: I was told it wasn't to be finalized till next Wednesday, but now I'm told it's tomorrow). Do you know what your ministry put forward on Budget? Does your minister?

Yeah, well, here's the thing. I'm really curious as to what the budget and, more to the point, the budget speech says on health. We're holding pharma from Throne to highlight in Budget. I have seen the chart from Health on the gap between prescriptions issued and prescriptions filled for the $15-30,000 household income cohort. And so I thought that would be the start of a great topic box.

That said, I just finished Throne stuff and am now dedicated to BC wine, so I have zero time to put anything together. You didn't get anything from Health?

A couple things on housing:

I expect FIN will not want us to say 19,000 units in the throne speech. Can we just say “thousands more units” and let them knock it out of the park the following week?

Also, in the stories about people at the front end, I like my original words a bit better (some formal language crept in) and I'd like to make some tweaks in those places. I don't think this will change any substance so assume I can go ahead.

Hi all,

We have been thrown a curveball, as you may have seen, by QP. They are insisting on final product re your respective plans by 8:30 Tuesday.

So here's the new plan which I'm hoping you will all be okay with:

- For Budget Day, we will do a very simple laid-out version of the plans. In the old days, they would have called it desktop published. No imagery to speak of, no graphics, etc. Basically, it's a hyped up Word document. This will allow us to produce both plans on time for QP.
- Then we begin immediate work on designed versions of each plan for bigger printing. These will be ready for the three-week break when ministers begin hitting the road.

Unless I hear otherwise, this is the approach we're now taking.<sup>s.13</sup>

Hi all,

I've made a change to the lede (with a small resulting change later on). This is a big big move and I'd love it if it could be seen less as we're doing legislation to make it happen (which is passive) and more about we've reached a deal with Airbnb (active). This government CAN work with business!!!!

Plus, not to be overly pedantic but the lede now kinda defines who Airbnb is. I know. I know. But I don't think we should go with an assumption on this.

Anyway, changes are marked with yellow highlighting and crossouts.

What are we doing for students moving forward? Nothing on tuition?

Not in the budget. Student housing is the piece. The student groups love it and it

Be there in a sec. start

What is your eta?

Wed, Jan 17, 5:38 PM

Where are you? I have an important question for you

iMessage

Cara

Meeting with Geoff. Urgent?

Nope. But it's about scheduling an announcement in tomorrow

Ok. Call you as soon as I'm done. Wrapping now.

Hey why don't we just social media this. I set it for 11:00.

You mean announce on social medi?

Yep

Have I misunderstood something

No

Fine. A short IB?

I'll debrief you when you are back in the office. Will we see you today ?

s.22

Yeah I'll be in in the afternoon

with everything there is context. :)

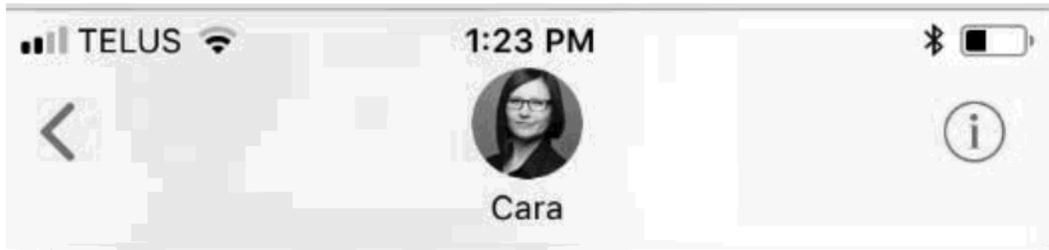

I have time before 330.

Might be tricky, I have

iMessage

Might be tricky. I have meetings from 1-4. Wait. Are we having cab priorities today?

We are meeting at 1pm to talk about Premier's events pre and post budget.

Who is 'we'?

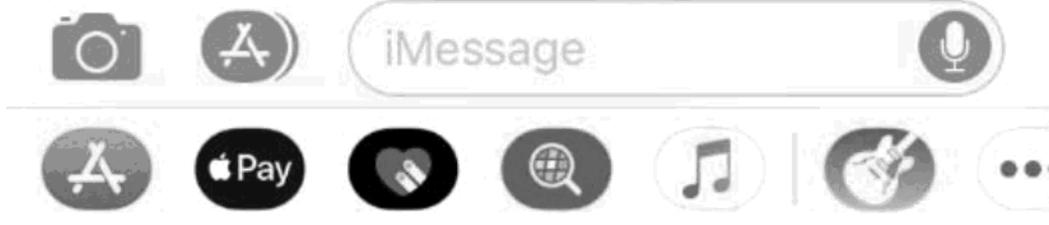

Our team and rick and a couple folks from PO. I'll fwd you the invite.

Tue, Jan 23, 6:29 PM

Hi. I have no concerns about the email chain.

Tue, Jan 23, 7:39 PM

Okay.

Tue, Jan 30, 9:29 AM

You around or have you left for focus groups?

I'm not going. Don't have time. Eric and Don are going

Ok. Let me know when you are free to chat.

Tue, Jan 30, 5:07 PM

Hey Did we get the research report today?

Yes
I'll forward

Thanks

Morning Rob. We will not make the noon deadline. Too many changes to the doc came in last night from Niki and Jon. That said we will have it done this afternoon and we will be pushing back a bit with them about trying to satisfy stakeholder concerns through a public document. The nitty gritty edits they are looking for are better suited to targeted stakeholder comms.

Hey buddy you put "working class people" in the release. You want that? Or can we just use "working people" or another alternative. Roseanne raised it.
