Request

Is it acceptable following the casino money-laundering report from Peter German that two JIBC board members are employed by the Great Canadian Gaming Commission, especially as the JIBC sets the tone for law enforcement in the province.

Robert Kroeker, JIBC board chair, is the Vice-President of Corporate Security & Compliance for the Great Canadian Gaming Corporation.

Jackie Gorton is the Vice President, Technology & Business Intelligence at Great Canadian Gaming Corporation.

Dermod Travis with Integrity BC is saying it's not acceptable and they should step down or be removed as they are gov't appointees.

Hello all,

MCJ and MDE will be presenting to PA on Thursday afternoon about the coordinated reviews of money laundering in the real estate sector.

I wanted to get staff together ahead of Thursday to discuss roll out (anticipated late next week) to inform the Ministers' presentations. And check in on coordination of the two reviews.

Would people be available:

- Tuesday at 1pm?
- Wednesday between 2:30 and 4:00pm?

"In B.C., we're focused on making life more affordable for people, improving services, and supporting a strong and sustainable economy. I am looking forward to championing these priorities as I meet with my federal, provincial and territorial counterparts in Ottawa.

"In B.C., one of our primary focuses is on improving housing affordability and returning fairness to the housing market. Our efforts include a first-of-its-kind registry to address hidden ownership in real estate. The information we collect will help us stop speculators who are avoiding taxes, and help law enforcement crack down on tax fraud and money laundering. I will be sharing our housing affordability strategies with our Canadian partners to see how we can better work together to bring stability to our real estate markets.

"Our government is also working closely with the Government of Canada on trade issues. We support Canada's plan to respond to the latest round of tariffs with countermeasures. We will continue to stand up for workers and communities in B.C. that have been unjustly targeted by the US administration's trade agenda.

"B.C. real GDP growth in 2018 is projected to rank among leading provinces, our unemployment rate is the lowest nation-wide, and we have a diverse portfolio of trading partners. We are committed to keeping our province competitive so B.C. remains an economic leader in Canada."
