Hi all.
Apologies in advance for the rush request below...
Just a quick bullet list from you to me pls, I'll collate into one doc, as Mike is requesting.
Pls do note, he's asking for this from us by end of day tomorrow (Wed). (Again, I do apologize for the rush on his behalf, and thank you.)

Subject: CD canvass project (due Wednesday PM)

Hi folks – over the next 24 hours could you please gather from each of your shops a list of major events/initiatives that are happening over the next 6 months. Looking for anything that is significant and has timing outside of our control. This is to inform a larger planning conversation I'm involved in happening on Thursday afternoon.

Examples would be things like the Globe conference, the BC Tech Summit, Federal legalization of cannabis, or UBCM (although UBCM is outside the scope as it's more than 6 months away). Just the big stuff.

Could you please gather a list of events and their dates (organized by month, covering March through August) and submit them to me in a single document that covers your division. (ie. One from Don, one from Sarah, one from Marg)

Any questions please let me know. I'd like to have this back to me by the end of tomorrow please.

Many thanks
Mike

Hi folks.

Unfortunately I've been asked to join a roundtable group that will meet at the Legislative Bldgs weekly on Wednesdays, at the same time as our previously scheduled Social CD mtgs.

Would you kindly discuss amongst yourselves and get back to me re an alternate weekly time/day that works best for all of you for our weekly CD mtg, in your schedules?

Due to already existing standing mtgs in my sched, these times are out for me:

- Daily 8:30 – 9:30
- Wed 9:30 – 11:30
- Fri 10:00 – 11:30

Hey – not sure what is on the agenda but if there is a round of kudos being handed out for budget - -can you pls ensure my team gets a shout out—PARTICULARLY Kirsten and Brendan. They did a lot of the heavy lifting on materials over weekends and stat holidays – often into the night. And then there's the rest of our team mates who we basically shunted everything that was not childcare over to. They backed us up on the files we were too swamped to deal with which was comforting and so appreciated ☺ kj

Hi all,

Yep, don't leave it till next week. s.13

So we need to be out there saying this is the future everyone wants for child care – advocates, communities, providers, and parents. The idea that child care can be more affordable for parents, and that that care will give parents a sense of quality and safety across the board.

And it will make sense for unlicensed to come on board as fast as they can so they can offer parents the kinds of benefits government is providing to licensed providers. As Christine says, no one is forced into this, but it just makes sense for them to come on board as it's clearly the way child care is going to be heading.

I think we could say that we have no intention to shut down legally operating unlicensed care. We are looking at an incentive based approach. More to come next week.

Need some direction here . We could say wait for more details budget day. But if leave it at that he could speculate that we may shut down unlicensed spots – which we wont! Just don't want to needlessly cause panic out there - kj

Subject: child care Q

Do we know what converting unlicensed spaces to regulated child care spots means?

Are they going to shut them down? Bring them into compliance?

"B.C. will begin by converting unlicensed spaces to regulated child care spots, as well as building new spaces as well. There were no details on the number of spaces or money allocated to the program. "

Because then they say this, which is kind of weird. If the intent is to shut unlicensed spaces, why do they need legislation that provides information about unlicensed spaces?

"Government will introduce new legislation to give parents vital information about unlawful or problem providers of unlicensed child care," read Tuesday's throne speech.

Hi Derek,

I'm looking to set up a phone interview with Katrina later this afternoon for a story about the throne speech.

Can you please forward on my request? I tried calling the number you gave me, but no one picked up.

Subject: Child care branding

Hi all,

Attached are some branding options, as they were presented to Sage and me today.

Unfortunately, I'll be spending much of my day tomorrow on budget materials so I can't orchestrate a meeting. If you all would like to get together to discuss, perhaps Marg can organize something.

From this list, Sage, Evan and I are recommending the last one. It's bulky on the face of it but works really well in short form. ^{s.13}

In the attached doc you'll find:

Page 3: potential tag lines, which you can mix and match with the names.

Anyway, send thoughts.

Thanks all.

Subject: Request for Manager/ED skip-mtg next week pls

Hi all.

As you're all aware, ADM Mike Lowe has done/is doing a round of "skip mtgs" – to get out and meet with CDs in all shops.

A skip level meeting is when a supervisor meets with staff that are more than one step down the reporting structure. In a safe and productive environment; these mtgs help us create a stronger bond with staff at all levels of GCPE, and create a more positive working environment where everyone feels heard.

I'm hopeful I can set up skip-mtgs for next week with each of the Social ministry Comms managers.

Essentially, these meetings give us insight into things we may have missed from regularly only interacting at the CD level. These meetings can be as simple as hearing from staff how they like working for GCPE. We can also discuss things like:

- what changes, or improvements you believe might help in your everyday work environment
- ideas for possible new initiatives/processes
- general sentiment in their shop, goals for themselves and their team

- GCPE's vision and priorities

I would very much appreciate if each Comms managers could send me a 1-hour mtg invite for a time next week (Feb. 5-9) that works your calendar (with a look in the 'scheduling assistant' to ensure there's an opening in mine.)

Also re "Location" -- pls indicate if you'd prefer that we meet in your Comms shop, or instead at a nearby coffee shop (pls indicate where, if that's the case).

Thanks very much all!

Subject: Work Environment Survey -- request

Hello team.

This week, everyone received an email from the PSA's Lori Halls, asking folks to take 15 minutes to complete the Work Environment Survey.

Just encouraging you all to consider following up with your staff, in order to achieve a high response rate.

I just finished doing the survey myself and it took less than the 15 minutes. As well, there's a cool new feature upon completion called MyWES, where a graphic illustration based on your own answers shows up in the format of a house – quite interesting.

The survey, conducted by BC Stats, is running until February 23. To complete the survey, employees click on the personalized link found in their email invitation, already in their Inboxes.

Thx all!
