Don – FYI below and attached letters expected to go later today. There's an additional MMM letter underway to public institutions (BCIT for example) and local governments (City of Van, Burnaby) thanking them for their conservation efforts. We've been instructed to produce a short com strategy that includes a MMM media avail tomorrow to speak about the situation and government efforts to work with Fortis, Enbridge and the NEB. Will share when ready.

Minor tweaks to the letters.
Changed % to per cent as both are used in the letters
There is an extra also.
Changed lower mainland to Metro Vancouver
I think Province should be lower case towards the end of the letters

Also, are there plans to have PS Kahlon to reach out to the Indo-Canadian media post announcement? Stephanie's group can help with that.

We can chat further in the morning.

As discussed, I've arranged for a call with LNGC to discuss roll-out and ongoing communications. Friday 3:30 by phone. Can I ask that someone prepare a short list of items for this? Please let me know who has this. You'll recall that we discussed milestone events, issues management, government regional media and outreach, etc. It would be useful to bring these together in short form to share and discuss.

If I've forgotten anyone in this message, please pass along. We can do the call from here. Not everyone is required, but welcome.

Don – as discussed Mr. Weaver's questions on the $40 B total for LNG Canada in QP today (transcript below) is based on out-dated information from EA docs (section of EA docs below transcript). Below is our recommended response which Dave Nik okayed with the recommendation we run by LNG Canada. Happy to discuss.

- LNG Canada's final investment decision includes a build-out of two natural gas liquefaction trains.
- As part of LNG Canada's decision to move forward, the Coastal GasLink pipeline will also be built.
- Collectively, the export facility, pipeline and related upstream development represent an investment of $40 billion.
- This represents investment today. It is a mistake for critics/others to reference older, dated EAO documents for today's dollar figures.
- Investment dollars will increase IF LNG Canada chooses to build additional trains.
- LNG Canada can best provide specifics about their investment plan.
- What's important to recognize is this project represents tens of thousands of jobs and economic opportunities for people across B.C. now and for future generations.
- And, this project will generate $23 billion in government revenues – bringing new resources for health care, schools, child care and services for the people of BC.

PRESS RELEASE ON LNG CANADA PROJECT

Mr. Speaker: The Leader of the Third Party.

A. Weaver: Two weeks ago the province issued a press release heralding a $40 billion investment by LNG Canada. However, the government's release provided no clarity about whether this investment was for the full plant, the full buildout, or just phase 1, consisting of two trains.

In contrast, LNG Canada's release, on the same day, clarified that the final investment decision was only for two trains but made no claim whatsoever about the size of the investment that's represented.

To the Minister of Energy, Mines and Petroleum Resources, can the minister please clarify, for the record, whether the investment that government was celebrating in its press release constituted two or four trains, and if it is only for two, whether a separate FID process would play out for additional trains at a later date?

Hon. M. Mungall: I was very proud to be in attendance at the announcement two weeks ago. I think the historic event of a $40 billion investment in British Columbia and Canada is actually a very non-partisan event.

I was happy to see members from the other side who were also there, because all British Columbians — whether it's my riding or the member from Aldergrove-Fort Langley or the member for Parksville-Qualicum or the member for Peace River North — we're all going to be able to benefit from this, because $23 billion of revenue is going to be coming back to British Columbia to fund child care, to fund education, to fund post-secondary education and to be able to fund our climate goals.

Now I know members of the B.C. Liberal Party have mischaracterized our position for many, many years. That was their benefit to do so. It was their benefit to do so. But let's put partisan politics aside, if they can.

Interjections.

Mr. Speaker: Members.

Hon. M. Mungall: I know that is hard for them, but if they could, we could acknowledge that that $40 billion investment, that historic investment, for this country, for this province is an FID, to answer the member's question, for the entire project. That project, like I said, is going to be beneficial to British Columbians — 10,000 jobs during the construction phase, 950 jobs in northern British Columbia. First Nations are benefiting. Local communities are benefiting. That is good for B.C.

Mr. Speaker: The Leader of the Third Party on a supplemental.

A. Weaver: Well, thank you, Minister. That was a very simple question, and I can take it, from that answer, that the minister actually doesn't know, which is quite shocking.

I'd like to dig a little deeper into the $40 billion investment rhetoric. The federal environmental assessment application shows low and high estimates of $25 billion and $40 billion for the project. However, according to this application, these estimates are for both phases of the LNG project for Kitimat. That's four trains, not two trains.

When we turn to the provincial government's own environmental assessment report, we find that the investment for phase 1 — that's the two train — is projected to be $13 billion to $21 billion, or half of the number that the government highlighted in its press release.

[1045]

Furthermore, it gets worse. In the assessment report of the B.C. government, it points out that for phase 1 costs, only about 20 percent of that will actually be spent in B.C. That would bring the number down to $2½ billion to $4.1 billion, a far cry from the $40 billion touted in the media.

To the Minister of Energy, Mines and Petroleum Resources

HSE - 20181016 AM 010/CFM/1045

the B.C. government, it points out that phase 1 costs.... Only about 20 percent of that will actually be spent in B.C.

That would bring the number down to $2½ billion to $4.1 billion, a far cry from the $40 billion touted in the media.

To the Minister of Energy, Mines and Petroleum Resources: how do we reconcile the headlines in the government's own press release with the environmental assessment reports that underpin the project, given that the minister has, sort of — I think — clarified that the $40 billion is for four trains as opposed to two? Because it has to be, based on her own documents.

And finally, after years of listening to the B.C. NDP criticize the B.C. Liberals for using over-the-top exaggerations and hyperbolic language when referring to LNG, does the minister not see the hypocrisy unfolding before us?

Hon. M. Mungall: As I said, this was a historic day two weeks ago. People all over British Columbia were celebrating it, particularly people in the north. The mayor of Kitimat, who is ecstatic to see the potential of 950 permanent jobs in his community, was there. Chief Councillor for Haisla Nation Crystal Smith was there. She saw how important this is for her community, as does the member for Kitimat.

He knows very well how important this is. He has spent many, many years working on this project and knows exactly the benefits that are going to be going to his community as well as throughout British Columbia, particularly the north. This government was proud to be there two weeks ago and to be working with LNG Canada to get that FID.

Hi Don

Based on our research (and discussion with JTT Korea desk), the visitor appears to be the Mayor of Hadong County which is part of South Gyeongsang Province in South Korea. On September 22, Mayor Youn Sang-ki signed an sister-city agreement with the city of Yakima in Washington state, so our guess is that's the same individual (with name and title misspelled). JTT is trying to verify his identity with the Korean Consulate.

<https://www.yakimawa.gov/media/news/yakima-hadong-county-sister-city-relationship-becomes-official-saturday/>

Hadong county is apparently a rural tourist destination known for its scenery and its green tea. Population is approximately 60,000. The closest big city is probably Busan.

Hi! So, just learned that our Land Statutes Amendment Act will be introduced on Monday. We're doing news release, Q&A, first and second reading notes. Anything else needed? Or any additional direction?

Here's summary of changes – fits in with “improving services people count on”

Boundary Act; Land Act; Land Title Act: Property Transfer Tax Act

British Columbians will benefit from changes to a number of statutes that streamline, modernize, and improve the security of B.C.'s land title and survey systems. The amendments update electronic filing provisions and create a more robust system that adapts to technology over time.

Among the changes:

Boundary Act amendments will make it easier to clarify technical boundary descriptions along the B.C. – Alberta border. Changes to the Land Act will enable more efficient electronic filing of survey plans that eliminate the need to print and sign paper copies of forms.

Land Title Act changes, along with new technology, will enable broader access to electronic filing and eliminate the need for print and ink-signed paper documents. As a result, the public will no longer have to pay a lawyer or notary to authorize a simple land title change. Other changes will make additions to treaty settlement lands easier and less administratively burdensome for Treaty First Nations.

Changes to the Property Transfer Tax Act will align the electronic filing of property transfer tax returns with the changes being made to the Land Title Act, thereby improving these services for the general public.

The new system changes enabled by the legislation are planned to be phased in starting in 2020.

Thx,

Vivian

Hello Laurel and Sarah,

I've reviewed the material (including the version with Simon's comments) and added our own.

Mark/Heinz – FYI: the material does not reference specific Nations with the exception of Haisla, which they say to be supportive of LNG.

We can say that BC has engaged all the First Nations affected by the two projects and have agreements with the majority of those Nations. We can also say that we understand that the proponents have also been working with First Nations and are encouraged by this (or something like that).

I've attached the documents where I've provided comments as well as our updated scorecard document for reference.

Hope that helps and please let me know if you have questions,
Rachel

- Who makes decisions and/or provides direction on when and what to post on it?
- Is there opportunity for us to leverage this page to communicate about legislation on the slate for the fall session?

Hello Don,

Mike Lowe recommended that I connect with you.

As you may know, the Premier has committed to release an initial action plan on the Abbott/Chapman recommendations by October 31, 2018. In the attached PPT, I propose some elements that we could package up to meet this requirement. This week, I spoke to ADMCEM on this topic, and next week, I will be speaking with DMCEM. There is also a tentative slot for this item at CCSI on Oct 15.

There is also a BN going forward (at Becky Denlinger's direction) to Don Wright on this, which more or less contains the same information. (also attached). While the public release of any such initial action plan would of course involve GCPE, the BN makes specific reference to the need to involve GCPE.

I would welcome your input and advice as to what the initial action plan should include and look like.

Thanks in advance.

Hi! Is there any corporate direction around communications for legislation the Fall Session? We'll be introducing amendments to the Land Title Act. It was approved at LRC on Monday and we're waiting to hear whether it will be a standalone bill or part of a misc. bill.

Thanks,

Hi Susan. My name is Marcy Cuttler. I am a producer with CBC News.

We're looking into a possible story about the use of sign language interpreters during emergency crises. This is in light of the Hurricane Florence coverage where sign interpreters were featured quite prominently during the various news conferences.

I'd like to know what the situation is in British Columbia--during events like the forest fires, how often were signers used?

I hope to hear from you soon.

Thanks

These wouldn't be spokes roles, but rather social media support for their Facebook and twitter accounts as well as gathering some info for spokespeople.

Last year we sent Michelle Roberts ^{s.22} and ^{s.22} Hannah Glover). It worked very well for them - which is why they're requesting again.

Can we see if Karl's team has anyone to spare? I think the deployment will be closer to the long weekend.

We can also look at PAOs so long as they are social media savvy.

Hi Shawn, assuming we are going on Monday, can you folks do up a media advisory in advance of that. I assume we'd issue it a few hours in advance of the news conference.

We will need to get the dial in numbers, which Jordan can get from Jolene Badger.

Hi all,

I've drafted QA/KMs and a News Release for the potential provincial state of emergency.

Viv – Will need a quote from MDD and will need out of province assets, ect, in the highlight sections. We'll also need to update the stats with the latest numbers when/if the time comes.

Hi Nicole – to confirm the room booking for the Vancouver lockup for Thursday. Joleen is looking to confirm by end of day.

Stephanie is advising that we book the larger room at the Pan Pacific to accommodate up to 35 people, at an additional cost of $1000, compared to a VCO room that can only hold about 15-20.

For your/Don's decision. Thanks!
