Hey Karl,

I'm looking to get approval for my updated travel plan this week.

I cancelled my flight back to Victoria yesterday and instead got a rental here in Van, and a hotel room for last night. s.22 and will be requiring the rental car for today and tomorrow. I will take a flight back from Vancouver on Thursday.

Hope this works – please confirm if all is well.

I'll basically try to send over photos as soon as I have a moment to spare. The only catch might be that I'll have to drive myself to each event (unless I can hitch a ride).

By city, I mean town, village, hamlet - wherever the size of the place, the point bring footage of the area in which the announcement is being made.

I'm also coming at this without knowing much about it. I don't have an itin.

Plan for a bit of tech stuff (ie. server rooms, etc.) is fine, but I would definitely emphasize the people more so.

Hey Stephen

Does the BC Gov have a video footage library to look through to re-use clips?

Or do you know about getting access & ability to license Tourism BC's footage bank:

<https://imagebank.tourismbc.net/login.aspx> ?

(I had access at one point and there's a decent selection in there, though some of it is older interlaced 2/3" broadcasty look)

For BC Gov videos

e.g. Heron has me shooting an announcement on Monday for funding for internet connectivity to rural communities

Regions:

- * Bulkley-Nechako
- * Haida Gwaii
- * Highway 99 between Whistler and Cache Creek
- * Highway 97 between Prince George and Dawson Creek

Thought it'd be good to have some footage of those areas to use in the edit when mentioned, so it's not all faces and a podium event

Hi Sharon,

We were having some issues with the edits we received, so we've given Media One several rounds of feedback.

I'm waiting to get a cut back to address one last edit. If I don't have that by noon though, the previous edit will suffice, and I'll have our team post it.

Would you like to see it before we do so?

Thanks,
Stephen

Hi Stephen,

Any chance you have steel-toed boots? The Port tour will be mostly in vehicles (unfortunately), but we're working with them to find some stops where the Premier can get out and engage with folks and look at equipment. Steel-toed boots are required for getting out of the vehicles at some of those stops. They are looking into cordoning off an area so one stop won't require boots, so you can probably get by without, but you might get more photo ops if you have them. The Premier will have his own pair with him.

Thanks!

Hi Charisma,

If it's possible get a later flight on Sunday, that would be great, but otherwise that one is fine.
And as for the return from Terrace, I would need a later flight as the event wraps up around 3:30pm in Kitimat, which will take about an hour and a half to drive back to Terrace from.

- perhaps stay in hotel overnight in Terrace (if needed) on Sunday night
- drive from Terrace to Prince Rupert on Monday
- drive back to Terrace late Monday
- drive to Kitimat for events on Tuesday
- fly home after 4:00pm from Terrace to Victoria on Tuesday

Questions for Sukhi Ghuman Interview - Childcare

Personal Intro:

- Could you introduce yourself?
 - Your name
 - Where you live
 - That you are a mother on mat-leave
- Could you describe your family?

When you were a child:

- Did you grow up in Vancouver?
- What was it like when you were a kid?
 - What did raising a family seem like?
- Do you think it was different for your parents?

Your family:

- When did you realize you wanted a family? How did that change your life?
- Did you know you wanted to set down roots in Vancouver?
- Did you have concerns when you were anticipating your first child — about work, childcare, housing, etc.?
- What were the biggest challenges you faced when you had your first child?

Work and lifestyle:

- Where in Vancouver do you live?
- What do you like about living the city (esp. downtown)?
 - If not by choice, what are the circumstances that require you to be here?
- Could you describe what it was like finding childcare for your first?
- Did you have to change your lifestyle, or put work on hold?
 - The decision to leave work, means that you have more time to spend with family, but it also likely means more financial strain? Was it harder for your family?
- How did your (and your partners') parents help out? TAKES A VILLAGE
 - Was there any other family that contributed to childcare?
 - How necessary was it for them to be involved?

With 2nd Child:

- What did you learn about childcare during your first mat leave ?
- You have a 7 month old child, whom you are taking care of on maternity leave. How are you preparing for the end of your mat leave?
 - Is there anything that makes you nervous about the end of your mat leave?
- What is it like finding childcare for the second time around?

General Childcare:

- What is the biggest challenge that you think parents face in BC?
 - Is it affordability? Access?
- What have you heard from other parents?
- What are you most optimistic about in terms of childcare for the future?
- Despite all the challenges, what makes it most worthwhile for you?

Talk about light and easy. What was it like growing up in Van, etc (if she has). Talk about what made you want to set down roots here. What was it like when you were a kid.

Get her talking about child.
But then there is child. How do you work around that?

I put my career on hold, so my career suffered.

Do we have another kid? How do you build on the experience of having your first kid?

It takes a village.

Subject: Re: Questions for Interview

Looks good to me. I would get her to talk about growing up in Metro Vancouver and making the decision to have a family here...

- So excited to start a family here
- Always wanted children
- I remember growing up in the lower mainland and all the fun things we did as a family... hoped to do that with mine..

Ask her about how she felt when she faced these challenges around child care

- Maybe she could compare that to when she grew up or what she remembers as a kid

Based on your experience can you understand why many couples decide to only have one child?

As for flow, start with her growing up in Metro Van, deciding to build roots, start a family and discovering the challenges as a new mom that her parents didn't have to face... move into the impacts it has had on her/partner/family/career and how it takes a village to make it happen... then move into the second child, how she's adapted but still needs help and how she's hopeful that these new changes will make a positive difference for her and her family..

Happy to talk it through some more this evening or tomorrow am.

Subject: Questions for Interview

Questions for Sukhi Ghuman Interview - Childcare

- Could you introduce yourself?
 - Your name
 - Where you live
 - That you are a mother on mat-leave
- Could you describe your family?
- Where in Vancouver do you live?
- What do you like about living the city (esp. downtown)?
 - If not by choice, what are the circumstances that require you to be here?
- Did you have concerns when you were anticipating your first child — about work, childcare, housing, etc.?
- What were the biggest challenges you faced when you had your first child?
- Could you describe what it was like finding childcare for your first?
- What toll did it take on your family to find and secure childcare? Did it have implications for your career or your partner's?
- How did your (and your partners') parents help out?
 - Was there any other family that contributed to childcare?
 - How necessary was it for them to be involved?
- What did you learn about childcare during your first mat leave ?
- You have a 7 month old child, whom you are taking care of on maternity leave. How are you preparing for the end of your mat leave?
 - Is there anything that makes you nervous about the end of your mat leave?
- What is the biggest challenge that you think parents face in BC?
 - Is it affordability? Access?
- What have you heard from other parents?
- What are you most optimistic about in terms of childcare?

Hey Rick,

I wanted to touch base about PJH's upcoming week (Mar 26-30).

The plan is to have me tag along to all notable events, to shoot photos and video (if the opportunity arises).

Could I be included in the upcoming itineraries and included in any travel that would make sense for me to join on (ie. charters, etc.)?

Please let me know if there is anything you could use from me or our team to make this process smoother.

All of that should be no problem. You can use the same iPhone and tripod setup you took last week.

Heron or Karl, could one of you arrange to get the iPad with TelePrompter ready for Carol?

If you guys need any assistance in getting the kit iPhone mic kit/tripod together, just give me a call.

A couple of questions: If we can shoot the conference greeting tomorrow morning with MRF, are we definitely able to:

1. Borrow the tripod, with iPhone adapter?
2. Borrow the iPad with teleprompter app?
3. Have you (or someone else on your team) do the post-production Thursday morning?
(So that we can send it right away, as the conference is Thursday evening.)

Hi Carol,

I am in Vancouver until late tomorrow, so I unfortunately won't be available to shoot that clip.

Two options for you:

- 1) We could contact one of our contractors to have them film with the Minister tomorrow.
- 2) Your team could film with the Minister using an iPhone and the lav mic that you borrowed last week.

Please let me know if either of these options would work and what I can do in terms of support.

I have been putting together Speaking Notes for Minister Fleming's address to a conference on Thursday, and just got word that he's unable to go due to a scheduling conflict ... but has offered to send along a video message if they'd like.

I haven't heard back as to whether or not the conference is going to take him up on the offer, but my guess is that they will, as it's last minute and very unlikely that they'll find anyone else to fill his spot.

In anticipation of this, I just wanted to see if there's even a possibility of scheduling a video shoot tomorrow morning. And then of course there'll be the need for editing.

Is something like this do-able at this point?

I appreciate that it's super last minute, and not at all ideal in terms of notice and turnaround time, so I'm just throwing it out there for you to ponder.

Thanks!

Please see the note from Prem Gill of Creative BC below. They have some questions about what our social media plan for content from yesterday's tour, and if you want them to coordinate with you before posting, or if there's anything they can't share from our perspective, etc. They're also wondering if they can have the Arrow photos to send to Warner Bros.

Would it be possible for someone from your team to connect with them directly, as you'll have a better idea understanding of this than I will? Or I can pass on information if that's easier. The Creative BC folks' emails are below.

Premier John Horgan visits Vancouver set of Van Helsing

As part of a creative industry tour, Premier John Horgan and Minister Lisa Beare visited the Van Helsing production set to visit with cast, production crew and other members of BC's creative sector. The creative sector in B.C. generates an estimated $5.23 billion in economic contribution and supports more than 90,000 full-time workers, and thousands more part time/contractors.

Hi Stephen,

Sorry about that. Absolutely, I'll separate them in that format moving forward. Does the Finance team need me to replace invoices 212 & 213 with six individual-shoot invoices?

In this case, the reason for the same event twice was that Riel and Laura invoiced for it at different times so they processed at different times as well. In the last two+ years this is the only time we've ever had them both out at the same shoot so this has never come up before! s.22 I'll make sure to flag events with multiple shooters moving forward and I'll keep that clear on the next invoice.

Hey Brian,

I'm just been chatting with our Finance team, and we're dealing with a bit of confusion around your invoices.

For instance on the invoice attached, the Pattullo Bridge announcement lists "Photo/Video," but we have another invoice that lists Pattullo Bridge Photo shoot.

It would be great to have more specific line items like "Feb 18 - Pattullo Bridge Announcement, Video shoot provided by Riel McGuire from 10:00am to 3:00pm"

It also become a bit confusing when we receive different invoices with the same event, or multiple events on one invoice, so the request from our finance team is to receive one invoice per event with multiple line items (eg. for photo and video and processing or editing for each).

Let me know if that works. We appreciate it as it will simplify things for us immensely!

Hi Stephen,

Can we start a little later... perhaps around 11am. I don't anticipate us needing 3 hours for all the b-roll shots, as I can help you get those shots in a shorter time frame. Also, that way I can ensure s.22 before you arrive.

s.22 but he can sleep in the stroller if we're getting b-roll shots.

We'll walk to pick-up my son from Daycare unless it's pouring rain, and it's about a s.22 walk from my place.

You'll get shots of the two boys together after daycare. My stroller has a kick-stand that my older can stand on, while the little one is sitting. We can also get them sitting together on a park bench having a snack.

Hi Sukhi,

The 21st works great for us!

Here is a rough itinerary for the shoot day:

- * 9:30am - We arrive s.22
- * 9:45am - Setup to shoot the interview
- * 10:00am – 10:45am - Interview
- * 11:00am - 12:00pm - B-roll at home (perhaps hanging out with you 7mo. old, a bit of your at home routine)
- * 12:00pm – 1:30pm - B-roll of driving/walking to run errands
- * 2:00pm – 3:00pm - B-roll at a nearby park, or taking a walk somewhere with your 7mo. old
- * 3:00pm – B-roll of picking up your son from daycare, driving/walking home
- * 4:00pm – 4:30pm – Bonus B-roll – your two sons together (if the younger one could be in the same area as your older son, perhaps with you looking watching them together)

Please let me know if this itinerary will work and if there are any issues we should note.

Also, if you have any more specific ideas of what we might be able to film together, I'd love to hear them! I put this together as a rough sketch, but I certainly want to keep it authentic and comfortable for you. And especially avoid contriving anything that doesn't fit your lifestyle!

Lastly, would you like me to give you a list of the questions I'll be asking before we film the interview, or would you just prefer to start fresh on the shoot day?

Thanks so much, Sukhi, I'm really looking forward to filming with you and your boys!

Hi Sukhi,

Thanks again for connecting with me this week!

I've discussed it with our team and it looks like the best opportunity for us to film would be between Tuesday 20th – Wednesday 21st. Would one of those days for a half day of filming (approx. 5hrs.) work for you?

We can go over things in a bit more detail, but a brief rundown of what we'd like to do is:

- * Sit down interview
- * Pickup/Dropoff with child
- * Connecting with Mother (if available)
- * Perhaps another event that illustrates what your daily life is like (eg. taking a walk with your child, doing some errands, etc.)

Please let me know if this works for you and we'll get it scheduled and make it happen!

Again, I really appreciate your willingness to participate – this means a lot.

Hey Stephen,

Sounds like a short social video is doable!

Here's some general talking points that can be used to generate some conversation:

Policy

they will have touched on all of these topics throughout the morning, so it should be fresh in their minds

- Climate action
- Environmental protection
- Overdose response
- Trade
- High-speed transportation between Seattle and Van
 - what does this mean for British Columbians and Washingtonians? what kind of research is being done?

Sports:

- Thoughts on the possible rivalry between the Vancouver Canucks and the future Seattle NHL team?
The ownership group bidding for a team received over 25,000 season ticket deposits. This could create quite a fun border rivalry.
- Neither Seattle or Vancouver has an NBA team anymore. You're both big basketball fans.

- Do you ever envision a time where the Grizzlies and/or SuperSonics make a comeback
- Once baseball season starts, PJH could join GJI at a Mariners game (possibly vs the Blue Jays). Maybe chat about baseball and the possibility of attending a game together.
- What was/is/could be the best rivalry in Vancouver/Seattle sports?
 - Vancouver Grizzlies vs Seattle SuperSonics
 - Seattle Sounders vs Vancouver Whitecaps (could potentially place a fun bet on one of these games this season)
 - Junior hockey
 - Vancouver Canucks vs potential Seattle NHL franchise
- They could chat about CFL vs NFL (rule differences, pace of the game, size of the field, etc.).
- How would high-speed transportation between Vancouver and Seattle affect sports fans?

Hopefully this helps!

M.

I haven't had a chance to ask:

How'd the shoot go with Minister Fleming on Tuesday?

Do you need any direction re: final version hopes and dreams? Or do you think you've got that covered?

Thanks so much!
Carol

Sorry for the delay – yes, we can lend the mic and mini-pod.
I'll be here for the afternoon.

Hey Stephen,

Just a quick check-in on yesterday's request for a tripod (or monopod?) with the iPhone adapter for tomorrow morning. Sorry to pester. We will be leaving here bright 'n early (at 8:20) in the morning, so I'd like to pick up this afternoon if possible.

Thanks!
Carol

Hi Heron,

On Friday we (Education) are doing an event, and would like to use a tripod with iPhone adapter to record the event.

May we borrow the one from your area?

Thanks,
Carol

Corinna (our CD) is going to be in your neck of the woods, so she actually is the one who'll pick those up.

I'm not sure if the mini-pod is the best way to go, as it's pretty much a standing event, without tables to set it on, which is why I thought monopod or tripod. We actually have a tripod here, but it is set up for a digital camera to sit attach to it.

Perhaps you and Corinna can sort out the best choice.

Thank you!
Carol

Hi Matt,

I'm wondering what the status of our order is – apparently it's all gone through on our end here and we're waiting to get the invoices.

This needs to be complete before the end of March. If there is anything we can do to expedite the process, please let me know.

Thanks,
