Hi Robyn,

Thanks for checking in. I think there's some confusion around the fact that there is a presentation by the housing branch following the Premier's speech:

Friday:
4:00 pm Address by The Honourable John Horgan, Premier of British Columbia
4:20 pm Connecting the Dots on Affordable Housing – Ministry of Municipal Affairs & Housing

I've double checked with the conference coordinator and MSR is confirmed and scheduled Sunday, April 15th.

Sunday:
9:45 am Address by The Honourable Selina Robinson, Minister of Municipal Affairs & Housing

NEWS RELEASE

New enforcement powers to protect people's investments

VICTORIA - The Government of British Columbia is taking steps to strengthen enforcement, and prevent fraud in B.C.'s investment markets, announced Finance Minister Carole James.

The Province is introducing amendments to the Securities Act that will allow the Investment Industry Regulatory Organization of Canada (IIROC) and the Mutual Fund Dealers Association (MFDA) to enforce penalties as court orders against investment dealers who wrong investors.

"Many British Columbians invest their life savings in the securities market. They expect their money will be safe from fraudsters," James said. "We're taking action to protect people who invest by giving self-regulatory organizations the tools they need to collect fines and deter fraudulent behaviour."

The amendments introduced today will give IIROC and the MFDA the ability to file decisions directly with a court of law. Filing in court means that they will be able to pursue outstanding fines, and order a person to comply with decisions, made by these national self-regulatory organizations.

In recent years, IIROC and the MFDA have been granted the power to file fines in court in other major securities markets in Canada. In Alberta, IIROC has reported seeing an increase in fine collection rates since being given the ability to file court orders.

"As a public interest regulator overseeing the investment industry under the authority of the British Columbia Securities Commission, and other members of the Canadian Securities Administrators, our mandate is to protect investors and support healthy capital markets," said Andrew Kriegler, president and CEO of IIROC. "Having better tools in our enforcement toolkit will enable us to hold wrongdoers accountable and provide British Columbians with greater confidence to invest. Being able to collect penalties through the courts will send a powerful message that if you harm investors you will pay the penalty."

Hi Robyn, in advance of Education Week next week (EDUC-81432), we have submitted an op-ed by Minister Fleming to the Vancouver Sun; our understanding is that they will run it in this Saturday's paper (April 21st). Would it be okay if I set up a separate entry to have GCPE Editors send this out to newsrooms across BC in the afternoon on Saturday, or Sunday morning? It would be great to get some pick-up in regional papers as well. Thanks!

How would you like me to adjust the calendar entries?

- FLNR-87228 FYI for the actual meeting: put it on a two-week date range, or remove it until we have a new date confirmed?

Yes, I believe the FOI staff at GCPE are definitely using this full time so contract should be renewed with SDPR. We did not get to a place where we expanded this though ie. to travel authorizations (possibly HR approval letters) and things like that although it was something we explored with Denise as it was felt efficiencies could be gained for certain things with finance side for tracking docs that go from one person to another (one at a time) for approvals provided e-signatures were fully adopted by government, which she indicated was the direction things were going and already in place for many areas. Anyhow, that part is up to you guys with Raman to see if it is something useful for the finance unit. This has been a big time saver for FOI so I have included them on this email for their input. Meaghan and I got this going at DC's request as a pilot project and once up and running Meaghan was the one who really got it rolling and did some stats at the time, I don't recall the number but I think she said it reduced their workload and improved efficiency by something like 40% or more, plus it was much easier to track where something was at rather than physically trying to locate a file.

And that's my corporate history/memory download on this one!

Thanks,
Robyn

Good Morning,

Please find the attached the standard draft eApprovals MOU for the 2018/19 fiscal year. We have updated the salary and benefits to reflect the current grid, and added a clause to specify that the MOU and JV are annual processes (wording has just been added for clarity as some financial units questioned if the charge was a monthly charge). Otherwise, the basic agreement and schedule of services remains the same.

If you choose to maintain the present MOU with the Ministry of Social Development and Poverty Reduction (SDPR), please complete the attached word document and return a signed PDF to the iCollaborate mailbox.

If you have any concerns or questions, please email us at: iCollaborate.

We look forward to continuing our partnership with you.

As it turns out, the Feds will let us release this release today, if we can do it after 2 PM.

Is there a release time available post-2 PM today?

Thanks!
Meghan

Hi Robyn,

Our Statement on Child Care Month is driving to the new Childcare BC site that Karl Hardin's team is pulling together. It's scheduled to go live on Monday and we'd like to ensure that there are no glitches with it before driving traffic there.

We'd like to move our Statement – currently scheduled for Monday at 8:15am – to Tuesday (around the same time if possible). Can you please let us know what works?

No worries Robyn. I'll make the time range on those 10:30-11 a.m. (provincewide one coming out at 11 to finish off the deluge).

Hi all, terribly sorry to do this to you s.22 but we have a conflict now in schedule due to another switcheroo, and have to move this batch back half an hour to 10:30am. Unfortunately they are all already in the system so you'll have to adjust the times on all of them (12 regional and 1 provincewide). ☹
