I've updated our tent KM to reflect that the original May 11th Fire Order is still in effect.

Going forward, MRC is now lead on this file. Any shops that get media requests, pls send them our way with your messaging and we will be the clearing house for all media re. tent city. We will include your messaging, where appropriate, but we need to have one lead on this file.

Background:

On April 5, 2016, Justice Hinkson denied the Province's request for a temporary injunction to remove campers from the courthouse site. The judge found that "Although the plaintiffs have established that there is a fair question to be tried in this case, they have not demonstrated that they will suffer irreparable harm if an injunction is not granted. Further, I find that the balance of convenience weighs overwhelmingly in favour of the defendants."

The court has set a trial date of Sept. 7 for a permanent injunction hearing. If granted, it would enable the Province to permanently return the Victoria courthouse to a greenspace for public use.

Following the court decision, the Province announced on April 14 that it is working with the City of Victoria and fire and police officials to develop a plan for safety standards to better protect people at the site and nearby residents.

An inspector from the Office of the Fire Commissioner visited the site on Feb. 27, which resulted in an order being issued for campers to deal with the fire hazards that were identified. There has been little progress to date in complying with the order.

The Province is working with the Portland Hotel Society (PHS) to help in the management and safety of the site and to connect site occupants with housing, health and other services. PHS currently has 2-3 staff on site, 7 days per week from 10:00 a.m. - 8:00 p.m. Staff regularly check in throughout the day and help individuals with the necessary supplies and taking them to appointments.

On April 25, Minister Coleman indicated that the Province will re-assess the situation at the end of April and, if safety risks continue at the site, may consider applying again for an injunction.

The Province and BC Housing have provided a number of new housing and shelter units to accommodate those camping at the courthouse site, including My Place, Choices and Mt. Edwards.

Including all of the housing options the Province has brought to the table, B.C. has housed 191 campers, including homeless at the First Metropolitan Church who may have not been in the camp:

Housing units targeted specifically to tent city:

- 38 at Mt. Edward
- 50 at Choices
- 40 at My Place (former Boys and Girls Club)

In addition:

- 45 at First Met (overnight shelter)
- 18 campers have transitioned into permanent housing (13 through a rent supplement)

Total - 191

May 6, 2016

On May 3, the Province announced it was providing $510,000 to keep My Place open for an additional five months, until Sept. 30. The B.C. government is also providing $130,000 to allow the overnight shelter at the First Metropolitan Church to remain open until the end of June.

BC Housing has also entered into a purchase agreement to buy the 51-unit Super 8 hotel located at 2915 Douglas Street to provide additional housing options for those in need in Victoria. The deal closes on Sept. 30 and will be ready for tenancy in November.

Neighbours of the protest camp on the Victoria courthouse lawn are increasingly concerned for their personal safety in the wake of several violent incidents and other safety concerns.

A representative of the Mad as Hell group addressed City Council on April 14, sharing neighbours' stories of crime and violence in the area. A reporter also tweeted that he had been threatened.

Tourism representatives have also expressed concerns about the impact that the tent city is having on tourists and the tourism industry. The Chamber of Commerce has also expressed concerns about economic impacts; however, individual businesses are reportedly afraid to speak out for fear of reprisals.

Update on camp management, according to a provincial government rep at a neighborhood meeting last night. PHS is not managing the camp, PHS attends the site safety meetings where they make recommendations on how to make the site safer for residents.

In other words, management of the camp has now been turned over to a new group called the "Louisville Slugger Society".

The court has set a trial date of Sept. 7 for a permanent injunction hearing. If granted, it would enable the Province to permanently return the Victoria courthouse to a greenspace for public use.

Following a court decision to allow campers to stay at the Victoria courthouse site through the summer, the Province announced on April 14 that it is working with the City of Victoria and fire and police officials to develop a plan for safety standards to better protect people at the site and nearby residents.

An inspector from the Office of the Fire Commissioner visited the site on Feb. 27, which resulted in an order being issued for campers to deal with the fire hazards that were identified. There has been little progress to date in complying with the order.

The Province is working with the Portland Hotel Society to help in the management and safety of the site and to work with campers to connect them with housing, health and other services. The Portland Hotel Society will provide these services on site and soon will be there on a 24/7 basis.

PHS currently has four staff on site every day, starting to identify site occupants' needs around health and housing. PHS intends to pay occupants a small fee to assist with site clean-up and safety.

On April 25, Minister Coleman indicated that the Province will re-assess the situation at the end of April and that, if safety risks continue at the site, government may consider applying again for an injunction.

The Province and BC Housing have provided a number of new housing and shelter units to accommodate those camping at the courthouse site, including My Space (the former Boys and Girls Club), Choices (View Royal) and Mt. Edwards.

As of April 15, 50 people are now residing at Choices and 38 have moved into Mt. Edwards. A number of people from Mt. Edwards and My Place have moved into more permanent housing.

Neighbours of the protest camp on the Victoria courthouse lawn are increasingly concerned for their personal safety in the wake of several violent incidents and other safety concerns.

Hi Heidi,

We are still in the process of collecting the most accurate picture we can, but one of the 1st Met team leads just sent an email saying she has come up with a “list” of 18 individuals, and she is sure the number is much higher. The team is tasked with gathering a more complete picture over the next couple of nights, and I will update you as soon as I can.

Going forward we will be gathering more statistical info that would seem to have relevance – please let me know if there is anything in particular that would be important to BC Housing.

Best,
Marianne.

I don't readily have that information – I'm sure that some of the 1st Met folks did come from Tent City, but I will have to check with the staff of that program to try to pull a hard number for you. I don't think I can get you this info today, but will do so as soon as I can.

April 15, 2016

Background:

On April 5, 2016, Justice Hinkson denied the Province's request for a temporary injunction to remove campers from the courthouse site.

The judge found "that the plaintiffs have not met the criteria for an interim injunction... Although the plaintiffs have established that there is a fair question to be tried in this case, they have not demonstrated that they will suffer irreparable harm if an injunction is not granted. Further, I find that the balance of convenience weighs overwhelmingly in favour of the defendants."

The court has set a trial date of Sept. 7 for a permanent injunction hearing. If granted, it would enable the Province to permanently return the Victoria courthouse to a greenspace for public use.

The Province and BC Housing have provided a number of new housing and shelter units to accommodate those camping at the courthouse site, including My Space (the former Boys and Girls Club), Choices (View Royal) and Mt. Edwards.

As of April 15, 49 people are now residing at Choices and 38 have moved into Mt. Edwards. A number of people from Mt. Edwards and My Place have moved into more permanent housing.

Neighbours of the protest camp on the Victoria courthouse lawn are increasingly concerned for their personal safety in the wake of several violent incidents and other safety concerns. One neighbour has expressed concerns about "elderly neighbours who are terrified to leave their home and some of them won't go out once the sun sets."

Good morning Trudy,

Thank you for providing the minutes of the teleconference. This is very helpful for us.

s.13,s.15

One suggestion moving forward, and commensurate with the arrival of the PHS, would be to create a Site Management Committee, separate from the Safety Committee. This would allow for issues specific to site management which are not really safety focused to get addressed. It is further suggested that any initiatives such as this include prior consultation with and representation from Tent City. Tent City representation must include those with credibility within the camp.

Thank you,
Scott

I think this is what we need to touch base with legal find out what are options are. This could be a tipping point.

Jeff- good opportunity to bring up at steering committee today.

Options look like:

- have PHS (and Vic fire/ofc) work with campers to remind them of the order. Improve compliance.
- work with city of Vic today to get the Vic fire to enforce the order with ofc.
- no cooperation, move forward with legal to get enforcement.

Is there a number we can safely use to specify how many we have housed that we are certain came from the camp?

If you include all of the housing options we have brought to the table, we have housed 184 campers (will include some homeless especially at First Met who may have not been in the camp).

38 at Mt Edward
50 at Choices
40 at MyPlace
45 at First Met
11 through HPP rent supplements

Thinking about this more- the number of 180 could be that they are counting all the temporary/shelter/housing options we have opened - for example the 38 units at Mt Edwards, 50 at Choices, 40 at My Place and 45 at 1st Met. The email I sent earlier from Pacifica was folks that had moved on from My Place and Mt Edwards.

Have you been able to follow up on Jeff's request below re number of camper's housed?

It would be helpful to have the complete set of stats as to how many people have been housed - including the Boys and Girls club Some saying we have housed up to 180 people and I would like to get the fact on that - perhaps BC Housing can get from non profits

FYI from BC Housing – note there is another session tonight with the school and parents.

Good morning,

Yesterday evening approximately 200 attended the public information session. Due to the large volume and the room could not hold everyone, there were 2 sessions last night. The session lasted longer (until 7). Everyone was given an opportunity to tour the building.

It was an informal Q&A session. Cool-Aid and BC Housing took questions. A total of 65 questions were asked and can be grouped in the following themes:

- lack of public consultation and communication (this was a very big issue)
- the fear of increased crime rate in the neighbourhood
- increased use of drugs (residents complaining of seeing an increase of needles in the neighbourhood)
- steps taken to secure the building and protect neighbours
- long term plan for the building (some concerned that it will become an SRO and wanted a promise it wouldn't)
- are camper able to use drugs in the facility
- the increase cost for a temporary solution for taxpayers
- what happens if more people come to tent city- where will they go?
- lack of vacancy in Victoria and how will the campers be transitioned

Compared to Monday's night session, this was a more of a vocal crowd.

CBC Radio and Check TV attended and interviewed a few of the attendees.

Comment cards were received and Citi Spaces will compile and report back.

On Thursdays we are all tied up with Council sessions. That's why no City rep was in attendance today. We certainly will be on the next one.

Hi Robin, I've suggested a couple of changes below. If you're okay with them, I'll circulate to members for accuracy and then to steering committee by end of day. Do we want a list of names or organizations who are on call as well or are we fine with these notes? I'm not sure I'd be able to list everyone.

Thanks.

Ginnie,

Is there a number we can safely use to specify how many we have housed that we are certain came from the camp? (e.g. if we exclude numbers for those who might have come from other locations?)

If you include all of the housing options we have brought to the table, we have housed 184 campers (will include some homeless especially at First Met who may have not been in the camp).

38 at Mt Edward
50 at Choices
40 at MyPlace
45 at First Met
11 through HPP rent supplements

Thinking about this more- the number of 180 could be that they are counting all the temporary/shelter/housing options we have opened - for example the 38 units at Mt Edwards, 50 at Choices, 40 at My Place and 45 at 1st Met. The email I sent earlier from Pacifica was folks that had moved on from My Place and Mt Edwards.

Sorry if I misunderstood the question.

Hi Heidi,

Have you been able to follow up on Jeff's request below re number of camper's housed?

It would be helpful to have the complete set of stats as to how many people have been housed - including the Boys and Girls club Some saying we have housed up to 180 people and I would like to get the fact on that - perhaps BC Housing can get from non profits

Thanks,
Ginnie

Subject: Our Place -My Place Info Session

Public information session took place from 7-9pm. Approximately 70 people in attendance including staff and board member from our Place; staff and council members from City of Victoria and Vic PD.

Mayor Helps was the moderator and Roger represented BC Housing and Don Evan for Our Place. The first hour the panel members provided a status update on the shelter. Overall, there was no negative feedback on the shelter. The community and parents of the children applauded Our Place for their hands on approach and easing their concerns.

There were a total of 14 speakers and majority spoke in favour of the shelter and recognize the need to address homelessness. There were a handful of speakers that were from the Fair Field area- where Mt Edwards and tent city is located. Many of them looked at this forum to vent their frustration on the lack of engagement and progress with tent city. Many want to see the same model that Our Place used for My Place for Mt. Edwards.

Other issues raised:

- what is the long term strategy to deal with homelessness and tent city?
- many feel the extension is a quick fix to a more complex issue
- how can the Province speed up the process
- has the Province considered to purchase the Baptist church building?
- instead of spending approx 24,000 on each homeless person - why not pilot a work program to empower individuals
- hire more mental health outreach workers
- why are landlords of nearby buildings being compensated for loss in revenue. Some people have seen a decrease in property taxes- those close to the tent city
- need to protect street youth
- more dialogue needed about Mt Edwards

City council will vote on approving the extension at next weeks council meeting.

Dave,

I am^{s.22} and Trudy Rotgans is acting on my behalf.

Here is a high level update of OHCS's key work this week. In addition, please find attached two Out-of-Province travel requests for your review and approval.

- Courthouse Tent City
 - Injunction hearing wrapped up on Tuesday, March 15th 2016. The judge asked for a two week leave to deliver his ruling, although it could come at any time.
 - BC Housing is looking to extend the seasonal shelter spaces in Victoria to ensure there are shelter spaces available well into the Spring. Should have confirmation next week.
 - Mt. Edwards transitional housing is full with 38 residents.
 - Choices Shelter and transitional housing in View Royal has 40 residents; 14 inside and 26 camping outdoors. Expected to be full by next week (capacity set at 50, may push to 60).
- Maple Ridge
 - BC Housing has extended funding for the winter shelter in Maple Ridge for three more months to accommodate the increased need for shelter in the community.
 - BC Housing also has purchased the Quality Inn Hotel in Maple Ridge for 5.5M to create 61 units of supportive housing, in partnership with Fraser Health.
 - A community information session will be held in Maple Ridge on March 29th to answer questions about the Quality Inn project.
 - An Op-ed from MRC on the Province's response to homelessness in Maple Ridge was sent to the local newspaper on March 17, 2016.
- Support Recovery Housing
 - The Housing Policy Branch has been working with the Ministry of Health, SDSI, and PSSG to develop a proposal to transition supportive recovery housing into a provincial program, administered by BC Housing, with operational funding contributions from the Ministry of Health and SDSI.
 - MRC briefed on March 15th; an information Note will now be shared with the ADM, Health Services and Quality Assurance so he can brief the Minister of Health to determine interest in moving forward.
 - Next steps will include bringing together the Ministers of Housing, Health and SDSI to reach consensus on funding

• s.13

- s.13,s.15

- Non-Compliant Elevators
 - OHCS is looking to address any potential impact on tenants who may need more housing assistance if their elevator is shut down and they have to move because they can't navigate stairs.
 - We are working with BCH to determine whether a housing outreach worker could be a potential solution. The outreach worker would be proactive in getting into the building to offer assistance to tenants.
 - Weekly calls have been set up with BCSA to coordinate what building will be effected by elevator shut downs and when.
- Home Inspectors
 - On March 15, new requirements for home inspectors were announced.
 - This fulfills our commitment to provide policy recommendations to PSSG.
 - Phase 2 amendments are underway, which will result in a single occupational standard and a common competency profile.

Respectfully,

Jeff Vasey

I spoke with Shayne about our plan B – ensuring longer range housing options.

He has committed to:

- extending Boys and Girls club operation indefinitely (pending City of Vic approvals – discussions going well)
- evolving Choices into permanent facility
 - pending View Royal approvals (discussions just initiated)
 - pending clarification of operation
 - Don Evans envisions possibility of 100 people in that facility
 - Not sure of MoH / VIHA partnership formalization??
- Mount Edwards is a go for next year
 - What is plan and state of discussion re long term permanent facility for 100? Clients

He agrees with the need for interim conditions / restrictions to manage number of people and site safety

Plan should include three parts

Housing options

Site Management

Site remediation

And all three parts of the plan should address relation building / partnerships / accountabilities / roles so that we do not loose any traction in the murkiness of jurisdictional grayness

I need a draft for Tuesday afternoon meeting and promised Shayne (and Dominic and cc. Roger) something to vet either tomorrow afternoon or Monday

I suggest a meeting with Brian Fellows and Jon Burbee ASAP (jen will arrange)

And I will leave it to you to speak with others whose input we may need

Hello Roger,

We're working towards the same end of moving in as many people as possible between the 23rd and 25th. Most of our staff will be oriented and working those days and we will have two vans available to help transport people and their belongings. We're already doing intakes with a good number of folks from the camp who have come forward and are interested in Mt. Ed. Our plan is to have as many people teed up as we can so we can hit the ground running on the 23rd.

Andy from the PHS in Vancouver will be coming over again this Tuesday and is arranging for the staff collaboration during the intake and startup phase that we discussed to start as soon as possible. Hopefully that can happen prior to the 23rd, but we appreciate whatever help they can offer.

Hi: I need a plan from both of you as to how soon you can get people housed at both sites. I know at the B&G club it was done by housing a 6 to 8 people a day. The approach now will be to get as many people housed as quickly as possible. As Mount Edwards will be ready to except people on Feb 23rd and YCC will open the same day can you send me a plan on how you are going to get people in to these two housing options. I need this as soon as possible

Thanks

Hi Jeff,

Did Don give you an update on Friday about how many people at Mt. Edwards are from tent city? There was some media on the weekend claiming most of the people at Mt. Edwards came from Rock Bay Landing but I seem to remember Don telling you how many people they walked over from the courthouse. Robin is asking if we know.

s.22 assured us that most of the people at Mt. Edwards walked over directly from the courthouse. There might be a few people that are from Rock Bay, but most came from Tent City. Don also told us that many people were uncomfortable with taking their stuff down at tent city and "moving" to Mt. Edwards because they were getting flack from other campers for leaving (this was the day before the planned protest/block party). Many people just left all their stuff at Tent City and are starting over fresh at Mt. Edwards. I suppose this could be a reason why people think the people in Mt. Edwards haven't come from tent city; since most of them didn't take down their shelters or come back for their stuff.

On a related note, do we know how many of the folks at Mount Edwards came from the courthouse? Just curious as there was some spin on the Tent City Facebook implying that most of the Mt Edwards people came from Rock Bay, I think. Pretty sure that's incorrect, but would be good to know.

Hi

Was reading some posts on the weekend saying that a lot of the people moving into Mt Edwards came from Rock Bay rather than tent city – do we have numbers on where the people who moved into Mt Edwards came from?

Hey Avery,

I'm writing an update for the Deputy, it's a weekly summary of how our key projects/issues are going here at OHCS.

Can you give me the latest about CRD Tent City? Just a few bullets, maybe 2-3, very high level, very focused on what is happening this week.

Thanks,
