Community Mental Health Beds/Units Definitions

Facility Type	Definition
Community Residential Care	Community Residential Care facilities are licensed under the Community Care and Assisted Living Act (CCALA) and provide services which include various levels of supports for individuals unable to live independently. These facilities are funded by Health Authorities and provide twenty-four hour, on-site support for three or more residents, including accommodation, meals, personal life skills support, medication administration and linkages with external mental health, addictions and local community services.
Community Assisted Living	Community Assisted Living facilities are registered under the Community Care and Assisted Living Act (CCALA) and provide services which include various levels of supports for individuals unable to live independently and require intensive rehabilitation programming or crisis management. These facilities are funded by Health Authorities and provide twenty-four hour support for three or more residents, including accommodation, meals, personal life skills support, medication administration, and linkages with external mental health, addictions and local community services.
Family Care Homes	Privately owned homes, operated by a family or an individual, and approved and funded by the Health Authorities according to regional standards enforced through contractual requirements. These homes accommodate a maximum of two individuals and provide 24-hour, on-site care and support for persons unable to live independently and requiring support services within a family setting. Services include room and board, assistance with personal life skills and linkage with community mental health, addictions and local community services.
Mental Health Supported Housing	Supported Housing includes a variety of Health Authority funded registered facilities under the CCALA, as well as facilities subjected to the Residential Tenancy Act and standards enforced by the regional health authority. Services include provision of safe, secure and affordable accommodation and support services, which vary in the level of intensity, such as assistance with personal life skills and crisis management. Supported Housing consists of a variety of housing and support models, including: a) Supported Independent Living (SIL): Self-contained, subsidized, private market apartment/mobile homes governed by Residential Tenancy Act. b) Scattered Supported Apartments: Clients live in self-contained subsidized private market apartments/mobile homes, usually one-bedroom units, governed by the Residential Tenancy Act. Clients pay reduced rent based on income (maximum 35 percent of income). BC Housing provides a rent subsidy. Off site home support and mental health and addictions services are coordinated through a mental health case manager. c) Clustered/Block Apartments: Self-contained, subsidized apartments governed by Residential Tenancy Act in a building where all units are occupied by persons with mental disorders. d) Congregate Housing: Bachelor suites governed by Residential Tenancy Act in a building where all units are occupied by persons with mental disorders, clients do not have kitchens within their suites and meals are provided; clients pay reduced rent. e) Group Homes: Clients share a communal home and participate in shared living arrangements with on-site and off-site support; clients stay usually short term - under 2 years. Not licensed under CCALA but must meet standards developed by the Health Authority. f) Supported Hotels: Single room occupancy, leased or owned hotels, managed by a non-profit agency; clients pay reduced rent based on income, receive on-site support and supervision. Clients usually stay long term - over two years.

Rental Subsidy	Rental subsidies funded by Health Authorities serving clients with mental disorders who have graduated from mental health Supported Housing and continue to require a rent subsidy and case management services from the local community mental health centre to maintain their affordable housing.
ACT/ICM Rental Subsidy	Rental subsidies funded by Health Authorities for clients receiving treatment and support services from Assertive Community Treatment (ACT) or Intensive Case Management (ICM) teams to live in safe and affordable scattered housing with support from the ACT/ICM team. These rental subsidies are only reported in this category when they are not captured in supported housing categories.
Community Crisis Stabilization Units	These units are funded by Health Authorities and licensed under the Community Care and Assisted Living Act (CCALA) providing assessment, treatment, stabilization, and referral for follow-up services for people requiring immediate psychiatric treatment. Crisis stabilization units are an alternative to Acute Inpatient Psychiatric Care and services are provided within a safe and supportive home-like environment. Units operate 24-hour a day, seven days a week and are staffed by on-site professional mental health and addictions staff such as a physician, nurses and social workers.
Emergency Shelters	These beds are funded fully or partially by Health Authorities providing temporary accommodation and meals for people with mental disorders who are homeless. Services include access to off-site mental health and addictions community services, support to obtain long-term housing and referrals to appropriate community services. Please note: Emergency Shelters fully funded by BC Housing are not included in this definition.
Crisis Residential Care (Short Stay Crisis Stabilization)	These units are funded by health authorities and may be licensed under the Community Care and Assisted Living Act (CCALA) providing short-term crisis stabilization services for people with mental disorders who are having acute psychosocial crises such as an eviction from their living arrangements, termination of employment or substance use overdose temporarily impacting their daily functioning. Services are provided by para-professional mental health and addictions staff, 24 hours a day, seven days a week, to assist clients in resolving their immediate crises and supporting clients to return to their usual level of functioning and to their former accommodation or living arrangements. These facilities should not be confused with Community Crisis Stabilization Units where the primary focus is on psychiatric treatment.

MHSU Bed Information

Project: 3000_1240

Filename: FOI MHSU Bed Information 2017-03-31.xlsx

Sources: Bed/Unit data submitted by the Health Authorities

Notes:

1 Bed data in this report is as of March 31, 2017.

2 Reports are counts of the beds available in each health authority as of March 31st.

3 All Bed/Unit data provided by the Health Authorities

4 As of the publishing date of this report all Health Authorities had verified the Bed/Unit counts.

5 The first year of collection for Acute, Tertiary, and ED bed/unit data was 2012.

6 The Northern Health Authority (NHA) was unable to provide complete data for the March 31, 2017 survey therefore, the survey was augmented by using NHA data from September 30, 2016.

Community Mental Health and Substance Use Beds/Units Definitions

Community Mental Health Beds/Units Definitions

Facility Type	Definition
Community Residential Care	Community Residential Care facilities are licensed under the Community Care and Assisted Living Act (CCALA) and provide services which include various levels of supports for individuals unable to live independently. These facilities are funded by Health Authorities and provide twenty-four hour, on-site support for three or more residents, including accommodation, meals, personal life skills support, medication administration and linkages with external mental health, addictions and local community services.
Community Assisted Living	Community Assisted Living facilities are registered under the Community Care and Assisted Living Act (CCALA) and provide services which include various levels of supports for individuals unable to live independently and require intensive rehabilitation programming or crisis management. These facilities are funded by Health Authorities and provide twenty-four hour support for three or more residents, including accommodation, meals, personal life skills support, medication administration, and linkages with external mental health, addictions and local community services.
Family Care Homes	Privately owned homes, operated by a family or an individual, and approved and funded by the Health Authorities according to regional standards enforced through contractual requirements. These homes accommodate a maximum of two individuals and provide 24-hour, on-site care and support for persons unable to live independently and requiring support services within a family setting. Services include room and board, assistance with personal life skills and linkage with community mental health, addictions and local community services.
Mental Health Supported Housing	Supported Housing includes a variety of Health Authority funded registered facilities under the CCALA, as well as facilities subjected to the Residential Tenancy Act and standards enforced by the regional health authority. Services include provision of safe, secure and affordable accommodation and support services, which vary in the level of intensity, such as assistance with personal life skills and crisis management. Supported Housing consists of a variety of housing and support models, including: a) Supported Independent Living (SIL): Self-contained, subsidized, private market apartment/mobile homes governed by Residential Tenancy Act. b) Scattered Supported Apartments: Clients live in self-contained subsidized private market apartments/mobile homes, usually one-bedroom units, governed by the Residential Tenancy Act. Clients pay reduced rent based on income (maximum 35 percent of income). BC Housing provides a rent subsidy. Off site home support and mental health and addictions services are coordinated through a mental health case manager. c) Clustered/Block Apartments: Self-contained, subsidized apartments governed by Residential Tenancy Act in a building where all units are occupied by persons with mental disorders.

	d) Congregate Housing: Bachelor suites governed by Residential Tenancy Act in a building where all units are occupied by persons with mental disorders, clients do not have kitchens within their suites and meals are provided; clients pay reduced rent. e) Group Homes: Clients share a communal home and participate in shared living arrangements with on-site and off-site support; clients stay usually short term - under 2 years. Not licensed under CCALA but must meet standards developed by the Health Authority. f) Supported Hotels: Single room occupancy, leased or owned hotels, managed by a non-profit agency; clients pay reduced rent based on income, receive on-site support and supervision. Clients usually stay long term - over two years.
Rental Subsidy	Rental subsidies funded by Health Authorities serving clients with mental disorders who have graduated from mental health Supported Housing and continue to require a rent subsidy and case management services from the local community mental health centre to maintain their affordable housing.
ACT/ICM Rental Subsidy	Rental subsidies funded by Health Authorities for clients receiving treatment and support services from Assertive Community Treatment (ACT) or Intensive Case Management (ICM) teams to live in safe and affordable scattered housing with support from the ACT/ICM team. These rental subsidies are only reported in this category when they are not captured in supported housing categories.
Community Crisis Stabilization Units	These units are funded by Health Authorities and licensed under the Community Care and Assisted Living Act (CCALA) providing assessment, treatment, stabilization, and referral for follow-up services for people requiring immediate psychiatric treatment. Crisis stabilization units are an alternative to Acute Inpatient Psychiatric Care and services are provided within a safe and supportive home-like environment. Units operate 24-hour a day, seven days a week and are staffed by on-site professional mental health and addictions staff such as a physician, nurses and social workers.
Emergency Shelters	These beds are funded fully or partially by Health Authorities providing temporary accommodation and meals for people with mental disorders who are homeless. Services include access to off-site mental health and addictions community services, support to obtain long-term housing and referrals to appropriate community services. Please note: Emergency Shelters fully funded by BC Housing are not included in this definition.
Crisis Residential Care (Short Stay Crisis Stabilization)	These units are funded by health authorities and may be licensed under the Community Care and Assisted Living Act (CCALA) providing short-term crisis stabilization services for people with mental disorders who are having acute psychosocial crises such as an eviction from their living arrangements, termination of employment or substance use overdose temporarily impacting their daily functioning. Services are provided by para-professional mental health and addictions staff, 24 hours a day, seven days a week, to assist clients in resolving their immediate crises and supporting clients to return to their usual level of functioning and to their former accommodation or living arrangements. These facilities should not be confused with Community Crisis Stabilization Units where the primary focus is on psychiatric treatment.

Community Substance Use Beds/Units Definitions
Adult Residential Treatment	Adult facilities are safe, structured, substance-free settings, usually licensed under the Community Care and Assisted Living Act (CCALA), and are funded by the health authorities. Residential substance use services provide time-limited, live-in intensive treatment for individuals who are experiencing substance use problems, and whose assessment indicates that they will be effectively served through intensive treatment. Professional practitioners provide assessment, structured individual, group counselling and may include family counselling/therapy, as well as psycho-social education and life-skills training. Some programs may also provide medical, nursing or psychiatric support. Staff are on-site 24 hours a day. Programs generally range from 30-90 days.
Adult Supportive Residential Services (Supportive Recovery)	A temporary residential, substance-free setting for adults, funded by health authorities to provide a safe, supportive environment for individuals who are experiencing substance use problems. Support recovery programs deliver low to moderate, time-limited supports and services for clients. They meet the needs of individuals who are preparing to enter residential treatment or those who have left more intensive residential treatment but who require additional support to reintegrate into the community, or for those requiring a longer term structured environment while preparing to transition into a more stable lifestyle. Activities may include coaching for daily living, community reintegration, vocational and educational planning, participating in mutual aid supports, and some counseling and case management. Individuals access outpatient and other community treatment services and supports. Services may be provided in facilities that are registered under the Community Care and Assisted Living Act (CCALA). Programs generally range from 30-90 days.
Adult Transitional Services	A temporary residential, substance-free setting for adults, funded by health authorities to provide a safe, supportive environment for individuals who are experiencing substance use problems, and requiring short- to medium- term supports (from 24 hours to 30 days). Transitional services may include dedicated stabilization beds and/or transition beds, and are provided in a community residential setting. Stabilization supports are provided to individuals in post-acute withdrawal from substances, and are offered either with or without medical supervision. Transition supports are provided to individuals who may be transitioning into or out of a residential or withdrawal management bed, or who are awaiting housing and may not have an adequate plan for continued treatment or an adequate level of support and safe housing while awaiting the transition.
Adult Withdrawal Management (detox) - Facility-Based	Withdrawal management services are provided in a community (non-hospital) residential setting funded by the health authorities. Individuals going through the acute stages of withdrawal from substances may be medically monitored or medically supervised which may involve a medical assessment by a physician and regular monitoring by a nurse and health care worker. Services are provided in facilities required to be licensed under the Community Care and Assisted Living Act (CCALA).
Adult Withdrawal Management (detox) - Supportive Residential	Withdrawal management services are provided through a supportive residential setting such as a Family Care Home or other community supportive residential setting. A Family Care Home is a privately owned home, operated by a family or an individual, and approved according to regional standards enforced through contractual requirements. Individuals going through the acute stages of withdrawal from substances receive support through minimally medical approaches through services such as home/mobile withdrawal management. Supports are provided by a variety of in-home services that could include outpatient or outreach substance use counsellors and nurses. The residential setting may or may not be licensed under the Community Care and Assisted Living Act (CCALA).

Facility Type	Definition
Youth Residential Treatment	Youth facilities are safe, structured, substance-free settings, usually licensed under the Community Care and Assisted Living Act (CCALA), and are funded by the health authorities. Residential substance use services provide time-limited, live-in intensive treatment for individuals who are experiencing substance use problems, and whose assessment indicates that they will be effectively served through intensive treatment. Professional practitioners provide assessment, structured individual, group counselling and may include family counselling/therapy, as well as psycho-social education and life-skills training. Some programs may also provide medical, nursing or psychiatric support. Staff are on-site 24 hours a day. Programs generally range from 30-90 days.
Youth Supportive Residential Services (Supportive Recovery)	A temporary residential, substance-free setting for youth, funded by health authorities to provide a safe, supportive environment for individuals who are substance use problems. Support recovery programs deliver moderate, time-limited supports and services for clients. They meet the needs of individuals who are preparing to enter residential treatment or those who have left more intensive residential treatment but who require additional support to reintegrate into the community, or for those requiring a longer term structured environment while preparing to transition into a more stable lifestyle. Activities may include coaching for daily living, community reintegration, vocational and educational planning, participating in mutual aid supports, and counseling and case management, and wrap-around services. Individuals access outpatient and other community treatment services and supports. Services may be provided in facilities that are registered under the Community Care and Assisted Living Act (CCALA). Programs generally range from 30-90 days.
Youth Transitional Services	A temporary residential, substance-free setting for youth, funded by health authorities to provide a safe, supportive environment for individuals who are experiencing substance use problems, and requiring short- to medium- term supports (from 24 hours to 30 days). Transitional services may include dedicated stabilization beds and/or transition beds, and are provided in a community residential setting. Stabilization supports are provided to individuals in post-acute withdrawal from substances, and are offered either with or without medical supervision. Transition supports are provided to individuals who may be transitioning into or out of a residential or withdrawal management bed, or who are awaiting housing and may not have an adequate plan for continued treatment or an adequate level of support and safe housing while awaiting the transition.
Youth Withdrawal Management (detox) - Facility-Based	Withdrawal management services are provided in a community (non-hospital) residential setting funded by the health authorities. Individuals going through the acute stages of withdrawal from substances are medically monitored or medically supervised which may involve a medical assessment by a physician and regular monitoring by a nurse and health care worker. Services are provided in facilities required to be licensed under the Community Care and Assisted Living Act (CCALA).
Youth Withdrawal Management (detox) - Supportive Residential	Withdrawal management services are provided through a supportive residential setting such as a Family Care Home or other community supportive residential setting. A Family Care Home is a privately owned home, operated by a family or an individual, and approved according to regional standards enforced through contractual requirements. Individuals going through the acute stages of withdrawal from substances receive support through minimally medical approaches through services such as home/mobile withdrawal management, and other related wrap-around supports. Supports are provided by a variety of in-home services that could include outpatient or outreach substance use counsellors and nurses. The residential setting may or may not be licensed under the Community Care and Assisted Living Act (CCALA).

Facility Type	Definition
Supported Housing - Adults	Supported Housing includes a variety of Health Authority funded facilities. Some may be licensed or registered under the CCALA if they provide a certain number of prescribed services. Some may be facilities subjected to the Residential Tenancy Act and standards enforced by the regional health authority. Services include provision of safe, secure and affordable accommodation and support services, which vary in the level of intensity, such as assistance with personal life skills and crisis management. Supported Housing consists of a variety of housing and support models, including but not limited to the following examples: a) Supported Independent Living (SIL): Self-contained, subsidized, private market apartments/mobile homes governed by Residential Tenancy Act. Individuals receive support on an outreach basis that includes life skills coaching, assisting clients get to appointments and community linkages. Supports may be high, medium or low. b) Scattered Supported Apartments: Housing is provided throughout a community in scattered sites. Services vary depending on the model used. In most cases, rental agreements are established under the Residential Tenancy Act (RTA). c) Clustered/Block Apartments: Self-contained, subsidized apartments governed by Residential Tenancy Act in a building where all units are occupied by persons with mental disorders. d) Congregate Housing: A cluster of units governed by Residential Tenancy Act in a building (e.g. 30 units out of a 100 unit building) receive support services. Supports may be high, medium or low. e) Dedicated Sites: Self–contained, subsidized units in a building where all units are occupied by persons with problematic substance use issues. BC Housing or a non-profit agency usually operates the housing. Health authority and/or non-profit agency provides support staff that provides services and link to community. f) Group Homes: Clients share a communal home and participate in shared living arrangements; clients stay usually short term – under 2 years. Not licensed under CCALA but must meet standards developed by the Health Authority. g) Supported Hotels: Single room occupancy, leased or owned hotels, managed by a non-profit agency; clients pay reduced rent based on income, receive on-site support and supervision. Clients usually stay long term – over two years.
Supported Housing - Youth	Supported Housing for youth includes a variety of Health Authority funded registered facilities and scattered housing units. Services include provision of safe, secure and affordable accommodation and support services, which vary in the level of intensity, such as assistance with personal life skills and crisis management. Supported Housing consists of a variety of housing and support models including but not limited to the examples provided for Adult Addictions Supported Housing above e.g. Youth SIL, Youth Supported Residential Stabilization.
Sobering and Assessment Beds	Beds/mats funded by the health authorities to provide a short-term (less than 24 hours) safe place for people under the influence of substances. Monitoring of health is provided as it relates to acute intoxication. The objective is to provide short-term respite, and not necessarily facilitate a referral to other substance use and/or mental health services, although that may be a secondary outcome of the service.

Facility Type	Definition
Low Barrier Housing	Low barrier housing is a form of supported housing funded by health authorities for individuals with substance use disorders including chronic alcoholism who are continually at risk of being homeless, or who are homeless and require a safe place to live. Individuals are provided an opportunity to become connected with health, social and other community services. There is no requirement for the person to be abstinent or involved in treatment to access this housing. There may be a blend of people with mental health and/or addiction issues residing in a low barrier housing setting. Many of the Single Room Occupancy (SRO) Hotels are low barrier housing.

MHSU Bed Survey for March 31, 2018: Bed Counts at Facility Level

PAS 3000.1240

Acute Mental Health and Substance Use Bed Definitions

Facility Type	Definition
Acute Care Inpatient Treatment Beds – Adults	Beds in a hospital psychiatric unit, designated under the Mental Health Act where inpatient psychiatric assessment, diagnosis, treatment, stabilization, emergency psychiatric care, and short-term rehabilitation of adults with serious mental illnesses and substance use problems are provided. Individuals may be admitted voluntarily or involuntarily.
Acute Care Inpatient Treatment Beds – Youth/ Adolescents	Beds in a hospital psychiatric unit, designated under the Mental Health Act where inpatient psychiatric assessment, diagnosis, treatment, stabilization, emergency psychiatric care, and short-term rehabilitation of youth/adolescents with serious mental illnesses and substance use problems are provided. Individuals may be admitted voluntarily or involuntarily. The age range for youth/adolescents is usually 12-17 years, but facilities may serve individuals up to age 19.
Acute Care Inpatient Treatment Beds – Geriatrics	Beds in a hospital psychiatric unit, designated under the Mental Health Act where inpatient psychiatric assessment, diagnosis, treatment, stabilization, emergency psychiatric care, and short-term rehabilitation of older adults with serious mental illnesses and substance use problems are provided. Individuals may be admitted voluntarily or involuntarily.
Designated Observation Units (Beds)	Designated Observation Units are designated under section D the Mental Health Act (Hospitals Designated as Observation Units under section 3(2) of the Act) to accept involuntary patients for short periods of assessment, treatment and stabilization, to be transported to a nearby designated mental health facility for final treatment. The prescribed period for purposes of detaining a patient in an observation unit is a maximum of five days after the second medical certificate for detainment and treatment is completed. A hospital designated as observation unit (most typically a rural hospital) will have an observation unit within the emergency room or a medical/surgical unit (or be adjacent to some other crisis stabilization program located within the hospital). These observation units are required to meet MoH standards for Hospital-based Psychiatric Emergency Services - Observation Units, see http://www.health.gov.bc.ca/library/publications/year/2000/MHA_HospitalEmergencyStandards.pdf
Acute Behavioral Stabilization Unit (ABSU)	Beds in an Acute Behavioral Stabilization Unit (ABSU) are linked closely with the emergency services of a hospital, designated under the Mental Health Act, to provide specialized, short-term, intensive mental health and substance use treatment. (To be used only regarding beds reported up to September 30, 2015.)

Facility Type	Definition
Acute Care Psychiatric Intensive Care Unit (PICU)	Beds located in a separate secure area (locked) within an acute care facility as part of a hospital psychiatric unit designated under the Mental Health Act for inpatient psychiatric assessment, diagnosis, treatment, stabilization, emergency psychiatric care, and short-term rehabilitation of patients with serious mental illnesses and substance use problems who exhibit severe and complex behaviours that can pose significant risks to their own safety and health and the safety and health of people around them.
Acute Care Short-term Assessment Unit	A short-term assessment unit located in acute care, usually in close proximity to the ED, for patients with a mental health crisis. Provides assessment and stabilization (no more than 3 days) and refers clients to appropriate acute and community services (such as IPU, Home Treatment or ACT). For example, the Archie Courtnall Centre and the 20 bed short term assessment unit at Vancouver General Hospital.
Adult or Youth Withdrawal Management (detox) – Hospital-Based	Dedicated beds within a hospital which provide medical treatment and support for adults or youth going through acute stages of withdrawal from alcohol or other drugs. Treatment may include drug therapy including medication management for physical stabilization and withdrawal, and for concurrent disorders.
Early Psychosis Intervention (EPI)	Specialized inpatient beds, designated under the Mental health Act, for individuals experiencing first psychotic episode disorders. An interdisciplinary team provides assessment, treatment & stabilization through a bio-psychosocial approach to the management of symptoms and functional deficits that includes culturally-sensitive, age appropriate, and family inclusive care. Community resources are involved throughout the hospitalization and discharge planning consistent with the Ministry of Health standards for Early Psychosis Intervention.

Mental Health and Substance Use (MH&SU) Bed Information

MHSU Bed Survey for March 31, 2018: Bed Counts at Facility Level

PAS 3000.1240

Tertiary Mental Health and Substance Use Bed Definitions
Facility Type	Definition
Tertiary Inpatient (Acute)	Short-term assessment and treatment for individuals with a mental disorder who require multidisciplinary inpatient treatment expertise and consultation to meet the complex needs related to the mental disorder.
Tertiary Inpatient (Rehabilitative)	Long term treatment and rehabilitation for individuals with a mental disorder who require multidisciplinary, inpatient treatment expertise and consultation to meet the complex needs related to the mental disorder.
Tertiary Inpatient (Geriatric)	Specialized inpatient beds, designated under the Mental Health Act, designed for seniors with age related mental disorder(s) or those seniors with severe mental health and substance use disorders aging in place who require specialized multidisciplinary, inpatient assessment, treatment and behaviour stabilization expertise to meet their complex needs related to the mental disorder.
Tertiary Inpatient (Geriatric Rehabilitative)	Long term treatment and rehabilitation for seniors with age related mental disorder(s) or those seniors with severe mental health and substance use disorders who require multidisciplinary, inpatient treatment expertise and consultation to meet the complex needs related to the mental disorder.
Tertiary – Residential Care	Specialized care in community residential facilities for individuals requiring longer-term residential psychosocial rehabilitation; services are provided by a multidisciplinary team including nurses, occupational therapists, outreach workers, social workers and psychiatrists. Treatment is coordinated with the community mental health substance use services to aid in seamless support for the individual as they relocate into the community.
Tertiary Eating Disorder Services	Specialized provincial, inpatient beds for treating youth and adults with eating disorders, primarily anorexia nervosa and bulimia nervosa who because of the severity of their condition require specialized care.
Tertiary Neuropsychiatry Services	Specialized provincial* inpatient assessment, treatment and rehabilitation services, including long-term secure care services such as counselling, education, medication, safety and risk assessments, and, depending on the severity and complexity of the behaviours and medical conditions, services may include radiology investigations such as MRI and CAT Scans and neuropsychological testing. * service is a provincial resource or a shared resource for two or more health authorities
Tertiary Mood Disorders Services	Specialized provincial inpatient services for adults with severe mood disorders including depression and bipolar disorder. Services include specialized assessment, diagnosis, treatment, stabilization and short-term rehabilitation services.

Facility Type	Definition
Tertiary Substance Use/Concurrent Services	Specialized inpatient services and activities organized specifically for assessment, treatment and support of those who are experiencing any combination of mental and substance use disorders.
Tertiary Refractory Psychosis Services	Specialized provincial inpatient beds, designated under the Mental health Act, for individuals with severe and complex refractory psychosis who are receiving a comprehensive assessment and short-term treatment through an interdisciplinary team. Most clients will stay approximately 90 days and will be referred back to secondary services, including acute care services.
Tertiary Child and Youth Services	Specialized inpatient beds (including psychiatric emergency short stay beds) designated under the Mental Health Act for children and youth with severe and complex mental health and substance use problems. Services include assessment, consultation, and short-term treatment.
Forensic Psychiatric Hospital Beds	A provincial secure, inpatient facility providing court-related forensic psychiatric assessment, treatment and community case management to mentally disordered adults who are in conflict with the law. Specialized forensic mental health teams work to enable the re-integration of individuals back into the community.
