Hi Lucinda,

This is my 2min statement for Epilepsy Awareness. Since the proclamation is quite long, I was only able to use a few sentences in the intro to capture the importance of this special awareness day. Please pass this on for proofing and let me know if there are modifications needed.

Thanks!

Dear Ms. Kang,

The BC Pharmacy Association invites you to our Pharmacy Excellence Awards Gala, which takes place on May 11, 2019 between 5:45 pm to 9:30 pm at the Hyatt Regency Vancouver.

Each year, this gala recognizes the achievements of British Columbia's pharmacists making an impact to patients and B.C. communities. The gala is attended by hundreds of pharmacists and health-care professionals whose mission is to improve the quality of care in the province.

Burnaby-Deer Lake constituent Dr. Alan Low, Primary Care Pharmacist and Pharmacy Lead at BioPro Biologics, will be recognized for his innovative work in pharmacy.

Given health is a priority for legislators in the province, we think this would be a great event for you to learn first-hand how pharmacists work to promote high-quality patient care for British Columbians.

The BC Pharmacy Association will be handling the official Media Release announcement. The award recipients will be announced in the evening at the Awards Gala on May 11. We will not be making the winners know publicly until that evening on social media.

The BC Pharmacy Association represents more than 3,200 dedicated and highly-trained community pharmacists to provide much needed therapies and services to patients throughout B.C. We play a critical role in improving access to better and more efficient services and seek ways in which to respond to the ever-growing demands on the primary care system.

Devyani Basoodetsing, Executive Assistant to the CEO and Board, will reach out to you and your staff to provide more information and to discuss this invitation. She can be reached at devyani.basoodetsing@bcpharmacy.ca or by phone at (604) 269-2884.

We look forward to your attendance at our Awards Gala.

Hello Burnaby offices!

On behalf of Minister Dix, it is my privilege pass along this invitation to your Member to the commemoration of Journey to Freedom Day on Saturday, April 27 at 12:00 p.m. The event will take place at Jack Poole Plaza in Vancouver (1055 Canada Place).

The Journey to Freedom Day Act, passed by the Canadian Parliament in 2015, recognizes April 30th of every year as a national day of commemoration of the exodus of Vietnamese refugees and their acceptance in Canada after the fall of Saigon on April 30, 1975. April 30 is observed by many of the Vietnamese diaspora around the world as a day of remembrance.

For the first time last year, the Government of BC hosted an event at the Legislative Assembly in Victoria to commemorate the tragic events surrounding the exodus of Vietnamese refugees; to honour the hundreds of thousands of Vietnamese lives that perished in this perilous journey; and to recognize the immense contributions that Vietnamese refugees have made to their communities. It is our privilege to have the opportunity to mark this solemn occasion in Vancouver this year.

The Minister would be delighted if your Member is able to join. Please kindly advise if they will be attending, and feel free to reach out directly to me at 250-880-5019 if you have any questions.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Thank you for working on this project. I understand that it was not easy. Let's chat about what you hope to get out of this as a result. For me, I want to hear what merchants in Burnaby has to say about small business, life, and government policy. May I also extend this invitation to other MLA's in Burnaby if they wish to join us?

Good morning, another three days to go before the session enters spring break!

I am in the process of arranging a dinner meeting between you and Japanese small business representatives in Burnaby on Friday, April 26th.

Maybe it would be 8-10 people gathering. I appreciate if you have any suggestion of the venue, where is quiet and easily accessible location. Any good Taiwanese?

I know some Japanese restaurants, but most of them are pub style or busy and noisy.

I googled and found some. Cactus and Earls might be too common, but dining areas look more spacious than those of downtown.

Dear Mrs Kang,

Martin from the explorasian festival forwarded your contact.

My name is Gratiannie and I am a journalist for bilingual community newspaper The/La Source. The paper is covering ExplorASIA festival in next week's edition.

1. > Why was Taiwan chosen as one of the culinary events this year in the programming of the festival?
2. > What are the misconceptions as well as little-known facts about Taiwanese cuisine (and that these events then try to address)?
3. > How would you describe the Taiwanese cuisine in Vancouver versus the more known Asian cuisine of China or Japan (sushis)?
4. > Why are there less restaurants of that cuisine in Vancouver, when other Asian communities are more represented?
5. > How has the Taiwanese cuisine scene evolve over the years in Vancouver according to you?
6. > What are the specific culinary skills Chefs of Taiwanese cuisine must have?
7. > What is the Taiwanese dish that makes your heart beat in particular and why?

Good Afternoon Anne

I'm not sure that you remember me but we met at the insulin pump announcement at VGH. I am the advocacy chair for BC/Yukon for Diabetes Canada and a patient advocate for diabetes in general. I am also a resident of Burnaby.

I wanted to let you know that we will be in Victoria meeting with various members of the legislature on May 8th and 9th. We are meeting with the NDP caucus on May 8th but we would appreciate the opportunity to meet with you at your convenience on May 9th for 30 - 60 minutes. Your responsibility for BC Seniors is important to our diabetes discussion and we believe we can provide you with valuable information to support your portfolio.

To register, please provide your name, organization name, and your preferred call time (A, B, or C) in an email message to: multiculturalism@gov.bc.ca We will provide a toll free dial in number to participants one business day in advance of the call.

If you cannot join the above conference calls, we would be pleased to provide you with feedback and answer any questions you may have concerning your application. Please email requests for feedback to multiculturalism@gov.bc.ca. A ministry staff person will respond to your email after April 1, 2019.

Before and during WWII, baseball played an important role in connecting and fostering friendship between Canadians and Japanese-Canadians. Even now, baseball bridges our nations and people.

This year in August 13th to 18th, Canada-Japan-U.S. university baseball tournament will be held in Vancouver. UBC, Tokyo University and Keio University from Japan and California State University, Sacramento take part in the tournament. It will be the first time for Japanese universities to visit and play a game here.

Dear Anne,

We are always very grateful to your kindness and thoughtfulness towards Japanese Canadians community.

Today, we would like to draw your attention to Japanese Canadians history and one of their highlights this year.

As you know, there is a long history of Japanese Canadians, starting with the first immigrant arrived in 1877.

Japanese Canadians went through hard times during the World War II, but they overcame hardships and racial discrimination.

They count on BC government's firm stand on policies of promoting multiculturalism and inclusive society. Because of their past experiences, they eager to live in harmony with other ethnic communities.

This year, the Japanese Canadian community is celebrating the 100th anniversary of Vancouver Asahi's first victory in baseball game.

Vancouver Asahi was baseball team formed by Japanese Canadians before WWII. This year, this legendary baseball team story is spotlighted. This is about more than just baseball.

I made a background brief note of Japanese Canadians history for you. Please refer to the attached.

Subject: Parliamentary Statements at the BC Legislature

Good morning Masayo,

The weather at Victoria is finally sunny and beautiful. I think Vancouver is experiencing beautiful weather today, as well.

I just want really thank you and the Consul General for the wonderful hospitality and invitation to so many wonderful Japanese events that celebrate and promote the Japanese culture.

I want you to know that you have a friend and advocate for the Japanese community here in BC and you can always call or email me with any inquires that may come up.

As well, I would like to offer to help promote anything you would like to highlight, either in your ministry or your community. As I spend my time at the BC Legislature, Monday through Thursday, MLA's have the opportunity to provide statements celebrating their community. These are usually things/events/issues we want people know; topics are usually happy, celebration (maybe the death or life of someone very significant), recognition of a person or a special day, anything non-controversial.

Some examples of the statements I've made are: Burnaby Local Heroes, James Liu (in honor of a Taiwanese Artist who past away suddenly), Kushiro Cup Winner, Business Excellence Awards, BC Breast Cancer Awareness, Gaecheonjoel (A special Korean Day), Kukkiwon Taekwondo Demonstration Team..... and many many more.

There is rarely, if none, any statements made to celebrate the Japanese community. I would like to change that. With our efforts together, I think we can bring more attention to the wonderful work the Japanese community is doing and contributing to the beautiful multicultural mosaic of BC.

As well, I am working closely with the Indonesian and Korean communities. For the Indonesian communities, I have been highlighting their businesses and trade opportunities here in BC. through social media and other grassroots methods. For the Korean community, I am like family, so I just go where they invite me. It would be an honor to be able to work even closer with your community.

So in closing, please let me know if there are topics that I can help highlight as I find opportunities to make my Statements at the BC Legislature.

My most sincere warm wishes,
Anne Kang

Hey Raj and Anne,
Sharing some additional QA's relating to Nanaimo. I don't think this will come up as this isn't a modular event. But wanted to flag with you anyways. We have two modular openings tomorrow. Again I don't think it will come up and we're not expecting much media. Some additional QA's for tomorrow around Nanaimo and modulars.

Q: The RCMP in Nanaimo reported a dramatic increase in crime since the opening of the two modulars there. Should the community be worried about the same happening here?

A: The situation in Nanaimo was unique as the new housing had to be provided within a six-week period, and increased calls for service were expected due to the rapid relocation of many vulnerable people.

A Community Advisory Committee is part of every supportive housing project and includes representation from BC Housing, the community and police - to make sure concerns are addressed quickly and that the neighbours are part of the problem-solving on issues as they arise.

Q: In light of the increase in crime in Nanaimo, will you consider different/better safety measures at this modular site?

A: The safety of residents, staff and the surrounding community is a priority in all of our supportive housing projects.

The situation in Nanaimo was unique as the new housing had to be provided within a six-week period, and increased calls for service were expected due to the rapid relocation of many vulnerable people.

This building, like all others, will have experienced staff present 24/7. Residents will have proper IDs and will be buzzed in by staff at the reception.

A community advisory committee with representatives from staff, BC Housing, police and the neighbouring community will also ensure that everyone is part of problem-solving any issues as they arise.

Dear Ms. Anne Kang,

I, on behalf of the British Columbia Youth Parliament, would like to invite you to our annual Gala, Parliament Night, coming up on Friday, April 26th from 7 PM to 10 PM at Heritage Hall in Vancouver.

This year we are celebrating 90 years of the British Columbia Youth Parliament, thanking all who have helped us get this far, and looking forward to the years ahead. We would be thrilled to have you in attendance to celebrate this milestone with us.

We have been lucky to have many elected officials in the past and present supporting our work to serve the youth of BC, and would appreciate your support in attending and/or raising awareness about our event.

As you may know, Parliament Night is one of our biggest fundraisers for our projects such as Regional Youth Parliaments, which we run for high-school aged students, and Camp Phoenix, a summer camp we organize and run for youth who would otherwise not be able to attend camp, which we have been running for over 50 years.

This year, Parliament Night will include fantastic guest speakers, a silent auction, delicious food and drinks, and live music. Should you be able to attend the event, we would be happy to offer you a ticket free of charge.

For more information or if you have any questions, please feel free to contact me at premier@bcyp.org. We look forward to seeing you there!

Many thanks,

Sheridan Hawse

Hello Burnaby offices!

On behalf of Minister Dix, it is my privilege pass along this invitation to your Member to the commemoration of Journey to Freedom Day on Saturday, April 27 at 12:00 p.m.

The event will take place at Jack Poole Plaza in Vancouver (1055 Canada Place).

The Journey to Freedom Day Act, passed by the Canadian Parliament in 2015, recognizes April 30th of every year as a national day of commemoration of the exodus of Vietnamese refugees and their acceptance in Canada after the fall of Saigon on April 30, 1975. April 30 is observed by many of the Vietnamese diaspora around the world as a day of remembrance.

For the first time last year, the Government of BC hosted an event at the Legislative Assembly in Victoria to commemorate the tragic events surrounding the exodus of Vietnamese refugees; to honour the hundreds of thousands of Vietnamese lives that perished in this perilous journey; and to recognize the immense contributions that Vietnamese refugees have made to their communities. It is our privilege to have the opportunity to mark this solemn occasion in Vancouver this year.

The Minister would be delighted if your Member is able to join. Please kindly advise if they will be attending, and feel free to reach out directly to me at 250-880-5019 if you have any questions.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,

Thuy

Hi Anne, Minister Dix is going to this event. It would be a nice event for you to attend and take some photos. However, you have to rush from the Hike for Hospice Burnaby to the Walk for Alzheimer's event. If you attend this Walk for Alzheimer's event, I will see if we could get a parking.

Here are my answers to your questions. Please excuse my grammar or typos. I hope you enjoy my thoughts about Taiwanese food.

Anne

1. > Why was Taiwan chosen as one of the culinary events this year in the programming of the festival? This is an application based event to Asian Heritage Month Society ExplorAsian 2019. It just so happens that Taipei Economic Cultural Office, in a timely coincidence, is bringing two famous Taiwanese Chef's to promote Taiwanese Culinary Art here in Vancouver, as well, provide an opportunity for people to enroll in their program. – "find back", reminisce, or keep up to date with the latest trends of Taiwanese culinary trends.
2. > What are the misconceptions as well as little-known facts about Taiwanese cuisine (and that these events then try to address)? Taiwanese Culinary Art is in fact an art in itself. Not only are Taiwanese foods beautiful to look at, architecturally impressive, aesthetically pleasing, and can be thematic in colors and seasons of food. Some misconceptions of Taiwanese food is that there will always be white rice to every meal, that we all know how to make fried rice, that we eat gyoza (which is Japanese dumplings). Sweet and sour soup, which is one of my favorites, is popular and similar in Asian countries but most popular in Hong Kong style cuisine, but less in Taiwan. There are no fortune cookies in Taiwanese cuisine, nor can you purchase them in Taiwan. It was invented by a Hong Kong immigrant living in San Francisco at the time. Taiwanese cuisine is world famous for its night market food; and comes in a fantastic variety of choices from drinks, to skewers, to sweets and savories, to cookies and of course, the DEEP FRIED FOOD. The food at the night market are ridiculously cheap and delicious. I have gone back to Taiwan for short trips and found that I can spend less than $10 for a huge buffet of food that would take me through several kilometers of food trucks.
3. > How would you describe the Taiwanese cuisine in Vancouver versus the more known Asian cuisine of China or Japan (sushis)? When I eat Taiwanese food, I describe it to my friends who are trying it for the first time that it is like tasting "dance" or tasting "fireworks" in one's mouth. While Japanese food are delicious, they tend to give me the impression of fresh, healthy, and in comparison to Taiwanese food, much more subtle in taste. China is a huge country and continent. Each and every one of their regions have a different style of cuisine, use of spice, and depending on geographical region, would focus either on particular proteins, seafood or vegetables. Because Taiwan is a such a progressive culture, with chef travelling afar to be educated and bring back inspirations, one can taste the "traditional Taiwanese food or snacks" which we term go-za-bee; as well, the artistic fusion of international flavors with Taiwanese food. Hence, my suggestion of tasting "dance or fireworks" means that it is full of flavor, colors, spices, and tastes that are so original and out of this world. They can be in the form of desserts, appetizers, main dishes, and even soup! Also, important for young taste buds, Bubble Tea is a creation of Taiwan. The amazing Q-Q or chewy texture of the giant tapioca pearls are the creative innovations of Taiwanese chefs. Now, not only are there white sugary pearls, pearls now come in match, taro, black sugar, and so many other creative flavors.
4. > Why are there less restaurants of that cuisine in Vancouver, when other Asian communities are more represented? There are many restaurants and cafes owned or operated by Taiwanese-Canadians, but not everyone wants to cook or create Taiwanese cuisine. For example one of many people's favorite Taiwanese restaurant is Calvin's Szechuan Restaurant in Vancouver. It is owned by a Taiwanese Family, yet it is a fusion of Taiwanese food and Szechuan. Even the word, Taiwan is not in the name of the restaurant, but everyone who dines there know that it is the flavor of Taiwan. Vancouver is a place where the world comes together. I thoughts are that fusion food or inspired food have become a more common place than that of solely one ethnic food. For example, it is not uncommon in Burnaby to see Chinese Indian Restaurants. So, talk to your Taiwanese friends and ask them where to find their favorite Taiwanese restaurants.
- 5. > How has the Taiwanese cuisine scene evolve over the years in Vancouver according to you? There has been few new traditional Taiwanese restaurants in Vancouver over the years, in comparison to Chinese regional restaurants or Japanese restaurants. Taiwan was under the influence (occupation) of Japan during the WWII. Since then, Taiwanese people love Japanese food and many Taiwanese restaurant owners operate Japanese Cuisine.

6. > What are the specific culinary skills Chefs of Taiwanese cuisine must have? (this is too technical for me)

7. > What is the Taiwanese dish that makes your heart beat in particular and why? I am from the city Chang-Hua, and I love Chang-Hua meatballs. Taiwanese meatballs comes in various styles. It has a glutenous outer wrap with meet and bamboo shoots, usually fatty pork, and green onions. The meat ball various in the inside of how it is compacted according to the regional taste (in Taiwan) The most popular one, of course is from Chang-Hua, middle regional city of Taiwan. Taiwanese meatball can be steamed, boiled in high heat oil, or deep fried in hot hot oil until the glutinous rice outer layer is crisp, yet still chewy. What makes my heart beat is the crispy yet chewy outer layer, the bamboo shoots mixed with fatty pork, and last of never the least is the Taiwanese sweat and sour sauce that is pour on top of the Taiwanese meatball.

8. > Anything you would like to add for people who are considering joining the event this year? I would encourage everyone to check out this event because Taiwan is such a small, but beautiful island. Though small in geography, it is big on taste. The passion of the Taiwanese people to eat and enjoy food is something for everyone to discover for themselves.

Dear Amanda,

COSCO is a co-sponsor and organizer with the University of Montreal for a conference on 'deprescribing'. It will be held in the Vancouver area (most likely in Richmond).

We're planning for up to 200 people from around the province to attend.

It will tackle the topic of appropriate medicines/prescriptions for old people - putting it into plain language...

We would like to invite the Minister to speak briefly at this conference.

If he is available, interested or wishes to send someone in his stead, we'd be happy to provide more details.

No pharmaceutical companies are invited or involved.

There will be medical professionals, researchers and, of course interested/engaged seniors.

Please let me know if there is someone else with whom we should be correspond.

Thank you for your consideration,

Yup! If indoor, i have a light ring (so-called beauty ring, cuz it makes your complexions a lot more vibrant)

The DJI OSMO has a thick handle, which I got use to, but I'm guessing it was designed for hand held ergonomics. It is short, so you need to consider what and how do you usually shoot.

Would you be shooting in doors, so your DJI stands on a table top?;

or outdoors, so you DJI standings on an outdoor surface such as a fence or lawn bench?;

or a friend is video tapping you...

then DJI is adequate for your use.

If you want to something of your body height, then DJI OSMO wouldn't be your choice.

I plan my filming to how I can put the OSMO into the best use: in my office or an outdoor space where there is a public structure where I can place my OSMO. The OSMO 2 was given to me by friends, so It wasn't a choice between several items.

Also, yes, it would be fantastic if you bought a mic lapel for the video shoot. Voice and audible words are part of a successful video. They range from $12.99 to $25.99. Anytime above that (for our abilities) would be too luxurious. I'm looking to buy one recently. I'll let you know which one I picked.

I hope this info helps.

Cheers!

MEDIA RELEASE

For Immediate Release

April 15, 2019

Local MLAs Anne Kang and Janet Routledge welcome $125,000 in grant funding for public safety and crime prevention in Burnaby
BURANBY – New Democrat MLAs Anne Kang and Janet Routledge are welcoming one-time grants totaled at $125,000 for Burnaby through the Crime Prevention and Remediation grant program, announced last Friday. Programs that mentor youth to resist joining gangs, support women escaping violence and help Indigenous families heal from intergenerational traumas will benefit from this funding.

“Women escaping violence face many barriers on the path towards healing,” said Kang. “With these grants, organizations will be able to create sensitive programs for those in the community who need it most.”

“The recipients of this year’s grants work with some of Burnaby’s most vulnerable,” said Routledge. “The healing and restorative nature of these projects will address the root issues of crime and help make Burnaby a safer place for all of us.”

Organizations in Burnaby receiving funding are:

<!--[if !supportLists]-->•<!--[endif]-->Cameray Child & Family Services, $10,000 to provide two, seven-week support groups for girls who have experienced sexual assault by creating an emotionally safe space for girls to create social connections with other girls who have gone through similar experiences.

<!--[if !supportLists]-->•<!--[endif]-->Vancouver & Lower Mainland Multicultural Family Support Services Society, $30,000 for a project that will focus on enhancing the health and safety of immigrant and refugee women by providing them with an understanding of the impact of domestic and sexual violence on the risks to their health and lives and that of their children through a series of workshops.

<!--[if !supportLists]-->•<!--[endif]-->AWCEP Asian Women for Equality Society, $25,000 to provide workshops and legal clinics for vulnerable women in the sex trade and service providers to increase their awareness and understanding of criminal records while assisting with pardon applications to reduce barriers to women's access to employment, education and participation in community activities.

<!--[if !supportLists]-->•<!--[endif]-->Dixon Transition Society, $30,000 for a project that will allow for an Indigenous Community Liaison to build a strong, culturally safe, Indigenous component into Dixon Transition Society's programs.

<!--[if !supportLists]-->•<!--[endif]-->The Salvation Army, $30,000 for a project that supports women and children survivors of domestic violence to settle into new homes following their stay in a transition house by providing essential and priority items such as beds and mattresses, linens and towels, kitchen pots and pans, dishes and other items.

The Crime Prevention and Remediation grant program is funded through proceeds of the Civil Forfeiture Office, which undermines the profit motive behind criminal activity by taking away tools and proceeds of crime and putting them back into programs that support community crime prevention and safety.

In total, over $6 million in grants and more than 170 local organizations and projects – led by community not-for-profits, and school districts – will receive funding through this grant program in 2018-19. Since 2006, the Crime Prevention and Remediation grant program has provided more than $39 million to help organizations throughout B.C. to further their crime prevention efforts.

Dear Anne,

We are always very grateful to your kindness and thoughtfulness towards Japanese Canadians community.

Today, we would like to draw your attention to Japanese Canadians history and one of their highlights this year.

As you know, there is a long history of Japanese Canadians, starting with the first immigrant arrived in 1877.

Japanese Canadians went through hard times during the World War II, but they overcame hardships and racial discrimination.

They count on BC government's firm stand on policies of promoting multiculturalism and inclusive society. Because of their past experiences, they eager to live in harmony with other ethnic communities.

This year, the Japanese Canadian community is celebrating the 100th anniversary of Vancouver Asahi's first victory in baseball game.

Vancouver Asahi was baseball team formed by Japanese Canadians before WWII. This year, this legendary baseball team story is spotlighted. This is about more than just baseball.

I made a background brief note of Japanese Canadians history for you. Please refer to the attached.

Subject: Parliamentary Statements at the BC Legislature

Good morning Masayo,

The weather at Victoria is finally sunny and beautiful. I think Vancouver is experiencing beautiful weather today, as well.

I just want really thank you and the Consul General for the wonderful hospitality and invitation to so many wonderful Japanese events that celebrate and promote the Japanese culture.

I want you to know that you have a friend and advocate for the Japanese community here in BC and you can always call or email me with any inquires that may come up.

As well, I would like to offer to help promote anything you would like to highlight, either in your ministry or your community. As I spend my time at the BC Legislature, Monday through Thursday, MLA's have the opportunity to provide statements celebrating their community. These are usually things/events/issues we want people know; topics are usually happy, celebration (maybe the death or life of someone very significant), recognition of a person or a special day, anything non-controversial.

Some examples of the statements I've made are: Burnaby Local Heroes, James Liu (in honor of a Taiwanese Artist who past away suddenly), Kushiro Cup Winner, Business Excellence Awards, BC Breast Cancer Awareness, Gaecheonjoel (A special Korean Day), Kukkiwon Taekwondo Demonstration Team..... and many many more.

There is rarely, if none, any statements made to celebrate the Japanese community. I would like to change that. With our efforts together, I think we can bring more attention to the wonderful work the Japanese community is doing and contributing to the beautiful multicultural mosaic of BC.

As well, I am working closely with the Indonesian and Korean communities. For the Indonesian communities, I have been highlighting their businesses and trade opportunities here in BC. through social media and other grassroots methods. For the Korean community, I am like family, so I just go where they invite me. It would be an honor to be able to work even closer with your community.

So in closing, please let me know if there are topics that I can help highlight as I find opportunities to make my Statements at the BC Legislature.

My most sincere warm wishes,

Anne Kang

Hi Ryan!

I can't wait for April 18th, YVR I CA FLY tour. Can you give me more information on it? I only know about the date. I have a few items on my calendar already. If I have more details, I can move things around to accommodate the experience.

After that, I will make statement and a video to highlight this program, which would be really helpful information for families with members with autism.

Thanks,
Anne

The Vaisakhi open house is confirmed for April 25th at 4:30pm. I've created a poster in English and one in Punjabi to advertise for the event and I'm connecting with Harman Pandher to help get the word out as well.

I'm going to be organizing future "Coffee With Anne" events . I'm looking into what dates and times will work and also an outline of how we want these events to flow.

Our office also needs to have a security plan, risk assessment, and a security check/recommendations from the RCMP, so I'm handling and organizing that as well.

I've also been trying to see how we can make the most out of having a staff member that is part of two offices and what we can do to work together with events like Korean Fest or possibly BBQ's, with relation to your position as Parliamentary Secretary for Seniors, and with Bruce's ministry.

Let me know what you think!

Hi Anne,

Apparently, Leticia, the president wrote a complete script. This is just to give an idea of who they are and what kind of interview/ question you would like to give tomorrow. Hope it helps. Thank you.

Hi David and Apollo,

I just want to give you two a heads up that I may not be able to attend any events, including the seniors event with David. I'll keep everyone posted later tonight and early tomorrow morning again.

Apollo, perhaps, we can pass some speaking notes to David regarding seniors, if he wishes to use them?

My apologies,
Anne

Subject: Taiwanese food interview
Date: April 30, 2019 12:21:00 PM

1. > Why was Taiwan chosen as one of the culinary events this year in the programming of the festival? This is an application based event to Asian Heritage Month Society ExplorAsian 2019. It just so happens that Taipei Economic Cultural Office, in a timely coincidence, is bringing two famous Taiwanese Chef's to promote Taiwanese Culinary Art here in Vancouver, as well, provide an opportunity for people to enroll in their program. – "find back", reminisce, or keep up to date with the latest trends of Taiwanese culinary trends.
2. > What are the misconceptions as well as little-known facts about Taiwanese cuisine (and that these events then try to address)? Taiwanese Culinary Art is in fact an art in itself. Not only are Taiwanese foods beautiful to look at, architecturally impressive, aesthetically pleasing, and can be thematic in colors and seasons of food. Some misconceptions of Taiwanese food is that there will always be white rice to every meal, that we all know how to make fried rice, that we eat gyoza (which is Japanese dumplings). Sweet and sour soup, which is one of my favorites, is popular and similar in Asian countries but most popular in Hong Kong style cuisine, but less in Taiwan. There are no fortune cookies in Taiwanese cuisine, nor can you purchase them in Taiwan. It was invented by a Hong Kong immigrant living in San Francisco at the time. Taiwanese cuisine is world famous for its night market food; and comes in a fantastic variety of choices from drinks, to skewers, to sweets and savories, to cookies and of course, the DEEP FRIED FOOD. The food at the night market are ridiculously cheap and delicious. I have gone back to Taiwan for short trips and found that I can spend less than $10 for a huge buffet of food that would take me through several kilometers of food trucks.
3. > How would you describe the Taiwanese cuisine in Vancouver versus the more known Asian cuisine of China or Japan (sushis)? When I eat Taiwanese food, I describe it to my friends who are trying it for the first time that it is like tasting "dance" or tasting "fireworks" in one's mouth. While Japanese food are delicious, they tend to give me the impression of fresh, healthy, and in comparison to Taiwanese food, much more subtle in taste. China is a huge country and continent. Each and every one of their regions have a different style of cuisine, use of spice, and depending on geographical region, would focus either on particular proteins, seafood or vegetables. Because Taiwan is a such a progressive culture, with chef travelling afar to be educated and bring back inspirations, one can taste the "traditional Taiwanese food or snacks" which we term go-za-bee; as well, the artistic fusion of international flavors with Taiwanese food. Hence, my suggestion of tasting "dance or fireworks" means that it is full of flavor, colors, spices, and tastes that are so original and out of this world. They can be in the form of desserts, appetizers, main dishes, and even soup! Also, important for young taste buds, Bubble Tea is a creation of Taiwan. The amazing Q-Q or chewy texture of the giant tapioca pearls are the creative innovations of Taiwanese chefs. Now, not only are there white sugary pearls, pearls now come in match, taro, black sugar, and so many other creative flavors.
4. > Why are there less restaurants of that cuisine in Vancouver, when other Asian communities are more represented? There are many restaurants and cafes owned or operated by Taiwanese-Canadians, but not everyone wants to cook or create Taiwanese cuisine. For example one of many people's favorite Taiwanese restaurant is Calvin's Szechuan Restaurant in Vancouver. It is owned by a Taiwanese Family, yet it is a fusion of Taiwanese food and Szechuan. Even the word, Taiwan is not in the name of the restaurant, but everyone who dines there know that it is the flavor of Taiwan. Vancouver is a place where the world comes together. I thoughts are that fusion food or inspired food have become a more common place than that of solely one ethnic food. For example, it is not uncommon in Burnaby to see Chinese Indian Restaurants. So, talk to your Taiwanese friends and ask them where to find their favorite Taiwanese restaurants.
- 5. > How has the Taiwanese cuisine scene evolve over the years in Vancouver according to you? There has been few new traditional Taiwanese restaurants in Vancouver over the years, in comparison to Chinese regional restaurants or Japanese restaurants. Taiwan was under the influence (occupation) of Japan during the WWII. Since then, Taiwanese people love Japanese food and many Taiwanese restaurant owners operate Japanese Cuisine.

6. > What are the specific culinary skills Chefs of Taiwanese cuisine must have? (this is too technical for me)

7. > What is the Taiwanese dish that makes your heart beat in particular and why? I am from the city Chang-Hua, and I love Chang-Hua meatballs. Taiwanese meatballs comes in various styles. It has a glutenous outer wrap with meet and bamboo shoots, usually fatty pork, and green onions. The meat ball various in the inside of how it is compacted according to the regional taste (in Taiwan) The most popular one, of course is from Chang-Hua, middle regional city of Taiwan. Taiwanese meatball can be steamed, boiled in high heat oil, or deep fried in hot hot oil until the glutinous rice outer layer is crisp, yet still chewy. What makes my heart beat is the crispy yet chewy outer layer, the bamboo shoots mixed with fatty pork, and last of never the least is the Taiwanese sweat and sour sauce that is pour on top of the Taiwanese meatball.

8. > Anything you would like to add for people who are considering joining the event this year? I would encourage everyone to check out this event because Taiwan is such a small, but beautiful island. Though small in geography, it is big on taste. The passion of the Taiwanese people to eat and enjoy food is something for everyone to discover for themselves.

- Anne Kang, MLA for Burnaby-Deer Lake, a proud Canadian of Taiwanese Heritage. Food lover.
