

Confidential Q's & A's
Economic Development Division
LNG-Buy BC Advocate
April 29, 2016

Q. What does Gordon Wilson do?

- A. Gordon Wilson is tasked with helping to connect BC businesses to the LNG industry. His role is to make sure that BC businesses are properly informed about the opportunities, properly prepared to meet the stringent requirements for pre-bid qualification, and to identify and help remove impediments to BC business engagement.

Q. Why does BC need an LNG-Buy BC Advocate? We don't have a mining advocate or forestry advocate.

- A. The LNG industry is well-established globally with well-established supply-chains. Given the global nature of the industry and the magnitude of these investments, the largest BC will ever have experienced, it is important that our businesses are thoroughly familiar with best practices, established criteria for pre-bid qualification and certifications.

Unlike existing industries in the province, BC companies will have to engage on these established international standards and be ready to compete and succeed. We are confident that BC business will not only succeed, but will innovate and thrive in this sector and the Advocate is there to provide whatever assistance is needed to accomplish that goal.

Q. What are the costs for the LNG-Buy BC Advocate?

A.

	FY 13/14 (actual)	FY 14/15 (actual)	FY 15/16 (actual)	FY 16/17 (projected)
Salary (no benefits)	$61,765	$150,500	$150,636	$150,000
Travel	$9,693	$35,730	$31,905	$30,000
Cell phone	$600	$1,200	$1,200	$1,200
Total	$72,058	$187,430	$183,741	$181,200

Q. What credentials does Wilson bring to this position?

- A. Wilson has served in Cabinet in several Ministries including Aboriginal Affairs, Forestry and International Trade, providing him valuable experience with BC First Nations, land use and environmental priorities in resource development, and the requirements of international companies who seek to do business in BC.

Prior to entering politics, he lectured for many years in economic geography and resource management. He has also served at the municipal level so he understands the importance that local economic development initiatives has on small and medium size business within BC communities.

- Q. Why was Gordon Wilson's term extended beyond the one year maximum?

- A. The work of the Advocate is ongoing. With LNG FIDs on the horizon, increasing acceptance and engagement by First Nation owned businesses, BC business engagement is a growing priority.

- Q. Why was his appointment originally given for four months to a one year maximum and is now extended for two full years?

- A. LNG-Buy BC Advocate was a new position created in October 2013 and despite Mr. Wilson's record of service to BC it was prudent for government to initially keep the appointment to a short time frame in order for us to assess whether or not this program and the position of LNG-Buy BC Advocate was worthwhile.

Mr. Wilson's work has been very effective meeting with high approval from the LNG sector, their primary contractors, BC businesses and government. We believe that 2016 and early 2017 will prove to be a very important time for LNG development in BC and fully expect the Advocate to be very busy during this period.

- Q. Why is Gordon Wilson given this task instead of staff?

- A. Mr. Wilson brings a unique perspective to this role having served as a constituent advocate during his time as MLA, having served in Cabinet with a very good working knowledge of government and business alike. That perspective is proving to serve BC businesses well as the LNG industry develops in BC.

Q. What has Gordon Wilson achieved?

A. Mr. Wilson has overseen the development and launch of the LNG-Buy BC online registry launched last November which now includes over 1200 businesses.

He has also widely consulted with over 800 BC businesses in more than 20 BC communities (including Prince Rupert, Port Edward, Terrace, Kitimat, Smithers, Morricetown, Prince George, Quesnel, Fort St. John, Dawson Creek, Fort Nelson, Kamloops, Kelowna, Campbell River, Port Alberni, Port Hardy, Nanaimo, Victoria, Squamish, Bowen Island, North Vancouver, Vancouver, Surrey, New Westminister, Burnaby and Richmond.)

Through these business connections, the Advocate learned first-hand about the state of business readiness that currently exists, and has worked directly with businesses on identifying shortfalls and to assist where appropriate to overcome those shortfalls.

The Advocate has been effective in identifying and informing the appropriate ministries ^{s.13,s.16}

^{s.13,s.16}

The Advocate acts to link BC businesses to other domestic suppliers where those linkages may work toward a mutual benefit. He has also helped to promote innovations created through BC business engagement. ^{s.13}

^{s.13}

Q. What specifically is Wilson doing this year given that there are still no FIDs in place?

A. Mr. Wilson is working with industry to track and report on local business participation including First Nations owned businesses, in major projects. This is an expansion of the project dashboard reporting initially used in the Tilbury LNG project for application to other larger projects in order to have a means to assess BC business engagement.

In conducting that work Mr. Wilson has been involved in an extensive examination of the tributary suppliers to the principal trades and is conducting analysis of the benefits of LNG engagement to local municipalities.

Mr. Wilson is also working with the Kitselas FN ^{s.16}

* On April 28, Mr. Wilson is moderating the Bechtel sponsored breakout session (Building the Future Series: Procurement, supply and contracts) at the National Aboriginal Business Opportunities Conference (NABOC) in Prince Rupert even as these questions are asked. That panel session brings FN business and EPCM contractors together to establish ways that BC business can succeed in this industry.
