Hi Cindy,

An interesting opportunity has come up for PS Glumac to try a "restoring confidence app" being tested in Vancouver.

Staff are asking for PS Glumac's availability to try it out and talk to a business using it at the end of this week, over the weekend and early next week in downtown Vancouver.

Could you please suggest a few slots that may work for a visit?

Thank you so much,

Alyson

Hi Alyson,

The restoring confidence application is being tested in Vancouver and we're looking to try and schedule PS Glumac for an opportunity to try it out, talk to a business and take a few photos. Would you mind please checking on his availability at the end of this week, over the weekend and early next week to be downtown Vancouver for a short visit to a restaurant?

As well it would be helpful to provide him a short brief of the application and what to expect. 15 minutes in the next couple of days would be great if his schedule can accommodate.

Here's the pitch we are using with businesses to be part of the test:

Cascadia Innovation Corridor Virtual Forum: Innovating International Travel

Dear Rick,

Join the Cascadia Innovation Corridor Community on Tuesday, September 15th, for the first event in our fall 2020 virtual forum series: Innovating International Travel, co-hosted by Dr. Laurie Trautman of Western Washington University and Matt Morrison of the Pacific Northwest Economic Region and Co-chairs of the Cascadia Innovation Corridor's sub-committee on efficient cross-border movement.

Cross-border collaboration and international travel will support economic recovery in the Cascadia Corridor and for our respective countries. While the rapid adoption of new digital platforms enables ongoing collaboration, cross-border travel continues to be limited.

As we collectively manage the health and economic impacts of COVID-19 in our region, Cascadia is well positioned to provide leadership and build confidence in the development of new, safe global standards for international travel. How can border regions help craft international health preclearance protocols? How can the assets of the Cascadia region be leveraged to create new solutions?

The first of our virtual forums will feature conversations among the region's industry and academic leaders who will explore these topics and the role of innovation in a safe economic recovery.

Speakers include:

- Dr. Laurie Trautman, Director, Border Policy Research Institute, Western Washington University
- Matt Morrison, Executive Director, Pacific Northwest Economic Region (PNWER)
- Dr. Chris Sands, Director, Woodrow Wilson Canada Centre
- Solomon Wong, CEO, Intervistas
- Gerry Bruno, Director, Future Borders Coalition and Vice President, Federal Government Affairs, Vancouver International Airport
- Christine Gregoire, CEO, Challenge Seattle
- Greg D'Avignon, President and CEO, Business Council of British Columbia

Also, mark your calendars for the Cascadia Innovation Corridor's upcoming virtual forums, hosted by members of the steering committee, which will explore a number of the committee's focus areas. Registration will open in the coming weeks:

- October 9: Hosted by the Transportation, Housing and Connectivity Co-chairs
- October 27: Hosted by the Sustainable Agriculture Co-chairs

To learn more about the Cascadia Innovation Corridor steering committee members and focus areas visit www.connectcascadia.com.

We encourage you to register today for the September 15th forum and watch your inbox for upcoming announcements and opportunities to engage with the Cascadia Innovation Corridor.

Sincerely,

Chris Gregoire, CEO, Challenge Seattle and
Greg D'Avignon, President and CEO, Business Council of British Columbia

Hi Alyson,

This communication below for this Awards event was forwarded for PSG's Constituency office is this something he should be going to in his role as PSG?

Please advise,
Cindy
