Subject: WorkSafeBC Review Decision - Lakeland Mills
Importance: High

Karen and Michael, as with Babine a month or so ago, WorkSafeBC's Review Division has today issued a long-awaited decision on Lakeland's appeal of the penalties and orders issued against it flowing from the 2012 explosion at their mill in Prince George.

In short, the orders were upheld as was the claims cost levy and penalty (about $700,000 in total). This might make the media in PG tomorrow.

s.13

But from our perspective this is good news as this long awaited decision is out upholding penalties related to employer actions leading to the tragedy. This shows the system does work and a big penalty can be upheld.

Let me know if you have any questions. s.13

Hi Ralph:

Thank you for the new contact information.

Yes, I'm sure the Minister and DM would appreciate an orientation session.

Right now he is free on Thursday January 18th, Monday January 22nd or Thursday February 1 (afternoon only).

I have copied Sue Campbell in this email as she is responsible for the Minister's calendar.

Also if the Minister and Deputy (as well as yourself) are interested and have the time I believe it would be worthwhile for them to have an orientation to the Board operations from the CEO and Senior Executives. It would likely mean 4 hours or so of presentation.
If they would like to do this and you give me a date when they can be here I will make the arrangements.

The Minister has a few more questions about the funding for the WAO and EAO offices.

1. What is the current funding level of each of these offices?
2. How many staff work in each of these offices?
3. How many additional staff would be hired with each of the two potential funding increases (50/50 or 1.65/1.35)?

4. What are the current average wait times for accessing and completing service requests from the WAO and the EAO?
5. How will the added funds provide improved services?

I'd like to suggest the following dates/times for briefings with the Minister in January:

At this point it's likely that the Minister will be in Surrey for the January 23 meeting, but he can participate by telephone.

Let me know if this works for you and your team.
