Hi! These bills will pass won't they?

The B.C. government just announced:

1) a bill to effectively ban pill presses
2) a bill to protect whistleblowers who go to the Ombudsperson

That gives us 10 this week ... and not all of them are going to be passed before the legislature goes on summer break in a mon...

Hi Michael – Gala

I did wish to convey that not only did I return to Vancouver on the same flight as the Honorable Carol James and he MA Robyn – and we chatted - , but I did manage to drop into the Premier's event on Friday night on Granville Island on my drive from YVR. I spoke to Premier Horgan for about 8 minutes regarding this initiative and mentioned that it was currently under consideration in the AG's office and from my perspective, from Mike's reports – it was progressing.

As Mike has reported to me in the past, and was reinforced during our chat, the Premier seems to have a good understanding of our intent with the legislation and in his words (paraphrased) stated – '…let me know if there was anything he could do so that we (the government) could keep it moving…" I explained, as you Gala have reiterated that it was in 'the Minister's hands'.

I look forward to our continuing conversations.

Subject: prompt payment

Dear Gala and Tyler:

Last I heard prompt payment legislation issue was before Minister Eby in the form of a briefing note/decision document a month ago. I can tell you that Dana Taylor the Chair of the Council of Construction Trade Associations as well as the Executive VP of the Mechanical Contractors Association of BC is anxious to hear an update as is Phil Venoit of the IBEW who is also a senior member of the BC Building Trades. Thus I have taken the liberty of ccing both on this email.

I know that Minister Eby has had his hands full grappling with the ICBC issue but this prompt payment issue is one that is still going to have legs going into the next provincial election as the problem with funds being withheld for lengthy periods of times from sub contractors is getting worse with each passing year. Meanwhile an increasing number of Canadian jurisdictions are moving forward on this much needed legislation as well.

As you will also see from Dana's email below prompt Payment is also an issue that contractors have been and will continue to raise with cabinet at every opportunity. We would therefore all very much appreciate an update with regards to the time line for Prompt Payment legislation.

Kindest regards,

Michael Geoghegan

Pointed out that some contractors are meeting with ministers/MLA to underscore the importance and both Carol and Robyn spoke supportively.

The four areas are being established as geographic indications, a standard element of appellation systems used around the world that help consumers identify wines in the marketplace, provide assurance as to the origin and quality of the wine, and promote agri-tourism. B.C. currently has six official geographical indications: British Columbia (provincial), Vancouver Island, Gulf Islands, Fraser Valley, Similkameen Valley, and the Okanagan Valley.

“More and more people are starting to recognize the quality and diversity of B.C. wines, and these changes make it easier for consumers, tourists and BC winemakers to share the experiences our wines offer,” said Minister of Agriculture, Lana Popham. “By helping B.C.’s wine regions identify and promote their products, and making it easier for smaller wine producers to participate in the BC VQA program, B.C. wine drinkers will be able make to more informed choices as they select, enjoy and buy BC wines.”

The use of unregulated geographical indications will be prohibited by participating wineries as well, further strengthening the reputation and assurances that BC VQA wines are as advertised, and made from grapes grown in the regions on their labels. The Ministry of Agriculture will also support industry efforts to identify new sub-geographical indications to help bring more distinction to the multiple wine growing areas of the Okanagan Valley and other regions. Currently, the province only has one official sub-geographical indication, the Golden Mile Bench, near Oliver.

Miles

The B.C. government will support smaller operations by establishing flat fees for the BC VQA program for small wineries to ensure participation isn’t cost prohibitive. Currently, over 176 wineries participate in the program, regulated by the BC Wine Authority representing approximately 75 per cent of licensed grape wineries in the Province.

Winery quote – new region

The Ministry will need to make regulatory changes to the Province’s Wines of Marked Quality Regulation in order to finalize these changes, which should be complete by this summer. The changes follow recommendations made in 2016 by the BC Wine Appellation Task Group, an industry-led group formed to propose amendments to the Wines of Marked Quality Regulation that represent the interests of all 100% BC Wine Producers, The B.C. government will work with BC wine makers and the Wine Authority to implement the remaining recommendations:

- As a condition of having a winery license producers making wine from 100% B.C. grown grapes be required to become a member of the Authority [i.e. BCWA] and be subject to audits conducted and enforced per the Wines of Marked Quality Regulation.
- Changing the Wines of Distinction category name in the Regulations to British Columbia Wine. Both BC VQA and British Columbia Wine will be allowed to use the geographic indication on their labels
- All wines made from 100 percent B.C. grapes must register as either British Columbia VQA (“BC VQA”) or British Columbia Wine in order to qualify for recognition as a Wine of British Columbia.

The Province has previously committed $100,000 to the BC Wine Institute to help in the promotion of B.C. wine to British Columbians, as part of April's B.C. Wine Month campaign. Destination BC committed $150,000 to tourism marketing over the months of April and May in support of B.C. wineries and wine tourism.

Quick Facts:

- BC is home to 929 vineyards, including more than 350 licensed wineries
- There are 4,130 hectares of wine grapes grown in BC
- More than 60 grape varietals are produced in the province, including Merlot, Pinot Gris, Pinot Noir, Chardonnay, Cabernet Sauvignon, Gewürztraminer, Cabernet Franc, Syrah, Riesling, and Sauvignon Blanc
- In 2016, BC wine exports increased 4 per cent over the previous year to $9.7 million shipped to 17 international markets
- The top international markets for BC Wine in 2016 were China (54 per cent), Taiwan (23 per cent) and the US (11 per cent)
- BC's wine industry employs about 12,000 people, and has an economic impact of $2.8 billion annually on our province's economy.

Many thanks for the response Kurt. I'd be happy to discuss this with you - are you in Vancouver? Also what is the timeline for implementation? I ask the latter as I am co-chair of the Charities and Non Profit Continuing legal Education Society program and this is an area we would like to cover in October. Thanks Martha

Hi Kurt,

As discussed I would like to connect you with Marth Rans.

You are likely aware of some of her work. For example, http://lawfornonprofits.ca/news.

Martha has worked extensively in law with respect to the Societies Act. She has been on a CRT working group organized by Lisa Nakamaura. I think Martha will have good insights into how a CRT related to the Societies Act should be structured. She is very aware of what legal services are required for people who have disputes under the Societies Act but may not be able to afford a lawyer.

Martha – please forgive me if I am not restating our conversation accurately and feel free to correct me.

> Hi Nimmi/Liam: QA for DID, and info on saliva testing. Also some quick KM's for MMF:

- The federal government is responsible for setting standards and approving the various devices against those standards.

- Make no mistake, this is a federal commitment and responsibility.

- Police in BC already deal with drug impaired drivers and we are increasing the number of officers trained as Drug Recognition Experts and those training to conduct Standard Field Sobriety testing beyond what the federal government has committed to.

- We will take whatever steps are necessary to ensure safety on BC's roads.

Ministry of Public Safety and Solicitor General

RoadSafetyBC – Drug-Impaired Driving Changes

Questions and Answers – March 2018

1. What are you announcing today with regard to drug-impaired driving?

    - People are concerned that they won't be as safe on our roads after cannabis becomes legal, and we're taking action now to prevent that from happening.
    - We're toughening our laws so police can remove drug-affected drivers from the road for 90 days – a much more serious penalty than the existing, 24-hour driving prohibition.
    - This change would apply to people who operate a motor vehicle while affected by a drug – cannabis or otherwise – or a combination of alcohol and a drug.
    - We're also extending B.C.'s zero-tolerance restriction for the presence of alcohol that is currently in place for new drivers in the Graduated Licensing Program (GLP) to cover the presence of specific drugs.
    - This new restriction would prevent these drivers from operating a motor vehicle with any detectable presence of a drug in their system.
    - Zero tolerance for the presence of drugs for new and inexperienced drivers received overwhelming support from respondents to government's stakeholder and public engagement on cannabis regulation.

2. Why make these provincial changes when the federal government is upgrading Criminal Code penalties via C-46?

- Tougher provincial sanctions will complement those federal changes, to better deter drug-affected driving and provide police with more tools to remove drug-affected drivers from the road.
- As well, our changes mirror the harder line that many provinces are taking to make people safer on their roads.

3. What level of drug impairment will trigger an administrative driving prohibition (ADP) for a fully licensed driver?

- The federal legislation (Bill C-46) proposes new blood drug concentration offences under the Criminal Code, and once those become law, we will finalize the limit for the 90-day ADP.
- In setting that limit, we will be mindful of what other provinces are doing. Ultimately, we need a limit that helps to keep people safe on B.C.'s roads and that is reasonable and defensible in court.
- In addition to ADPs served pursuant to a per se level, we'll also be looking at an ADP served on drivers as a result of an evaluation by specially trained police Drug Recognition Experts (DREs) – a practice currently in place in some other provinces in the country.

4. Is zero tolerance fair and reasonable for GLP drivers – whether or not they're medical cannabis users? Will that standard stand up in court?

- People want to feel safe as they go about their lives, and we believe putting extra restrictions on new drivers is fair and reasonable toward that goal.
- The restrictions for GLP drivers were originally established to reduce the risk of collision among this high-risk group of drivers and to instill good driving behaviours early in their driving careers, such as a complete separation of alcohol from driving.
- As the Graduated Licensing Program has evolved over the past two decades, it's made B.C.'s roads safer by ensuring new drivers are sober and focused on the road – with serious consequences for those who aren't.
- Unfortunately, research tells us that cannabis use by youth aged 15 to 24 in Canada is almost three times higher than it is for adults.

- With most GLP drivers falling in that age range, it's really important that we further our efforts to ensure that they and others are safe as they build their driving skills.

5. (IF B.C. ALLOWS A MEDICAL EXEMPTION) If safety is your paramount goal, how can you allow an exemption for medical cannabis users who are also in the GLP?

- Let's be clear: any exemption for medical purposes will apply to detectable levels of cannabis – but it absolutely WILL NOT apply if a medically authorized user is driving while affected or impaired by a drug or if a GLP driver also has alcohol in their system.

6. What about penalties for drivers who have other, illegal drugs like cocaine or fentanyl in their system?

- These administrative penalties will apply to impairment by all drugs, legal or otherwise. B.C.'s proposed changes are intended to strengthen and support the Criminal Code, which already authorizes police to test drivers when they suspect impairment and to remove drug-impaired drivers from the road immediately.

Subject: prompt payment

Dear Gala and Tyler:

Last I heard prompt payment legislation issue was before Minister Eby in the form of a briefing note/decision document a month ago. I can tell you that Dana Taylor the Chair of the Council of Construction Trade Associations as well as the Executive VP of the Mechanical Contractors Association of BC is anxious to hear an update as is Phil Venoit of the IBEW who is also a senior member of the BC Building Trades. Thus I have taken the liberty of ccing both on this email.

I know that Minister Eby has had his hands full grappling with the ICBC issue but this prompt payment issue is one that is still going to have legs going into the next provincial election as the problem with funds being withheld for lengthy periods of times from sub contractors is getting worse with each passing year. Meanwhile an increasing number of Canadian jurisdictions are moving forward on this much needed legislation as well.

As you will also see from Dana's email below prompt Payment is also an issue that contractors have been and will continue to raise with cabinet at every opportunity. We would therefore all very much appreciate an update with regards to the time line for Prompt Payment legislation.

Kindest regards,

Michael Geoghegan

Gala:

You may recall that Jean formed the QuadraGranville Seniors Group, a non-partisan group. Our goal is to work with seniors and the community to influence all levels of government to develop and implement supportive policies for seniors.

We held our first forum on The Need for a National Pharmacare Program in May, 2017; this was very well attended. We asked David to speak at this forum but he was quite busy with the provincial election and other matters. We followed through after our forum by writing, sponsoring and getting a pharmacare resolution to the national Liberal convention to be held in Halifax in April, 2018. We are hopeful that this resolution will get enough votes to be a part of the platform for the 2019 federal election campaign.

We are planning our next forum, Social Isolation Among Seniors. We have a speaker who has researched this topic, written an extensive paper and is making 23 recommendations whidh will be presented to all levels of government and community groups.

We are inviting local MPs to speak at our forum.

We would like to extend and invitation to David to speak at the forum, to be held May 26, 2018 from 1:00 pm to 3:00 pm.

Can you guide us in the steps to invite David to speak at our forum?

Thanks.

I understand that Sam Godfrey has recently left the Ministry of AG. Sam was my point of contact in the Minister's office and given all that is currently going on with the gaming file, I want to ensure that I have the correct contact going forward. I understand that you are likely the right person but I don't want to presume that…if this isn't correct, can you please direct me to the right person.

Subject: AT YOUR REQUEST: follow-up to your meeting with Darlene Marzari re sexual assault policy and classification of sexual assaults as unfounded

Dear David:

After your meeting with Darlene, following the LEAF Equality Breakfast, she asked me to follow up with you by delivering to your office:
- a copy of a message I sent to you about the above-noted matter while you were still in opposition
- a copy of the draft sexual assault policy that we completed for the Ministry of Attorney General back in 2000
- copies of reports on research a colleague and I completed in 2006 on Police Classification of Sexual Assault Cases as Unfounded, which focused on four Lower Mainland policing jurisdictions (summary report and full technical report)

Since Darlene spoke with you, I have now located an electronic copy of the draft Sexual Assault Policy. Your Victoria office said that sending this material by email would be just as effective as sending it by post, so I have decided to use email. The gentleman who answered the phone also said that since you had requested that the material be delivered to your constituency office, I should send this package to you as MLA rather than to you as Attorney General, even though I am now writing to you as AG rather than as MLA. While I am trying to attend to protocol here, the main thing is that you receive this package of material in a timely manner!

Please don't hesitate to contact me if I can be of any further assistance in pushing this matter further towards resolution. Clearly we are in a period when this issue continues to come to the forefront, and it seem that this is a time when effective and decisive action on the issue of sexual assault could actually be taken. Your leadership on this issue would be welcomed by the women-serving community and by all those in BC concerned about human rights and gender equality.

Sincerely,

Doug, further to my email a few minutes ago, as indicated, our team sat down and discussed what we needed to do to move all the work in front of us forward. We identified some immediate action items for decision. Your agreement will help us continue to move forward on key priorities, I would be happy to discuss any aspects of this work with you. If you are in agreement with the items below, it will greatly expedite our progress.

1. Leadership Circle
   - Membership is confirmed as Doug White and Nancy Sandy (BCAJC) and Kurt Sandstrom (AG) and Rachel Holmes (PSSG)
   - Secretariat support Karyn Scott (AG) until the IJS ED is in place. Karyn will be supported by a number of resources from inside the branch as well.
   - Meetings will be every three (3) weeks
   - First meeting of the Leadership Circle to be arranged within two weeks.
   - All key decisions and strategic decisions, including the governance structure for the Centres, and for populating the rest of the Strategy's governance structure to be made by the Leadership Circle (subject of course to ratification as needed by the AJC proper and the government).

2. Executive Director
   - Approve Job Profile circulated in March (final draft circulated April 4, 2018 and attached) to be posted through Public Service Agency. Proceed to post within the next two weeks.
   - BCAJC to identify two (2) panel members to participate on the panel.

3. Indigenous Justice Centres
   - Meeting to be scheduled within two (2) weeks, to include Legal Services Society and Law Foundation, to review business case and discuss project structure, next steps

Future decisions required by Leadership Circle include:

- Define Gladue Project Stream
- Define other Project Stream components

As mentioned, we are very motivated to keep moving ahead and supporting this work, I'm looking forward to your agreement on these items.

Please be in touch with any questions. Thanks Doug!

Kind regards,

Kurt

I was advised by Citizens' Services that this issue falls under your ministry:

This should go to the Ministry of Finance Policy and Legislation branch as they are responsible for the Legislation. I think we already have a corporate structure that supports public benefit called a community contribution company, but finance should respond to this request.

Can you please confirm whether this falls under your ministry's jurisdiction, and I will provide advice to our MO?

Eveline Hi Gala,
Bernie Geiss is advocating for the creating of B-corps in BC, and he asked me to share this information with the relevant Ministry. I assume that any changes to the BC Companies Act would be under MDE's purview.

From: Bernie Geiss [mailto:Bernie@coveadvisors.com]
Sent: Friday, February 9, 2018 12:17 PM
To: Xia, Eveline ENV:EX
Subject: Public Benefit Corporation Legislation Proposal

Hi Eveline,

Thank you for helping move this forward. Let me know if there is anything else that you think I should do.

Dear Honorable Minister Heyman,

I am writing to request a meeting with you or your staff about an initiative that I have been working on with other business, legal and non profit partners. The initiative is aimed at working with government to make changes to the BC Companies Act to allow for companies to registered as a Public Benefit Company. The BC Companies Act would need to be amended to allow companies to be registered as a Public Benefit Company.

A Public Benefit Company (PBC) is a for profit company that is legally allowed to use their business as a force for good without concern of a shareholder challenge which could take place under the registration of a corporation under the existing BC Companies Act. Registering a corporation as a PBC protects corporations by allow a corporation to expand its purpose, from being solely profit and shareholder value driven, to one of profit and public benefit. Without this legal protection an activist shareholder could challenge the corporation's board with respect to any activities undertaken by the corporation that are not directly related to increasing profits and shareholder value. A PBC is profit driven but must give equal consideration to the impact it is having on the environment, its workers, the community, suppliers and customers and can direct profits to the public benefit versus solely to shareholders.

PBC registration is currently available in 35 US States, including California and Delaware, the adoption by the remaining US states continues. Currently it is not possible to register as a PBC in any of the provinces or federally, in Canada. There are efforts being made on the federal level by my colleagues but my hope is for BC to be the first jurisdiction to allow for PBC registration in Canada. This would make BC a recognized leader in this movement of business being a driver of positive social and environmental change.

Please not that this form of registration does not replace or resemble the BC Community Contribution Corporation (CCC) registration. The CCC is non profit oriented and is not workable as a substitute for Public Benefit Company registration.

We have taken the liberty of preparing a draft amendment to the BC Companies Act for your reference. It is based on California and Delaware precedents and is relatively simple in nature, approximately four pages of text. Owen Bird, a prominent Vancouver law firm, drafted the amendment to align with the BC Companies Act on a pro bono basis. Owen Bird and the legal council for B Lab, a non profit, are available to provide any support the government requires to move this forward, on a pro bono basis.

I have attached information pieces to provide context and rationale for the implementation of this legislation in Canada on a federal basis. The same principles apply to provincial registration. Given that most companies in Canada are provincially registered the importance of provincial adoption is significant. Our company is a certified B Corp and can provide first hand knowledge as to the positive impact of this model on an otherwise traditional business.

I would make my self available at the earliest convenient opportunity to meet with you or your staff to discuss the value of this initiative and next steps. I thank you in advance for your consideration of this proposal.

Sincerely,

Bernie Geiss TEP, FEA, CLU, CFP, CHS

A total of 80 complaints were filed by OCC inmates with the ISO in 2017 that have not been declared vexatious, unsubstantiated or withdrawn. The Surrey Pretrial Services Centre, which received the second most complaints in 2017, only received 45 complaints. A quarter of the complaints at the OCC were about staff, compared to seven of the 45 at Surrey.

recommended referring all other questions to PSSG.

Recommendation – Provide background from the Ministry of AG's Investigations and Standards Office

- The ISO investigates general complaints, critical incidents and significant events made by inmates at provincial correctional centres and probationers supervised in the community.
- These are then processed by an inspector group, which includes a specialized health care inspector and a rotational duty inspector.
- The Okanagan Correctional Centre received 82 complaints in 2017, 16 of which were about staff. The Surrey Pretrial Centre received 45 complaints, including six staff complaints.
- Complaints fluctuate regularly, with no trend identified by any one correctional centre, and in some cases, a single inmate can be responsible for a high volume of complaints.
- All questions concerning the operation of a correctional facility should be directed to the Ministry of Public Safety and Solicitor General.

Request
The reporter has received records from BCLC via FOI and is looking for more detail from GPEB on the records produced. GPEB advises that this request for additional records should be directed through a GPEB FOI request, as the records are not easily accessible and the information would need to go through a privacy screening by an FOI analyst before it could be shared with the reporter.

The first BCLC file appears to potentially be a significant Fintrac concern and involves a suspicious cash VIP player with potential association to employees (a 16-page incident report). The second case concerns a complaint against a VIP manager at a New West casino for allegedly using his position to take money under the table (a five-page incident report).

The reporter would like background or a statement from the ministry.

<image002.png>

Recommendation – provide background -

- The document in question belongs to BCLC and any questions about it are best directed to them.

- For GPEB records, including specific documentation about a particular case, including section 86 reports, please request through the FOI process. This allows for a thorough assessment of privacy considerations by FOI staff, who have the expertise and skillset to ensure information is properly handled and released.

NEWS RELEASE
One more day to have your say on ICBC rate fairness

VICTORIA - There's still time to add your voice to those of the more than 29,000 British Columbians who have had their say in a public engagement about changes to ICBC's auto insurance system.

Before 4 p.m. on April 5, 2018, British Columbians are encouraged to help design an improved auto insurance rating system that would make drivers more accountable for their decisions and driving behaviours. Visit the engagement website at: http://engage.gov.bc.ca/ratefairness/

"This important engagement asks people about changes that could make high-risk drivers pay more, and low-risk drivers pay less," said Attorney General David Eby. "We have options about how we can make the system more fair, and I appreciate that so many British Columbians are sharing their opinions that will help shape ICBC for the future."

The public engagement questionnaire asks for feedback on how ICBC could improve the way it uses crashes and driver experience to determine basic insurance premiums, give greater discounts to low-risk drivers and balance basic insurance prices to reflect increased risk with driver behaviour, location or how a vehicle is used.

So far, the engagement site has had 58,910 site visits, with 29,386 questionnaires completed and 398 individual submissions received.

The results of the engagement will also help inform ICBC's application on basic insurance rate design to its regulator, the B.C. Utilities Commission. A report highlighting the findings of the engagement will be posted to the website in the coming weeks.

Deadline ASAP

Request
The reporter would like to know if today's Supreme Court ruling changes anything in terms of the way B.C. is currently buying or selling liquor to residents and/or other provinces.
1) Does it change the LDB's ability to bring in any types of liquor from anywhere else or any of its policies?
2) Does it mean B.C. is obligated to penalize anyone in this province who might be improperly trading or moving alcohol across provincial borders?

Recommendation – Provide background

1) Does it change the LDB's ability to bring in any types of liquor from anywhere else or any of its policies?

- Yesterday's decision does not change how the BC Liquor Distribution Branch (LDB) imports alcohol from other Canadian provinces or international jurisdictions.

2) Does it mean B.C. is obligated to penalize anyone in this province who might be improperly trading or moving alcohol across provincial borders?

- Yesterday's decision does not change B.C.'s liquor possession or importing regulations.

- Section 4 of the Liquor Distribution Act (LDA) lays out who and under what circumstances a person may possess liquor in B.C. The LDB is the importer on record for all liquor entering the province except as otherwise authorized in their Act or regulation. The Liquor Possession Regulation permits individuals to bring into B.C. on their person up to specified volumes of liquor. There's also unlimited amounts of 100% Canadian wine that can be brought into B.C. for an individual if purchased from a winery outside B.C. within Canada.

- Section 35 of the LDA states that someone who contravenes a provision of the LDA or regulations commits an offence and is liable on conviction to the penalties provided in the Offence Act.

- There are no specific LDA-related penalties in the Offence Act or its violation ticket regulation so the generic penalty laid out in section 4 of the Offence Act would apply, that being a fine of up to $2,000 and/or up to 6 months in jail.

- In addition, section 3(1) of the federal Importation of Intoxicating Liquors Act essentially prohibits the importation of liquor into a province except as authorized by that province (i.e. see above). Penalties upon conviction are listed in the LDA.

- Enforcement and prosecutions would be handled by the ticketing officer from either law enforcement or the specific enforcement agency. Additionally, under section 45 of the Liquor Control and Licensing Act, a peace officer may seize liquor that he or she believes is possessed contrary to the that Act or the LDA.

Deadline to conduct Friday, April 20, 2018 11:30 AM

Request
The reporter would like to schedule a phone interview with Minister Eby to discuss the E&Y report and the BC Liberal cabinet's refusal to release the full report because of cabinet confidences. The reporter tried to obtain a full copy of the report through an FOI.

The interview would be 10 minutes long with the reporter. He is available until 11:30 a.m. this morning to conduct the interview.

Recommendation

Deadline to conduct Friday, April 20, 2018 9:50 AM

Request
The reporter would like to schedule a live radio interview with Minister Eby to discuss the Trans Mountain pipeline dispute and electoral reform. The interview would be 10 minutes long with the reporter. There would not be call-ins.

The reporter has an open time slot this morning at 9:50 a.m. If a live interview cannot be scheduled, the reporter could do a pre-taped interview later in the day.

Deadline to conduct Friday, April 20, 2018 7:00 PM

Request
The reporter would like to schedule a phone interview with Minister Eby today to discuss the Peter German review and aspects of alleged real estate money laundering that may fall under its scope, in light of Sam Cooper's investigation.

The interview would be five minutes long with the reporter. The interview would run as part of a larger story tomorrow in the StarMetro Vancouver and The Toronto Star.

Deadline ASAP

Request
The reporter has the following questions on liquor in B.C. grocery stores:
1) How many grocery stores in the province sell/will sell alcohol?
2) Can they just sell B.C. wine? Anything else?
3) How big does the grocery store have to be to sell liquor (i.e. 1000 square feet)? Does it have to be one kilometre from a liquor store?

Background

Recommendation – provide information on background

1) How many grocery stores in the province sell/will sell alcohol?

- There are currently 27 grocery stores licensed to sell 100% B.C. wine on shelves.
- Twelve of these stores won the opportunity to apply for a special wine store licence through an auction held by the Province. No new opportunities for special wine store licenses will be auctioned off for the foreseeable future.
- The remaining 15 represent grocery stores becoming the operators of stand-alone BC VQA wine stores and relocating them to within their grocery stores to sell wine on shelves.
- There are also six stand-alone BC VQA stores in the province could ~~also~~ potentially move to within grocery.
- In addition to the wine-on-shelves model, existing full-service liquor stores and Independent Wine Stores may relocate to within grocery stores under the store-within-a-store model. To date, none have chosen this option.

2) Can they just sell B.C. wine? Anything else?

- If a full-service liquor store relocated to within a grocery store under the store-within-a-store model, provincial rules would allow them to sell beer, wine and spirits – as they do now.
- If an Independent Wine Store relocated to within a grocery store under the store-within-a-store model, provincial rules would allow them to sell wine from anywhere in the world – as they do now.
- Grocery stores operating under the wine on shelves model can only sell 100% B.C. wine.
- Wine includes anything that follows the fermentation process, including sake, cider and mead.

3) How big does the grocery store have to be to sell liquor (i.e. 1000 square feet)? Does it have to be one kilometre from a liquor store?

- A grocery store wishing to sell wine on shelves or host a store-within-a-store must be at least 10,000 square feet and primarily focused on the sale of food products.
- The province's one kilometre rule related to full service liquor stores does not apply to wine stores, no matter where they are located. Wine stores have never been subject to this rule due to the relatively limited stock they can sell.
- For any full service liquor store wishing to relocate to within grocery under the store-within-a-store model, the 1 km rule will still apply.
- Local governments may apply their own distance criteria over and above what is mandated by the provincial government.

Deadline ASAP

Request
Of the 700 child protection cases that result in Continuing Custody Order applications every year:
1) How many of those cases proceed to trial?
2) Of those, what percentage of cases are the requested CCO orders given/granted by the Court?

Background – BCPS and CSB do not track CCO data, and MCFD says the same. The reporter received a response from the provincial court yesterday informing her that they do not keep track of that data, either.

This is a follow-up to a media request from March 21, 2018 (provided by MCFD)

REQUEST:
- Of the 23,500 children who are found to be in need of protection each year, how many of those cases result in applications for Continuing Custody Orders?
- Of those cases that result in CCO applications, how many are for Indigenous children?
- What percent of CCO applications are approved by the courts? In other words, how often does the court find that the ministry should be made the child's permanent guardian?
- Of those approved CCO applications, how many are for Indigenous children?

RESPONSE:
Provided Background
- Of the 23,500 children who are found to be in need of protection each year, how many of those cases result in applications for Continuing Custody Orders?
• On average approximately 700, around 3%
- Of those cases that result in CCO applications, how many are for Indigenous children?
• Approximately 54% on average

Recommendation – Provide background

- The ministry case tracking and management system does not capture information related to Continuing Custody Order applications.

Hi – sorry, but please hold on reviewing the NR. David Hoadley is reviewing and as a start, requests that we specify the $5M:

The Ministry of Attorney General's Court Services Branch received a $6.64 million budget lift, of which $5.0 million was to increase the number of sheriffs and staffing of the Court Services Branch, to help reduce court delays.

I will share the NR soon once TBS approves. PSSG is in the loop as well.

Hi Gala,

For a possible video with MDE (and hopefully PJH) for the protection of public participation act, is your comms shop on board? See below for the digital team's question ☺

Hi Charlotte,

Would love to work with you and/or AG/MDE to make a video for social (that can be used or adapted for other contexts). It's usually best if the request for the video originates in the comms shop, do you know if that will be the case? Or is this something I should reach out to the AG comms director about?

Over to you Sage for decision point 2.

Subject: Video for protection of public participation act

Hi Sage and Karl,

MDE is bringing together an event at the leg for the tabling of the anti-SLAPP legislation on May 7. It would be a great opportunity to film a short video with MDE and a community member who has been calling for anti-SLAPP protection (I'm thinking Franke James but I'll be speaking with Gala tomorrow morning to confirm who is on her list).

I think it would be great for PJH to take part in the video, and it could be used as greetings for some upcoming community events by anti-SLAPP groups (in addition to being disseminated on social and shared through email lists on a network to networks approach). It could potentially also mention the whistleblower protection stuff and be shared with many democratic rights groups. Of course, MDE can do this on his own, but I think it would be good for the communities this video would reach for the video to include PJH (and I am happy to discuss why).

Decision points:

1. Karl- is your team interested in making an anti-SLAPP legislation video? If so, does May 7 work?
2. Sage- should PJH be included in this video?

Let me know what you think!

Thanks,
Charlotte

Hi Gala,

Ministers can have whomever they need to support them in the Chamber, they do not need to be government employees. They must, however go through the usual channels of obtaining a floor pass through our office. If you would like to give me the name of the consultant we can prepare a pass for her and you can just send her to our office to pick it up.

Thank you,

Of course, yes, the welcoming ceremonies are open to the public, many chairs will be set-up, she is free to sit where she would like, other than any rows that have signs for Family to the four Judges being welcomed.

The "consultant" that I am referring to is not political staff, nor is she a member of a Crown. I believe she is a lawyer who has been hired to assist with the policy development of a couple of our RFLs. Would this fall into a different category?

I had a brief chat. Two questions:

- How many cases have over $3K in arrears? I turned the question to "how many current cases have DL restrictions", which is over 9,000 (9,649), or about 1 case in 4. Richard said "that's a lot", I agreed but commented that the move to DL cancellation was to get and keep arrangements to repay the overdue support. Just so you know, about 14,000 cases have arrears over $3000, but some of those live outside BC and another program is doing the enforcement.
- We reviewed the reason behind the Land Title issue – to protect privacy so that personal conditions (agreements for counselling, agreements not to show up drunk or kick the dog) are not part of the public record.

Richard appeared to be happy with the information.

Hi Everyone,

I'd like to do a quick check-in this Wednesday with Ministerial Assistants only (I'm excluding the Senior MAs!). I would like to do a bit of a brainstorm on what's working well, what we could do to improve, professional development requests, etc. If you have other things that you think might be helpful to discuss as a group, please let me know.

Thanks and talk to you on Wednesday!

I am very pleased that with the AGs support LSS has been able to secure the government financial resources needed to restore critical family services and to add to the hours available to lawyers to assist their family clients. It is important, too, that we are now in a position to acknowledge that the particular legal needs of LSS' Indigenous clients should be recognized in the LSS tariff framework.

Hi Wolfgang,

The Minister asked to review the attached draft following LSB's review. Legal Counsel has reviewed and approved with no changes. Can you please forward to the Minister for review, and advise me when/if he has approved the content? I have not many any changes given that MIRR has their own correspondence policies.

Many thanks,

Subject: RE: ACTION: Bartalk Access to Justice issue August 2018.

What are David's past times and hobbies?

I feel like I used to have a lot more pastimes and hobbies before taking on this job and the shared responsibility with my wife of raising a small person – life is pretty busy these days. When I have spare time, I spend it hanging out with my family, skiing, playing guitar, and catching up with pals.

Did you play a particular sport as a child or play an instrument?

I played hockey and baseball throughout my youth, and of course, basketball in high school. I took piano lessons for years, and even though I ended up playing much more guitar as an adult, that musical training was invaluable to me.

What is the last or current book you are reading?

I've got a pile of books on my night stand waiting for some summer reading. Top of my pile will be Rob Shaw and Richard Zussman's book "A Matter of Confidence"…although on reflection maybe that's a bit too close to the day-to-day for summer reading.

What are the last three movies you have watched?

My wife and I had a date night last week and saw Armando Iannouci's the Death of Stalin. So great. We tend to be Netflix centric these days, and the last series I binged was Ozark – fantastic.

What is your favorite lunch?

When I meet people for work lunch at home in the constituency, we walk up the street from my office and go to the Banana Leaf. In Victoria, it's the legislature restaurant lunch to go – I usually get the veggie melt with tomato soup.

Can you cook ? What is your best dish?

I love to cook. We lean heavily on Fresh Prep these days – they do all the sous chef work for you. It's that happy medium between cooking from scratch and managing time for a family dinner with a busy team.

What is your favorite activity to do with your family?

We love skiing together, Ezra is only three, but his mom has helped him build quite an impressive skill set.

You are married and have two children/ages? (No pressure to answer questions re family)

Yes. My wife is an RN, or rather, she was an RN, she's gone back to school and is about to graduate from Medicine at UBC. Our son is three.

As AG, you are really the top cop now, but you spent a lot of your legal career with a critical eye directed at the police. How has your history helped or hurt your current role?

My colleague the Solicitor General proudly holds the role of "top cop" in the province, but you're right, I spend a lot more time than I expected to – for example - calling for increased resources for police to deal with our challenges with organized crime and money laundering in the province, or supporting police intervention on distracted drivers. My history with the Independent Investigation Office, which is responsible for investigating police involved deaths, has greatly assisted me in coming up to speed quickly on the challenges that office has faced in fulfilling its mandate, and to support them in getting things back on track. I've been pleasantly surprised by the open, frank and engaging conversations I've had with police representatives to date on challenges we face – I think our shared history has actually helped us get to the heart of the various issues we're discussing more quickly.

As for the Rule of Law, I suggest the scales of justice in BC are lop-sided due to a weak LSS funding. How do you feel about this?

Our government has provided the biggest financial boost to LSS in 16 years. That's, of course, a low bar, but we've already provided more funding than we committed to provide to access to justice initiatives during the election campaign. There is so much work to do in this area to ensure access to justice for British Columbians. We're just getting started.

Where is LSS funding on the priority list of the government?

Access to Justice, with a particular emphasis on remedying the injustices faced disproportionately by indigenous people, is a significant priority for our government. For example, justice for indigenous people in BC is in every Minister's mandate letter, and justice initiatives related to indigenous people overlaps several Ministries, including the Ministry of Children and Family Services, my Ministry, and the Solicitor General's Ministry.

In terms of public opinion, we know there are lots polling and surveys providing information on public sentiment for government officials. Do have concern about the accuracy of the feedback you get on public opinion? Do you worry about online manipulation or distortion of the public's opinion especially online?

After the 2013 BC election, Donald Trump, Brexit and the Alberta election, anyone paying attention has more reason to look at polls with a critical eye than ever before. I'd much rather rely on direct contact with constituents and the people I represent. Polls have their place, but direct contact with people provides a much more accurate picture of where people are at because at a minimum there's nuance there that a poll just can't catch.

Hi Cris
There is some wiggle room for a longer article.
Below are my base questions:

Where did David Eby come from ?

What do you like about the job of AG?

What is the most frustrating part of the job?

What are the key issues you hope to make a difference on?

If David could answer these, I will send some follow up questions.

Hi David

At the Bartalk Editorial Board meeting this week, I suggested two articles for our spring Access to Justice issue:
1) your view on Access to Justice, and
2) who is David Eby?

I hope that is good with you. Someone is going to contact you to see if you can write the Access to Justice article. I volunteered to write the Who is David Eby article, but will see if that article goes ahead.

Hi Sam and Gala,

Congratulations on the new position Sam! Though I'm sorry to hear we won't be able to work on a Mental Health Act law reform process when we'd just started to have the conversations. I hope our paths will cross again.

Gala, as the new contact from the Ministry of Attorney General on Mental Health Act law reform issues perhaps it would be helpful for to meet or have a phone call to fill you in on where we had got to and where we're going?

Hi Laura and Aleem,

That is good to hear.

Please note I am moving to the Ministry of Agriculture effective this Tuesday. s.22 . . . . though I will very much miss the opportunity to work with you and others on justice issues. (Which is not to suggest there are not important justice issues in agriculture as you know. The recent report from MWC -- Envisioning Justice for Migrant Workers –attests to that.

Thank you for your excellent work and I hope our paths cross again soon.

Please feel free to contact my colleague Gala Milne moving forward.

Kind regards, Sam

FYI, with these BN from BCLC I review and then make a judgement call about whether to forward to MDE, brief him and/or George or hold --as the inflow of information is too great to pass all of it on to him. I usually share with Eric K, though he might get them from Shawn as well.

Dear Mr. Mike and Hon. Minister of gaming grant.
Good morning and good morning to director of BC Multicultural Grant.

We submitted an application for a multicultural grant of s.21 for 4th annual African descent festival (www.africandescentfestival.com). After, we met Hon. Minister of Justice and his deputy minister and we asked them support for our community. We met MLA Ravi at his office and we appealed his support for our community and we adduced so many examples to all of them. But this morning surprised us that they have s.21 multiculturalism and this was the exact reasons we presented to both leaders. We believe we presented a very strong application to your office and Ministry in charge of gaming also had our concerns to support us s.13,s.21
,s.13,s.21

There are growing needs of our festival and the great impact the festival make to Vancouver and BC communities. However, we really surprised to see that even though we held a meeting with MLA Ravi Kahlon and the Minister of Attorney General and Minister of Justice Hon. David and we expressed the need the government continues supporting African Descent Festival is the biggest growing festival for African Descent community promoting Arts and culture for our community. The grant was written out of careful planning with an expert in grant writing s.13

The previous government had invited us multiple times to submit an application for BC Multiculturalism and we thought the new government will show a strong support for African Descent Festival, please, we need your support.

I would like to speak to the ministry in Gaming or someone in charge of this application s.13,s.21
s.13,s.21

s.13,s.21 we would like to speak to the executive director or gaming officers. s.13,s.21

Subject: Call for Records MAG-2018-82685 Due April 24, 2018

Hello Tanera,

Please find attached a Call for Records form that is electronic, fillable and saveable. The form has active links and pull-down menus. Please send your records in one PDF document, to the Justice/Social mailbox at justice.social.foi@gov.bc.ca. Thank-you.

Your Ministry has received a formal request made under the Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act (FOIPPA). The request is for:

All communication sent from Gala Milne regarding the Proportional Representation Referendum survey. (Date Range for Record Search: From 11/01/2017 To 11/30/2017).

Please contact the analyst assigned to this request if you have any questions – Liz Babecy (250) 952-6353.

What Do You Need to Do?
Please complete the attached Call for Records form.
• If search and retrieval time is anticipated to exceed 3 hours and/or the total volume of records exceeds 200 pages, complete only Sections 1 & 2 of the Call for Records Form as we may be in a position to issue a fee estimate. Then, return the form to the Justice/Social FOI Mailbox at justice.social.foi@gov.bc.ca by April 18, 2018. Please await further instruction from IAO as the records will not be required until the fee estimate process has been completed. Once fees have been paid or waived, you will be contacted to continue the call for records process. You will also be advised you if the request is abandoned and/or closed.
• If no fees apply then proceed with the call for records process. Please complete the attached Call for Records Form and return it to the Justice/Social FOI Mailbox at justice.social.foi@gov.bc.ca by April 24, 2018. Send records via email in PDF format. One PDF document is preferable. If email is not possible, please send the records in electronic format (CD, memory stick) via house mail with a copy of this note.

Reminder
You should be aware that FOIPPA obligates us to assist the applicant and to respond without delay, openly, accurately, and completely. In the event that the ministry must defend the adequacy of its search to the Information and Privacy Commissioner at Inquiry, those involved in searching for records may be required to sign affidavits confirming they have conducted an adequate search for relevant records.

Questions and Concerns
Please do not hesitate to contact your analyst noted on the attached Call for Records form to discuss:
- whether the records may be routinely releasable;
- whether the information is being prepared for public release or is already publicly available;
- ways in which an applicant may want to narrow/focus their request to reduce potential fees;
- and/or any other questions or concerns relating to this request.

Thank you for your assistance,

FYI

as discussed here is a draft of how the timeline might look. As I mentioned we are working with MAG GCPE on an engagement plan that will set out roles/responsibilities as well as scope of engagement activities. You will see that we've built in about two months from the end of the engagement period to when the regulations need to be approved (FYI the regs will be quite lengthy and include much more than just the referendum question, e.g. description of ballot package content, the method of counting/announcing of results, rules re: use of funds by pro/opp groups, etc.).

Key Milestones	Date
Referendum bill introduced	October 4, 2017
Public engagement plan approved	October 30, 2017
Public engagement begins	November 15, 2017
Public engagement ends	February 28, 2018
Report to AG submitted	March 31, 2018
Final direction provided	May 1, 2018
Regulations deposited	May 31, 2018
Referendum campaign period begins	June 1, 2018
Referendum Information Office established	June 1, 2018

Colleagues,

In preparation for our meeting tomorrow at 4:45 pm, attached are some documents to guide our Estimates preparation discussion, including a meeting agenda, draft table of contents for the AG's Estimates binder, and list of proposed program summaries submitted by branches. Toby kindly shared the topics that arose during PSSG's Estimates and I have attached those as well.

I also want you to know how much I have appreciated the hard work, patience and good humour of those you designated as your respective branch contacts for the Estimates process. They have been unfailingly supportive and respectful of deadlines. They do you proud and remind me why this is such a wonderful ministry to work in.

Subject: RE: ACTION: Bartalk Access to Justice issue August 2018.

Below are the next series of questions Donna has submitted for the AG's response. Can you please get his responses back to me by mid-April. (And as an aside, the question about playing a particular sport made me laugh because I still recall reading his interview with a magazine some time ago where he said that he broke a lot of hearts in high school, but they were mostly basketball coaches because despite his height, he was no Michael Jordan – or something to that effect.) Also, one of the questions refers to his role as "top cop" but that is really Minister Farnworth. Our AG is the top lawyer.

What are David's past times and hobbies?

Did you play a particular sport as a child or play an instrument?

What is the last or current book you are reading?

What are the last three movies you have watched?

What is your favorite lunch?

Can you cook ? What is your best dish?

Do you have any other interesting skills?

What is your favorite activity to do with your family?

You are married and have two children/ages? (No pressure to answer questions re family)

As AG, you are really the top cop now, but you spent a lot of your legal career with a critical eye directed at the police. How has your history helped or hurt your current role?

As for the Rule of Law, I suggest the scales of justice in BC are lop-sided due to a weak LSS funding. How do you feel about this?

Where is LSS funding on the priority list of the government?

In terms of public opinion, we know there are lots polling and surveys providing information on public sentiment for government officials. Do have concern about the accuracy of the feedback you get on public opinion? Do you worry about online manipulation or distortion of the public's opinion especially online?

Hi Cris
There is some wiggle room for a longer article.
Below are my base questions:

Where did David Eby come from ?

What do you like about the job of AG?

What is the most frustrating part of the job?

What are the key issues you hope to make a difference on?

If David could answer these, I will send some follow up questions.

Hi David
I thought someone else from Bartalk was going to follow up with you on this, but I have been asked to do so. Is this something you would be able to do? It is the August issue and we would need the article by the end of May.

Hi David

At the Bartalk Editorial Board meeting this week, I suggested two articles for our spring Access to Justice issue:
1) your view on Access to Justice, and
2) who is David Eby?

I hope that is good with you. Someone is going to contact you to see if you can write the Access to Justice article. I volunteered to write the Who is David Eby article, but will see if that article goes ahead.

Hi Tanera,

Thank you for letting me know. I just wanted to give you a couple of final updates. Rob Felix has kindly declined to introduce Minister Eby and so our President and CEO Iain Black who is providing the opening remarks and conducting the moderated Q&A session, will also be introducing Minister Eby.

Here are the following guests who will be seated with the Minister at the Head Table:

Rob Felix, Senior Vice President of Merchandising, London Drugs
Janet Austin, President and CEO of YWCA Metro Vancouver, Governor of the Greater Vancouver Board of Trade and Lieutenant Governor Designate
Aaron Sutherland, Vice President, Pacific of the Insurance Bureau of Canada
Norman Cheng, Senior Client Services Manager, Mitchell International
Manish Bharadwaj, Partner, Deloitte Consulting
Chuck Keeling, Vice President of Stakeholder Relations & Responsible Gaming, Great Canadian Gaming Corporation
Iain Black, President and CEO, Greater Vancouver Board of Trade
Evi Mustel, Principal, Mustel Group, and Director of the Greater Vancouver Board

As the Head Table is for special guests and dignitaries, we would request that Gala sit with us at our Staff table.

Moreover, I'm very excited to share that we have completely sold out for this event! Guests are currently on the waitlist and we are trying to accommodate as many people as possible.

If you have any questions, please let me know.

Best,
Gayatri

Hi Wolfgang,

The attached correspondence are all form emails, part of a massive writing campaign we have batched for filing under batch header 429958. Your office previously advised we can file the form emails and respond only to non-form emails on this issue.

Ok to change these to filing?

Thanks for advising,
Kim

So much for the little guy.

I voted NDP for the first time ever based on representations you made in our pre-election telephone conversation.

That won't happen again.

Hey Len, I hope all is well with you.

Just wondering where the government is at regarding the proposed changes to ICBC and the tort system?

My clients are generally the little guys, at the lower end of the economic spectrum, often unable to stand up for their rights or even understand when those rights are being violated. The type of individual the NDP is supposed to be looking out for. The type of person who will be hit the hardest by changes to the tort system.

I understand that the proposed changes are still in the works, but hopefully those in charge of the process will keep in mind those who got them there.

Hey Leonard,

Further to our pre-election chat, just wanted to know what's up with the rumblings I hear about changes to the tort system regarding ICBC claims.

Is the NDP serious about imposing caps? This seems contrary to their written position pre election.

What's going on?

Hello Gala,

Hope you are well, and Happy Friday to you. Before Mr. Godfrey left we chatted about a press opportunity for the Minister involving CLBC. We are piloting a program tentatively called “Help a Junior for a Day”. The concept is for senior members of the bar to meet with junior members of the bar and provide guidance, mentorship in both an in formal and formal way. The genesis of this program arises from the Law Society Legal Aid Advisory Committee and the Criminal Defence Advocacy Society. Both organizations have pointed out the lack of junior lawyer training in the areas of family, criminal and immigration law. CLBC wants to fill that gap in some way. This will be a test program. Would you be able to see if the Minister would drop in for our launch? We would be happy to schedule the launch or the press release around the Minister’s timetable between June 1 and June 25.

I look forward to hearing from you. Thank you for your time, and have a great weekend.

Best,

Dear David and Gala:

Thanks for joining at the reception last night and for the kind remarks about the Legal Network.

And, of course, thanks for the meeting in the morning to talk about the BC Prosecution Service directive. I'll be following up with you soon with some additional material and to see about getting the meetings set up as we discussed.

Warm regards,
Richard

Deadline ASAP

Request
The reporter would like to schedule a phone interview with Minister Eby to discuss concerns she has heard about the allocation of court resources and their impact on child-protection trial delays. The reporter would like to ask:
1) Per recent Time-to-Trial reports, why are child-protection cases consistently the most delayed kind of cases before the B.C. Provincial Court?
2) Have additional resources been allocated to the Courts since the 2010 Justice Delayed report - which found that parents who require a hearing because their children have been apprehended "have no means of compelling their case to proceed in a timely way" and "have no recourse if the court fails to do so."
3) Can Minister Eby respond to the criticism about the impact of the allocation of court resources on Williams Lake? (A judge retired and the vacancy was not filled for years, causing a backlog).

The interview would be 10 minutes long. She would like to conduct the interview at the Minister's earliest opportunity.

Background notes to MO: s.13

Recommendation – Provide background

1. Per recent Time-to-Trial reports, why are child-protection cases consistently the most delayed kind of cases before the B.C. Provincial Court?
    - Nobody wants there to be delays in the system. It is a complex issue and delays result from a variety of reasons, including multiple stakeholders involved in the process. The ministry continues to work on reducing delays and improving the efficiency of the justice system.
    - In B.C. Provincial Family Court, child protection cases are required by statute to have a presentation hearing held within seven days from when a child is removed and a court file is opened.
    - While B.C.'s Provincial Court has seen a 16% increase in child protection cases over the last five years from 1,410 in 2011/12 to 1,638 cases in 2016/17, the number of child protection family court cases that meet the statutory guidelines for the time it takes to hold a hearing for the matter has remained steady at more than 98% compliance over the course of those years. A presentation hearing must occur within seven days after the removal of a child.
    - The Office of the Chief Judge also publishes standards for timelines.

2. Have additional resources been allocated to the Courts since the 2010 Justice Delayed report - which found that parents who require a hearing because their children have been apprehended "have no means of compelling their case to proceed in a timely way" and "have no recourse if the court fails to do so."
    - The Ministry of Attorney General's Court Services Branch received a $6.64-million budget lift this year, of which $5 million was allocated to increase the number of sheriffs and court administration staff to help reduce court delays.

3. Can Minister Eby respond to the criticism about the impact of the allocation of court resources on Williams Lake? (A judge retired and the vacancy was not filled for years, causing a backlog)
    - The Office of the Chief Judge manages the allocation of Judicial resources across the Province. We recommend you contact the B.C. Provincial Court for more information.

Dear David:

Looking forward to seeing you on Friday (twice!).

This is just a quick note to give you a heads-up about two items (one of which you may well already be aware of).

The first is that yesterday Positive Living BC and other BC groups (e.g., BCCLA) had a chance to meet with the BC Prosecution Service to discuss the recent updated policy in the Crown Policy Manual on HIV non-disclosure prosecutions. I gather from the summary I've seen last night that it wasn't a particularly useful or productive meeting, unfortunately (but perhaps not surprisingly).

The second is that there will be an op-ed from us in the Vancouver Sun (on Thursday morning, I understand) about the current state of affairs with regard to HIV non-disclosure criminalization in Canada and what has happened – i.e., not much – since the Justice Canada report. As you can expect, our commentary is rather critical of the new "guidance" from the BC Prosecution Service, which falls far short of what is needed and should be adopted. We will, of course, discuss further on Friday morning.

Warm regards,
Richard

Hi all,

Here are just a few things our government announced this week:

B.C. takes three more bold steps to fix the housing crisis

- After 16 years of neglect, housing prices have soared out of reach for too many people, vacancy rates are at historic lows and rental rates are unaffordable. We know B.C.'s housing crisis is hurting people and communities and that is why we are making changes to ensure everyone has the affordable housing they need.
- The Province of British Columbia is continuing to take bold action to address both housing demand and supply by cracking down on tax evasion on pre-sale condo assignments, giving local governments the power to protect and encourage the building of rentals, and requiring communities to assess their housing needs. Click here to learn more about these proposed changes and how they will improve housing affordability for people in B.C.

- "For too long, people who resell condos before they have been built have been inflating real estate prices, without necessarily paying taxes on their gains," said Carole James, Minister of Finance on Tuesday, April 24. "We are making it fairer for people who want to buy a condo, by making sure those who flip pre-sale condos are paying their fair share."

B.C. takes on pill presses with ban to battle fentanyl

- In a move against the illegal production of illicit opioids and to help keep them off the streets, the Province is toughening regulations on pill-press machines and other similar pharmaceutical equipment. The new Pill Press and Related Equipment Control Act is comprehensive legislation that is part of a broader scheme of initiatives intended to help law enforcement address the fentanyl crisis in British Columbia.
- "Police have asked for more control and monitoring of who has use of pill presses," said Mike Farnworth, Minister of Public Safety and Solicitor General on Wednesday, April 25. "This bill is critical in bolstering police efforts to disrupt the supply chain and get counterfeit pills off of the streets and out of the hands of those who recklessly distribute death-dealing drugs."

Province proposes changes to improve Indigenous child welfare

- The system has failed Indigenous children and their families and things need to change in the child-welfare system. Our government is listening to Indigenous communities and making changes in order to keep children safe in their communities and connected to their culture.
- Indigenous communities will have greater involvement in child-welfare decisions to help keep their children out of care, safe in their home communities, and connected to their cultures under proposed legislation changes that were announced by the Ministry of Children and Family Development on Tuesday, April 24.

- "Keeping Indigenous children connected to their family and communities is a key priority of our government and these legislative changes are a first step towards this goal," said Minister of Children and Family Development Katrine Conroy. "We will continue to listen to, and work with Indigenous communities to reform the child-welfare system and reduce the number of Indigenous children in care."

Legislation will prohibit payment for blood and plasma collection

- Health Minister Adrian Dix introduced the Voluntary Blood Donations Act on Thursday, April 26, which will help preserve the integrity of Canada's public blood and plasma collection system by preventing payment for blood and plasma collection in British Columbia.
- "Our voluntary blood donation system is an integral resource that helps saves lives thanks to people who graciously donate," said Minister Dix. "We are taking action to prevent payment for blood and plasma collection, and to make sure that the donations people give benefit people in our province and Canada."

Province submits court reference to protect B.C.'s coast

- On Thursday, April 26, the Government of British Columbia submitted a reference question to the B.C. Court of Appeal to affirm its right to protect B.C. from the threat of a diluted bitumen spill. The reference question concerns provincial autonomy, particularly the rights of British Columbia to regulate the environmental and economic impacts of heavy oils, like diluted bitumen, transported through the province.

ICBC legislation focuses on affordability and supporting crash victims

- The BC Liberals made a series of bad choices at ICBC, and kept those choices and their disastrous result secret from people. We are taking action to get ICBC back on track – with affordable rates and better coverage for people.
- The Government of British Columbia is introducing changes to legislation aimed at reversing ICBC's skyrocketing legal and administrative costs, and making insurance rates more affordable for B.C. drivers, Attorney General David Eby announced Monday, April 23.

- "It is unacceptable, not just that British Columbians faced skyrocketing rates while ICBC lost hundreds of millions of dollars, but also that benefits for injured drivers, passengers, cyclists and pedestrians have been frozen in time for a quarter century," said Attorney General David Eby. "We are rebalancing where ICBC premium dollars go. We're shifting the money out of administration, expert reports and court processes, and into driver's pockets through stable rates and better benefits."

B.C. reaches milestone with introduction of provincial cannabis legislation

- With public health and safety as the top priority, the Province has introduced legislation to provide for legal, controlled access to non-medical cannabis in British Columbia. Click here to learn more about the legislation.
- "The legislation introduced today provides a sound foundation for the regulation and safe implementation of legalized cannabis in British Columbia," said Mike Farnworth, Minister of Public Safety and Solicitor General on Thursday, April 26. "This marks a major milestone, and puts our province in position to not only be ready for federal cannabis legalization in late summer, but does so in a way that reflects the Province's goals for legalized cannabis that prioritize public health and safety, particularly for our children and youth."

Can you explain what the new brand BC Cannabis Store is?

- The B.C. Government used in-house graphic services to develop the BC Cannabis Store brand, which aligns with the BC Liquor Store brand. No additional costs were incurred.
- The brand will be used as the LDB creates a new and separate business operation to support the wholesale distribution and sale of non-medical cannabis.

Will these stores be physically separate from liquor stores?

- A cannabis retail store must be a self-contained business.
- There will be exceptions for rural stores, similar to rural liquor stores. The criteria for determining rural areas are currently under development
- We're following the recommendations made by the federal government's task force, which cautioned against co-locating liquor and cannabis, a position also supported by B.C.'s Provincial Health Officer.

- Nova Scotia and the Northwest Territories are the only jurisdictions in North America that plan to co-locate alcohol and cannabis sales. No U.S. state that has legalized cannabis allows co-location.

Can you explain how online sales will work? Are there any plans to develop an app for sales as well?

- The LDB is expected to open the first government-operated retail store by late summer, and is working to implement an e-commerce solution to offer online sales to the public. The LDB is in the process of selecting an eCommerce software provider, which will be announced in the near future along with more details regarding the online sale of non-medical cannabis.

How much cannabis can be sold at one time, per individual?

- Retail stores (both government and private) will only be permitted to sell a maximum of 30 grams of dried cannabis (or its equivalent in oil) to an individual at one time. BC Cannabis Stores will be the province's sole online cannabis retailer.

- The Province will work with First Nations interested in locating cannabis stores within their jurisdiction to identify the appropriate procedures, which reflect the interests of those communities, their members, and the decision-making protocols of First Nation governments.
- Local and First Nation governments are entitled to make decisions based on the needs of their communities. Some may choose not to allow retail cannabis stores, while others may choose to cap the number of stores that are permitted to operate within their jurisdiction.

Invitation to West Coast LEAF Fall Symposium
Dismantling the Barriers to Reporting Sexual Assault

On behalf of West Coast Legal Education and Action Fund (West Coast LEAF), we are pleased to invite you to be our guest at a symposium where we will present and discuss the findings of a three year project on the barriers sexual assault survivors face when reporting sexual assault and how we can reduce these barriers. The symposium is scheduled for October 20th and 21st, 2018, from 9am to 4pm, and will be held at the Franklin Lew Forum, Peter A. Allard School of Law, UBC, Vancouver, BC.

West Coast LEAF is a BC based legal and equality advocacy organization. Our mandate is to use the law to create an equal and just society for all women and people who experience gender based discrimination. We have particular expertise in gender equality and human rights and have done in-depth research and analysis of the impacts of federal and provincial laws and policies on women.

In our efforts to address gender based violence, in partnership with the YWCA Metro Vancouver, we are leading a project called Dismantling the Barriers to Reporting Sexual Assault to identify barriers to reporting sexual assault and promising directions for change. Given the increasing concerns about the treatment of sexual assault survivors in our criminal justice system we are speaking with survivors who have agreed to share their stories with us anonymously, victim service providers, defense lawyers, crown prosecutors, judges and academics. The goal of the project and the symposium is to identify strategies to reduce barriers in the justice system for sexual assault survivors through dialogue among all of these key stakeholders.

We look forward to your attendance.

Kindly provide a response by April 16, 2018 so that we may make appropriate arrangements. If you have any questions or require further information, please do not hesitate to contact me via e-mail or at 604.684.8772 ext 112.

Subject: RE: ICBC Identification issue explanation

Hi Leonard,

I'm wondering if you've heard anything or are aware of any progress being made on this identification issue.

With the CareCard being officially replaced by the BC Services Card in February 2018, there's a massive influx of people scrambling to switch over and being told their existing ID is not sufficient. I have dozens of seniors living on fixed incomes with barely enough money for basic necessities being told to somehow scrape together $75 to apply for a Citizenship Certificate, which takes 6 months to process.

Something as simple as having a middle initial on one card and a full middle name on a second card is enough for ICBC to refuse to issue a new BC Services Card. Even people with valid passports are being told they need to get a citizenship certificate. In some cases, if people have an original Canadian birth certificate, ICBC can take a copy of that and send it to Health Insurance BC as proof. But in a country as diverse as Canada, it seems highly discriminatory that only Canadian birth certificates are accepted.

To make matters worse, Immigration, Refugees and Citizenship Canada is so backlogged that they're only now sending "acknowledgment of receipt" messages to people who sent in applications before November 27th.

I am extremely concerned that the current provincial policy is harming BC residents and causing undue amounts of financial and emotional stress. I am also very worried that people who are waiting on citizenship certificates will not receive them in time to get a new BC Services Card by the February deadline, effectively leaving them without the identification required to attend the hospital or receive medical care.

There is a huge opportunity here to really make life easier for BC residents by easing the requirements.

Please let me know what I should be telling constituents.

Thanks,
Hilary

Subject: ICBC Identification issue explanation

Hi Leonard,

Thanks for talking to me today. I'll do my best here to explain the problem that's causing a huge amount of casework for MP offices in BC, and major headaches for BC residents.

Essentially, ICBC now requires all your government-issued photo ID to match perfectly in order for them to replace or renew your driver's license or CareCard, and if it doesn't, you have to get a Citizenship Certificate from IRCC to prove your identity. Apparently this really became an issue in the last 5 years in BC when the CareCard and driver's license were combined into one card, but I don't think that's the only reason it's now a problem. There must have been a change within ICBC's policy. If for some reason the names on people's government issued ID doesn't match perfectly, ICBC will refuse to issue new ID until that person has been able to prove their citizenship. So, for example, even if one card has the person's middle name spelled in full, and the other only had an initial, ICBC would flag that as not matching, and they would be required to submit proof of citizenship. Same goes for people with two middle names when only one name appears on some cards, or people who have a minor spelling error on one card, which happens more often than you'd think.

Problem is that it's a Catch 22 because Immigration, Refugees and Citizenship Canada won't issue a Citizenship Certificate without at least one piece of government issued photo ID, and ICBC won't issue photo ID without proof of citizenship. To make matters worse, ICBC is now taking and destroying people's photo ID, like their license or care card, if for some reason they don't match, in some cases before they're even expired, leaving that person with no ID and no way to apply for the Citizenship Certificate, which I find horrifying.

This is a major issue for people who are needing to renew their drivers license/CareCard and didn't have government-issued photo ID previously (many, many seniors), or those who have lost all their ID or had it stolen. If you've had your ID stolen/lost and replaced once already, ICBC will not provide a temporary one without primary and secondary photo ID (which many people don't have), or proof of citizenship. The other problem is that getting a citizenship certificate usually takes a few months, so the application must be flagged as urgent, and the applicant has to overcome the hurdle of not having any photo ID in the meantime. Also, completing IRCC's citizenship certificate application is quite onerous (time consuming and $75), and requires people to know a lot of family history, which sometimes requires obtaining their parent's record of landing from IRCC, which takes further time and money.

This is insanely frustrating for caseworkers like myself who are being approached by dozens of distraught constituents who are desperate to prove their identity to ICBC, but have had their ID confiscated by ICBC, or who've never had photo ID. We're left to scrabble together whatever old ID the person may have, and essentially beg IRCC to make an exception, with no guarantee it'll work. And this is happening so frequently that I frankly can't keep up with the number of people needing special assistance with their Citizenship Certificate applications, which all need to be flagged as urgent because otherwise the processing time leaves them in limbo for months without proper ID.

Janelle Gulay, ICBC's License Manager for Vancouver Island, has been a good contact on this issue, so if you'd like to speak with her about it I'm sure she'd be happy to talk to you. However, she says she doesn't think anything has changed on their end in the last several years, but obviously something changed provincially, and I think the BC NDP should be able to get to the bottom of it, or tell ICBC to chill out and use some common sense and accept the ID people currently have as valid. Not even a legal BC name change certificate is enough for them, which I find astounding.

One thing ICBC is doing to help (which is frankly very little and won't solve this problem) is creating a standard, generic letter that people who are applying for their citizenship certificate can include with their application, stating that the citizenship certificate is required in order to obtain photo identification (ie the BC CareCard and drivers license). However, this letter is not ready yet, and it remains to be seen whether this will be enough for IRCC to waive the requirement to submit 2 pieces of government issued ID, including one with a photo. And in any case, there's no reason people should be having to go through IRCC to get this proof. They're backlogged enough as it is with permanent resident applications and immigration cases- the last thing they need to be doing is issuing certificates for Canadian citizens who've been in the country for years, have previously had no problem getting a DL or Care Card, and suddenly need one because ICBC refuses to use common sense and recognize the ID they issued as valid proof.

Anything you can do to bend the ear of your Victoria colleagues and get this resolved would be amazing.

Thank you so much,

Hilary

So I'm doing some research and noticed on this webpage a statement saying "The Liquor Control and Licensing Branch is not accepting applications for new, private liquor stores at this time because of a Government-ordered moratorium that took effect November 30, 2002."

Is this moratorium still in force? Is there more information you could provide to me about this?

Many thanks!

The questionnaire data is with Ipsos Public Affairs, which was contracted to aggregate the data – what we have received to date is aggregated: charts (in the draft report) and some more detailed tables broken down by region, age, etc. Those we have now.

For literally all the data, we would need to have the data files sent over and depending how granular it is re: certain responses we may need to review for any privacy implications, which would take time. I can't estimate how much time in advance of seeing it. That has not been our priority, given the need to provide analysis and advice to the Attorney on all the recommendations that the report will need to contain.

Larger concern, as discussed, is releasing data from the engagement in advance of the report, and only at the request of a particular group rather than to the general public. The data/questionnaire responses will form part of the report and will underlie the analysis and findings. Releasing data in advance of the report would spark a public discussion and debate about the engagement results without that context.

Also: please have the comms team send us the details of who will be here at the office at 8am so we know who will be coming – and if they or the Minister are unable to prepare materials beforehand, please let us know if that will need to be done here as well.

Hi Danny and Maria
Our comms team is looking to schedule an interview with MDE on Friday morning. If we set it up for 8am at VCO can that work for you to be there at 7:30/45?

Thanks!

NEWS RELEASE
Government introduces public interest disclosure legislation for public service

VICTORIA - The Government of British Columbia has introduced legislation that will create a framework to allow public service employees to disclose serious wrongdoing, and will provide protections to those who do so.

The Public Interest Disclosure Act (2018) will enable concerned public servants to report incidents to their supervisor, an internal designated officer or the ombudsperson. The act makes it an offence to commit or direct a reprisal against such employee, which could take the form of a demotion, termination or disciplinary measure. Protection from reprisal is vital to employees feeling safe to report wrongdoing without fear that they may suffer consequences for doing so.

The Office of the Ombudsperson recommended the introduction of public interest disclosure legislation as part of its 2017 report into the firing of Ministry of Health employees, titled Misfire: The 2012 Ministry of Health Employment Terminations and Related Matters. The report addressed the flawed investigations and rush to judgement that resulted in harmful consequences to the individuals impacted.

"Government has introduced this important legislation to ensure that public service employees are safe to report serious wrongdoing without fear of reprisal," said Attorney General David Eby. "This is a critical step forward to enhance the accountability, transparency and higher standards of public administration here in B.C. that all employees and citizens reasonably expect."

The act draws on best practices from around the world, with much of its content derived from jurisdictions such as Manitoba, Ontario, Alberta, Australia and the United Kingdom. While it will only apply to the public service to begin with, the legislation may be expanded to include the broader public sector.

Subject: heads-up regarding op-ed on HIV criminalization

Dear David:

Looking forward to seeing you on Friday (twice!).

This is just a quick note to give you a heads-up about two items (one of which you may well already be aware of).

The first is that yesterday Positive Living BC and other BC groups (e.g., BCCLA) had a chance to meet with the BC Prosecution Service to discuss the recent updated policy in the Crown Policy Manual on HIV non-disclosure prosecutions. I gather from the summary I've seen last night that it wasn't a particularly useful or productive meeting, unfortunately (but perhaps not surprisingly).

The second is that there will be an op-ed from us in the Vancouver Sun (on Thursday morning, I understand) about the current state of affairs with regard to HIV non-disclosure criminalization in Canada and what has happened – i.e., not much – since the Justice Canada report. As you can expect, our commentary is rather critical of the new "guidance" from the BC Prosecution Service, which falls far short of what is needed and should be adopted. We will, of course, discuss further on Friday morning.

Warm regards,
Richard

Hi Gala; please see attached.

This invitation has already been sent to the Ministry, but I thought I would follow up directly with you. And although I suspect the Minister is not available for this (being a Saturday in Victoria), I wanted to ensure you got it as a courtesy, if nothing else. However, if by chance the Minster happened to be in Victoria for the weekend, and had interest in attending, naturally we would be honoured for him and a guest to join us.

Thanks again.

If possible, Reporter would LOVE to talk with one of the senior public servants working on these files to talk about the size of the job, the stresses, the processes, how well the province has taken on this task, etc.

Recommendation: Bullets on background

How many pieces of legislation is the province writing/amending/changing? His editor told him it's over 20.

- Information on the number of acts will be available when the Minister tables the legislation.

What are the big challenges that these bills have to overcome?

- The legalization of non-medical cannabis represents an historic shift in public policy and the Province fully anticipates that all levels of government will need to continue to assess and refine cannabis policy and regulation over the months and years ahead.
- British Columbia's top priorities are the protection of young people, promoting health and safety, keeping the criminal element out of cannabis, keeping our roads safe, and supporting economic development.
- The Cannabis Legalization and Regulation Secretariat, within the Policing and Security Branch of the Ministry of Public Safety and Solicitor General, is conducting policy work to support the development of the provincial regulatory framework.

What is the process like in managing this huge public policy change? How does the secretariat work?

- In April 2016, the Government of Canada announced their intention to legalize, regulate and restrict access to cannabis.
- In response, the provincial Ministry of Public Safety and Solicitor General (PSSG) initiated efforts to identify concerns for British Columbia and to develop a strategic policy direction for the legalization and regulation of non-medical cannabis.
- To assist in the work, PSSG established an inter-ministry Assistant Deputy Ministers' (ADM) committee, as well as an inter-ministry working group that includes representation from various ministries, including: Health; Attorney General; Agriculture; Finance; Municipal Affairs and Housing; Indigenous Relations and Reconciliation; Education; Jobs, Trade and Technology; and Children and Family Development, as well as representation from RoadSafetyBC.
- Under the lead of PSSG and reporting to the ADMs committee, the Secretariat was formally established in spring 2017 to oversee and coordinate the work required to develop the provincial regulatory framework.
- The Secretariat is comprised of individuals who have extensive experience in reviewing and critically analyzing complex policy issues, as well as experience in drafting legislation, regulation, and policy documents.
- In addition, the Secretariat has individuals with expertise in Indigenous relations and public and stakeholder engagement to coordinate provincial engagement activities related to cannabis legalization and regulation.

What 'in general' is available in public already about the supply and retail sides of government?

- Ministry of Public Safety and Solicitor General updates are posted here https://www2.gov.bc.ca/gov/content/safety/public-safety/cannabis
- The Liquor Distribution Branch information http://www.bcldb.com/cannabis
- The Liquor Control and Licensing Branch information https://www2.gov.bc.ca/gov/content/employment-business/business/liquor-regulation-licensing/cannabis-regulation

If possible, Reporter would LOVE to talk with one of the senior public servants working on these files to talk about the size of the job, the stresses, the processes, how well the province has taken on this task, etc.

- The Minister of Public Safety and Solicitor General is responsible for leading the Province of British Columbia's planning for the safe implementation of legalized cannabis. The Minister is the lead spokesperson.

Once retail is legal and presumably the muni's are allowing/not allowing certain dispensary businesses, who enforces the already open dispensaries? Who will force them to shut down?

- B.C. is committed to implementing a well-regulated retail system that only sells legally produced and tested cannabis. That means that existing dispensaries will have to close, unless they obtain a licence from LCLB.
- The Minister of Public Safety and Solicitor General expects to introduce legislation related to the legalization of non-medical cannabis this week to affect the policy decisions announced earlier this year.
- The Province's regulatory framework for non-medical cannabis is guided by the priorities of protecting children and youth; promoting health and safety; keeping the criminal element out of cannabis; keeping our roads safe; and supporting the economic development of our province.

When does the applicant portal from the retail guide open? It says 'Spring 2018', which is almost over.

- Much of the content for the applicant portal is dependent on the passage of the provincial cannabis legislation, which government expects to introduce later this week
- An initial launch of the applicant portal is therefore planned for later this spring once the Bill has been debated in the Legislature.
- The initial portal launch will include an assessment tool, so prospective applicants: can better understand the application process, the licensing requirements, and determine their readiness to apply.
- The Liquor Control and Licensing Branch (LCLB) is developing an online application process. It will be available after the legislation and regulations are brought into effect, and the authorities are in place to collect personal and business information from prospective applicants.
- The LCLB will require the passage of the federal Bill (C-45) in order to have the legal authority to issue these licences.
- Cannabis licensing will be subject to: the federal and provincial authorities being in place; provincial security checks and other licensing requirements including payment of fees; and the respective local government or First Nation jurisdictional requirements.

> Hi Wolfgang,

Apologies for the delay in clicking send after speaking with you this morning. I just wanted to advise the person who is currently handling Jasleen's role of a potential issue to be brought forward by MLA Sturdy's office.

As part of the requirements under the Motor Vehicle Act Regulations (section 30.05), ICBC pre-screens applicants for a commercial driver's license (classes 1-4). MLA Sturdy's office received a request for assistance from an applicant for a class 4 driver's license that is a requirement for employment. The turnaround time for processing applications, depending upon demand, can range anywhere from 40-55 business days. This is due to the volume of applications received. In recent months, due to the delay (generally being around 50 days as of late – from the time the application is received to reviewed/approved) and the recognition of the potential challenges resulting from the delay, ICBC has hired additional staff and approved overtime for reviewing officers to alleviate some of the backlog.

As the majority of applicants are waiting on employment and/or training opportunities, ICBC processes these applications in the order in which they are stamped and received into the reviewing office. This ensures that all applicants who are potentially waiting on training or employment are treated fairly. MLA Sturdy's office was advised of the policy, the status of their constituent's application, and where they sat in the queue in comparison to others. The CA will be raising this issue with the MLA as a specific concern, and I wanted to bring the issue to your attention.

Please contact me with any questions.

Thanks,
Connie

Recommendation

2 requests:

- Rob Shaw – ICBC minor injury definition
- Ian Mulgrew – Requesting to reschedule interview

Deadline Tuesday, April 24, 2018 3:00 PM

Request
The reporter is looking for more background on the two different definitions of minor injury at ICBC. The Feb. 6 press release from government had an initial definition: "The new legal definition will include things like sprains, strains, mild whiplash, cuts and bruises, anxiety and stress from a crash. It does not include broken bones, brain injuries (concussions) or other more serious impairments." Yesterday's backgrounder added "pain syndrome, psychological and psychiatric conditions or an injury in prescribed class of injury, even if chronic." That wording was not in the February backgrounder.

The reporter would like to know:
1) What does the additional phrase add to the definition of minor injury?
2) The original release mentioned a requirement that doctors will diagnose that information and that if it still persists after 12 months then it will become a major injury outside of the cap. The press release yesterday did not contain that wording. In the bill, the 12-month clause and the clause on doctors remain, correct?

Recommendation: provide background

- The proposed legislation includes the foundation for the new legal definition for what constitutes a minor injury in B.C. British Columbia's legislation has more details on the definition of a minor injury than any other Canadian jurisdiction.
- Legislation is a broad definition that will be further refined in regulation and informed by consultation with medical treatment providers, as well as other jurisdictions that have already made similar changes.
- Details of a prescribed class of injury, along with physiological and psychiatric conditions, will also be defined in regulations.
- Regulations provide the flexibility to update the definition, if needed in the future.
- As previously announced, it is intended that if symptoms for some injuries persist and have a significant effect on activities of daily living, such as work and school, beyond 12 months, then the injury would no longer be considered minor. At any point during recovery, a medical professional can determine if an injury diagnosis has changed and should no longer be considered minor.

Deadline ASAP

Request
The reporter would like to schedule an in-person sit down interview with Minister Eby this week to have a wide-ranging discussion on the various challenges he is currently facing. The interview would focus on:
- Gambling and money laundering
- The German report
- Kinder Morgan protesters and the Trans Mountain dispute
- Legal aid and Gladue reports
- His role as Attorney General

The interview would be 20-25 minutes with the reporter. He is available to meet the minister in the Vancouver area. He would like to conduct the interview before the end of the week, as his previous interview with the minister was cancelled.

Hi – also attached for approval are the draft materials for PID introduction, signed off by Kurt. We also have a request in with the PSA for a Q to add on the status of other significant Misfire recommendations. Are you wanting this scrum (TBC for April 25) to also take place at the gates? Stephanie Sherlock's team can provide a mic-tree for these and coordinate (without the need for event support or a/v, as you likely know). They are set to support ICBC's Monday after QP.

NR - PID Legislation - 7M...

QA - PID Legislation - 7M...

I'll also re-attach Monday items for approval.

Misc. Bill IB (updated with a few tweaks from shops):

IB - Miscellaneous Statuses Am...

Class Proceedings Act:

QA - Class Proceedings Act...

IB - Class Proceedings Act...

ICBC you've been working with Shawn on and have materials for.

The editors are aware these will be coming their way Monday morning.

Thanks,

Tiffany

Subject: Call for Records MAG-2018-82813 Due April 27, 2018

Hello, please note that this is a x-government request, thank you.

Please find attached a Call for Records form that is electronic, fillable and saveable. The form has active links and pull-down menus. Please send your records in one PDF document, to the Justice/Social mailbox at justice.social.foi@gov.bc.ca. Thank-you.

Your Ministry has received a formal request made under the Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act (FOIPPA). The request is for:

All communication between Andrew Weaver and the Minister or their staff. Date Range: 10/01/2017 to 03/31/2018.

Please contact the analyst assigned to this request if you have any questions – Samara Fisher 250 953-3622 (not to be confused with me, Sandra L. Fisher, Junior Analyst).

What Do You Need to Do?
Please complete the attached Call for Records form.
• If search and retrieval time is anticipated to exceed 3 hours and/or the total volume of records exceeds 200 pages, complete only Sections 1 & 2 of the Call for Records Form as we may be in a position to issue a fee estimate. Then, return the form to the Justice/Social FOI Mailbox at justice.social.foi@gov.bc.ca by April 23, 2018. Please await further instruction from IAO as the records will not be required until the fee estimate process has been completed. Once fees have been paid or waived, you will be contacted to continue the call for records process. You will also be advised you if the request is abandoned and/or closed.
• If no fees apply then proceed with the call for records process. Please complete the attached Call for Records

Form and return it to the Justice/Social FOI Mailbox at justice.social.foi@gov.bc.ca by April 27, 2018. Send records via email in PDF format. One PDF document is preferable. If email is not possible, please send the records in electronic format (CD, memory stick) via house mail with a copy of this note.

Reminder
You should be aware that FOIPPA obligates us to assist the applicant and to respond without delay, openly, accurately, and completely. In the event that the ministry must defend the adequacy of its search to the Information and Privacy Commissioner at Inquiry, those involved in searching for records may be required to sign affidavits confirming they have conducted an adequate search for relevant records.

Questions and Concerns
Please do not hesitate to contact your analyst noted on the attached Call for Records form to discuss:
- whether the records may be routinely releasable;
- whether the information is being prepared for public release or is already publicly available;
- ways in which an applicant may want to narrow/focus their request to reduce potential fees;
- and/or any other questions or concerns relating to this request.

Thank you for your assistance,

Sandra Fisher, Junior FOI Analyst
