Hello,

The legal counsel working on HRC RFL had put in a request for a meeting with you to discuss the latest pieces on this file. I understand you've now signed the DBN but do you want to have the meeting and have the chance to talk with them about next steps? Or are you happy without having a check in meeting.

Good morning, Gala.

On Friday Tanera returned the DBN signed by the Minister and yesterday she advised Mar that a briefing was no longer required.

Is that still correct?

Thank you, C

Subject: For Jasleen's role

Hi Wolfgang,

Apologies for the delay in clicking send after speaking with you this morning. I just wanted to advise the person who is currently handling Jasleen's role of a potential issue to be brought forward by MLA Sturdy's office.

As part of the requirements under the Motor Vehicle Act Regulations (section 30.05), ICBC pre-screens applicants for a commercial driver's license (classes 1-4). MLA Sturdy's office received a request for assistance from an applicant for a class 4 driver's license that is a requirement for employment. The turnaround time for processing applications, depending upon demand, can range anywhere from 40-55 business days. This is due to the volume of applications received. In recent months, due to the delay (generally being around 50 days as of late – from the time the application is received to reviewed/approved) and the recognition of the potential challenges resulting from the delay, ICBC has hired additional staff and approved overtime for reviewing officers to alleviate some of the backlog.

As the majority of applicants are waiting on employment and/or training opportunities, ICBC processes these applications in the order in which they are stamped and received into the reviewing office. This ensures that all applicants who are potentially waiting on training or employment are treated fairly. MLA Sturdy's office was advised of the policy, the status of their constituent's application, and where they sat in the queue in comparison to others. The CA will be raising this issue with the MLA as a specific concern, and I wanted to bring the issue to your attention.

Please contact me with any questions.

Thanks,
Connie

I'm writing about tonight's cancelled town hall. I have a poli sci prof telling me he believes wilkinson crossed a line by encouraging people to attend the event with or without tickets. What's your take on that. Did he cross a line?

Do you think it's risky for Wilkinson's name to be connected to that letter that was sent to homeowners?

Why did you make the event ticketed and who had the opportunity to get a ticket? Was making it ticketed just a way to get contact info from those attending?

My deadline for this is 4 pm

Thanks!

Request

The reporter is requesting an interview with Minister Eby.
Time: any time today, or before 10 AM Wednesday morning.

Questions:

Can the Minister comment on the creation of the BC RCMP's new position "Financial Criminal Special Adviser"?
Could amplify on a few of the comments he made to the federal finance committee in Ottawa? What evidence the province has of a direct link between illicit money being channeled through casinos and illicit money in our real estate market?
Can the Minister comment further on his comments re: FINTRAC and its lack of enforcement mechanisms?

Follow-up questions:

What's Mr. Eby's reaction to the RCMP creating this special advisor position on financial crimes? Money laundering obviously exists across the country. For the benefit of our readers outside of BC, can Mr. Eby explain what makes the situation in BC stand out?
During his testimony in Ottawa Mr Eby stated: "Money laundering is not a victimless crime. It's also connected to the fact that we have big problems in our real estate market." Can he more precisely connect the dots? How is the laundering of money in casinos intertwined with soaring prices of real estate? Is it that drug ("dirty") money is being funnelled into casinos and then people walk out with "clean" money that is then used to purchase real estate?
Where are the biggest gaps in enforcement? Is it with RCMP lacking financial crime experts? Is it FINTRAC requiring casinos and realtors to report stuff but there's no follow-up enforcement? Is it casinos/realtors not doing their part in reporting suspicious activities in the first place? All of the above?

Background: The position RCMP position the reporter is referring to is described here:

<https://buyandsell.gc.ca/procurement-data/tender-notice/PW-18-00826294>

The federal government plans to directly award the contract to John Ahern (currently a senior legal counsel at his own firm, previously worked for the Criminal Justice Branch and the RCMP).

Have been unable to identify any information about the BC-RCMP position through GPEB.

Statement has been drafted from the AG's speech to the federal finance committee, as well as some of German's verbatim recommendations for that meeting.

Recommendation – provide statement from the Attorney General

Statement from Attorney General David Eby

“The issue in British Columbia is so notorious, and so severe, that at least one international intelligence community now calls a model of money laundering the “Vancouver model.”

“In the Vancouver model of money laundering, a wealthy individual from China, a country with strict currency export controls, wants to gamble. A gangster will meet that gambler at a Casino, offering cash in amounts as high as hundreds of thousands of dollars. The cash is the proceeds of gang crime. To pay for the cash, the gambler agrees to transfer money in China from his bank account into a bank account under the control of the gang. The gambler walks the illicit cash into the casino, completes a FINTRAC reporting form, buys chips, gambles, and on leaving, either cashes out, receiving a cheque, or carries the chips out of the casino.

“In sum, the criminal gang has successfully laundered difficult-to-manage twenty dollar bills, moving the money out of Canada while keeping their names off FINTRAC forms. Those involved in the transaction can truthfully report that everyone is following all of the reporting rules.

“In terms of gaps in enforcement, there are a range of factors at play. A major issue I raised with the federal committee in Ottawa was the need to dedicate federal RCMP resources to B.C. to support us in this fight against money laundering and trans-national crime. It's a bigger issue than just B.C. It's an international issue and we need that support to deal with it.

“FINTRAC does a very good job of collecting reports and entering them into a database that's available to law enforcement. However, FINTRAC, the RCMP and Revenue Canada need the resources to follow up on these reports. There is no question there has been a massive failure here.

“In Ottawa, I asked the federal finance committee to investigate why all these reports go to FINTRAC without seeing any prosecutions for money laundering. I asked the committee give FINTRAC and the RCMP the powers that they need to be able to investigate and prosecute this kind of activity.

“Other factors include:

- The absence of reporting by lawyers to FINTRAC is a significant gap in Canada and is a significant impediment to police investigations involving the movement of money through real estate and other financial sectors.
- Law enforcement officials do not work within FINTRAC, due to privacy concerns. Any opportunity to broaden the use of the intelligence housed within FINTRAC would be a benefit.
- In 2012, the RCMP eliminated its national Proceeds of Crime and Commercial Crime Sections, in favour of a new task force orientation to investigations. Although indications are that the RCMP is now rebuilding its financial crime expertise, the gap in federal policing in this important area between 2012 and 2017, displaced responsibility for 'white collar' crime to provincial and municipal police, who generally did not have the resources or expertise to take on these complex files.

- Finally, the defunding of B.C.'s integrated casino policing team in 2009 allowed suspicious transactions to climb in B.C. casinos. Large, suspicious transactions continued unabated from 2009 until late 2017, when our new government instructed B.C. casinos not to accept large cash transactions unless they could confirm the legitimate source of the funds.

"Further details about enforcement will be available when we publicly share Dr. Peter German's report on British Columbia's anti-money laundering policies and practices in Lower Mainland casinos.

"At this time we don't have any details on the B.C. RCMP's new financial criminal special adviser position, but we are encouraged to hear that efforts are being taken to increase enforcement.

"Recent media reports of money laundering through real estate in British Columbia are very serious and deeply troubling. Our government will work to determine the scope of this issue, and what must be done to appropriately address it.

"Dr. German was directed to explore what connection, if any, the issue has with other areas of B.C.'s economy. We are in the process of reviewing his report and will provide government's response in due course. However, given the severity of the issue, I have asked Dr. German to take on a second round of investigation specifically around money laundering through real estate."

Good afternoon,

Thank you again for taking the time to meet with us on various law reform issues, in particular discussion of how to include protections based on “social condition” in BC’s Human Rights Code.

I am writing today to inquire whether there are internal discussions or research ongoing on this topic within your Ministry at this time. As we move forward with advocacy, research and public legal education, we appreciate any information you are able to share with us regarding initiatives at the provincial level. I can say with confidence that this is of great interest to a variety of public servants and elected officials within the municipal sphere, as well as academics and service providers.

Thank you for your time.

Subject: Discrimination based on Social Condition – Technical Briefing

Dear Assistant Deputy Minister Sandstrom,

We write by way of follow up to our meeting with the Attorney General on February 1, 2018. At our meeting, the Attorney General requested that we provide your office with a brief technical outline of Pivot Legal Society's vision for protecting people in British Columbia from discrimination on the basis of 'social condition.'

As you are aware, in late 2017, Parliamentary Secretary Ravi Kahlon released A Human Rights Commission for the 21st Century: British Columbians Talk about Human Rights. The report puts forward recommendations for re-establishing the BC Human Rights Commission. Included is a recommendation that the Attorney General begin consultation and policy work to consider whether the Code should be amended to include 'social condition' as a protected ground.

Please find attached an assessment of how to define 'social condition' within the Human Rights Code, the scope of protection that should be afforded by the Code, responses to identified risks, and suggestions for related implementation and public education.

As ever, thank you for your time and your attention to this issue. Please contact the undersigned if you have any questions or concerns.

Hi Dulcy and Gala,

Here are the draft materials we've prepped for next week's event. There is still some information we need from staff to finalize the materials, especially re: the history of the tax. Please let us know if you have outstanding questions. You can also call if you need to talk through any framing/issues.

Subject: Tax Rates Comparisons Only.xlsx

Dear Robin,

Attached is tax rate comparison chart calculated for DE for forum and FYI. Would appreciate proofread/affirmation. Also, I double checked these #s with Min. Education, so I think correct. If you see otherwise, let me know.

To answer: the school tax is misrepresented as helping schools.

Fact: It is true that the school tax is the proportion of provincial revenue realized from property taxes, and it is not earmarked for schools alone (this name is a legacy from its use as sole source of local school funding in US and is common across provinces for the provincial share of property tax revenue). However, if we specified that provincial schools were to be funded solely out of property taxes (as in the US), your taxes would have to skyrocket or schools would be decimated: the province is set to spend over $6B on schools this fiscal year. We took in approximately $2B in property taxes. This tax increase is projected to raise $200M per year once in effect. We don't collect school taxes and then spread the wealth in other areas: we collect school taxes and then subsidize schools from other sources in general revenues as well—income taxes and other sources of revenue that we all share.

Compare our projected revenue from the school tax increase to the amount that we are spending on schools (#s from budget):

Property/School tax (increase with tax) School spending + capital expenditure (increase over Lib govt model)

FY2017-18	2.380B (50M)	6.099B +
524M ($372M, 30M)
FY2018-19	2.626B (200M)	6.341B
+483M ($646M, 62M)
FY2019-20	3.000B (200M)
6.374B+621M (no comps)

Looking forward to your materials as well.

Thanks!

Request

The reporter is following up on the status of the German Report.

Questions:

Can you tell me how soon Mr. Eby can speak with us?

Or, can you let me know, when will Mr. Eby will release Dr. German's Full Report?

Background – the reporter is following up from Apr. 3 and Apr. 27 emails re: the report.

Recommendation – provide ministry response

Response from the Ministry of Attorney General

“Dr. German’s report includes 48 substantive recommendations, spanning 250 pages. We are reviewing the report now, to ensure that we don’t release content that would compromise criminal investigations or personal privacy. While we will provide the government’s response in due course, we hope to release the report by the end of this legislative session, which concludes on May 31.”

Deadline Tuesday, May 1, 2018 3:00 PM

Request

The reporter is requesting an attributable response from the Attorney General to the criticisms of the B.C. Prosecution Service's guidelines on prosecuting non-disclosure of HIV.

Specifically, the reporter is referring to this article: <http://vancouversun.com/opinion/op-ed/richard-elliott-a-chance-to-correct-injustice-dont-squander-it>

It expresses disappointment in the new guidelines of Mar. 1 and says they are unjust and at odds with medical science and good public health practice.

The reporter is aware that MDE may have met with Mr. Elliot (author of article) over the weekend

Questions:

What is the ministry's response to Mr. Elliot's criticisms?

Does the ministry intend to do anything further to reform their prosecutorial guidelines?

If part of the issue here is that BC is bound by federal law (as Mr. Eby has said in the past that it is), why can't BC modernize its guidelines in the same way that Ontario (which is also bound by federal law) already has?

Good afternoon, Gala

CLBC has an AGM coming up on Thursday, June 14th starting at 1215pm. As an appointing entity of the British Columbia Courthouse Library Society, the Attorney General of BC may appoint a designated nominee. Last year the nominee was Kristin Hodgins. I am wondering if you would be able to confirm if Kristin is still the nominee. And if she is not, then we will require that your office designate a new nominee and advise this in writing. We will in turn ask this person to execute a Consent to Act document per page 4 of the attached 2018 bylaws under the new Societies Act.

Thank you for your assistance, Gala.

Following a discussion with Gala Milne:

The legislation will be introduced and the event to follow introduction on Tuesday, May 15.
The Bill will be introduced in the morning, so the timing for the event will be approximately 11:30
There is a desire to invite guests to be briefed and receive the Draft legislation under embargo prior to the introduction and event. Gala is discussing some of these logistics with Kurt Sandstrom.
A location tbd will need to be identified in the Leg. Bldgs for guests to meet and receive briefing prior to introduction and event (not determined who will present briefing)
Video screen should be available for guests to watch AG introduce bill in house
Guests will need to proceed from briefing to event site following introduction of bill (Info bulletin would be triggered for release at time of introduction so embargo would end at that time.)
No details on whether validators will speak at event.

Cass the event plan will need to be updated accordingly, NR and Qs and As prepared for review.
I will follow up with Gala after her discussion with Kurt about details on briefing.
Kieran we will require SN for AG for event.
Not certain on what support will be required for briefing.

My understanding is that people were able to input their postal code to the online ticketing site (Eventbrite), but that Eventbrite doesn't prohibit people from getting a ticket based on geography.

Found it thanks! One more quick question. The people originally issued tickets, did they have to give their address to prove they were constituents? Just curious if the protest types could have hijacked the meeting at the sign up stage? Thanks!

Hi Cassandra, I am looking at the release that Mr. Eby sent out cancelling the town hall yesterday. Do you folks by chance have a copy of the letter that Andrew Wilkinson wrote urging people to attend whether or not they have tickets. I'd love to read it. Just wondering if someone could send it along... Cheers Adrienne.

I have the AG's Bill 28 house binders here and will ensure you have them today or tomorrow. When I look at the summary list Gala sent on Monday, I didn't see second reading for Bill 28. Do we have a date for that yet?

All – here is the current update on our Prioritized Action Plan for the branch. As I understand it you'll seek the AG's views on priorities under this plan. Let me know if there's something that should be in the plan that isn't, as well. We are looking for things to come off the plan if they are of lower priority, given the stretch we feel at the moment in our branch. We want to deliver what the AG wants done, and do it well. Please note, the partnership with law clinics and TRU that appears in the legal aid budget note is a little more advanced than this chart, so where the two conflict the budget note is more up to date.

I look forward to the AG's feedback once you've obtained it.

Thanks,

Well, let me say this about that. To the best of my knowledge, this is what is being trademarked. But the way this project has gone, you just never know! That said, the trademark lawyer is coming in to meet with our head of graphics at 10:00, so we'll know for sure then.

You know, the question about corporate branding is an interesting one. Everyone assumes there will be one. But I'm not so sure. In any case, we just completed all our focus testing last week which I instigated to determine what people are angsty about. We'll figure out products and tactics from that.

Tks,

Subject: Legal counsel updated list and reminder
Good afternoon CDs and managers,

In the past and regularly, the CD for Attorney General would send a note to inform and remind shops of the process of working with Legal Services Branch counsel and developing messaging around civil court cases that concern your ministry. Our team has been doing this with individual shops over the last several months as cases arise – this is now your regularly scheduled reminder. Please share with your team, particularly those on your media phone and save these helpful points.

- The Legal Services Branch (LSB) is housed under the Attorney General and its lawyers are assigned to each individual ministry. Attached is the most up to date (as of Oct. 2) listing of legal counsel responsibilities.
- Each GCPE shop is responsible for working with its LSB counsel to develop any and all needed messaging and background for cases that relate to your ministry's files, regardless of whether your ministry is named in the suit. The AG of BC is named in all matters as a formality.
- The AG comms shop does not need to be kept in the loop as you work through messaging with LSB and as CD for AG I do not need to approve it.
- Our AG comms shop will only act as lead when a civil case concerns the administration of justice or one of the AG's files specifically.
- If decided corporately that the AG will respond to any part of your legal matter, in the short or long term, the lead GCPE shop on the file maintains responsibility for developing all materials and working through LSB reviews and approvals, and share finals with their MO and the AG CD.
- If there is question as to which Minister will be the public face responding to a case, MOs and CDs should connect and work it out.
- Throughout the week, the AG shop will share case updates as they come in. This should not be relied upon as the sole source of case information. Please connect with your counsel and request that they keep you informed as matters develop.
- Once again, a list of your lawyers is attached. If you require urgent approvals and cannot reach your LSB contact, call Maya Engelbrecht, Executive Administrative Assistant for LSB for support in tracking down the next available approver.
- Your LSB counsel will inform you if LSB ADM James Harvey needs to review materials for approval. Please do not copy him in as a matter of course.

- If media contact you about a criminal matter related to your ministry, please forward this to the AG comms shop since this is handled separately within the BC Prosecution Service (formally the Criminal Justice Branch).

Thanks for keeping this note handy - Tiffany and I are happy to help clarify any parts of this process.

Cheers,

Megan

Good afternoon CDs and managers,

In the past and regularly, the CD for Attorney General would send a note to inform and remind shops of the process of working with Legal Services Branch counsel and developing messaging around civil court cases that concern your ministry. Our team has been doing this with individual shops over the last several months as cases arise – this is now your regularly scheduled reminder. Please share with your team, particularly those on your media phone and save these helpful points.

- The Legal Services Branch (LSB) is housed under the Attorney General and its lawyers are assigned to each individual ministry. Attached is the most up to date (as of Oct. 2) listing of legal counsel responsibilities.
- Each GCPE shop is responsible for working with its LSB counsel to develop any and all needed messaging and background for cases that relate to your ministry's files, regardless of whether your ministry is named in the suit. The AG of BC is named in all matters as a formality.

Hi Doug

Hope you're doing well and looking forward to the weekend.

I'm writing ahead of Monday's meeting here in Victoria to see if you'd can send me a list of discussion items in advance. That way I can share with the Minister so that he'll be better prepared to speak to any of the issues raised.

On that note, I'm not sure if you've had a chance to meet our newest colleague here in the office, but his name is Derrick Harder and he's great.^{s.22} but have brought Derrick up to speed on my files and he'll be taking over temporarily ^{s.22} He's reachable at Derrick.Harder@gov.bc.ca if you need him.

Look forward to hearing from you and all the best,

Hello, please note that FIN and OOP also received this request, thank you.

Please find attached a Call for Records form that is electronic, fillable and saveable. The form has active links and pull-down menus. Please send your records in one PDF document, to the Justice/Social mailbox at justice.social.foi@gov.bc.ca. Thank-you.

Your Ministry has received a formal request made under the Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act (FOIPPA). The request is for:

Relating to product reform as it pertains to ICBC: All records, emails and subsequent attachments, memos, draft and final copies of agendas, minutes, meeting summaries, briefing notes, handwritten notes, and post-meeting reports, of meetings between any combination of the following: The Attorney General or his staff, ICBC Chair Joy MacPhail, the CEO of ICBC, the Premier or his Office Staff, and/or the Minister of Finance or her Office staff. (Date Range for Record Search: From 07/18/2017 To 02/23/2018).

Please contact the analyst assigned to this request if you have any questions – Kelly Morita (250) 356-2030.

What Do You Need to Do?

Please complete the attached Call for Records form.

- If search and retrieval time is anticipated to exceed 3 hours and/or the total volume of records exceeds 200 pages, complete only Sections 1 & 2 of the Call for Records Form as we may be in a position to issue a fee estimate. Then, return the form to the Justice/Social FOI Mailbox at justice.social.foi@gov.bc.ca by April 8, 2018. Please await further instruction from IAO as the records will not be required until the fee estimate process has been completed. Once fees have been paid or waived, you will be contacted to continue the call for records process. You will also be advised you if the request is abandoned and/or closed.
- If no fees apply then proceed with the call for records process. Please complete the attached Call for Records Form and return it to the Justice/Social FOI Mailbox at justice.social.foi@gov.bc.ca by April 16, 2018. Send records via email in PDF format. One PDF document is preferable. If email is not possible, please send the records in electronic format (CD, memory stick) via house mail with a copy of this note.

Reminder

You should be aware that FOIPPA obligates us to assist the applicant and to respond without delay, openly, accurately, and completely. In the event that the ministry must defend the adequacy of its search to the Information and Privacy Commissioner at Inquiry, those involved in searching for records may be required to sign affidavits confirming they have conducted an adequate search for relevant records.

Questions and Concerns

Please do not hesitate to contact your analyst noted on the attached Call for Records form to discuss:

- whether the records may be routinely releasable;
- whether the information is being prepared for public release or is already publicly available;
- ways in which an applicant may want to narrow/focus their request to reduce potential fees;
- and/or any other questions or concerns relating to this request.

Hi Doug,

The short answer is there is about a 42 day wait for pre-screens at the moment, an improvement from the number provided last week.

The long answer is that the staff that does the pre-screening, among other types of work, increased from two to four earlier this year. The waiting period was at about 42-44 days earlier this year, has fluctuated since including much higher, and is at about that level now. You might ask why things haven't improved drastically since the increase in staff and the overtime. The basic answer is the volume as well as the long training process to do the pre-screen function and it can take up to a year for a new hire to be fully proficient – and we have the two more senior folks supporting the training of the new folks which slows down productivity.

One of the contributions to the processing time is when applicants submit incomplete documentation or not following instructions/requirements, even after being notified in writing of what is required. We are doing some work to make sure these requirements are as clear as possible both in material at the driver licensing office and on icbc.com. The operational team is also looking at moving workload and other productivity measures to help reduce the wait time.

As the new folks get up to speed and the other measures above continue to come on stream the wait times should come down – and there is some improvement over the last week or so. Our target is 30 days.

Hey Charlotte I haven't heard much actually. Aside from the fact that Karl passed it on to someone else on his team and same in our gcpe shop, so I expect that the project might need some help moving forward. We have a new expected date for the legislation to be tabled as well. Derrick Harder is now leading from our team as I'll be away for the next month.

Derrick we had been planning to make a short shareable video as part of the roll out of this legislation. Connecting you with Charlotte here to coordinate. I can also send a reminder on to Tiffany.

Talk soon,

Hi Charlotte,

Would love to work with you and/or AG/MDE to make a video for social (that can be used or adapted for other contexts). It's usually best if the request for the video originates in the comms shop, do you know if that will be the case? Or is this something I should reach out to the AG comms director about?

Over to you Sage for decision point 2.

Subject: Video for protection of public participation act

Hi Sage and Karl,

MDE is bringing together an event at the leg for the tabling of the anti-SLAPP legislation on May 7. It would be a great opportunity to film a short video with MDE and a community member who has been calling for anti-SLAPP protection (I'm thinking s.22 but I'll be speaking with Gala tomorrow morning to confirm who is on her list).

I think it would be great for PJH to take part in the video, and it could be used as greetings for some upcoming community events by anti-SLAPP groups (in addition to being disseminated on social and shared through email lists on a network to networks approach). It could potentially also mention the whistleblower protection stuff and be shared with many democratic rights groups. Of course, MDE can do this on his own, but I think it would be good for the communities this video would reach for the video to include PJH (and I am happy to discuss why).

Decision points:

1. Karl- is your team interested in making an anti-SLAPP legislation video? If so, does May 7 work?
2. Sage- should PJH be included in this video?

Let me know what you think!

Thanks,

Charlotte

NEWS RELEASE

Three B.C. parks to be renamed as part of Indigenous reconciliation efforts

VICTORIA - Three provincial parks will be renamed to reflect their historic and cultural significance as part of reconciliation efforts with Indigenous peoples, if proposed legislative amendments introduced are passed.

The bill amends the Protected Areas of British Columbia Act and the Parks and Protected Areas Statutes Amendment Act, 2003. The bill proposes to add more than 1,600 hectares of land to 10 parks and one conservancy, as well as improve boundary descriptions and make administrative changes.

"These amendments allow our government to take an important step forward towards our ongoing reconciliation efforts with Indigenous peoples throughout British Columbia, which includes honouring the commitments we made under the United Nations Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples," said George Heyman, Minister of Environment and Climate Change Strategy. "The renaming of these parks to traditional Indigenous names, as rooted in history, reflect the significant heritage values recognized by all British Columbians and beyond."

To reflect ancestral connections and support reconciliation efforts, three parks are proposed to be renamed with Indigenous titles:

- * Brooks Peninsula Park (a.k.a. Mquqwin Park) on Vancouver Island will be renamed to Mquqwin/Brooks Peninsula Park, which was originally intended when the park name was changed in 2009 (First Nations name appearing before the original park name). The word Mquqwin means "The Queen" in the Nuuchahnulth language;

- * Boya Lake Park near the northwestern B.C. border will be renamed Ta Ch'ila Park (a.k.a. Boya Lake Park), meaning "holes in a blanket," at the request of the Kaska Dena First Nation; and

- * Roderick Haig-Brown Park in the Shuswap will be renamed to the traditional Secwepemc name Tsútswechw Park, which translates to "many fish," at the request of the Little Shuswap Indian Band.

The amendments also include several additions to existing parks and a conservancy, the largest being on Haida Gwaii, where more than 1,200 hectares are proposed to be added to Duu Guusd Conservancy. The K'aas Gandlaay area contributes to an almost contiguous band of protected areas along the west coast of Haida Gwaii, and protects archeological sites, old growth cedar stands and important Haida cultural and spiritual values.

In the Tumbler Ridge area, 268 hectares are recommended to be added to Monkman Park to protect Slate Falls, a significant waterfall and geographical feature.

Proposed additions to three parks - Cowichan River, Juan de Fuca and Cape Scott parks - on Vancouver Island are the result of private land acquisitions.

Proposed additions also include six hectares of foreshore to Otter Lake Park near Princeton; 3.43 hectares to Syringa Park near Castlegar; 17 hectares to Monashee Park north of Vernon and southwest of Revelstoke; 85 hectares to Ta Ch'ila Park (a.k.a. Boya Lake Park) in the northwestern part of the province; 3.26 hectares to E. C. Manning Park near Princeton; and 4.265 hectares to Kleanza Creek Park near Terrace.

The amendments also make several improvements to boundary descriptions and make administrative corrections.

Descriptions of proposed amendments

Brooks Peninsula Park (a.k.a. Mquqwin) near Port Alice, will be renamed to place the Maa-nulth name first: Mquqwin/Brooks Peninsula Park. The dual name celebrates the Indigenous connection with the history and culture of the park.

Boya Lake Park will be renamed to Ta Ch'ila Park at the request of the Kaska Dena First Nation. Established in 1965, the park lies within the traditional territory of the Kaska Dene First Nation, who currently live in and around the settlement of Good Hope Lake.

Roderick Haig-Brown Park will be renamed to a traditional Secwepemc name for the area, Tsútswecw Park, at the request of the Little Shuswap Indian Band. Known for its bi-annual run of sockeye salmon in the Adams River, archeological studies of the area have uncovered evidence of large settlements.

Monkman Park addition (268 hectares) and boundary adjustment: This proposed addition will include Slate Falls, a significant geographical feature. This park in the Tumbler Ridge area covers a diverse range of natural landscapes, including alpine meadows, mountain peaks, forested valleys, waterfalls and lakes. A forest service road was incorrectly included in the park when lands were added in 2000. The error is being corrected now, which results in four hectares being removed from the park.

Cowichan River Park addition (3.7 hectares): The proposed addition is the result of the purchase of two properties from the Nature Conservancy of Canada. These two properties protect streamside habitat with fisheries values, and a maple forest grove with rare wildflowers. This park protects significant stretches of the Cowichan River, known for its wild salmon and steelhead fishery, and is designated as both a B.C. heritage river and a Canadian heritage river.

Juan de Fuca Park addition (5 hectares): Approximately five hectares are proposed to be added to the park, as a result of land purchases by the Ministry of Indigenous Relations and Reconciliation, as part of treaty negotiations with the Pacheedaht First Nations. These lands have been the subject of historic trespass issues along the Juan de Fuca trail. Situated along the Pacific coastline of the Strait of Juan de Fuca, this park offers spectacular hiking, marine and wildlife viewing.

Cape Scott Park addition (4.848 hectares): The proposed additions to this park are the result of two properties, totalling 4.448 hectares, being acquired by the Province from the Anglican Diocese of Canada. In addition, another 0.4 hectares of land, formerly owned by the Cape Scott Social Club, is proposed to be added to the park. This park is a magnificent area of rugged, coastal wilderness that is located at the northwestern tip of Vancouver Island, and features more than 115

E. C. Manning Park addition (3.26 hectares) and boundary adjustment: Lands are being added at the Mule Deer campground, where recreation facility development has encroached on the Highway 3 right-of-way. Administrative changes are also being made to reflect a Highway 3 realignment project near the West Gate Entrance that addressed safety concerns. In total, these boundary adjustments will result in 3.26 hectares being added to the park, and 4.7 hectares being removed from the park.

Kleanza Creek Park addition (4.265 hectares) and boundary adjustment: Proposed additions to the park include 4.265 hectares of closed highway right-of-way segments. A segment of the Gold Creek access road is proposed to be removed from the park, to provide access to a proposed subdivision. This boundary modification will result in 0.17 hectares being removed from the park. A second small piece of land (0.01 hectare) also is proposed to be removed from the park to accommodate the Ministry of Transportation and Infrastructure's maintenance needs, as a result of some of the closed right-of-way segments being added to the park.

Ta Ch'ila Park (a.k.a. Boya Lake Park) addition (85 hectares) and boundary adjustment: The eastern boundary of the park will be extended to the middle of the Dease River, to abut with the boundary of the Ne'ah' Conservancy, which results in 85 hectares being added to the park. The western boundary will align with the recently surveyed right-of-way for Highway 37 north, which results in 15 hectares being removed from the park.

Otter Lake Park addition (6 hectares): The proposed addition of foreshore to this park will help protect sensitive shoreline areas, boost protection for swimmers in high boat traffic areas and preserve conservation values of the lake. Otter Lake is an important and popular recreational fishery, containing rainbow trout.

Monashee Park addition (17 hectares): The proposed addition to this park includes the main parking area and trail head, including the Spectrum Creek Trail, an important access route. Adding this area to the park will help ensure long-term protection of a key trail access and old growth forest area. The park is also home to a herd of mountain caribou, a red-listed species in the province. Indigenous use of the area as a trade route, and seasonal hunting and gathering site dates back thousands of years.

Syringa Park addition (3.43 hectares): The proposed addition is a segment of the Broadwater Road right-of-way that is used to access the park, which will improve efficiency. The right-of-way presently includes facilities owned and operated by BC Parks, including the gatehouse, day-use parking lots and some campsites. This park protects interior Douglas-fir forests, while also preserving one of the few remaining examples of grassland ecosystems in the Kootenay region.

Duu Guusd Conservancy addition (1,220 hectares): The majority of the land proposed to be added is the result of the Haida Gwaii Management Council's unanimous recommendation that the K'aas Gandlaay area be added to the conservancy. The K'aas Gandlaay area protects archaeological sites, old-growth cedar stands, and important Haida cultural and spiritual values. Two small areas (six hectares), which were covered by forest licences that are no longer active, will also be added to the conservancy.

Fintry Park boundary adjustment: A small piece of land is proposed to be removed from the park for road safety improvement work being undertaken by the Ministry of Transportation and Infrastructure.

Ta Ch'ila Park (a.k.a. Boya Lake Park), Okeover Arm Park and Chilliwack Lake Park will have written metes and boundary descriptions replaced with official plans.

Sasquatch Park and Okeover Arm Park will have new official plans, which will correct errors in the boundary descriptions.

Downing Park will have a spelling error in the name of a road corrected in the boundary description.

Proposed amendments to the Parks and Protected Areas Statutes Amendment Act, 2003:

Graham-Laurier Park: Approximately 1,036 hectares were proposed to be removed from the park to allow for the construction of an access road to facilitate oil and gas exploration. The need for this road never materialized, and the amendment was never brought into force. The amendment is being repealed and the 1,036 hectares will continue to remain in the park.

Greetings once again from the CBC,

A note to encourage you all to watch or listen to our townhall from Richmond at 7:30pm tonight.

If you want to engage with the audience you can do so through our CBC Vancouver facebook live. All info here:

My boss accused me of hyberbole earlier in the week when I suggested this was a watershed moment and that the world was watching Vancouver. But I just had a call from a certain major international news organization planning to attend, so I remain convinced this could be a turning point.

All the best

Greetings once again from CBC Vancouver,

Many thanks to those of you who got back to me!

If you would like to attend please let me know today so we can find a time to include you in the conversation. Or if you would prefer to simply come and listen you are welcome to do that as well!

Given that the forum is now just a few days away, we'll stick with our stakeholder panels and leave the bulk of the air time to our audience.

All the best

Greetings from CBC Vancouver,

We are holding a public forum in Richmond next Wednesday evening, focused on housing. We've partnered with Fairchild Radio and will translate in Cantonese & Mandarin. Our broadcast will be live across B.C. and stream on Facebook as well. (details below)

The townhall is part of a project which includes a podcast called Sold. <http://www.cbc.ca/radio/podcasts/current-affairs-information/sold/>
I urge you to listen to it. Here's what we heard as we talked to people for the podcast. This issue is dividing us. It's rich against poor. Old against young. Racial tensions are there too.

So our event is about collaborating and exploring solutions.

How about it? If all three B.C. parties commit to participating we could change up our format & create an opportunity for the public to engage with their leaders in a meaningful way.

Oh. And this event is happening in a church. The pastor chose to develop the property to achieve affordable housing for his community.
It's a venue we believe will inspire an informed and heartfelt discussion. I hope you see the value of taking part. Many thanks for your consideration.

Vanessa!

s.22 feel free to call me about the VCO issues anytime next week. I can always call you right back if I don't get to my phone in time for your call.

I trust you've contacted Derrick or George regarding the proclamation already.

Talk soon,

Gala

Evening, Gala

My apologies for the delay. I thought I had sent you this last week, but noticed it was still in my outbox! ☺

I wanted to let you know the changes that were made last week at our Shareholder meeting re: New Company Name.

Please see the condensed News Release below.

Also, I was wondering if you had 10min to quickly chat this Friday re: Bill 30?

Have a great evening, Gala.

Cheers

Gerald
