It's about the efforts by the federal government to add cars and other luxury goods to be reportable under fintrac. Apparently there are quite a few cars sold with cash here.

Dear Minister

I have been asked by the s.13 s.13 I am writing because I will be in Nelson from March 11 to 13, 2019 and was wondering if you are in your constituency office while I am there. And, if you are, whether there is a time when we could meet. My purpose in meeting is to seek your advice and input. I look forward to hearing from you.

Tanera in our office has been in touch w/r/t the business associations but I do not think a date has been set. - They build on the network of poverty advocacy clinics established in communities across B.C. to make a wider range of frontline services available to more people in more locations. who would not otherwise be eligible for standard legal aid services.
- Services will be tailored to local community needs, which may include: family, youth and children's legal services; seniors' legal issues; housing matters; income security; employment issues; and other related poverty law services.

- We are committed to improving access to justice so that British Columbians can access affordable and timely options to resolve legal disputes and problems, both big and small. We are working to improve access to justice in all forms, including Indigenous legal services, dispute resolution services for families, and expanded poverty law services.

- Budget 2018 included funding increases of $51 million over three years to enhance access to justice for Indigenous peoples, including enabling expansion of Gladue services.
- Specifically, Legal Services Society has allocated $522,000 of its government funding for the 2018/19 fiscal year for:
- approximately 300 Gladue reports, up from 131 in 2017/18; and
- training to increase the number of Gladue report writers to increase the capacity to produce additional reports.
- In addition, government will allocate $700,000 in 2019/20 and $700,000 for 2020/21 to continue addressing issues pertaining to Gladue. In 2018/19, $700,000 was allocated to engage the Aboriginal Justice Council and justice system partners in business process mapping of the current process, policy development, and explorations of options to assist advocates or others in identifying Gladue information for the court.

- To support the provision of criminal, family and civil legal aid services, government increased funding to the Legal Services Society by $26 million dollars over three years (2018/19 – 2020/21) to increase family and child protection services.
- This is the most significant lift since 2002, when the former government reduced funding by nearly 40%.
- Legal Services Society saw an increase of $8.7 million in Budget 2018, up 12% to $86.3 million from $77.6 million in 2017/18.
- Recognizing how valuable legal clinics are, last year we implemented an annual grant of $358,000 for the expansion of the Law Foundation's poverty advocacy clinic program. The $2 million increase for 2019/20 will allow them to offer a wider range of poverty law services, in more communities.

Restoring the Human Rights Commission

In 2002, BC became the only province in the country without a Human Rights Commission when the province's commission was disbanded. In fall 2018, the current government took steps to restore the BC Human Rights Commission with amendments to the Human Rights Code to allow for the appointment of an independent BC Human Rights Commissioner.

This commissioner will be empowered to address racism, homophobia, transphobia, and other forms of discrimination and violence in British Columbia, and to develop tools and recommendations that will help government, communities, and individuals work towards a province that is more welcoming and accessible for all.
This work is critical to tackling stigma, improving social inclusion, and making sure that people with disabilities or a history of poverty and homelessness don't have to face discrimination in health care, housing, employment and other critical areas of life.
Status: Ongoing

Child support is critical, especially for vulnerable families
It can make the difference between providing for children and poverty.
Unfortunately not all parents take their duty to support their children seriously.
As part of pushing parents to meet their obligations to financially support their children government has toughened enforcement measures for parents who fail to pay child support, including denying driver's licenses to those who are refusing to pay.
These new measures are expected to improve the rate of child support payments, lifting children and vulnerable families from poverty.

Yes – we should talk to make sure that staff working on this and staff working on the review of the assessment system itself are both aware of each other's work and plans, so they don't run into each other.

Subject: BCLC

Hi Tanera –
Can you see if someone from BCLC is able to support the minister for the mtg with Kamloops businesses on the 13th? As discussed last week, should be possible as they will be in town for the responsible gambling conference that day.
And can you line BCLC up for a brief in advance of that meeting, re. staffing levels in Vancouver and Kamloops? This week or early next, if possible? Fine to do by phone.

In addition, can you have BCLC arrange a brief for the minister on the Source of Funds review they have conducted with Deloitte? Again, by phone is OK – and if it is combined with the brief on staffing, that is no problem.

Thanks

Good morning,

Please see attached BCLC Information Note regarding our Lottery Terminal Replacement project. Note: we have learned that at least one community stakeholder in Kamloops has received an email from an individual claiming to be a BCLC employee, voicing concerns about this project, in part in relation to BCLC's decision to defer redevelopment plans for our Kamloops Head Office.

Cheers,

Lara

Based on the Minister's past no records responses to FOI requests for scanned pages from his notebook, IAO is now sending an informal canvas for records instead of an official request. Could you please confirm that the Minister does not use a notebook, and would have no records for January and February of 2019? Good morning.

The Ministry received the following request from the media:
Records of any and all emails, text messages, BBMs, slack messages, and WhatsApp messages sent from the Minister/Minister of State - excluding attachments and any correspondence from individuals responding on behalf of the Minister/Minister of State (Date Range for Record Search: From 09/01/2017 To 09/30/2017)

The attached pages, or a portion thereof, originated with/or are related to your program area. I'm sending them for a harms review on the content originating from/or related to your program area (please ensure to take note of the names of attachments to emails in addition to the review of the content of emails).

As this is a harms review, no formal signoff will be sent, an email providing any harms and an indication of Executive approval via email is sufficient. Please note these records will be posted on the Open Information website.

The harms review and Executive approval are due by February 1, 2019.

Thank you, have a great day.

Subject: FYI - BCLC Media Request - Global National

Good morning George, Derrick, Gala and Samantha,

BCLC received a follow up request from Sam Cooper today re: the issue of raising table limits. He is referencing a 2013 letter, which is attached above for your reference (Sam has received a redacted copy through FOI). BCLC's draft response is below, for your information. Nicole and Megan have reviewed and have no concerns.

Best Regards,

Cathy Dargie
Senior Public Affairs Officer
Ministry of Attorney General
2nd Floor courtyard, 1001 Douglas Street, Victoria BC
Phone: 778-698-9485
Cell: 250-812-0507

Reporter/Outlet/Contact: Sam Cooper / Global National / Sam.Cooper@globalnews.ca

Deadline: Today, 1 p.m.

Request: Can BCLC please identify who intervened and what the process of intervention was? I believe that would be an assistant deputy minister or minister level intervention, but I'd like to be sure of what occurred and under what policy standard or rule of the Gaming Control Act. Can BCLC please identify the position of the intervenor(s) in this case and the process.

Suggested Response:

- The December 2013 letter you're referencing was from a former President & CEO who, as you know, is no longer with the organization. As such, we have no way of confirming whether his reference was related to "senior-level intervention" from BCLC or from Government, nor can we speculate about his interpretation of "intervention."

- Given your question about the Gaming Control Act, we wanted to highlight that Dr. Peter German found in his independent review that the legislation, introduced in 2002, should clearly delineate the roles and responsibilities of BCLC (responsible for the conduct and management of gaming on behalf of the government) and the Gaming Policy & Enforcement Branch (responsible for the overall integrity of gaming).

- BCLC is actively working with the Province to address this and other recommendations from Dr. German's review, including those to support a more effective working relationship between BCLC and GPEB.

Cheers,

Lara

Good morning everyone,

The MO is in receipt of the following FOI request from an Interest Group:

All records provided to the Attorney General and Minister responsible for ICBC, Minister's staff, Deputy Attorney General Office, and/or Associate Deputy Minister Office regarding auto insurance premiums that compare the average price paid for drivers in BC and Ontario, a fully privatized system, and shows that Ontario has the highest insurance rates in the country, including briefing notes, decision notes, emails, draft news releases, draft and final copies of agendas. (Date Range for Record Search: From 02/15/2018 To 02/15/2019).

Please let me know as soon as possible if you will have over three hours search time or over 200 pages of records. Otherwise, records are due March 6th. If you will need more time to gather records, please let me know as soon as possible. Please send this one on to the Minister for a search as well.

Thank you,

Hi Holly – as discussed Friday, can you find these records for me? They did not turn up in the Minister's search for this request after all

- Saskatchewan Insurance utility board application that discusses comparative rates
- And the Marshall report from Ontario, with specific reference to the pages related to Ontario consumers paying 55% more than the national average.

thanks

Recommendation – provide following response
Sam,
Thank you for your follow-up inquiry. We understand that to clarify your original first question, you provided us with this question:

1) The B.C. government has access to the responses from BCLC that refer to Chinese VIPs and cash preference, as well as access to records of discussions among GPEB, BCLC, casino GSPs and high limit staff. Therefore, if the B.C. government would like to confirm or deny what BCLC's position was or inform me that my reporting is wrong, now is the chance to do it.
We have attached a FOI request which has just been released which will provide some of the information that you are seeking.
Sincerely,

The December 2013 letter you're referencing was from a former President & CEO who, as you know, is no longer with the organization. As such, we have no way of confirming whether his reference was related to "senior-level intervention" from BCLC or from Government, nor can we speculate about his interpretation of "intervention."

Given your question about the Gaming Control Act, we wanted to highlight that Dr. Peter German found in his independent review that the legislation, introduced in 2002, should clearly delineate the roles and responsibilities of BCLC (responsible for the conduct and management of gaming on behalf of the government) and the Gaming Policy & Enforcement Branch (responsible for the overall integrity of gaming).

BCLC is actively working with the Province to address this and other recommendations from Dr. German's review, including those to support a more effective working relationship between BCLC and GPEB.

Request

The reporter has a problem with an answer originally provided by BCLC and believes they are being "evasive." He was informed that Mr. Lightbody would know who did the senior intervention to expedite an over ride of GPEB's money laundering concerns and the process that was involved.

He was also informed that the senior level intervention could only be the ADM, DM, or M, as the people in positions above the dispute between BCLC and GPEB. The importance of the matter is raised because the reporter has been made aware that BCLC management has been warned since 2010 about organized crime money laundering dangers connected to large cash transactions from Chinese high limit VIP gamblers and that IPOC was investigating the matter.

The fact that BCLC's Lightbody would not discuss his knowledge of the bet limit raising event, and the answer that is produced by BCLC, risks straying into dishonesty in the reporter's view – in other words, not only not answering a question of current importance to B.C. citizens, but suggesting what seems to be a false possibility … that BCLC itself was the senior intervenor.

The reporter would like the ministry to answer the below question. He originally posed it to BCLC.

1) Can BCLC please identify who intervened and what the process of intervention was? I believe that would be an assistant deputy minister or minister level intervention, but I'd like to be sure of what occurred and under what policy standard or rule of the Gaming Control Act. Can BCLC please identify the position of the intervenor(s) in this case and the process?

A very simple decision took 13 weeks to resolve and if not for senior-level intervention, BCLC and the Province of British Columbia would miss out on an important incremental revenue opportunity. It is clear we can do better to save a lot of time and effort on the part of our staff, not to mention gaining a number of weeks to execute this change with better communication and before any documents are created.

Background – BCLC's original answer:

The December 2013 letter you're referencing was from a former President & CEO who, as you know, is no longer with the organization. As such, we have no way of confirming whether his reference was related to "senior-level intervention" from BCLC or from Government, nor can we speculate about his interpretation of "intervention."

Given your question about the Gaming Control Act, we wanted to highlight that Dr. Peter German found in his independent review that the legislation, introduced in 2002, should clearly delineate the roles and responsibilities of BCLC (responsible for the conduct and management of gaming on behalf of the government) and the Gaming Policy & Enforcement Branch (responsible for the overall integrity of gaming).

BCLC is actively working with the Province to address this and other recommendations from Dr. German's review, including those to support a more effective working relationship between BCLC and GPEB.

Good morning Derrick and Tanera,

The attached PDF contains records responsive to an FOI request received by The Ministry of Indigenous Relations and Reconciliation, and your advice is requested on whether these records can be released. The emails from Tanera within this PDF seem to be straightforward scheduling emails, but just want to confirm with you that they are okay.

Should you have any concerns with release, please feel free to mark up the PDF, or explain via email.

For your reference and information, IRR provided the records in response to the following request from a Political Party applicant: Records of any and all emails, text messages, BBMs, slack messages, and WhatsApp messages sent from the Administrative Coordinator(s) - excluding attachments - where such a position existed and was staffed. (Date Range for Record Search: From 05/01/2018 To 05/07/2018)

Please let me know by March 19th if you have any concerns with release of these records, or if they can be released in full. Please note – if a response is not received by this date, Information Access Operations is required to keep processing this file without your recommendations. If you feel anyone else should review these records before they are returned to IAO, please let me know.

Thank you,

We've received a new FOI request from a Political Party as an applicant seeking the following records:

Scanned images of all pages in all notebooks used by the Minister's Senior Ministerial Assistant - where such a position existed and was staffed.

Heads up that this will impact the service providers. Story will be public on News1130, tomorrow supposedly.
It will focus on the shredding company not doing the job properly. BCLC is working on a response. Not sure if you were alerted to it.

Request
The reporter has been alerted to a situation where gambling cards are not being properly destroyed at casinos. She would like to know who is responsible for ensuring cards are destroyed and what would happen if its found that a casino isn't in compliance.

The reporter would prefer a pre-taped radio interview with a ministry representative but will accept background as well.

Background

More background from the reporter:

I have evidence of one casino, I'm told there is a second.

You can see more info tomorrow when the story comes out, but essentially a casino hired a shredding company to destroy cards. The cards are not properly being destroyed by the company. I have seen binfuls of unpunched, undamaged cards. I've seen even two full-decks of cards.

I'm doing a story about the shredding company but this could have further implications.

Wondering what the province would do about this.

Is it on the casino to ensure it's being shred properly? Or is it on the shredding company hired out to ensure they're being destroyed properly?

In this scenario, it appears the casino witnessed bins of cards being dumped into a shredding truck, however, many if not most of the cards are not being properly shred once inside the shredding truck. They likely would not know this as they are assuming seeing going into the shredding truck is destroying the cards.

However, is it their responsibility to ensure the company they are using is doing an adequate job? Say, that they are certified at a certain level of compliance (ie. NAID certified).?

Derrick, following our call this afternoon, as soon as I hear I will let you know. I did find out that this is most likely in relation to a Gateway casino and has to do with Baccarat Squeeze. Those are the only type of cards that need to be shredded whereas others are hole punched. Still many unanswered questions.

Good morning Molly and Happy Friday!

Further to a conversation at a recent GE Team meeting and Melanie's call with PSSG staff, Nancy Carter and Stephanie Melvin this morning, Melanie believes it is necessary for PSDean to be briefed on the Provincial Court Family Rules Reform and the Victoria Early Resolution Prototype before it goes to Cabinet on March 25, 2019.

Would it be possible for you to coordinate this meeting with the PSSG MO for the week of March 11, as PSSG staff will be out of the office the following week.

Melanie will prepare some materials to provide in advance.

Thanks so much and looking forward to hearing from you!

Subject: Questions for Minister Eby for Vancou

Hi Derrick,

For some reason my earlier version of these questions bounced back, so I'm not sure if you received anything from me a couple of days ago.

I'm trying again and I've taken the liberty to add a couple more, although I doubt there will be the time to cover all of them. I'm happy to hear your feedback.

DRAFT questions for Minister Eby:

1. So, what's it like to have the #1 coveted spot on Vancouver Magazine's Power 50 List? Are your brothers and sister giving you a hard time? Are your cabinet colleagues feeling slighted?
2. I wonder if we could begin by first helping us understand your role in cabinet as Attorney General...As we know from watching the current situation with our federal government, your role is different form most cabinet ministers. Can you explain how and why this is so? Can you relate to the struggles that Jody Wilson-Raybould has faced?
3. Since you stepped into the role as Attorney General you have tried to get to the bottom of the "money laundering" situation. I think we recognize that this is a complex issue that has had a significant impact on the affordability of our city, our real estate market and our gaming industry. Could you remind us - what is at stake here? What next can we expect from the committee looking into this situation? You've used the word corruption to describe the former government - is that really a fair assessment? Do you expect that there are more surprises to come?
4. Recently you made some significant changes to ICBC that have upset some trial lawyer. What is important about these changes? How will they impact insurances holders? Do you think we have a strong auto insurance provider now or do you think that you will need to bring in more changes?
5. Unless you were active in the environmental community, you probably aren't familiar with the term SLAPP suits. Could you outline what they are and why you brought in legislation to curtail them? There are a number of people who are facing SLAPP suits due to their protests of the Site C Dam. Can you apply these changes to cover them and release them from these suits?

6. As I was going down Granville Street, I couldn't help notice that the signs about the "speculation schools tax". Some have argued that the provincial government shouldn't be dipping into one of the few financing authorities that local governments have - namely the property tax. Others have suggested that this is a cash grab and will do nothing for schools. Can you address why the provincial government chose this tax to raise revenue? Given the vociferous attacks by some residents in your riding, any thoughts on what this means for you in the next election?
7. You have initiated a review of legal aid and you have started to implement some changes. What are your biggest concerns with the state of legal aid in BC currently?
8. One of the promises your government made was to open the dialogue on electoral reform. The referendum defeating proportional representation was unsuccessful by a wider margin that many proponents expected. Is electoral reform dead or are there other policies that you might introduce that will address our democratic engagement? How can you address declining trust in government? Are you worried, as the federal government seems to be, that there are foreign incursions on our democratic processes or intentional distortions of our communications?
9. Your government has made a commitment to implementing the United Nations Declaration on Indigenous People (UNDRIP) but there have been serious challenges in getting the recognition of free and prior consent in the new environmental assessment review process or dealing with the high incarceration rates of indigenous people. What more can you and your government do to ensure the commitment UNDRIP is more than window dressing and advances justice for indigenous people?
10. What's the next frontier in protecting human rights in BC? Any plans for a new human rights commission?
11. Some people (or at least people in the circles I frequent) refer to you as a policy geek - someone who wakes up thinking about policy and goes to bed thinking about policy? Is that an accurate reflection of who you are? What is the most compelling area of policy that you want to tackle?
12. I understand you are expecting another addition to the Eby family? I'm going to ask a question that I think every woman is asked -- how do you balance family responsibilities with the demanding responsibilities of your position? What do you have to sacrifice?
13. Rapid fire questions (unlikely to ask these, but you did say he would answer any questions)

    Which do you prefer?

    Craft beer or BC wine?

    West Wing or Hockey Night in Canada?

    Tesla or a VW Van?

    Cross country or downhill?

    A quiet dinner with friends or an NDP fundraiser?

    A legal briefing or a policy dialogue?

    Cycling or taking transit?

Feel free to add some and send them back to me. This is a fireside chat so it should be both fun and educational.

Thanks

Shauna

Subject: Questions for Minister Eby for Vancou

Hi Derrick,

For some reason my earlier version of these questions bounced back, so I'm not sure if you received anything from me a couple of days ago.

I'm trying again and I've taken the liberty to add a couple more, although I doubt there will be the time to cover all of them. I'm happy to hear your feedback.

DRAFT questions for Minister Eby:

1. So, what's it like to have the #1 coveted spot on Vancouver Magazine's Power 50 List? Are your brothers and sister giving you a hard time? Are your cabinet colleagues feeling slighted?
2. I wonder if we could begin by first helping us understand your role in cabinet as Attorney General...As we know from watching the current situation with our federal government, your role is different form most cabinet ministers. Can you explain how and why this is so? Can you relate to the struggles that Jody Wilson-Raybould has faced?

3. Since you stepped into the role as Attorney General you have tried to get to the bottom of the "money laundering" situation. I think we recognize that this is a complex issue that has had a significant impact on the affordability of our city, our real estate market and our gaming industry. Could you remind us - what is at stake here? What next can we expect from the committee looking into this situation? You've used the word corruption to describe the former government - is that really a fair assessment? Do you expect that there are more surprises to come?
4. Recently you made some significant changes to ICBC that have upset some trial lawyer. What is important about these changes? How will they impact insurances holders? Do you think we have a strong auto insurance provider now or do you think that you will need to bring in more changes?
5. Unless you were active in the environmental community, you probably aren't familiar with the term SLAPP suits. Could you outline what they are and why you brought in legislation to curtail them? There are a number of people who are facing SLAPP suits due to their protests of the Site C Dam. Can you apply these changes to cover them and release them from these suits?
6. As I was going down Granville Street, I couldn't help notice that the signs about the "speculation schools tax". Some have argued that the provincial government shouldn't be dipping into one of the few financing authorities that local governments have - namely the property tax. Others have suggested that this is a cash grab and will do nothing for schools. Can you address why the provincial government chose this tax to raise revenue? Given the vociferous attacks by some residents in your riding, any thoughts on what this means for you in the next election?
7. You have initiated a review of legal aid and you have started to implement some changes. What are your biggest concerns with the state of legal aid in BC currently?
8. One of the promises your government made was to open the dialogue on electoral reform. The referendum defeating proportional representation was unsuccessful by a wider margin that many proponents expected. Is electoral reform dead or are there other policies that you might introduce that will address our democratic engagement? How can you address declining trust in government? Are you worried, as the federal government seems to be, that there are foreign incursions on our democratic processes or intentional distortions of our communications?
9. Your government has made a commitment to implementing the United Nations Declaration on Indigenous People (UNDRIP) but there have been serious challenges in getting the recognition of free and prior consent in the new environmental assessment review process or dealing with the high incarceration rates of indigenous people. What more can you and your government do to ensure the commitment UNDRIP is more than window dressing and advances justice for indigenous people?
10. What's the next frontier in protecting human rights in BC? Any plans for a new human rights commission?
11. Some people (or at least people in the circles I frequent) refer to you as a policy geek - someone who wakes up thinking about policy and goes to bed thinking about policy? Is that an accurate reflection of who you are? What is the most compelling area of policy that you want to tackle?
12. I understand you are expecting another addition to the Eby family? I'm going to ask a question that I think every woman is asked -- how do you balance family responsibilities with the demanding responsibilities of your position? What do you have to sacrifice?
13. Rapid fire questions (unlikely to ask these, but you did say he would answer any questions)

    Which do you prefer?

    Craft beer or BC wine?

    West Wing or Hockey Night in Canada?

Tesla or a VW Van?

Cross country or downhill?

A quiet dinner with friends or an NDP fundraiser?

A legal briefing or a policy dialogue?

Cycling or taking transit?

Feel free to add some and send them back to me. This is a fireside chat so it should be both fun and educational.

Thanks

Shauna

Subject: MAG-2019-91215 Call for Records Due March 20

Good morning everyone,

The MO has received the following FOI request from an Individual:

- Calendar entries, agendas, telephone records showing phone call dates and times, notes, or any other records related to the Attorney General or any staff member in his ministry meeting with Fred Pinnock and records of what was discussed at those meetings.
- Any emails or any other records including hand written notes, of the Attorney General, deputy attorney general, associate deputy minister or any assistant deputy minister, ministerial assistant or executive assistant in the Attorney General's office where Fred Pinnock is mentioned.
- Any record related to the cost or funds expended by government on obtaining legal advice or representation for Fred Pinnock (Date Range for Record Search: From 07/01/2018 To 02/28/2019).

All MAs, Sam, Tanera and the Minister should complete a search for this request.

If you do not have records, please let me know as soon as possible. If you will have over 200 pages of records, or require over three hours search time, please let me know by March 14th, as the Ministry may be in a position to issue a fee estimate. Otherwise, please send records no later than March 20th. Submitting records outside of this ten-day window puts the request at risk of going overdue.

If you have any questions about how this request should be interpreted or need more time to gather records, please contact me immediately.

Thank you!

> Regarding the additional severing requested, below is a summary of Derrick Harder's recommended severing on the entire package, with my comments in red:

Part 1 (Redline Pages 100-199)

Pg 22 – sec 13 n/a – if attachment was requested would apply appropriate FOIPPA severing
Pg. 25 – sec 13 n/a – if attachment was requested would apply appropriate FOIPPA severing
Pg. 29 – sec 13 n/a – if attachment was requested would apply appropriate FOIPPA severing
Pg 48-49 – sec 16 Infrastructure Canada was consulted on these pages and had no harms. However, on page 48, I have requested s.13 severing on information that appeared to be speculative in nature.
Pg. 156 – s.13 will recommend s.13, s.13
Pg. 162 – sec. 17 – s.22 will recommend
Pg. 182 – sec. 13 n/a – if attachment was requested would apply appropriate severing

Part 2 (Redline Pages 200-399)

There are a lot of reporters cell phones and emails in this set – not sure if someone has reviewed for that yet? Journalist's contact information is releasable as they are working in a professional/business capacity
Pg. 261 – 13 for the MLA/minister names if possible I don't see any MLA/minister names on this page, however, there would be no applicable FOIPPA exception to withhold
Pg. 227, 229, 230, 232 – sec. 13 recommended s.13
Pg. 352 – sec. 22 contact info – info is public – will ask IAO to cell # is public if not, withhold as s.22
Pg. 371 – sec 16 - pages 371 & 372 are duplicates of the email string on Pages 48-49. I will ask IAO to remove.

Part 3 (Redline Pages 400-561)

Pg. 483 – sec. 13 recommended s.13
Pgs 515, 516, 518, 519, 520, 521, 522, 523 - as before, possible to redact the names and other details under 13, 22 No applicable FOIPPA exception to withhold these names
Pg. 547 – sec. 16 recommended s.13/s.16
Pg. 559, sec 13 recommended s.13
Pg. 561 – contact info, sec. 22 – info is public – will ask IAO to cell # is public if not, withhold as s.22

I will forward a revised redline for final approval once I receive it back from IAO.

Good afternoon Jen,

Please find the redline records (561 pages) here. The sign form for final approval is attached. Ministry harms were identified within the records. The FOI analyst has reviewed the records and recommends releasing with severing as per section(s) 13 (Policy advice or recommendations), 15 (Disclosure harmful to law enforcement), 16 (Disclosure harmful to intergovernmental relations or negotiations), 17 (Disclosure harmful to the financial or economic interests of a public body) and 22 (Disclosure harmful to personal privacy) under FOIPPA. See attached appoval form for further information.

Request wording from a Political Party:
Records of any and all emails, text messages, BBMs, slack messages, and WhatsApp messages - excluding attachments – sent from the Minister's Senior Ministerial Assistant(s) - where such a position existed and was staffed during the period. (Date Range for Record Search: From 12/01/2017 To 12/31/2017).

Please return the signed approval on or before March 11, so the IAO has one day to complete the processing of the file. The LDD on this file is March 12.

FYI - this file will be posted on Open Information.

Please contact me if you have any questions or concerns.

Hi Jen,

We've received a new FOI request from Political Party seeking the following records:

Records of any and all emails, text messages, BBMs, slack messages, and WhatsApp messages - excluding attachments – sent from the Minister's Senior Ministerial Assistant(s) - where such a position existed and was staffed during the period. (Date Range for Record Search: From 12/01/2017 To 12/31/2017)

Please complete the fee estimate below:

1. Will you have responsive records? Y/N _____

2. If yes? How much time in hours? (best guess) _____
    Note: if more than 3 hours, please provide rationale below:

3. Approximate number of pages? (5, 50, 500) _____

4. Are you aware of any other program areas or other public bodies that should be advised of this FOI? If yes, please provide _____

The fee estimate is due by December 3. If advised 'no fee', records are due by December 7.

The LDD is January 8.

If you have any questions or concerns, please email MTIFOI if we can be of any assistance.

Thank-you,

Gislene

The Ministry does not condone or encourage these types of events.
There are currently no rules preventing these types of "contests" providing the hunters are properly licensed and all laws are followed.
The government last used a bounty on wolves in 1955.
The province manages wildlife populations on the principle of conservation first, followed by First Nations' rights. Only then is licensed hunting allowed.
Wolf populations are healthy and self-sustaining throughout the province

Carry-on Baggage

On flights operated by Air Canada, Air Canada Rouge or Air Canada Express, you may carry with you in the cabin 1 standard item (max. size: 23 x 40 x 55 cm [9 x 15.5 x 21.5 in]) and 1 personal item (max. size: 16 x 33 x 43 cm [6 x 13 x 17 in]). Your carry-on baggage must be light enough that you can store it in the overhead bin unassisted. See our complete carry-on baggage policy.

Checked Baggage

Victoria (YYJ) > Kelowna (YLW)

1st bag	2nd bag
Complimentary	$ 52.50 CAD Including taxes	Max. weight per bag: 23.0 kg (50.0 lb) Max. dimensions per bag: 158.0 cm (62.0 in)

Kelowna (YLW) > Victoria (YYJ)

Complimentary	$ 52.50 CAD Including taxes	Max. weight per bag: 23.0 kg (50.0 lb) Max. dimensions per bag: 158.0 cm (62.0 in)

* For travel within Canada or between Canada and the United States, a Canadian tax of $3.00 CAD may apply to baggage fees. For travel between Canada or the United States and Mexico, the Dominican Republic and Barbados, an applicable local sales tax of $4.00 CAD may apply to baggage fees. For all other itineraries to/from Mexico, the Dominican Republic and Barbados as well as itineraries to/from South America, an applicable local sales tax of $21.00 CAD may apply to baggage fees. All above tax amounts are based on the maximum applicable tax amounts per itinerary type. Actual amounts may vary and will be charged in the currency used in your departure airport. Tax amounts are subject to change without notice by local government.

Currency

Fee amounts are displayed in the currency of the first departure city on your ticket. On the day of travel, applicable fees will be assessed in the local currency of the country/region you are travelling from. Certain exceptions may apply where the departure airport does not charge in local currency. The currency exchange rate will be determined by the date of travel.

Stopovers

Checked baggage fees may be reassessed when itineraries include an enroute stopover of more than 24 hours.

Note: If you exceed your baggage allowance (in number, size and/or weight), additional checked baggage charges will apply. The policy and fees will be those of the carrier identified in the checked baggage information section.

Carry-on Baggage

On flights operated by Air Canada, Air Canada Rouge or Air Canada Express, you may carry with you in the cabin 1 standard item (max. size: 23 x 40 x 55 cm [9 x 15.5 x 21.5 in]) and 1 personal item (max. size: 16 x 33 x 43 cm [6 x 13 x 17 in]). Your carry-on baggage must be light enough that you can store it in the overhead bin unassisted. See our complete carry-on baggage policy.

Checked Baggage

Please see below for details on the bags you plan on checking at the baggage counter.

Victoria (YYJ) > Kelowna (YLW)

1st bag	2nd bag
Complimentary	$ 52.50 CAD Including taxes	Max. weight per bag: 23.0 kg (50.0 lb) Max. dimensions per bag: 158.0 cm (62.0 in)

Kelowna (YLW) > Victoria (YYJ)

1st bag	2nd bag
Complimentary	$ 52.50 CAD Including taxes	Max. weight per bag: 23.0 kg (50.0 lb) Max. dimensions per bag: 158.0 cm (62.0 in)

* For travel within Canada or between Canada and the United States, a Canadian tax of $3.00 CAD may apply to baggage fees. For travel between Canada or the United States and Mexico, the Dominican Republic and Barbados, an applicable local sales tax of $4.00 CAD may apply to baggage fees. For all other itineraries to/from Mexico, the Dominican Republic and Barbados as well as itineraries to/from South America, an applicable local sales tax of $21.00 CAD may apply to baggage fees. All above tax amounts are based on the maximum applicable tax amounts per itinerary type. Actual amounts may vary and will be charged in the currency used in your departure airport. Tax amounts are subject to change without notice by local government.

Currency

Fee amounts are displayed in the currency of the first departure city on your ticket. On the day of travel, applicable fees will be assessed in the local currency of the country/region you are travelling from. Certain exceptions may apply where the departure airport does not charge in local currency. The currency exchange rate will be determined by the date of travel.

Stopovers

Checked baggage fees may be reassessed when itineraries include an enroute stopover of more than 24 hours.

Note: If you exceed your baggage allowance (in number, size and/or weight), additional checked baggage charges will apply. The policy and fees will be those of the carrier identified in the checked baggage information section.

Good Morning Derrick,
On behalf of the Alberni Valley Gaming Association, I attended a meeting with the Honourable David Eby, AG on Tuesday March 5, 2019 @ 4:30 pm.
First, we very much appreciated the opportunity to meet with Minister Eby to explain our concerns. Please could you send me the names of the other participant at the meeting … I came away with only your card and I would like our Board of Directors to know the names and positions of the others in attendance. A formal "thank you" letter is forthcoming.

Thank you,
Joan Hall, Chairperson AVGA

Hi Dulcy, Thea, and Nicolas!
Hope you all are doing super. I understand that Minister Eby's schedule is probably quite packed, but wanted to send out an invitation his way through you in case he is able to join us tomorrow afternoon for an event with news that will affect seniors in your community.
Minister Dix and PS Kang will be announcing an update on seniors' services in the Lower Mainland. This is an echo announcement, previously made by Premier Horgan, regarding increased funding to ensure that seniors in our community are receiving the quality care they need. Below is further details of the event:
Date: Wednesday, March 13

Time: 2pm
Location: Louis Brier Home & Hospital (1055 W 41st Ave)
It would be great to have Minister Eby there if his schedule permits. Please let me know whether or not your member can come, and as always, feel free to reach out if you folks have questions.
Warmly,
Thuy

Hi George, Derrick, Gala and Samantha,

FYI – BCLC received a follow up media request regarding the decision to close the North Shore EOI. Their draft response is below. Rob and Nicole have reviewed and have no concerns. Please note reporter's deadline is at 4 p.m. today.

Reporter/Outlet/Contact: Brent Richter / North Shore News / BRichter@nsnews.com

Deadline: Today, 4 p.m.

Request: What locations were considered? Why were they not suitable? What specifically changed in "population trends" that made a community gaming facility no longer feasible?

Suggested Response:

BCLC's Expression of Interest (EO) process is intended as a first step to gauge local governments' interest in a gambling facility; it did not constitute a commitment on either BCLC or any interested local governments' part to develop a gambling facility on the North Shore. Given that a preferred Host Local Government was not selected as part of the EOI process, BCLC did not formally consider specific locations.

BCLC based its decision to close the EOI process on April 1 following an extensive evaluation that assessed a number of factors, not limited to population trends, including existing community policies and land availability. In addition, dialogue to date with interested local governments indicate that the placement of a gambling facility in the region is not achievable at this time.

Good morning Derrick. I've been advised that I could check with you to see if you are able to provide harms on the attached records on behalf of the Minister's office. There are only 11 days left on this request prior to the legislated due date. Any assistance you can provide would be greatly appreciated.
Thank you,

Subject: Harms Review (MO) MAG-2018-83611 Due: February 1, 2019
Good morning.

The Ministry received the following request from the media:
Records of any and all emails, text messages, BBMs, slack messages, and WhatsApp messages sent from the Minister/Minister of State - excluding attachments and any correspondence from individuals responding on behalf of the Minister/Minister of State (Date Range for Record Search: From 09/01/2017 To 09/30/2017)
The attached pages, or a portion thereof, originated with/or are related to your program area. I'm sending them for a harms review on the content originating from/or related to your program area (please ensure to take note of the names of attachments to emails in addition to the review of the content of emails).
As this is a harms review, no formal signoff will be sent, an email providing any harms and an indication of Executive approval via email is sufficient. Please note these records will be posted on the Open Information website.
The harms review and Executive approval are due by February 1, 2019.
Thank you, have a great day.

Wayne was fine with the idea of doing it at the Law Foundation birthday party on June 15. Unfortunately, the Chief Justice is not around on June 15, so I have to go back to the drawing board. The two related events I see are the May 9 Leadership Group meeting (a Thursday) and when Gillian Hadfield is in town - my understanding is that May 14 (a Tuesday) is the most likely day for that in the evening. Does the AG come back to Vancouver at all weeks when the legislature is sitting? Maybe we can create another event with Gillian Hadfield.

Yes, I do recall that seemed like a good time. I just thought you were going to see if the idea of a signing appealed to the Minister. I am talking to Wayne Robertson today and will see what he thinks about using the Law Foundation birthday party as the occasion. Should I be getting back to you on this?

Hello Richard,

I was wondering if you had any feedback from the Attorney regarding an Access to Justice Triple Aim “signing ceremony”.

I am working on the idea of connecting it with some other event. As I recall May 9 (a Thursday) is not a good date because the legislature will still be sitting. Another possibility is May 14 - a Tuesday. Jerry and Yvon Dandurand are planning a Access to Justice Metrics Colloquium for that day in Vancouver, and it also the day that Lawrence Alexander and a group are looking to bring Gillian Hadfield to speak about the future of the justice system. I jotted down the week of May 12-18, and am hoping that that was because it was a good week - not the opposite.

Another possibility that I am going to talk to Wayne Robertson about is tying it into the Law Foundation 50th anniversary party which is on June 13 and 14.

If the general idea is a "go", tell me who I should be coordinating with re dates.

Thanks,
Jane

Deadline Thursday, March 14, 2019 12:00 PM

Request
The reporter would like to know if the LCRB has any record of violations, fines and suspensions for the West Coast Tap House at the Four Points by Sheraton Victoria Gateway in Langford. The establishment no longer exists under that name but the reporter would like to know what problems were found while it existed.

Recommendation – Provide background

- The establishment in question did not face any enforcement action from the Liquor Control and Licensing Branch, now known as the Liquor and Cannabis Regulation Branch (LCRB).
- The LCRB does not release information related to contravention notices that do not result in enforcement action. Only when a licensee receives a monetary penalty or licence suspension does the contravention and penalty become a matter of public record.

Request
The reporter is working on a story about provincial governments' pending litigation against tobacco companies. She would like to know:

1) I understand that this case was filed a long time ago, so I am trying to understand where the case stand today. Could you give some background on why the trial hasn't gone to trial?
2) Would you be able to share the statement of claim? It would be very helpful to understand the rational.
3) What is the amount in damages sought? British American Tobacco in its annual report mentions an expert report from Oct. 2016 that quantifies damages at CAC 118 billion. Is that how much the province is seeking?
4) One of the tobacco companies recently sought court protection. How does that impact BC's lawsuit?
5) The first province that will go to court appears to be New Brunswick. Isn't there a risk in waiting for other provinces to go first? Doesn't it reduce BC's changes to get damages?

Recommendation – Provide background

1) I understand that this case was filed a long time ago, so I am trying to understand where the case stand today. Could you give some background on why the trial hasn't gone to trial?

- This is the largest piece of litigation in Canadian history and it continues to be very hard fought. The defendants have made numerous applications to court and multiple subsequent appeals, all of which have contributed to the lengthy process.

2) Would you be able to share the statement of claim? It would be very helpful to understand the rational.

- The statement of claim is available in the Vancouver Court Registry. The file number is C985776.

3) What is the amount in damages sought? British American Tobacco in its annual report mentions an expert report from Oct. 2016 that quantifies damages at CAC 118 billion. Is that how much the province is seeking?

- The Province is currently finalizing the total damages it is seeking. The $118B is a preliminary estimate of all costs attributable to smoking but not all of those costs are necessarily recoverable in the lawsuit.

4) One of the tobacco companies recently sought court protection. How does that impact BC's lawsuit?

- The court protection that was sought was obtained without the knowledge or consent of B.C. We are currently reviewing the materials used to obtain the Order and determining what steps we will take as a result.

5) The first province that will go to court appears to be New Brunswick. Isn't there a risk in waiting for other provinces to go first? Doesn't it reduce BC's changes to get damages?

- There is no significant risk to B.C.'s claim as a result of another province going to trial first.

Hi Derrick,

For some reason my earlier version of these questions bounced back, so I'm not sure if you received anything from me a couple of days ago.

I'm trying again and I've taken the liberty to add a couple more, although I doubt there will be the time to cover all of them. I'm happy to hear your feedback.

DRAFT questions for Minister Eby:

1. So, what's it like to have the #1 coveted spot on Vancouver Magazine's Power 50 List? Are your brothers and sister giving you a hard time? Are your cabinet colleagues feeling slighted?
2. I wonder if we could begin by first helping us understand your role in cabinet as Attorney General...As we know from watching the current situation with our federal government, your role is different form most cabinet ministers. Can you explain how and why this is so? Can you relate to the struggles that Jody Wilson-Raybould has faced?
3. Since you stepped into the role as Attorney General you have tried to get to the bottom of the "money laundering" situation. I think we recognize that this is a complex issue that has had a significant impact on the affordability of our city, our real estate market and our gaming industry. Could you remind us - what is at stake here? What next can we expect from the committee looking into this situation? You've used the word corruption to describe the former government - is that really a fair assessment? Do you expect that there are more surprises to come?
4. Recently you made some significant changes to ICBC that have upset some trial lawyer. What is important about these changes? How will they impact insurances holders? Do you think we have a strong auto insurance provider now or do you think that you will need to bring in more changes?

5. Unless you were active in the environmental community, you probably aren't familiar with the term SLAPP suits. Could you outline what they are and why you brought in legislation to curtail them? There are a number of people who are facing SLAPP suits due to their protests of the Site C Dam. Can you apply these changes to cover them and release them from these suits?
6. As I was going down Granville Street, I couldn't help notice that the signs about the "speculation schools tax". Some have argued that the provincial government shouldn't be dipping into one of the few financing authorities that local governments have - namely the property tax. Others have suggested that this is a cash grab and will do nothing for schools. Can you address why the provincial government chose this tax to raise revenue? Given the vociferous attacks by some residents in your riding, any thoughts on what this means for you in the next election?
7. You have initiated a review of legal aid and you have started to implement some changes. What are your biggest concerns with the state of legal aid in BC currently?
8. One of the promises your government made was to open the dialogue on electoral reform. The referendum defeating proportional representation was unsuccessful by a wider margin that many proponents expected. Is electoral reform dead or are there other policies that you might introduce that will address our democratic engagement? How can you address declining trust in government? Are you worried, as the federal government seems to be, that there are foreign incursions on our democratic processes or intentional distortions of our communications?
9. Your government has made a commitment to implementing the United Nations Declaration on Indigenous People (UNDRIP) but there have been serious challenges in getting the recognition of free and prior consent in the new environmental assessment review process or dealing with the high incarceration rates of indigenous people. What more can you and your government do to ensure the commitment UNDRIP is more than window dressing and advances justice for indigenous people?
10. What's the next frontier in protecting human rights in BC? Any plans for a new human rights commission?
11. Some people (or at least people in the circles I frequent) refer to you as a policy geek - someone who wakes up thinking about policy and goes to bed thinking about policy? Is that an accurate reflection of who you are? What is the most compelling area of policy that you want to tackle?
12. I understand you are expecting another addition to the Eby family? I'm going to ask a question that I think every woman is asked -- how do you balance family responsibilities with the demanding responsibilities of your position? What do you have to sacrifice?
13. Rapid fire questions (unlikely to ask these, but you did say he would answer any questions)

    Which do you prefer?

Craft beer or BC wine?

West Wing or Hockey Night in Canada?

Tesla or a VW Van?

Cross country or downhill?

A quiet dinner with friends or an NDP fundraiser?

A legal briefing or a policy dialogue?

Cycling or taking transit?

Feel free to add some and send them back to me. This is a fireside chat so it should be both fun and educational.

Thanks

Good afternoon,
I received just now an urgent request for a proclamation. The OIC Office requires 6 weeks to allow sufficient time to prepare a proclamation, obtain the necessary approvals and provide the Attorney General and Lieutenant Governor adequate time to review and sign. I am inclined to advise the ministry that meeting a 21 March deadline is not possible, but I wanted to confirm with you first my understanding that the Attorney General is not available until after that date. Is my understanding correct?

Good afternoon, Tanera.
Salman's office is asking for a time on Thursday to brief the Minister re a submission that they are currently working on.
It's a rush as they require the Minister's signature no later than Friday.
Would it be possible to hold Thursday at 10:30 for this briefing?

If this is acceptable, by what time today would he need to have the wording for review?
The proclamation in question is to recognize the Day of Nowruz on March 21. I expect it will greatly resemble the 2018 proclamation.

Thank you for your reply, Tanera. As I suspected, there isn't sufficient time. The proclamation hasn't yet been drafted; approvals haven't yet been obtained; and the cut-off for overnight delivery to Vancouver is 3:30 p.m.
I'll let the ministry know.

Good afternoon,
I received just now an urgent request for a proclamation. The OIC Office requires 6 weeks to allow sufficient time to prepare a proclamation, obtain the necessary approvals and provide the Attorney General and Lieutenant Governor adequate time to review and sign. I am inclined to advise the ministry that meeting a 21 March deadline is not possible, but I wanted to confirm with you first my understanding that the Attorney General is not available until after that date. Is my understanding correct?

The reporter has the following questions concerning ALL job action:
1. How is the province preparing for the potential loss of legal aid services for low income British Columbians
2. Can the province respond to claims that per capita legal aid funding has decreased by 60 per cent since 1998?
3. Can the province respond to the association's claims that its lawyers have had just one raise in 28 year, and that the number of practicing lawyers has slid from 1,500 to 1,000 in that time?

Recommendation – Provide background

1. How is the province preparing for the potential loss of legal aid services for low income British Columbians

- Ministry staff are continuing to have discussions with ALL.

2. Can the province respond to claims that per capita legal aid funding has decreased by 60 per cent since 1998?

- Government has increased funding to LSS by $26 million dollars over three years (2018/19 – 2020/21) to support the provision of criminal, family and civil legal aid services.
- This is the most significant lift since 2002 when the former government reduced funding by nearly 40%.

- The 2019 budget provides opportunity for us to do more. For example, we have funding for a network of legal aid clinics across the province that will provide poverty law services for people.

3. Can the province respond to the association's claims that its lawyers have had just one raise in 28 year, and that the number of practicing lawyers has slid from 1,500 to 1,000 in that time?

- LSS has also worked to develop new services that result in contracting with lawyers on a longer term basis (parents' legal centres, expanded duty counsel), which also likely has an impact on the number of lawyers taking discreet contracts.

Recommendation – Provide background

1. How is the province preparing for the potential loss of legal aid services for low income British Columbians

- Ministry staff are continuing to have discussions with ALL in an effort to prevent a withdrawal of services.
- Ministry staff are also in discussions with the Legal Services Society (LSS) to identify actions that can be taken to minimize the impact of a service withdrawal on clients in the event it occurs.

2. Can the province respond to claims that per capita legal aid funding has decreased by 60 per cent since 1998?

- Government has increased funding to LSS by $26 million dollars over three years (2018/19 – 2020/21) to support the provision of criminal, family and civil legal aid services.

3. Can the province respond to the association's claims that its lawyers have had just one raise in 28 year, and that the number of practicing lawyers has slid from 1,500 to 1,000 in that time?

- This government is working hard to address the historical underfunding of legal aid – it takes time to accomplish that.
- There are a number of reasons that the number of lawyers doing legal aid work has been declining, and addressing that will require a multi-pronged approach. Part of that will include looking at the recommendations from Jamie Maclaren's report on legal aid service delivery, from the perspective of people who use legal aid.
- LSS has also worked to develop new services that result in contracting with lawyers on a longer term basis (parents' legal centres, expanded duty counsel), which also likely has an impact on the number of lawyers taking discreet contracts.

March 21, to collectively work towards the elimination of all forms of racism and inequalities, will be remembered on Thursday March 21st at Langara's 15th "Stop Racism" event organized by the Department of Sociology and Anthropology, at Langara College and Asian Pulse TV. Come to listen, learn and join in the dialogue on personal, institutional and structural racism, and solutions. The event will open with an Aboriginal greeting, a drum ceremony and an opening prayer from well-respected Rosie White Elk, First Nations elder, medicine woman followed by a Key note, panel with a question and answer period. Topics covered will include, racism in Canada and current geopolitical climates, The Neo-Nazi movements, youth strategies working towards solutions and personal narratives of lived experiences.

The event will be moderated by Langara's own, Indira Prahst from the Department of Sociology and Anthropology and Kamilla Singh, Director and Producer of Asian Pulse TV and the Kamilla Singh Show and sponsored by philanthropist, Perminder Chohan, Managing Director of DFSIN.

Some of the panelist's include: Minnijean Brown-Trickey, World renowned Civil Rights activist and Congressional Gold Medalist recipient, Inspector, Baltej Singh Dhillon. His story made Canadian history when in 1991, he became the first member of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police permitted to wear a turban as part of his Sikh religion.

Deputy Chief of Vancouver Police, Steve Singh Rai, Shenan Charania, Transformative leadership and performance coach for youth, and Sukhmeet Singh Sachal, Founder of "Break the Divide," international network of students that connect to create change. Poetry Slam artist, Jenifer Williams will treat the audience with some of her top anti-racist slam poems and a Key note speaker.

Ten one hundred-dollar certificates will be given out in a draw for any student at the event towards books. Lastly, three awards of recognition towards anti-racism work will be handed out including one Langara student.

This event is FREE and will be hosted at Langara College at 6:30 pm to 9:00 pm in A130 A theatre. Light refreshments will be served before the event. For information call Indira Prahst (778-865-3305)

Recommendation – Provide background

- Neither the Liquor and Cannabis Regulation Branch nor the environmental health inspectors look for the types of ingredients mentioned in your request.
- Liquor licensees in British Columbia are allowed to infuse liquor with spices, herbs, fruits, vegetables, candy or other substances intended for human consumption. In the case of aging cocktails, licensees may prepare a cocktail with any substance intended for human consumption.
- Licensees must put safeguards in place to make sure liquor cannot be watered down or otherwise unlawfully adulterated. In cases where there are ingredients that could make people sick, the matter is referred to the Health Authorities.

The reporter is looking at the service plan for the Legal Services Society for 2019/20 - 2012 - 2022. It was posted on the Ministry of Finance's budget page at the same time as the government's strategic plan for the same time period. The society plan says for 2019/20, 2020/21 and 2021/22 provincial transfers to the society are going to be $73.5 m for each of those years. The Ministry of Finance said today the funding for 2019/20 is $86.8 m, up from $86.3 m last year. The reporter would like to know:
1) What figures are correct and what are the figures for the next three years projected to be?
2) Finance is telling me the numbers from the society would be their projections but I don't understand why they'd produce such low numbers in a service plan released the same day as a strategic plan. Can you explain that?

Recommendation – Provide background

- Please note that the top revenue line of the Legal Services Society's (LSS) service plan refers to the provincial transfers ($73.5M for 2019-20, $73.5M for 2020-21, and $73.5M for 2021-22).
- Revenue to LSS from Government is all lines of revenue except the Non-Government Revenue line ($86.8M for 2019-20, $86.8M for 2020-21, and $86.8M for 2021-22).

Deadline Monday, March 18, 2019 12:00 PM

Request

The reporter is working on a story about a U.S. cocktail safety course, where instructors advise bartenders on how to avoid using ingredients that could be harmful to customers (ex. activated charcoal, infused nicotine).

The reporter would like to know if liquor inspectors in B.C. inspect bars/restaurants for unusual ingredients that could be harmful to consumers.

Recommendation – Provide background

- Neither the Liquor and Cannabis Regulation Branch nor the environmental health inspectors look for the types of ingredients mentioned in your request.
- Liquor licensees in British Columbia are allowed to infuse liquor with spices, herbs, fruits, vegetables, candy or other substances intended for human consumption. In the case of aging cocktails, licensees may prepare a cocktail with any substance intended for human consumption.
- Licensees must put safeguards in place to make sure liquor cannot be watered down or otherwise unlawfully adulterated. In cases where there are ingredients that could make people sick, the matter is referred to the Health Authorities.

Request

The reporter is looking at the service plan for the Legal Services Society for 2019/20 - 2012 - 2022. It was posted on the Ministry of Finance's budget page at the same time as the government's strategic plan for the same time period. The society plan says for 2019/20, 2020/21 and 2021/22 provincial transfers to the society are going to be $73.5 m for each of those years. The Ministry of Finance said today the funding for 2019/20 is $86.8 m, up from $86.3 m last year. The reporter would like to know:
1) What figures are correct and what are the figures for the next three years projected to be?
2) Finance is telling me the numbers from the society would be their projections but I don't understand why they'd produce such low numbers in a service plan released the same day as a strategic plan. Can you explain that?

Recommendation – Provide background

- Please note that the top revenue line of the Legal Services Society's (LSS) service plan refers to the provincial transfers ($73.5M for 2019-20, $73.5M for 2020-21, and $73.5M for 2021-22).

- Revenue to LSS from Government is all lines of revenue except the Non-Government Revenue line ($86.8M for 2019-20, $86.8M for 2020-21, and $86.8M for 2021-22).

Subject: Questions for Minister Eby for Vancou

Hi Derrick,

For some reason my earlier version of these questions bounced back, so I'm not sure if you received anything from me a couple of days ago.

I'm trying again and I've taken the liberty to add a couple more, although I doubt there will be the time to cover all of them. I'm happy to hear your feedback.

DRAFT questions for Minister Eby:

1. So, what's it like to have the #1 coveted spot on Vancouver Magazine's Power 50 List? Are your brothers and sister giving you a hard time? Are your cabinet colleagues feeling slighted?
2. I wonder if we could begin by first helping us understand your role in cabinet as Attorney General...As we know from watching the current situation with our federal government, your role is different form most cabinet ministers. Can you explain how and why this is so? Can you relate to the struggles that Jody Wilson-Raybould has faced?
3. Since you stepped into the role as Attorney General you have tried to get to the bottom of the "money laundering" situation. I think we recognize that this is a complex issue that has had a significant impact on the affordability of our city, our real estate market and our gaming industry. Could you remind us - what is at stake here? What next can we expect from the committee looking into this situation? You've used the word corruption to describe the former government - is that really a fair assessment? Do you expect that there are more surprises to come?
4. Recently you made some significant changes to ICBC that have upset some trial lawyer. What is important about these changes? How will they impact insurances holders? Do you think we have a strong auto insurance provider now or do you think that you will need to bring in more changes?
5. Unless you were active in the environmental community, you probably aren't familiar with the term SLAPP suits. Could you outline what they are and why you brought in legislation to curtail them? There are a number of people who are facing SLAPP suits due to their protests of the Site C Dam. Can you apply these changes to cover them and release them from these suits?

6. As I was going down Granville Street, I couldn't help notice that the signs about the "speculation schools tax". Some have argued that the provincial government shouldn't be dipping into one of the few financing authorities that local governments have - namely the property tax. Others have suggested that this is a cash grab and will do nothing for schools. Can you address why the provincial government chose this tax to raise revenue? Given the vociferous attacks by some residents in your riding, any thoughts on what this means for you in the next election?
7. You have initiated a review of legal aid and you have started to implement some changes. What are your biggest concerns with the state of legal aid in BC currently?
8. One of the promises your government made was to open the dialogue on electoral reform. The referendum defeating proportional representation was unsuccessful by a wider margin that many proponents expected. Is electoral reform dead or are there other policies that you might introduce that will address our democratic engagement? How can you address declining trust in government? Are you worried, as the federal government seems to be, that there are foreign incursions on our democratic processes or intentional distortions of our communications?
9. Your government has made a commitment to implementing the United Nations Declaration on Indigenous People (UNDRIP) but there have been serious challenges in getting the recognition of free and prior consent in the new environmental assessment review process or dealing with the high incarceration rates of indigenous people. What more can you and your government do to ensure the commitment UNDRIP is more than window dressing and advances justice for indigenous people?
10. What's the next frontier in protecting human rights in BC? Any plans for a new human rights commission?

11. Some people (or at least people in the circles I frequent) refer to you as a policy geek - someone who wakes up thinking about policy and goes to bed thinking about policy? Is that an accurate reflection of who you are? What is the most compelling area of policy that you want to tackle?
12. I understand you are expecting another addition to the Eby family? I'm going to ask a question that I think every woman is asked -- how do you balance family responsibilities with the demanding responsibilities of your position? What do you have to sacrifice?
13. Rapid fire questions (unlikely to ask these, but you did say he would answer any questions)

    Which do you prefer?

    Craft beer or BC wine?

    West Wing or Hockey Night in Canada?

    Tesla or a VW Van?

    Cross country or downhill?

    A quiet dinner with friends or an NDP fundraiser?

    A legal briefing or a policy dialogue?

    Cycling or taking transit?

    Feel free to add some and send them back to me. This is a fireside chat so it should be both fun and educational.

    Thanks

- Glacier Media – LSS service plan and ALL job action phone interview

Reporter

Jeremy Hainsworth, Reporter Glacier Media Digital jhainsworth@glaciermedia.ca
604-838-6397 c: 778-835-4303

Deadline to conduct Friday, March 15, 2019 4:00 PM

Request
The reporter would like to schedule a phone interview with Minister Eby to discuss the LSS service plan and the ALL vote to withdraw its services. He would like to know what the minister thinks the withdrawal means for the provision of services, if it will affect what is in the service plan, and if a withdrawal gives pause to a reconsideration of the funding level.

The interview would be 10-15 minutes. The reporter is available until 4 p.m.

Background
This is a follow-up to a media request from March 14, 2019.

REQUEST:
The reporter is looking at the service plan for the Legal Services Society for 2019/20 - 2012 - 2022. It was posted on the Ministry of Finance's budget page at the same time as the government's strategic plan for the same time period. The society plan says for 2019/20, 2020/21 and 2021/22 provincial transfers to the society are going to be $73.5 m for each of those years. The Ministry of Finance said today the funding for 2019/20 is $86.8 m, up from $86.3 m last year. The reporter would like to know:
1) What figures are correct and what are the figures for the next three years projected to be?
2) Finance is telling me the numbers from the society would be their projections but I don't understand why they'd produce such low numbers in a service plan released the same day as a strategic plan. Can you explain that?

RESPONSE:
Provided Background
• Please note that the top revenue line of the Legal Services Society's (LSS) service plan refers to the provincial transfers ($73.5M for 2019-20, $73.5M for 2020-21, and $73.5M for 2021-22).

• Revenue to LSS from Government is all lines of revenue except the Non-Government Revenue line ($86.8M for 2019-20, $86.8M for 2020-21, and $86.8M for 2021-22).

Deadline Monday, March 18, 2019 2:00 PM

Request
The reporter would like to know how many criminal cases are thrown out each year due to Jordan applications.

Recommendation – Provide background

The number of judicial stays granted in British Columbia courts in criminal cases related to applications for unreasonable systemic delay is tracked and broken down by level of court.
The current figures for 2019, and for the last five calendar years from 2014 to 2018 are as follows:

- 2019 – between January 1 and March 8, 2019, there have been zero court cases judicially stayed due to systemic delay
- 2018 – 18 Provincial Court Cases, 3 Supreme Court Cases: 21 total
- 2017 – 29 Provincial Court Cases, 6 Supreme Court cases: 35 total
- 2016 – 14 Provincial Court cases, 6 Supreme Court cases: 20 total
- 2015 – 18 Provincial Court cases, 11 Supreme Court cases: 29 total
- 2014 – 15 Provincial Court cases, 3 Supreme Court cases: 18 total

For the context of magnitude for these figures, each year there are approximately 65,000 Provincial Court criminal cases and 1,500 Supreme Court criminal cases completed annually.

Subject: BCLC Ineligible Jackpots IN - FOI Request

Good afternoon,

A heads up on this BCLC FOI request that will be released to media on or before Wednesday, March 20, 2019. The Information Note is attached.

Request:

> BCLC Freedom of Information Request 19-004
> "…a table of all winnings seized from players in the Voluntary Self-Exclusion Program, in lines that list the date, the casino, and the jackpot amount…from January 1, 2014 to January 1, 2019."

Background:

BCLC's response is to advise the applicant that BCLC has no responsive records and that BCLC has created a nine-page record for the timeframe of April 1, 2016 to January 1, 2019. BCLC is also advising the Applicant that BCLC is not obligated to create a record for the timeframe of January 1, 2014 to March 31, 2016, with a brief explanation as to why this is the case.

Please note that for FOI requests received from December 1, 2018, forward, BCLC has decided to proactively disclose FOI request responses on bclc.com, with some exceptions such as requests for personal information.

This particular response will be published on BCLC's Reports and Disclosures webpage a minimum of five days after release to the applicant.

Request

The reporter had additional questions:
1) When you say "this is the largest piece of litigation in Canadian history," is it in reference to the B.C. case against the companies or all the provincial cases together?
2) Can you confirm that B.C. was the first province to file its case back in 2001?
3) Analysts expect a pan-Canadian settlement, especially since two of the Canadian companies are under court protection. Is B.C. open to a settlement?

Background
This is a follow-up to a media request from March 12, 2019.

REQUEST:
The reporter is working on a story about provincial governments' pending litigation against tobacco companies. She would like to know:
1) I understand that this case was filed a long time ago, so I am trying to understand where the case stand today. Could you give some background on why the trial hasn't gone to trial?
2) Would you be able to share the statement of claim? It would be very helpful to understand the rational.
3) What is the amount in damages sought? British American Tobacco in its annual report mentions an expert report from Oct. 2016 that quantifies damages at CAC 118 billion. Is that how much the province is seeking?
4) One of the tobacco companies recently sought court protection. How does that impact BC's lawsuit?
5) The first province that will go to court appears to be New Brunswick. Isn't there a risk in waiting for other provinces to go first? Doesn't it reduce BC's changes to get damages?

RESPONSE:
Provided Background
1) I understand that this case was filed a long time ago, so I am trying to understand where the case stand today. Could you give some background on why the trial hasn't gone to trial?
• This is the largest piece of litigation in Canadian history and it continues to be very hard fought. The defendants have made numerous applications to court and multiple subsequent appeals, all of which have contributed to the lengthy process.
2) Would you be able to share the statement of claim? It would be very helpful to understand the rational.
• The statement of claim is available in the Vancouver Court Registry. The file number is C985776.
3) What is the amount in damages sought? British American Tobacco in its annual report mentions an expert report from Oct. 2016 that quantifies damages at CAC 118 billion. Is that how much the province is seeking?
• The Province is currently finalizing the total damages it is seeking. The $118B is a preliminary estimate of all costs attributable to smoking but not all of those costs are necessarily recoverable in the lawsuit.

4) One of the tobacco companies recently sought court protection. How does that impact BC's lawsuit?
• The court protection that was sought was obtained without the knowledge or consent of B.C. We are currently reviewing the materials used to obtain the Order and determining what steps we will take as a result.

5) The first province that will go to court appears to be New Brunswick. Isn't there a risk in waiting for other provinces to go first? Doesn't it reduce BC's changes to get damages?
• There is no significant risk to B.C.'s claim as a result of another province going to trial first.

Recommendation – Provide background

1) When you say "this is the largest piece of litigation in Canadian history," is it in reference to the B.C. case against the companies or all the provincial cases together?
   - This is in reference to all the provincial cases, taken together.

2) Can you confirm that B.C. was the first province to file its case back in 2001?
   - Yes, B.C. was the first province to file.

3) Analysts expect a pan-Canadian settlement, especially since two of the Canadian companies are under court protection. Is B.C. open to a settlement?
   - The Province is always open to a fair resolution of its claim.

Dear Ministers,

This news release attached and embedded below, has just been issued and I wanted to bring it to your attention. Technology Professionals Canada is a national association that represents 85% of applied science and engineering technologists across four provinces and the three territories. We feel the statement issued by Engineers Canada providing suggestions as to how provinces should govern engineering technologists, in partnership with EGBC was purely self-interested, promoting the agendas of the associations. It does not accurately reflect the position of those people who comprise the engineering team, who work together without issue.

During this process of negotiations for rights to practice, I hope that the government is seeking lots of input from employers – especially the consulting engineering firms who work with multidisciplinary teams.

Subject: Meeting Request: Kindred Canada

Dear Mr. Harder,

Kindred Canada is seeking a meeting with your office on Wednesday, April 3 or Thursday, April 4 to discuss the distribution of recreational cannabis in British Columbia, and the role of agents and brokers in that system.

Founded in 2018, Kindred is a Vancouver based cannabis sales brokerage that could work in cooperation within the provincial distribution system and market legal cannabis to retail stores. Brokers serve as an additional layer of compliance in the supply chain, ensuring product is sourced from Health Canada approved licensed producers and sold only to provincially-licensed retailers. Brokers also facilitate the gathering and reporting of data back to provincial regulatory authorities and provide greater understanding of provincial markets.

As the B.C. government continues to develop its public policy around the distribution of recreational cannabis, we would appreciate the opportunity to meet with you to share more information about how we can ensure the end consumer is in receipt of authentic, legal and quality-controlled cannabis products.

We look forward to the opportunity to meet with you and your team.

Sincerely,

Nicole Brassard

Request
The reporter had additional questions:
1) When you say "this is the largest piece of litigation in Canadian history," is it in reference to the B.C. case against the companies or all the provincial cases together?
2) Can you confirm that B.C. was the first province to file its case back in 2001?
3) Analysts expect a pan-Canadian settlement, especially since two of the Canadian companies are under court protection. Is B.C. open to a settlement?

Background
This is a follow-up to a media request from March 12, 2019.

REQUEST:
The reporter is working on a story about provincial governments' pending litigation against tobacco companies. She would like to know:
1) I understand that this case was filed a long time ago, so I am trying to understand where the case stand today. Could you give some background on why the trial hasn't gone to trial?
2) Would you be able to share the statement of claim? It would be very helpful to understand the rational.
3) What is the amount in damages sought? British American Tobacco in its annual report mentions an expert report from Oct. 2016 that quantifies damages at CAC 118 billion. Is that how much the province is seeking?
4) One of the tobacco companies recently sought court protection. How does that impact BC's lawsuit?
5) The first province that will go to court appears to be New Brunswick. Isn't there a risk in waiting for other provinces to go first? Doesn't it reduce BC's changes to get damages?

RESPONSE:
Provided Background
1) I understand that this case was filed a long time ago, so I am trying to understand where the case stand today. Could you give some background on why the trial hasn't gone to trial?
• This is the largest piece of litigation in Canadian history and it continues to be very hard fought. The defendants have made numerous applications to court and multiple subsequent appeals, all of which have contributed to the lengthy process.
2) Would you be able to share the statement of claim? It would be very helpful to understand the rational.
• The statement of claim is available in the Vancouver Court Registry. The file number is C985776.
3) What is the amount in damages sought? British American Tobacco in its annual report mentions an expert report from Oct. 2016 that quantifies damages at CAC 118 billion. Is that how much the province is seeking?
• The Province is currently finalizing the total damages it is seeking. The $118B is a preliminary estimate of all costs attributable to smoking but not all of those costs are necessarily recoverable in the lawsuit.

4) One of the tobacco companies recently sought court protection. How does that impact BC's lawsuit?
• The court protection that was sought was obtained without the knowledge or consent of B.C. We are currently reviewing the materials used to obtain the Order and determining what steps we will take as a result.

5) The first province that will go to court appears to be New Brunswick. Isn't there a risk in waiting for other provinces to go first? Doesn't it reduce BC's changes to get damages?
• There is no significant risk to B.C.'s claim as a result of another province going to trial first.

Recommendation – Provide background

1) When you say "this is the largest piece of litigation in Canadian history," is it in reference to the B.C. case against the companies or all the provincial cases together?
   - This is in reference to all the provincial cases, taken together.

2) Can you confirm that B.C. was the first province to file its case back in 2001?
   - Yes, B.C. was the first province to file.

3) Analysts expect a pan-Canadian settlement, especially since two of the Canadian companies are under court protection. Is B.C. open to a settlement?
   - The Province is always open to a fair resolution of its claim.

Request
The reporter has spoken with a potential private cannabis retailer in Kamloops who is complaining that they have not received a licence from the province yet, despite receiving municipal approval six months ago. Meanwhile, another Kamloops retailer who applied around the same time they did already has a provincial licence. The reporter would like to know:
1) Has there been a delay to government's cannabis licence approval process? If so, what happened?
2) Has government decided how it will distribute cannabis revenue? How much will go to municipalities?

Recommendation – provide background

1) Has there been a delay to government's cannabis licence approval process? If so, what happened?

- There has been no change in the licence application process.
- The Liquor and Cannabis Regulation Branch is currently processing over 300 cannabis retail store licence applications.
- Application requirements are detailed and robust in the interest of due diligence and public safety.
- Government can't comment on information related to non-medical cannabis retail store applications as any interaction between the Liquor and Cannabis Regulation Branch and an applicant is private. This protects the applicant's business decision making.
- Retail cannabis applications have been following a standard process since cannabis legalization. Applications are placed in the queue as they are received by the Liquor and Cannabis Regulation Branch.
- There are many factors that can affect application timelines. These include: applicants submitting all required and correct documentation and the complexity of the corporate structure. Applications containing correct information and documentation are prioritized over those with outstanding documentation.
- Applicants are contacted as soon as there are updates to communicate or information that applicants need to know.

2) Has government decided how it will distribute cannabis revenue? How much will go to municipalities? – Answer below provided by FIN

- There are significant costs associated with the provincial cannabis regulatory framework including public education, creating the new Community Safety Unit and establishing a well-regulated non-medical cannabis retail system.
- Given the associated costs, we do not expect substantial revenues from cannabis legalization.

Request
The reporter has spoken with a potential private cannabis retailer in Kamloops who is complaining that they have not received a licence from the province yet, despite receiving municipal approval six months ago. Meanwhile, another Kamloops retailer who applied around the same time they did already has a provincial licence. The reporter would like to know:
1) Has there been a delay to government's cannabis licence approval process? If so, what happened?
2) Has government decided how it will distribute cannabis revenue? How much will go to municipalities?

Recommendation – provide background

1) Has there been a delay to government's cannabis licence approval process? If so, what happened?

- There has been no change in the licence application process.
- The Liquor and Cannabis Regulation Branch is currently processing over 300 cannabis retail store licence applications.
- Application requirements are detailed and robust in the interest of due diligence and public safety.
- Government can't comment on information related to non-medical cannabis retail store applications as any interaction between the Liquor and Cannabis Regulation Branch and an applicant is private. This protects the applicant's business decision making.

- Retail cannabis applications have been following a standard process since cannabis legalization. Applications are placed in the queue as they are received by the Liquor and Cannabis Regulation Branch.
- There are many factors that can affect application timelines. These include: applicants submitting all required and correct documentation and the complexity of the corporate structure. Applications containing correct information and documentation are prioritized over those with outstanding documentation.
- Applicants are contacted as soon as there are updates to communicate or information that applicants need to know.

2) Has government decided how it will distribute cannabis revenue? How much will go to municipalities? – Answer below provided by FIN

- There are significant costs associated with the provincial cannabis regulatory framework including public education, creating the new Community Safety Unit and establishing a well-regulated non-medical cannabis retail system.
- Given the associated costs, we do not expect substantial revenues from cannabis legalization.

Request
The reporter had additional questions:
1) When you say "this is the largest piece of litigation in Canadian history," is it in reference to the B.C. case against the companies or all the provincial cases together?
2) Can you confirm that B.C. was the first province to file its case back in 2001?
3) Analysts expect a pan-Canadian settlement, especially since two of the Canadian companies are under court protection. Is B.C. open to a settlement?

Background
This is a follow-up to a media request from March 12, 2019.

REQUEST:
The reporter is working on a story about provincial governments' pending litigation against tobacco companies. She would like to know:
1) I understand that this case was filed a long time ago, so I am trying to understand where the case stand today. Could you give some background on why the trial hasn't gone to trial?
2) Would you be able to share the statement of claim? It would be very helpful to understand the rational.
3) What is the amount in damages sought? British American Tobacco in its annual report mentions an expert report from Oct. 2016 that quantifies damages at CAC 118 billion. Is that how much the province is seeking?
4) One of the tobacco companies recently sought court protection. How does that impact BC's lawsuit?
5) The first province that will go to court appears to be New Brunswick. Isn't there a risk in waiting for other provinces to go first? Doesn't it reduce BC's changes to get damages?

RESPONSE:
Provided Background
1) I understand that this case was filed a long time ago, so I am trying to understand where the case stand today. Could you give some background on why the trial hasn't gone to trial?
• This is the largest piece of litigation in Canadian history and it continues to be very hard fought. The defendants have made numerous applications to court and multiple subsequent appeals, all of which have contributed to the lengthy process.
2) Would you be able to share the statement of claim? It would be very helpful to understand the rational.
• The statement of claim is available in the Vancouver Court Registry. The file number is C985776.
3) What is the amount in damages sought? British American Tobacco in its annual report mentions an expert report from Oct. 2016 that quantifies damages at CAC 118 billion. Is that how much the province is seeking?
• The Province is currently finalizing the total damages it is seeking. The $118B is a preliminary estimate of all costs attributable to smoking but not all of those costs are necessarily recoverable in the lawsuit.

4) One of the tobacco companies recently sought court protection. How does that impact BC's lawsuit?
• The court protection that was sought was obtained without the knowledge or consent of B.C. We are currently reviewing the materials used to obtain the Order and determining what steps we will take as a result.

5) The first province that will go to court appears to be New Brunswick. Isn't there a risk in waiting for other provinces to go first? Doesn't it reduce BC's changes to get damages?

• There is no significant risk to B.C.'s claim as a result of another province going to trial first.

Recommendation – Provide background

1) When you say "this is the largest piece of litigation in Canadian history," is it in reference to the B.C. case against the companies or all the provincial cases together?
   - This is in reference to all the provincial cases, taken together.

2) Can you confirm that B.C. was the first province to file its case back in 2001?
   - Yes, B.C. was the first province to file.

3) Analysts expect a pan-Canadian settlement, especially since two of the Canadian companies are under court protection. Is B.C. open to a settlement?
   - The Province is always open to a fair resolution of its claim.

- There has been no change in the licence application process.
- The Liquor and Cannabis Regulation Branch is currently processing over 300 cannabis retail store licence applications.
- Application requirements are detailed and robust in the interest of due diligence and public safety.
- Government can't comment on information related to non-medical cannabis retail store applications as any interaction between the Liquor and Cannabis Regulation Branch and an applicant is private. This protects the applicant's business decision making.
- Retail cannabis applications have been following a standard process since cannabis legalization. Applications are placed in the queue as they are received by the Liquor and Cannabis Regulation Branch.
- There are many factors that can affect application timelines. These include: applicants submitting all required and correct documentation and the complexity of the corporate structure. Applications containing correct information and documentation are prioritized over those with outstanding documentation.
- Applicants are contacted as soon as there are updates to communicate or information that applicants need to know.

2) Has government decided how it will distribute cannabis revenue? How much will go to municipalities? – Answer below provided by FIN

- There are significant costs associated with the provincial cannabis regulatory framework including public education, creating the new Community Safety Unit and establishing a well-regulated non-medical cannabis retail system.
- Given the associated costs, we do not expect substantial revenues from cannabis legalization.

Deadline Tuesday, March 19, 2019 4:00 PM

Request
The reporter had additional questions:
1) When you say "this is the largest piece of litigation in Canadian history," is it in reference to the B.C. case against the companies or all the provincial cases together?
2) Can you confirm that B.C. was the first province to file its case back in 2001?
3) Analysts expect a pan-Canadian settlement, especially since two of the Canadian companies are under court protection. Is B.C. open to a settlement?

Background
This is a follow-up to a media request from March 12, 2019.

REQUEST:
The reporter is working on a story about provincial governments' pending litigation against tobacco companies. She would like to know:
1) I understand that this case was filed a long time ago, so I am trying to understand where the case stand today. Could you give some background on why the trial hasn't gone to trial?
2) Would you be able to share the statement of claim? It would be very helpful to understand the rational.
3) What is the amount in damages sought? British American Tobacco in its annual report mentions an expert report from Oct. 2016 that quantifies damages at CAC 118 billion. Is that how much the province is seeking?
4) One of the tobacco companies recently sought court protection. How does that impact BC's lawsuit?
5) The first province that will go to court appears to be New Brunswick. Isn't there a risk in waiting for other provinces to go first? Doesn't it reduce BC's changes to get damages?

RESPONSE:
Provided Background
1) I understand that this case was filed a long time ago, so I am trying to understand where the case stand today. Could you give some background on why the trial hasn't gone to trial?
• This is the largest piece of litigation in Canadian history and it continues to be very hard fought. The defendants have made numerous applications to court and multiple subsequent appeals, all of which have contributed to the lengthy process.
2) Would you be able to share the statement of claim? It would be very helpful to understand the rational.

• The statement of claim is available in the Vancouver Court Registry. The file number is C985776.

3) What is the amount in damages sought? British American Tobacco in its annual report mentions an expert report from Oct. 2016 that quantifies damages at CAC 118 billion. Is that how much the province is seeking?

• The Province is currently finalizing the total damages it is seeking. The $118B is a preliminary estimate of all costs attributable to smoking but not all of those costs are necessarily recoverable in the lawsuit.

4) One of the tobacco companies recently sought court protection. How does that impact BC's lawsuit?

• The court protection that was sought was obtained without the knowledge or consent of B.C. We are currently reviewing the materials used to obtain the Order and determining what steps we will take as a result.

5) The first province that will go to court appears to be New Brunswick. Isn't there a risk in waiting for other provinces to go first? Doesn't it reduce BC's changes to get damages?

• There is no significant risk to B.C.'s claim as a result of another province going to trial first.

Recommendation – Provide background

1) When you say "this is the largest piece of litigation in Canadian history," is it in reference to the B.C. case against the companies or all the provincial cases together?
   - This is in reference to all the provincial cases, taken together.
2) Can you confirm that B.C. was the first province to file its case back in 2001?
   - Yes, B.C. was the first province to file.
3) Analysts expect a pan-Canadian settlement, especially since two of the Canadian companies are under court protection. Is B.C. open to a settlement?
   - The Province is always open to a fair resolution of its claim.

Good morning Derrick and Sam,
Following-up on my previous email with George. In light of yesterday's budget, there is a great opportunity for our Ministers to collaborate on the new anti-money laundering initiatives. Minister Blair will be in Victoria on Tuesday, March 26 (likely in the afternoon). Does Minister Eby have availability for a meeting and perhaps to follow with a media availability? Thanks and I look forward to hearing from you.

DOJ gets $52M over three years ($17, 18, 17 M) - I don't know how much of this will filter down to provinces.

Asylum System

Canada has a strong reputation as a fair and welcoming country, but one that is also governed by the rule of law. Securing the integrity of Canada's borders and of our asylum system is essential to making sure we continue to benefit from a world-class immigration system.

In recent years, elevated numbers of asylum seekers, including those that have crossed into Canada irregularly, have challenged the fairness and effectiveness of Canada's asylum system. To help address these challenges, the Government will implement a comprehensive Border Enforcement Strategy. Through this Strategy, Canadian immigration, border, and law enforcement officials—including from the Canada Border Services Agency and the Royal Canadian Mounted Police—will be better positioned to detect and intercept individuals who cross Canadian borders irregularly and who try to exploit Canada's immigration system. Failed asylum claimants who entered into Canada at irregular crossings or between official ports of entry will also be removed on a priority basis.

Budget 2019 proposes to invest $1.18 billion over five years, starting in 2019–20, and $55.0 million per year ongoing. Additional resources will be provided to strengthen processes at the border, and accelerate the processing of claims and removals, to ensure the asylum system remains available to those genuinely in need of refugee protection. The investment will also expand a pilot project that aims to increase efficiencies among delivery partners in the pre-hearing process for refugee protection claims.

In addition, Budget 2019 proposes to introduce legislative amendments to the Immigration and Refugee Protection Act to better manage, discourage and prevent irregular migration. New resources for immigration and refugee legal aid will build on previous investments, supporting the delivery of legal services, while new Federal Court judicial positions will help ensure efficient and timely processing of asylum claimants seeking judicial review. To do this, the Government intends to introduce amendments to the Federal Courts Act to create three new judicial positions.

2. Increase in support for PLEI – $8.1 M over 5 years with $1.62 Million per year ongoing.
3. Family Justice (services for family law matters, especially divorce, in official languages) –$21.6M over 5 years starting 20/21

Deadline Wednesday, March 20, 2019 4:30 PM

Request
The reporter is working on a story about "alternative" liquor licences that allow establishments that do not have a primary focus on food (ex. barbershops, bookstores) to serve alcohol. She believes that these licences are available in B.C. to establishments in municipalities that have approved this policy change. She would like to know:
1) Which municipalities in B.C. allow establishments to apply for an "alternative licence?"
2) How many of these licences has the Province approved?

Background
A 2016 policy change allows any type of business to apply for a liquor licence, including places like barber shops, bookstores, etc. These licences are still liquor primary, not alternative.

Recommendation – Provide background

1) Which municipalities in B.C. have signed off on allowing "alternative licences?"

- Local governments and Indigenous nations throughout B.C. set their own bylaws and policies related to liquor licensing.
- The Province does not know specifics for each individual local government or Indigenous nation.
- Liquor licence applicants must also follow the local rules and requirements.

2) How many of these licences has the Province approved?

- Beginning in January 2016, the Province allowed businesses outside hospitality, entertainment or beverage service to apply for a liquor primary licence (bar, pub, nightclub).
- The Province also allowed businesses without a primary focus on food service to apply for a food primary licensed space (restaurant) within their business.
- As of March 14, 2019, there were 6,151 food primary and 2,182 liquor primary establishments in B.C.
- Of those, 14 establishments have licensed under the January 2016 changes.
- Since January 2016, several hotels have also expanded the footprint of an existing liquor licence to include their spa.

CTV would like to schedule a pre-taped on-camera interview with Minister Eby to discuss the federal budget/money laundering and get the minister's reaction to a shooting death (Birinder Kahngura, Sept. 2014) linked to money laundering by government documents CTV has obtained. CTV also wants to discuss a 2010 BCLC letter that says BCLC did not consider high cash transactions money laundering because gamblers were losing money. CTV wants to know if BCLC has changed its definition of "money laundering worthy of investigation."

The interview would be 10-15 minutes with Jon Woodward. CTV is able to send a camera to the minister's location at 1 p.m.

Background – Here's the document CTV has on the shooting:

MAG-2018-86596: We're reading this letter from 2010 [pdf attached] that indicates one of the reasons that BCLC didn't consider the use of large amounts of cash as a money laundering threat is because the money was lost. In light of the federal government focus on casinos in parts of its budget…we're hoping to ask whether that criteria remains and what your new criteria for determining what are warning signs for money laundering actually are.
> - BCLC and casino staff adhere to the money laundering and/or terrorist financing indicators and guidance for casinos developed and provided by FINTRAC.

> - All transactions that meet the threshold for suspicion under the federal legislation and FINTRAC Guidance are reported to FINTRAC, GPEB and RCMP. Transactions that do not meet the formal threshold for suspicion, but which a casino staff member or BCLC still have concerns about, are also reported to GPEB and the RCMP Joint Illegal Gambling Investigations Team. BCLC also reports all conduct, activity or incident that involves the potential commission of an offence under the Criminal Code or Gaming Control Act to GPEB and law enforcement for potential investigation.
> - Starting in 2015 (and expanded on in 2018), BCLC implemented source of funds requirements for transactions of $10,000 or more that include conducting background checks, including inquiries into the source and net worth of the customer, and requiring casino operators to collect and record specified information on customers' source of buy-in funds each transaction.

- Under current BCLC policy, casino staff are required to refuse a transaction if the patron declines to provide the required identification or source of funds documentation.

2. MAG-2018-87270 (screen capture attached): I'm looking at a document that seems to connect the shooting death of Birinder Khangura in 2014 to the suspicious cash transactions. I'm hoping to find out more about this from BCLC.
    - This is a question for law enforcement.

Recommendation

Deadline Wednesday, March 20, 2019 4:30 PM

Request
The reporter is working on a story about "alternative" liquor licences that allow establishments that do not have a primary focus on food (ex. barbershops, bookstores) to serve alcohol. She believes that these licences are available in B.C. to establishments in municipalities that have approved this policy change. She would like to know:
1) Which municipalities in B.C. allow establishments to apply for an "alternative licence?"

2) How many of these licences has the Province approved?

Background

A 2016 policy change allows any type of business to apply for a liquor licence, including places like barber shops, bookstores, etc. These licences are still liquor primary, not alternative.

Recommendation – Provide background

1) Which municipalities in B.C. have signed off on allowing "alternative licences?"

- Local governments and Indigenous nations throughout B.C. set their own bylaws and policies related to liquor licensing.
- The Province does not know specifics for each individual local government or Indigenous nation.
- Liquor licence applicants must also follow the local rules and requirements.

2) How many of these licences has the Province approved?

- Beginning in January 2016, the Province allowed businesses outside hospitality, entertainment or beverage service to apply for a liquor primary licence (bar, pub, nightclub).
- The Province also allowed businesses without a primary focus on food service to apply for a food primary licensed space (restaurant) within their business.
- As of March 14, 2019, there were 6,151 food primary and 2,182 liquor primary establishments in B.C.
- Of those, 14 establishments have licensed under the January 2016 changes.
- Since January 2016, several hotels have also expanded the footprint of an existing liquor licence to include their spa.

Deadline Wednesday, March 20, 2019 4:30 PM

Request
The reporter is working on a story about "alternative" liquor licences that allow establishments that do not have a primary focus on food (ex. barbershops, bookstores) to serve alcohol. She believes that these licences are available in B.C. to establishments in municipalities that have approved this policy change. She would like to know:
1) Which municipalities in B.C. allow establishments to apply for an "alternative licence?"
2) How many of these licences has the Province approved?
Background
A 2016 policy change allows any type of business to apply for a liquor licence, including places like barber shops, bookstores, etc. These licences are still liquor primary, not alternative.
Recommendation – Provide background

1) Which municipalities in B.C. have signed off on allowing "alternative licences?"

- Local governments and Indigenous nations throughout B.C. set their own bylaws and policies related to liquor licensing.
- The Province does not know specifics for each individual local government or Indigenous nation.
- Liquor licence applicants must also follow the local rules and requirements.

2) How many of these licences has the Province approved?

- Beginning in January 2016, the Province allowed businesses outside hospitality, entertainment or beverage service to apply for a liquor primary licence (bar, pub, nightclub).
- The Province also allowed businesses without a primary focus on food service to apply for a food primary licensed space (restaurant) within their business.
- As of March 14, 2019, there were 6,151 food primary and 2,182 liquor primary establishments in B.C.
- Of those, 14 establishments have licensed under the January 2016 changes.
- Since January 2016, several hotels have also expanded the footprint of an existing liquor licence to include their spa.

See below- Bill Blair seeking mtg on Wednesday now. Should be possible to arrange but do we know when the Minister is scheduled for TB to present on [s.12] that day?
I know we can sometimes find flexibility in the agenda and would be better if we can go to TB later than earlier to accommodate the federal minister. (understanding that it can sometimes move fast)

Thanks
Derrick

Good morning Derrick and Sam,

Following-up on my previous email with George. In light of yesterday's budget, there is a great opportunity for our Ministers to collaborate on the new anti-money laundering initiatives.

Minister Blair will be in Victoria on Tuesday, March 26 (likely in the afternoon). Does Minister Eby have availability for a meeting and perhaps to follow with a media availability?

Thanks and I look forward to hearing from you.

Have asked as well for where we are on the TB agenda. They can often be flexible- better if he goes later, if Blair can't be here earlier.

The interview would be five minutes. CBC is able to send a camera to the minister's location. Audio from the clip will also be used for radio.

Recommendation

Reporter
Lauren Boothby, Producer
News 1130
lauren.boothby@rci.rogers.com
604-877-4400 c: 778-533-8926

Deadline Friday, March 22, 2019 2:30 PM

Request
News 1130 has learned that Minister Eby met with the White Rock shredding company ShredWise whistleblower to discuss the unshredded casino cards and possibly more. They would like to know:
1) Can you confirm this?
2) What was discussed and when? Are there further meetings or action planned?

News 1130 would like to schedule a pre-taped radio interview with Minister Eby if significant action is on its way.

Background
This is a follow-up to a media request from March 8, 2019.

REQUEST:
News 1130 wants a comment from the AG on the information BCLC provided about destroying playing cards. Reporter noted to Liam that the liberal critic would be commenting, so it'd be a "good idea" for the AG to respond.

Information provided to Liam is below red line for background:

RESPONSE:
Provided Background

Recommendation
Reporter
Alan Regan, Producer
CKNW AM 980
alan@cknw.com
778-957-1233

Deadline to conduct Thursday, March 21, 2019 2:05 PM

Request
CKNW would like to schedule a live radio interview with Minister Eby to discuss the upcoming IBC report.

The interview would be 6-7 minutes. There would not be call-ins. CKNW can schedule the interview between 1:00 and 1:45 p.m. on the Simi Sara Show or 2:05 p.m. on the Lynda Steele Show.

> This report is put out by the private insurance industry who would like British Columbians to believe car insurance would be cheaper if they could sell basic insurance in BC. Unfortunately, things aren't working out that way in the provinces where private insurers operate.
> While BC car insurance needs major work, and significant reforms kick in April 1, there are just two provinces that are regularly reviewed by independent groups as having higher car insurance rates than our province: Ontario and Alberta.
> Both are fully private systems run by the same insurers that are lobbying to get into the BC market.
> Comparisons put together by the governments of Saskatchewan and Manitoba show that the lowest rates in Canada are offered by provinces with public insurers, and that BC's high rates are still lower than Alberta's and Ontario's rates.
> This report fails to mention the fact that many Albertans are having difficulty getting any insurance coverage right now if they have any at-fault accidents on their records. Alberta's system is in crisis, and the same private insurers lobbying for access to the BC market through this report are simultaneously lobbying for 50%+ single year increases to Alberta's regulated rates that insurance CEOs there say are unsustainable.
> Ontario's insurance industry is under review by the Ontario government as they try to figure out why Ontarians pay the highest insurance rates in Canada.
> While car insurance in BC is about five years behind an overhaul, a delay by the previous government that has cost British Columbians $3bn and counting (not even including the money they took out of ICBC itself), our first wave of major reforms kick in April 1. The second wave of reforms, in September, will offer low-risk drivers significantly better rates (and high risk drivers higher rates). We're slowly turning the corner.
> I don't mind a good debate about public vs. private systems for BC, but the private insurers who are driving insurance rates into the stratosphere in Alberta and Ontario shouldn't be coming to our province to tell us how to fix things. They should fix things at home first, and answer why public insurers across Canada regularly offer the lowest rates to their residents.

Our government will do whatever it takes to provide British Columbians with quality auto insurance at the lowest possible cost.

MAG-2018-86596: We're reading this letter from 2010 [pdf attached] that indicates one of the reasons that BCLC didn't consider the use of large amounts of cash as a money laundering threat is because the money was lost. In light of the federal government focus on casinos in parts of its budget…we're hoping to ask whether that criteria remains and what your new criteria for determining what are warning signs for money laundering actually are.

> - Under current BCLC policy, if casino staff on site identify behaviour indicative of money laundering during the course of a financial transaction, they must report it to BCLC.
> - BCLC conducts due diligence on each of these transactions by reviewing all patron information, facts and context as legislatively required and set out in FINTRAC Guidance.
> - All transactions that meet the threshold for suspicion under the federal legislation and FINTRAC Guidance are reported to FINTRAC, GPEB and RCMP. Transactions that do not meet the formal threshold for suspicion, but which a casino staff member or BCLC still have concerns about, are also reported to GPEB and the RCMP Joint Illegal Gambling Investigations Team. BCLC also reports all conduct, activity or incident that involves the potential commission of an offence under the Criminal Code or Gaming Control Act to GPEB and law enforcement for potential investigation.

- Starting in 2015 (and expanded on in 2018), BCLC implemented source of funds requirements for transactions of $10,000 or more that include conducting background checks, including inquiries into the source and net worth of the customer, and requiring casino operators to collect and record specified information on customers' source of buy-in funds each transaction.
- Under current BCLC policy, casino staff are required to refuse a transaction if the patron declines to provide the required identification or source of funds documentation.

2. MAG-2018-87270 (screen capture attached): I'm looking at a document that seems to connect the shooting death of Birinder Khangura in 2014 to the suspicious cash transactions. I'm hoping to find out more about this from BCLC.
    - This is a question for law enforcement.

News 1130 has learned that Minister Eby met with the White Rock shredding company ShredWise whistleblower to discuss the unshredded casino cards and possibly more. They would like to know:
1) Can you confirm this?

News 1130 would like to schedule a pre-taped radio interview with Minister Eby if significant action is on its way.

Update:

The reporter sent in more information:

- She's heard that this meeting happened March 14 at the World Trade Centre at 9:30 a.m.
- She's heard that another investigation has been opened by government, on top of the one already completed by BCLC and already underway by the privacy commissioner.

Background
This is a follow-up to a media request from March 8, 2019.

REQUEST:
News 1130 wants a comment from the AG on the information BCLC provided about destroying playing cards. Reporter noted to Liam that the liberal critic would be commenting, so it'd be a "good idea" for the AG to respond.

Information provided to Liam is below red line for background:

RESPONSE:
Provided Background
- We are concerned by these allegations and look forward to hearing what BCLC learns in their investigation

Recommendation – Provide statement from AG

"I can confirm I met with the ShredWise employee who alerted the media about how the company was handling sensitive materials sent for shredding, such as used casino playing cards. I encouraged the employee to contact the Office of the Information and Privacy Commissioner of B.C., which has the power to investigate privacy complaints and enforce B.C's privacy laws, about the concerns. We cannot comment on ongoing investigations."

Deadline: Monday, March 25, 2019 12:00 PM

Request:
Three dealers at the Parq casino lost their jobs in 2018 for "collusion"/cheating at play.
Players were paid chips to which they weren't entitled. The amounts were between $37,000 and $43,000.

- The records provided to us by the Ministry of Attorney General state the dealers were "charged by police".
- We would like to know what the outcome of these matters was.
- Where were the charges laid?
- When were the charges laid?
- Against whom were the charges laid?
- How long was the improper activity going on for - we've been told it is unlikely that the chips were provided all in one go.
- As the agency responsible for gaming in BC we would expect you would have been provided with information about these matters, and could share some information.

BCLC Response:

- BCLC is aware of an investigation by the Vancouver Police Department and Gaming Policy and Enforcement Branch involving at least one employee at Parq Casino and suspicions of cheat at play.
- BCLC and our service providers are committed to doing our part to prevent, detect and report any suspicious activity. If we have any reason to suspect any criminal behaviour, we immediately report it to local police and regulators.
- We have no further information on the police investigation. We suggest you contact the Vancouver Police.

Reporter
Kirk Lapointe, Editor
Business in Vancouver klapointe@canadawide.com
604-608-5183

Deadline Wednesday, March 27, 2019 3:00 PM

Request
The reporter would like to schedule a phone interview with Minister Eby to discuss the timetable for ride-hailing insurance. He would like to know when it will be ready, as he has heard from sources that it may be available very soon.

The interview would be 8-10 minutes. He will accept a statement if an interview cannot be scheduled. He has also reached out to ICBC for comment.

Recommendation

Reporter
Jon Woodward, Reporter
CTV News (BC)
Jon.Woodward@bellmedia.ca
604-351-1831

Deadline ASAP

Request
Instead of an interview, CTV has asked if the ministry can provide the answers to the following three questions:

1) Why was the shooting victim included in this report?
2) Did it have any connection to who fired Schalk and Van der Graaf?
3) What was the response after being warned of this?

Background
This is a follow-up to a media request from March 20, 2019.

REQUEST:
CTV would like to schedule a pre-taped on-camera interview with Minister Eby to discuss the federal budget/money laundering, a shooting death (Birinder Kahngura, Sept. 2014) linked to money laundering by government documents they've obtained, and a 2010 BCLC letter that says BCLC considered the high cash transactions not money laundering because gamblers were losing money. CTV wants to know if BCLC has changed its definition of "money laundering worthy of investigation."

The interview would be 10-15 minutes with Jon Woodward. CTV is able to send a camera to the minister's location at 1 p.m.

Recommendation – Provide background
1) Why was the shooting victim included in this report? (Both PSSG and Doug Scott have approved this response)

- The Ministry cannot comment on this matter.

2) Did it have any connection to who fired Schalk and Van der Graaf?

- Details of any termination of employment within the BC Public Service is considered private personal information. The Ministry will not provide comment.

3) What was the response after being warned of this?

- No further action was required by GPEB.

Reporter
Paisley Woodward, Producer
CBC British Columbia
paisley.woodward@cbc.ca
604-662-6838

Deadline ASAP

Request
The reporter would like to know how many casino workers there are in B.C. that are registered with GPEB, exclusive of bingo and community gaming centres.

Recommendation – provide background

- There are 8,602 Gaming workers and Ancillary Services employees in casinos registered with the Gaming Policy and Enforcement Branch.

Today, ICBC continues this work with this government to meet their timelines established for ride-hailing in BC for fall 2019. In addition to an insurance product itself, supporting legislation and regulatory changes are also required to support an insurance product, along with a host of other non-ICBC related provincial requirements to enable ride-hailing operations in BC.
> - Now that we have enabling legislation in place, ICBC is working with government to help advance the necessary regulations, and subsequently make an application to the BC Utilities Commission, so that we will be ready to offer an insurance product to the ride-hailing industry. ICBC's timelines align with when government is ready with its non-insurance elements for ride-hailing's introduction in BC.

The most common cooking wine in local Chinese grocery stores is Huangjiu, often translated as yellow wine, which is made from cereal grains such as rice and millet. According to the LCRB: “The sale or distribution of rice alcohol (or cooking wine made from rice alcohol and with an alcohol content of 10% or greater) is specifically prohibited due to a history of illegal sale and consumption.” Most of the cooking wine in Chinese grocery stores contains less than 10% alcohol but a reader found a wine (Fujian) that contains 14.5% (attached). This means that a determination had been made in the past that this product cannot be sold in grocery, but must be distributed through the LDB. The LCRB cannot make a determination on a product through the media based on a picture provided third-hand. Additionally, given that this is outside the jurisdiction of liquor inspectors, complaints should be made to local police.

The reporter would like to know:
1) Do the Supreme Court Civil Rule change amendments mean changes are being delayed to prevent court backlogs?
2) It seems like the only change is the timeline for changes to take effect - are there others?

Recommendation – Provide background

1) Do the Supreme Court Civil Rule change amendments mean changes are being delayed to prevent court backlogs?

- The amendments to the court rule changes announced today are meant to provide an increased transitional period for the implementation of the changes announced by Minister Eby on Feb. 11, 2019. This is to mitigate unintended potential impacts on cases currently before the courts.

2) It seems like the only change is the timeline for changes to take effect - are there others?

- The changes are:
    i. an increased timeline for the new Rule 11-8 to apply to litigation that is before the courts (i.e. trials that are on or before Dec. 31, 2019); and,
    ii. the ability to recover expenses incurred for necessary experts prior to Rule 11-8 coming into effect on Feb. 11, 2019.

Request
The reporter heard Minister Eby on the Jon McComb show and would like to confirm:
1) Will the second German report be released in phases, with the horse racing and car sections being released separately, before the real estate section?
2) What is the schedule for public release? Late June?

Recommendation – provide background

- Dr. German will submit his second report to government on March 31. As we learned from the first report, the information included is often complex and will require a period of review before it can be made public. We expect that the report will be publicly available before summer. After initial review, if there is information we can provide in advance, independently of the full report, we will make every effort to do so.

Deadline ASAP

Request
"ICBC is reviewing the current Class 1 commercial driver training program in B.C." Was this review, along with any other considerations made by ICBC, implemented directly because of the Humboldt bus crash?

Background
This is a follow-up to a media request from March 12, 2019.

REQUEST:
Reporter is working on a national story about the Humboldt bus crash in mind of the year anniversary when the bus crashed last April near Armley, Saskatchewan. He is reaching out to all provinces in search of finding info about any policy or legislation changes that have occurred due to the impact of the crash. Example: seat belts required on school buses, changes in inspection legislation or vehicle requirements, or road/infrastructure decisions.

QUESTION:
- Has the province made any changes in legislation/policy due to the impact of the Humboldt Bus Crash?
- Is there a way to gather a list of these changes (province wide)?

RESPONSE:
Provided Background
The following can be attributed to B.C.'s Ministry of Transportation and Infrastructure.

Safety is our ministry's top priority, and our deepest condolences are with all those affected by this tragedy.

In B.C. we take motor coach safety very seriously. With regards to training for commercial drivers, applicants for a Class 1 commercial driver's licence in B.C. are required to undergo robust testing, mandatory air brake training, and driver record screening prior to being issued a licence. ICBC is reviewing the current Class 1 commercial driver training program in B.C.

We will be looking at the recommendations from that review to see what improvements can be made, and how we can work with ICBC and all necessary stakeholders to implement changes. In addition, B.C. will support Transport Canada's recently announced national standard for entry level commercial driver training. This is expected to be developed by early 2020, in partnership with the Canadian Council of Motor Transport Administrators and provincial jurisdictions.

The ministry's Commercial Vehicle Safety and Enforcement Branch (CVSE) conducts regular inspections on motor coaches throughout the province, and motor coaches are required to be mechanically inspected every six months.

With regards to seatbelts, the BC Motor Vehicle Act regulations require drivers and passengers to use seatbelts if provided. The majority of newly manufactured buses come with seatbelts, and if seatbelts are installed, passengers are required to use them.

As of September 1, 2020, Transport Canada will make it mandatory for seatbelts to be installed on medium and large highway buses. We are supportive of the rule being applied in B.C. as it would further increase safety.

It is each person's responsibility to ensure a seatbelt is being worn when equipped. Expect to see enforcement from police and CVSE. We will continue to work with our federal partners to make sure the motor coach industry is as safe as it possibly can be.

The following can be attributed to ICBC (Insurance Corporation of British Columbia):

Currently, Ministry of Transportation and Infrastructure (TRAN), Ministry of Public Safety and Solicitor General (PSSG) and ICBC are working to support the development of a new mandatory training program for entry level commercial (Class 1) vehicle drivers.

ICBC is examining a number of different training options to improve commercial vehicle driver safety, including the recently introduced Mandatory Entry Level Training (MELT) programs in Ontario and Alberta, as well as the US. As with the MELT programs in Ontario and Alberta, B.C. plans to propose a standardized mandatory curriculum for use by the driver training industry that specifies the number of required hours for in-classroom, behind-the-wheel and in-yard instruction.

Commercial driver's licence applicants (Class 1) currently undergo robust testing, mandatory air brake training and testing, and driver record screening prior to being issued a licence. B.C. (TRAN) is also working with Transport Canada and other provinces and territories to help develop a national standard for entry level Class one training, by January 2020.

Here is more information on what other jurisdictions are doing:
Alberta
On March 1, 2019, Alberta introduced mandatory entry-level training (MELT) for Class 1 drivers and Class 2 drivers (large buses).
Class 1 licence requirements:
• 113 educational hours (not including air brake endorsement) 40.5 of which are in-class, 15.5 in-yard (vehicle not moving), and 57 hours of practical training behind the wheel (vehicle moving).
• Costs up to $10,000
Class 2 licence requirements:
• 50 hours of training through MELT, 18 in the classroom, 10.6 in-yard, and 21.25 behind the wheel.
• Costs $5,000.

Other jurisdictions
• In July 2017, Ontario implemented a MELT program for Class 1 drivers which includes:
o at least 103.5 hours of instruction
o Costs vary by training provider (non-government) • Saskatchewan is implementing a MELT program on March 15, 2019, which includes:
o a minimum 121.5 hours of training which includes a minimum of 47 classroom hours, 17.5 hours in-yard and 57 hours behind the wheel.
• Manitoba concluded industry consultations in January 2019 for its MELT program, but has yet to announce an implementation date and details.

Recommendation – Provide background

- ICBC was reviewing commercial driver licensing research and best practices in other jurisdictions prior to the Humboldt crash; however, this tragedy confirms the importance of ensuring safety standards in BC are high for commercial licenses.

- Currently, ICBC is working with the Ministry of Transportation and Infrastructure and the Ministry of Public Safety and Solicitor General to support the development of a new mandatory training program for entry level commercial (Class 1) vehicle drivers.

> The Media enquiry:
> ICBC Go Public inquired about a customer's claim where they drove into a large puddle in a grocery store parking lot following closely behind a semi truck which created a 'wave' and damaged their vehicle from the water. The customer signed a consent form. The reporter wants our comment and explanation of why this is a collision claim.
> ICBC suggested response:
> - This is a collision claim because the vehicle was driven through a large puddle and collided with a wave of water. The onus is on the driver to know the depth of the puddle before driving through it as they have control of the vehicle and they're required to not collide with any body of water or other object such as the surface of the road (as per page one of the optional insurance coverage booklet). I've attached photos of the water as provided by the customer.

- The customer was advised from the first call that this was a collision claim that could impact their discount level. On that first call, the customer advised they were not submitting a claim. Days later, we were advised by the customer that the vehicle wouldn't start, needed to be towed and a collision claim was filed.

- The ICBC adjuster liaised with Superstore's insurer to see if they would accept negligence. If they had, we would've subrogated against them on behalf of the customer.

- In January 2019, we were advised by the store's insurer that due to the fact that the customer had control of the vehicle and chose to drive through the flooded area, they were denying liability on behalf of the store.

- At this point, the customer's option is to take legal action against the store. It will remain a collision claim that could impact their discount level and would only be to recover costs.

- Tips for our customers: As a driver, if you find yourself on a road or parking lot that's flooded or marked closed, don't continue. Turn around and use another route. Consider what you can't see in the water – there could be hazards such as downed trees or even power lines. If in doubt, don't proceed.

Subject: Class 4 versus 5

Hi there –some information for you as discussed:

Key Messages

- The safety and security of all passengers and motorists is always our number one priority.
- That is why commercial drivers are required to complete a more rigorous process to obtain their licence. Ride-hailing drivers should be no exception.
- British Columbians can rest assured knowing that their ride-hailing driver will have had their driving skills tested at a higher level than the average driver on the road – giving passengers peace of mind.
- A Class 4 driver's licence is a fairly consistent requirement for taxi drivers across Canada, with the exception of Ontario. Whereas requirements for ride-hailing vary with Alberta and Quebec requiring a Class 4 equivalent licence and Saskatchewan, Manitoba, and Ontario requiring a Class 5 equivalent.

Requirements of a Class 4

- The Class 4 licence differs from the more common Class 5 licence, which allows a driver to operate a passenger vehicle (not for hire), by requiring the applicant to:
- Have an acceptable driving record (looking at recent penalty points and driving related criminal charges).
- Successfully complete a more detailed Class 4 knowledge test and road test.
- Successfully complete a vehicle safety pre-trip inspection test.
- Pass a driver fitness medical examination (at application and routinely thereafter as required by the Superintendent of Motor Vehicles).
- Complete all testing in English without assistance from a translator.
- Be 19 years of age unlike the Class 5 requirement of being 16.

Best Chris

Morning all,

Below is the updated vacation and back up schedule for cabinet. Please make sure you check the back up list and if your Minister is listed have that in their calendar so they are aware they are on duty during those times. If there is an issue with the back ups listed please notify Danny Loubert by Monday April 1st. Danny will be taking over the tracking of vacations. Once vacation has been approved by Geoff or Amber send a note to Danny so he can track. We are also asking that you provide Danny with any out of province travel your Minister has scheduled (conferences, meetings, etc). Please have those details to Danny by April 1st as well.

From the reporter:

"That doesn't answer my question -- you have TNO and you would see the transcript for A-G Eby's appearance on the Jon McComb Show, where he indicated that the luxury cars and horse racing portions would be released first and the rest later.
Did A-G Eby wrongly read his briefing note? Will there be a phased release of the second German report?"

Background
This is a follow-up to a media request from March 25, 2019.

REQUEST:
The reporter heard Minister Eby on the Jon McComb show and would like to confirm:
1) Will the second German report be released in phases, with the horse racing and car sections being released separately, before the real estate section?
2) What is the schedule for public release? Late June?

Provided Background
• Dr. German will submit his second report to government on March 31. As we learned from the first report, the information included is often complex and will require a period of review before it can be made public. We expect that the report will be publicly available before summer. After initial review, if there is information we can provide in advance, independently of the full report, we will make every effort to do so.

Recommendation – provide background

- As mentioned in our initial response, Dr. German's second report will be submitted to Government on March 31st. The report will then require a review by government before details are released. There are no plans for a phased release.
- The Attorney General was correct in his interview in that if appropriate he may choose to release details related to horse racing and luxury cars in advance of the full report, if it makes sense and does not require the content of the full report. This will be decided following a review of the findings.

The reporter is working on a story about the new filing against Paul King Jin. For over a year, the reporter has questioned the Justice Branch media spokesman about why Mr. Jin's court services online criminal record is sealed. Currently, the reporter claims that BCLC is "hiding behind Jin's privacy rights on my application for documents." The reporter would like to know:

1) Why is his record on things like sexual assault sealed?
2) I know that vulnerable workers in Richmond casinos have alleged they have been sexually assaulted and this individual had access to employees in the casino before and after he was banned. Did any of the predatory criminal cases against Mr. Jin involve casino employees?
3) Employees continue to allege to me that gangsters are allowed to threaten and mishandle them.These allegations go back to about 1997/98, when the NDP government expanded betting limits for baccarat, to $500 limits, and the Big Circle Boys started to frequent Richmond and Vancouver casinos. Its believed Mr. Jin is subject of the JIGIT investigation but he is in China and has been allowed to escape the reach of the law in B.C., is that the case?

Recommendation – Provide background

1) Why is his record on things like sexual assault sealed?

- The decision to apply a publication ban and/or a sealing order to a court record is made by a judge to protect the identity of the victim(s).
- When a publication ban or seal is made on a file, the file may not be visible on Court Services Online.
- The case file information may be available to the public or media who attend to make an inquiry at the Court Registry, subject to any other ban that may be ordered, providing the record or document is available to the public or media as set out in the Court's records access policies.

2) I know that vulnerable workers in Richmond casinos have alleged they have been sexually assaulted and this individual had access to employees in the casino before and after he was banned. Did any of the predatory criminal cases against Mr. Jin involve casino employees?

- The Ministry cannot comment on criminal investigations.

3) Employees continue to allege to me that gangsters are allowed to threaten and mishandle them.These allegations go back to about 1997/98, when the NDP government expanded betting limits for baccarat, to $500 limits, and the Big Circle Boys started to frequent Richmond and Vancouver casinos. Its believed Mr. Jin is subject of the JIGIT investigation but he is in China and has been allowed to escape the reach of the law in B.C., is that the case?

- There is zero tolerance for criminal activity in casinos.
- Should service providers suspect criminal activity, they must contact police and report it to BCLC and GPEB.
- Casino service providers must adhere to all applicable laws, including employment laws and provide a safe and secure workplace.
- The Ministry cannot address questions about Mr. Jin's presence in China or any ongoing criminal investigations.

News 1130 is working on a story about three former employees at Parq casino who were fired last year and arrested by police. They would like to schedule a pre-taped radio interview with Minister Eby to discuss the firings and the cause of them. If no one is available to speak, they will accept background or a statement addressing:

1/ How did it come to the attention of Casino managers or others who reported this issue that a scheme was going on?
2/ What was the time period over which the offences occurred?
3/ Has the province requested any protocol changes in the wake of these allegations?
4/ How does "88 casino workers were cited for improper conduct, seventy-nine were fired" between 2016 and 2018 compare to previous years' data?
5/ Is this investigation ongoing?
6/ What is the biggest concern that has risen out of these allegations/incidents?

The interview would be 7-8 minutes with journalist Ash Kelly.

Recommendation – provide background

1) How did it come to the attention of Casino managers or others who reported this issue that a scheme was going on?

These matters were identified by casino surveillance and security staff, who alerted Gaming Policy and Enforcement Branch (GPEB) investigators. GPEB referred the incidents to police for their investigation or follow-up. As these investigations have been passed to the Vancouver Police Department, they are more appropriately placed to respond to any further questions on this matter.

2) What was the time period over which the offences occurred?

These incidents occurred in 2018.

3) Has the province requested any protocol changes in the wake of these allegations?

GPEB has increased its presence at lower mainland casinos as a result of Dr. Peter German's December 2017 recommendation that government regulators have a presence on-site and are available to service providers throughout the day and during peak hours. With an increased presence in lower mainland casinos, GPEB is able to be on-site in casinos to proactively investigate incidents in real-time.

4) How does "88 casino workers were cited for improper conduct, seventy-nine were fired" between 2016 and 2018 compare to previous years' data?

GPEB created the record referenced in the FOI request for the applicant, as GPEB didn't initially have those records in the format the applicant requested. If you would like data from previous years, you may wish to submit a FOI request.

5) Is this investigation ongoing?

There was an input error in the report received through FOI. For the three gaming workers whose registration was cancelled for termination related to Cheat at Play, rather than "Charged by Police," the report should have stated that GPEB referred the incidents to police for their investigation or follow-up. In cases referred to police, GPEB is available for support and further assistance as needed. As these investigations have been passed to the Vancouver Police Department, they are more appropriately placed to respond to any further questions on this matter.

6) What is the biggest concern that has risen out of these allegations/incidents?

These allegations or incidents of cheat at play are of concern to GPEB. Our enhanced presence in casinos will assist in prevention and will allow for immediate action/assistance to casino staff and police of jurisdiction when there are allegations of wrongdoing.

The interview would be 8-10 minutes. He will accept a statement if an interview cannot be scheduled. He has also reached out to ICBC for comment.

Recommendation – Provide background

- Creating an appropriate insurance framework for the new ride hailing industry in B.C. is a complex task and we are taking the time to get it right.
- Government introduced and passed the comprehensive Passenger Transportation Amendment Act in fall 2018 to enable ride hailing in B.C.
- We are now working along with the Ministries of Transportation and Infrastructure, Public Safety and Solicitor General, and Municipal Affairs, on the regulatory framework to support the industry, and we are working in partnership with ICBC to develop the right insurance product for this market.
- The insurance product will be similar to what is offered in other jurisdictions including those with private insurers. ICBC will deliver a blanket insurance certificate, that we anticipate will be usage-based.
- Once the supporting regulatory framework is in place, ICBC will make an application to the BC Utilities Commission so that it will be ready to offer an insurance product to the ride hailing industry in B.C. for fall 2019.

2/ What was the time period over which the offences occurred?
3/ Has the province requested any protocol changes in the wake of these allegations?
4/ How does "88 casino workers were cited for improper conduct, seventy-nine were fired" between 2016 and 2018 compare to previous years' data?
5/ Is this investigation ongoing?
6/ What is the biggest concern that has risen out of these allegations/incidents?

The interview would be 7-8 minutes with journalist Ash Kelly.

Recommendation – provide background

1) How did it come to the attention of Casino managers or others who reported this issue that a scheme was going on?

These matters were identified by casino surveillance and security staff, who alerted Gaming Policy and Enforcement Branch (GPEB) investigators. GPEB referred the incidents to police for their investigation or follow-up. As these investigations have been passed to the Vancouver Police Department, they are more appropriately placed to respond to any further questions on this matter.

2) What was the time period over which the offences occurred?

These incidents occurred in 2018.

3) Has the province requested any protocol changes in the wake of these allegations?

GPEB has increased its presence at lower mainland casinos as a result of Dr. Peter German's December 2017 recommendation that government regulators have a presence on-site and are available to service providers throughout the day and during peak hours. With an increased presence in lower mainland casinos, GPEB is able to be on-site in casinos to proactively investigate incidents in real-time.

4) How does "88 casino workers were cited for improper conduct, seventy-nine were fired" between 2016 and 2018 compare to previous years' data?

GPEB created the record referenced in the FOI request for the applicant, as GPEB didn't initially have those records in the format the applicant requested. If you would like data from previous years, you may wish to submit a FOI request.

5) Is this investigation ongoing?

There was an input error in the report received through FOI. For the three gaming workers whose registration was cancelled for termination related to Cheat at Play, rather than "Charged by Police," the report should have stated that GPEB referred the incidents to police for their investigation or follow-up. In cases referred to police, GPEB is available for support and further assistance as needed. As these investigations have been passed to the Vancouver Police Department, they are more appropriately placed to respond to any further questions on this matter.

6) What is the biggest concern that has risen out of these allegations/incidents?

These allegations or incidents of cheat at play are of concern to GPEB. Our enhanced presence in casinos will assist in prevention and will allow for immediate action/assistance to casino staff and police of jurisdiction when there are allegations of wrongdoing.

Request
The reporter would like to schedule a phone interview with Minister Eby to discuss the timetable for ride-hailing insurance. He would like to know when it will be ready, as he has heard from sources that it may be available very soon.

The interview would be 8-10 minutes. He will accept a statement if an interview cannot be scheduled. He has also reached out to ICBC for comment.

Recommendation – Provide background

- Creating an appropriate insurance framework for the new ride hailing industry in B.C. is a complex task and we are taking the time to get it right.
- Government introduced and passed the comprehensive Passenger Transportation Amendment Act in fall 2018 to enable ride hailing in B.C.
- We are now working along with the Ministries of Transportation and Infrastructure, Public Safety and Solicitor General, and Municipal Affairs, on the regulatory framework to support the industry, and we are working in partnership with ICBC to develop the right insurance product for this market.
- The insurance product will be similar to what is offered in other jurisdictions including those with private insurers. ICBC will deliver a blanket insurance certificate, that we anticipate will be usage-based.
- Once the supporting regulatory framework is in place, ICBC will make an application to the BC Utilities Commission so that it will be ready to offer an insurance product to the ride hailing industry in B.C. for fall 2019.

Hi Michael –

Please see attached the results from your data ask a few months ago. My apologies for the time it has taken to have this report produced. Just FYI, on the rate classes, the three numbers represent the combination of rate classes a person has: So "100" means they have a Class 1 licence; "160" means they have a Class 1 and a Class 6; "236" means they have a Class 2,3, and 6; and so on.

With respect to your question yesterday, I have spoken with our main government points of contact in the Ministry of Attorney General on this. At this time I have no information I can share on how government may ask ICBC to facilitate any potential TNC framework. I'd like to ask you to direct your questions on that to Deborah Bowman, ADM Transportation Policy & Programs Division, MoTI (Deborah.Bowman@gov.bc.ca).

The reporter is working on a story about the new filing against Paul King Jin. For over a year, the reporter has questioned the Justice Branch media spokesman about why Mr. Jin's court services online criminal record is sealed. Currently, the reporter claims that BCLC is "hiding behind Jin's privacy rights on my application for documents." The reporter would like to know:

1) Why is his record on things like sexual assault sealed?
2) I know that vulnerable workers in Richmond casinos have alleged they have been sexually assaulted and this individual had access to employees in the casino before and after he was banned. Did any of the predatory criminal cases against Mr. Jin involve casino employees?
3) Employees continue to allege to me that gangsters are allowed to threaten and mishandle them.These allegations go back to about 1997/98, when the NDP government expanded betting limits for baccarat, to $500 limits, and the Big Circle Boys started to frequent Richmond and Vancouver casinos. Its believed Mr. Jin is subject of the JIGIT investigation but he is in China and has been allowed to escape the reach of the law in B.C., is that the case?

Recommendation – Provide background

1) Why is his record on things like sexual assault sealed?

- The decision to apply a publication ban and/or a sealing order to a court record is made by a judge to protect the identity of the victim(s).
- When a publication ban or seal is made on a file, the file may not be visible on Court Services Online.
- The case file information may be available to the public or media who attend to make an inquiry at the Court Registry, subject to any other ban that may be ordered, providing the record or document is available to the public or media as set out in the Court's records access policies.

2) I know that vulnerable workers in Richmond casinos have alleged they have been sexually assaulted and this individual had access to employees in the casino before and after he was banned. Did any of the predatory criminal cases against Mr. Jin involve casino employees?

- The Ministry cannot comment on criminal investigations.

3) Employees continue to allege to me that gangsters are allowed to threaten and mishandle them.These allegations go back to about 1997/98, when the NDP government expanded betting limits for baccarat, to $500 limits, and the Big Circle Boys started to frequent Richmond and Vancouver casinos. Its believed Mr. Jin is subject of the JIGIT investigation but he is in China and has been allowed to escape the reach of the law in B.C., is that the case?

- There is zero tolerance for criminal activity in casinos.
- Should service providers suspect criminal activity, they must contact police and report it to BCLC and GPEB.
- Casino service providers must adhere to all applicable laws, including employment laws and provide a safe and secure workplace.
- The Ministry cannot address questions about Mr. Jin's presence in China or any ongoing criminal investigations.

Subject: First Legislative Counsel BC April 1, 1919

Greetings, William, Liam and George.

I mentioned to William today that we are having a centennial birthday celebration for the BC Office of Legislative Counsel on April 1, 2019.
That day marks the appointment of Avard Vernon Pineo to the first position of Legislative Counsel in the Province.
Birthday cake will be served in the foyer of the Sussex Building from 12 noon to 1 pm and we would be pleased if you, the House Leaders, the Attorney General and other ministers, members and colleagues would join us.
A calendar invitation will be sent in the coming week.
Meantime, we hope you mark calendars for this special occasion.

FYI, below is an excerpt from the research provided by the library. It has links to the relevant OICs.

The BC OIC appointing "Legislative Counsel" was BC OIC 0528-1919. This OIC appointed Avard Vernon Pineo as the first Legislative Counsel.
Avard's name was on 3 other OICs in 1919: two memo's attached to OICs (i.e. 1411-1919 and 1571-1919) and an org chart for the "department of the Attorney-General".
Over the next 10 years, "Legislative Counsel" appeared on 23 different OICs. The vast majority of these OICs were salary raises for Pineo. A 1928 org chart for the Department of Attorney General confirmed that as of that year, no other Legislative Counsel had been appointed.
In 1926 he was also temporarily appointed Deputy Registrar of Companies for a period over that summer while the Registrar was unavailable (presumably on vacation, given the dates).

The first BC OIC to mention “Legislative Counsel” was BC OIC 0335-1919. This OIC "Estimates of sums required for the service of the Province for the fiscal year ending 31st March, 1920.” The estimates included $4200 for the salary of a new position by the name of “Legislative Counsel”.
OIC 1645/1919 identified Miss N. Grist as the Clerk and Stenographer to Legislative Counsel.

(it’s interesting to see the Estimates and structure of government back in 1919 from the OIC links above)

I should also mention that Mr. Pineo was also one of the founding members of the Uniform Law Conference of Canada 100 years ago last year.
From the beginning, the BC Office of Legislative Counsel has always been an active, respected and significant contributor to leading legislative initiatives in this country.
I couldn’t be more proud of this institution.

Please join me and the office on April 1.

Very best,
Corinne

OIC 1645/1919 identified Miss N. Grist as the Clerk and Stenographer to Legislative Counsel.

(it’s interesting to see the Estimates and structure of government back in 1919 from the OIC links above)

I should also mention that Mr. Pineo was also one of the founding members of the Uniform Law Conference of Canada 100 years ago last year.
From the beginning, the BC Office of Legislative Counsel has always been an active, respected and significant contributor to leading legislative initiatives in this country.
I couldn’t be more proud of this institution.

Please join me and the office on April 1.

Very best,
Corinne

Subject: First Legislative Counsel BC April 1, 1919

Greetings, William, Liam and George.

I mentioned to William today that we are having a centennial birthday celebration for the BC Office of Legislative Counsel on April 1, 2019.
That day marks the appointment of Avard Vernon Pineo to the first position of Legislative Counsel in the Province.
Birthday cake will be served in the foyer of the Sussex Building from 12 noon to 1 pm and we would be pleased if you, the House Leaders, the Attorney General and other ministers, members and colleagues would join us.
A calendar invitation will be sent in the coming week.
Meantime, we hope you mark calendars for this special occasion.

The BC OIC appointing "Legislative Counsel" was BC OIC 0528-1919. This OIC appointed Avard Vernon Pineo as the first Legislative Counsel.
Avard's name was on 3 other OICs in 1919: two memo's attached to OICs (i.e. 1411-1919 and 1571-1919) and an org chart for the "department of the Attorney-General".
Over the next 10 years, "Legislative Counsel" appeared on 23 different OICs. The vast majority of these OICs were salary raises for Pineo. A 1928 org chart for the Department of Attorney General confirmed that as of that year, no other Legislative Counsel had been appointed.
In 1926 he was also temporarily appointed Deputy Registrar of Companies for a period over that summer while the Registrar was unavailable (presumably on vacation, given the dates).

The first BC OIC to mention “Legislative Counsel” was BC OIC 0335-1919. This OIC "Estimates of sums required for the service of the Province for the fiscal year ending 31st March, 1920.” The estimates included $4200 for the salary of a new position by the name of “Legislative Counsel”.
OIC 1645/1919 identified Miss N. Grist as the Clerk and Stenographer to Legislative Counsel.

(it’s interesting to see the Estimates and structure of government back in 1919 from the OIC links above)

I should also mention that Mr. Pineo was also one of the founding members of the Uniform Law Conference of Canada 100 years ago last year.
From the beginning, the BC Office of Legislative Counsel has always been an active, respected and significant contributor to leading legislative initiatives in this country.
I couldn’t be more proud of this institution.

Please join me and the office on April 1.

Corinne

The reporter is working on a story about the new filing against Paul King Jin. For over a year, the reporter has questioned the Justice Branch media spokesman about why Mr. Jin's court services online criminal record is sealed. Currently, the reporter claims that BCLC is "hiding behind Jin’s privacy rights on my application for documents." The reporter would like to know:

1) Why is his record on things like sexual assault sealed?
2) I know that vulnerable workers in Richmond casinos have alleged they have been sexually assaulted and this individual had access to employees in the casino before and after he was banned. Did any of the predatory criminal cases against Mr. Jin involve casino employees?
3) Employees continue to allege to me that gangsters are allowed to threaten and mishandle them.These allegations go back to about 1997/98, when the NDP government expanded betting limits for baccarat, to $500 limits, and the Big Circle Boys started to frequent Richmond and Vancouver casinos. Its believed Mr. Jin is subject of the JIGIT investigation but he is in China and has been allowed to escape the reach of the law in B.C., is that the case?

Recommendation – Provide background

1) Why is his record on things like sexual assault sealed?

- The decision to apply a publication ban and/or a sealing order to a court record is made by a judge to protect the identity of the victim(s).
- When a publication ban or seal is made on a file, the file may not be visible on Court Services Online.
- The case file information may be available to the public or media who attend to make an inquiry at the Court Registry, subject to any other ban that may be ordered, providing the record or document is available to the public or media as set out in the Court's records access policies.

2) I know that vulnerable workers in Richmond casinos have alleged they have been sexually assaulted and this individual had access to employees in the casino before and after he was banned. Did any of the predatory criminal cases against Mr. Jin involve casino employees?

- The Ministry cannot comment on criminal investigations.

3) Employees continue to allege to me that gangsters are allowed to threaten and mishandle them.These allegations go back to about 1997/98, when the NDP government expanded betting limits for baccarat, to $500 limits, and the Big Circle Boys started to frequent Richmond and Vancouver casinos. Its believed Mr. Jin is subject of the JIGIT investigation but he is in China and has been allowed to escape the reach of the law in B.C., is that the case?

- There is zero tolerance for criminal activity in casinos.
- Should service providers suspect criminal activity, they must contact police and report it to BCLC and GPEB.
- Casino service providers must adhere to all applicable laws, including employment laws and provide a safe and secure workplace.
- The Ministry cannot address questions about Mr. Jin's presence in China or any ongoing criminal investigations.

From the reporter:

"That doesn't answer my question -- you have TNO and you would see the transcript for A-G Eby's appearance on the Jon McComb Show, where he indicated that the luxury cars and horse racing portions would be released first and the rest later.
Did A-G Eby wrongly read his briefing note? Will there be a phased release of the second German report?"

Background
This is a follow-up to a media request from March 25, 2019.

REQUEST:
The reporter heard Minister Eby on the Jon McComb show and would like to confirm:
1) Will the second German report be released in phases, with the horse racing and car sections being released separately, before the real estate section?
2) What is the schedule for public release? Late June?

Provided Background
• Dr. German will submit his second report to government on March 31. As we learned from the first report, the information included is often complex and will require a period of review before it can be made public. We expect that the report will be publicly available before summer. After initial review, if there is information we can provide in advance, independently of the full report, we will make every effort to do so.

Recommendation – provide background

- As mentioned in our initial response, Dr. German's second report will be submitted to Government on March 31st. The report will then require a review by government before details are released. There are no plans for a phased release.
- The Attorney General was correct in his interview in that if appropriate he may choose to release details related to horse racing and luxury cars in advance of the full report, if it makes sense and does not require the content of the full report. This will be decided following a review of the findings.

News 1130 is working on a story about three former employees at Parq casino who were fired last year and arrested by police. They would like to schedule a pre-taped radio interview with Minister Eby to discuss the firings and the cause of them. If no one is available to speak, they will accept background or a statement addressing:

1/ How did it come to the attention of Casino managers or others who reported this issue that a scheme was going on?
2/ What was the time period over which the offences occurred?
3/ Has the province requested any protocol changes in the wake of these allegations?
4/ How does "88 casino workers were cited for improper conduct, seventy-nine were fired" between 2016 and 2018 compare to previous years' data?
5/ Is this investigation ongoing?
6/ What is the biggest concern that has risen out of these allegations/incidents?

The interview would be 7-8 minutes with journalist Ash Kelly.

Recommendation – provide background

1) How did it come to the attention of Casino managers or others who reported this issue that a scheme was going on?

These matters were identified by casino surveillance and security staff, who alerted Gaming Policy and Enforcement Branch (GPEB) investigators. GPEB referred the incidents to police for their investigation or follow-up. As these investigations have been passed to the Vancouver Police Department, they are more appropriately placed to respond to any further questions on this matter.

2) What was the time period over which the offences occurred?

These incidents occurred in 2018.

3) Has the province requested any protocol changes in the wake of these allegations?

GPEB has increased its presence at lower mainland casinos as a result of Dr. Peter German's December 2017 recommendation that government regulators have a presence on-site and are available to service providers throughout the day and during peak hours. With an increased presence in lower mainland casinos, GPEB is able to be on-site in casinos to proactively investigate incidents in real-time.

4) How does "88 casino workers were cited for improper conduct, seventy-nine were fired" between 2016 and 2018 compare to previous years' data?

GPEB created the record referenced in the FOI request for the applicant, as GPEB didn't initially have those records in the format the applicant requested. If you would like data from previous years, you may wish to submit a FOI request.

5) Is this investigation ongoing?

There was an input error in the report received through FOI. For the three gaming workers whose registration was cancelled for termination related to Cheat at Play, rather than "Charged by Police," the report should have stated that GPEB referred the incidents to police for their investigation or follow-up. In cases referred to police, GPEB is available for support and further assistance as needed. As these investigations have been passed to the Vancouver Police Department, they are more appropriately placed to respond to any further questions on this matter.

6) What is the biggest concern that has risen out of these allegations/incidents?

These allegations or incidents of cheat at play are of concern to GPEB. Our enhanced presence in casinos will assist in prevention and will allow for immediate action/assistance to casino staff and police of jurisdiction when there are allegations of wrongdoing.

- Government introduced and passed the comprehensive Passenger Transportation Amendment Act in fall 2018 to enable ride hailing in B.C.
- We are now working along with the Ministries of Transportation and Infrastructure, Public Safety and Solicitor General, and Municipal Affairs, on the regulatory framework to support the industry, and we are working in partnership with ICBC to develop the right insurance product for this market.
- The insurance product will be similar to what is offered in other jurisdictions including those with private insurers. ICBC will deliver a blanket insurance certificate, that we anticipate will be usage-based.
- Once the supporting regulatory framework is in place, ICBC will make an application to the BC Utilities Commission so that it will be ready to offer an insurance product to the ride hailing industry in B.C. for fall 2019.

Hi Joanna,

I've got an MLA, Jordan Sturdy, describing the wait time for Class 4 licence as from "a few weeks to several months" depending on region. Can I get a statement on that please? What should prospective ride sharing drivers expect?

I've tracked down the various fees for medical, written and road tests. Sturdy is estimating $500, which I assume includes the recommended commercial driving courses available on the market. Can someone expect to get through without a course?

thanks,

Tom

Hi Richard –
This background came up in response to a media request from Sam Cooper w/r/t Paul Jin. I've pulled excerpt to the top but full context is below.

He'll have time for a call between 12-12.45

Thank you!

The reporter is working on a story about the new filing against Paul King Jin. For over a year, the reporter has questioned the Justice Branch media spokesman about why Mr. Jin's court services online criminal record is sealed.

1) Why is his record on things like sexual assault sealed?

- The decision to apply a publication ban and/or a sealing order to a court record is made by a judge to protect the identity of the victim(s).
- When a publication ban or seal is made on a file, the file may not be visible on Court Services Online.
- The case file information may be available to the public or media who attend to make an inquiry at the Court Registry, subject to any other ban that may be ordered, providing the record or document is available to the public or media as set out in the Court's records access policies.

From the reporter:

"That doesn't answer my question -- you have TNO and you would see the transcript for A-G Eby's appearance on the Jon McComb Show, where he indicated that the luxury cars and horse racing portions would be released first and the rest later.
Did A-G Eby wrongly read his briefing note? Will there be a phased release of the second German report?"

Background
This is a follow-up to a media request from March 25, 2019.

REQUEST:
The reporter heard Minister Eby on the Jon McComb show and would like to confirm:
1) Will the second German report be released in phases, with the horse racing and car sections being released separately, before the real estate section?
2) What is the schedule for public release? Late June?

Provided Background
• Dr. German will submit his second report to government on March 31. As we learned from the first report, the information included is often complex and will require a period of review before it can be made public. We expect that the report will be publicly available before summer. After initial review, if there is information we can provide in advance, independently of the full report, we will make every effort to do so.

Recommendation – provide background

- As mentioned in our initial response, Dr. German's second report will be submitted to Government on March 31st. The report will then require a review by government before details are released. There are no plans for a phased release.

- The Attorney General was correct in his interview in that if appropriate he may choose to release details related to horse racing and luxury cars in advance of the full report, if it makes sense and does not require the content of the full report. This will be decided following a review of the findings.

The reporter is working on a story about the new filing against Paul King Jin. For over a year, the reporter has questioned the Justice Branch media spokesman about why Mr. Jin's court services online criminal record is sealed. Currently, the reporter claims that BCLC is "hiding behind Jin's privacy rights on my application for documents." The reporter would like to know:

1) Why is his record on things like sexual assault sealed?
2) I know that vulnerable workers in Richmond casinos have alleged they have been sexually assaulted and this individual had access to employees in the casino before and after he was banned. Did any of the predatory criminal cases against Mr. Jin involve casino employees?
3) Employees continue to allege to me that gangsters are allowed to threaten and mishandle them.These allegations go back to about 1997/98, when the NDP government expanded betting limits for baccarat, to $500 limits, and the Big Circle Boys started to frequent Richmond and Vancouver casinos. Its believed Mr. Jin is subject of the JIGIT investigation but he is in China and has been allowed to escape the reach of the law in B.C., is that the case?

Recommendation – Provide background

1) Why is his record on things like sexual assault sealed?

- The decision to apply a publication ban and/or a sealing order to a court record is made by a judge to protect the identity of the victim(s).
- When a publication ban or seal is made on a file, the file may not be visible on Court Services Online.

2) I know that vulnerable workers in Richmond casinos have alleged they have been sexually assaulted and this individual had access to employees in the casino before and after he was banned. Did any of the predatory criminal cases against Mr. Jin involve casino employees?

- The Ministry cannot comment on criminal investigations.

3) Employees continue to allege to me that gangsters are allowed to threaten and mishandle them.These allegations go back to about 1997/98, when the NDP government expanded betting limits for baccarat, to $500 limits, and the Big Circle Boys started to frequent Richmond and Vancouver casinos. Its believed Mr. Jin is subject of the JIGIT investigation but he is in China and has been allowed to escape the reach of the law in B.C., is that the case?

- There is zero tolerance for criminal activity in casinos.

- Should service providers suspect criminal activity, they must contact police and report it to BCLC and GPEB.

- Casino service providers must adhere to all applicable laws, including employment laws and provide a safe and secure workplace.

- The Ministry cannot address questions about Mr. Jin's presence in China or any ongoing criminal investigations.

Deadline ASAP

Request
News 1130 is working on a story about three former employees at Parq casino who were fired last year and arrested by police. They would like to schedule a pre-taped radio interview with Minister Eby to discuss the firings and the cause of them. If no one is available to speak, they will accept background or a statement addressing:

1/ How did it come to the attention of Casino managers or others who reported this issue that a scheme was going on?
2/ What was the time period over which the offences occurred?
3/ Has the province requested any protocol changes in the wake of these allegations?
4/ How does "88 casino workers were cited for improper conduct, seventy-nine were fired" between 2016 and 2018 compare to previous years' data?
5/ Is this investigation ongoing?
6/ What is the biggest concern that has risen out of these allegations/incidents?

The interview would be 7-8 minutes with journalist Ash Kelly.

Recommendation – provide background

1) How did it come to the attention of Casino managers or others who reported this issue that a scheme was going on?

These matters were identified by casino surveillance and security staff, who alerted Gaming Policy and Enforcement Branch (GPEB) investigators. GPEB referred the incidents to police for their investigation or follow-up. As these investigations have been passed to the Vancouver Police Department, they are more appropriately placed to respond to any further questions on this matter.

2) What was the time period over which the offences occurred?

These incidents occurred in 2018.

3) Has the province requested any protocol changes in the wake of these allegations?

GPEB has increased its presence at lower mainland casinos as a result of Dr. Peter German's December 2017 recommendation that government regulators have a presence on-site and are available to service providers throughout the day and during peak hours. With an increased presence in lower mainland casinos, GPEB is able to be on-site in casinos to proactively investigate incidents in real-time.

4) How does "88 casino workers were cited for improper conduct, seventy-nine were fired" between 2016 and 2018 compare to previous years' data?

GPEB created the record referenced in the FOI request for the applicant, as GPEB didn't initially have those records in the format the applicant requested. If you would like data from previous years, you may wish to submit a FOI request.

5) Is this investigation ongoing?

There was an input error in the report received through FOI. For the three gaming workers whose registration was cancelled for termination related to Cheat at Play, rather than "Charged by Police," the report should have stated that GPEB referred the incidents to police for their investigation or follow-up. In cases referred to police, GPEB is available for support and further assistance as needed. As these investigations have been passed to the Vancouver Police Department, they are more appropriately placed to respond to any further questions on this matter.

6) What is the biggest concern that has risen out of these allegations/incidents?

These allegations or incidents of cheat at play are of concern to GPEB. Our enhanced presence in casinos will assist in prevention and will allow for immediate action/assistance to casino staff and police of jurisdiction when there are allegations of wrongdoing.

I mentioned to William today that we are having a centennial birthday celebration for the BC Office of Legislative Counsel on April 1, 2019.
That day marks the appointment of Avard Vernon Pineo to the first position of Legislative Counsel in the Province.
Birthday cake will be served in the foyer of the Sussex Building from 12 noon to 1 pm and we would be pleased if you, the House Leaders, the Attorney General and other ministers, members and colleagues would join us.
A calendar invitation will be sent in the coming week.
Meantime, we hope you mark calendars for this special occasion.
FYI, below is an excerpt from the research provided by the library. It has links to the relevant OICs.
The BC OIC appointing "Legislative Counsel" was BC OIC 0528-1919. This OIC appointed Avard Vernon Pineo as the first Legislative Counsel.
Avard's name was on 3 other OICs in 1919: two memo's attached to OICs (i.e. 1411-1919 and 1571-1919) and an org chart for the "department of the Attorney-General".
Over the next 10 years, "Legislative Counsel" appeared on 23 different OICs. The vast majority of these OICs were salary raises for Pineo. A 1928 org chart for the Department of Attorney General confirmed that as of that year, no other Legislative Counsel had been appointed.
In 1926 he was also temporarily appointed Deputy Registrar of Companies for a period over that summer while the Registrar was unavailable (presumably on vacation, given the dates).
The first BC OIC to mention "Legislative Counsel" was BC OIC 0335-1919. This OIC "Estimates of sums required for the service of the Province for the fiscal year ending 31st March, 1920." The estimates included $4200 for the salary of a new position by the name of "Legislative Counsel".
OIC 1645/1919 identified Miss N. Grist as the Clerk and Stenographer to Legislative Counsel.
(it's interesting to see the Estimates and structure of government back in 1919 from the OIC links above)
I should also mention that Mr. Pineo was also one of the founding members of the Uniform Law Conference of Canada 100 years ago last year.
From the beginning, the BC Office of Legislative Counsel has always been an active, respected and significant contributor to leading legislative initiatives in this country.
I couldn't be more proud of this institution.
Please join me and the office on April 1.
Very best,
Corinne

Hi Connie –
Is there something happening next Monday to commemorate '100 years of drafting laws in BC'?
Minister heard something to that effect and I am just tracking down.

Thank you

Good afternoon Derrick, Gala and Samantha:

FYI – BCLC has prepared the following response to a media request from Sandor Gyamarti, a reporter with the Delta Optimist, regarding cashless casinos. An IN is also attached for your reference. Rob Duffus, Megan Harris and the GPEB team have reviewed the draft media response and have no concerns.

Reporter/Outlet/Contact: Sandor Gyarmat i/ Delta Optimist / 604-998-3617/ sgyarmati@delta-optimist.com

Deadline: Monday, April 1, 4 p.m.

Request: I am starting a piece on what are cashless casinos including what are they (are there different types?) and wondering if this is something BCLC is looking at or has considered, as well as potential pros and cons

Suggested Response:

- BCLC currently offers account-based gambling on PlayNow.com and is exploring ways to expand this type of option into land-based casinos.

- The use of cash is becoming less prevalent in commerce generally and BCLC is interested in following consumer trends as well as mitigating risks in its business.

- BCLC is at the initial stages analyzing the potential for account-based gambling in casinos as it believes there are opportunities to enhance BCLC's anti-money laundering program, the player experience and player health through an account-based system that could further reduce the amount of cash brought in by customers.

- BCLC has done a preliminary analysis of cashless and account-based gambling in casinos elsewhere in the world and so far has found such systems exist in varying degrees in some casinos in a small number of countries. None of these systems is currently completely cashless.

- For many years, BCLC has been committed to reducing the use of cash in casinos and currently offers cashless options for buy-ins including debit cards, bank drafts from Canadian and top US banks, and electronic funds transfers.

Cheers,

Lara

Hi Derrick, Gala and Samantha,

Can you kindly review the attached draft Media Advisory and News Release for the CRT technical briefing at your earliest convenience and let me know if you have any concerns?

The plan is to send out the MA tomorrow around 11 a.m., the CRT will also invite media to the event separately. The NR will be sent out through GCPE HQ on Friday morning at 11 a.m. – the same way they send out NR for the Forest Practices Board etc. It will have the CRT logo only – not the government ID.

The SN have not yet been approved by the Deputy, but thought I should send the current version so you can see where they are "at." They have been reviewed/ approved by Holly Cairns, Zac Kremler's team, and Rob Duffus. The Deputy has been in back to back meetings all day so he can't review until tomorrow morning.

I will send you a final copy of the event plan when I receive it from the organizer tomorrow.

Can you please advise – does the Minister he have all information he needs about the CRT? If not, can you please advise what information he requires and I will try to track it down tomorrow.

Subject: Crash Rate

Hi Derrick –
Attached is what was provided to the SSC on crash rates for class 4 versus 5.

- High-level crash data going back to 2012 shows that those who have a class 4 licence (which includes taxi drivers, limousine drivers, and ambulance drivers) have a lesser at fault crash rate than those with a class 5 in passenger vehicle.
- Most current high-level 2016 data shows that for every 100 drivers, the at fault crash rates for class 4 drivers is 4.54 per hundred, versus 5.14 per hundred.

Please note the data is very limited – for example, it doesn't consider distance travelled. Or class 5 drivers who were at fault in commercial style vehicles, including pick-up trucks. Note also crash stats for taxi versus pleasure/commute in table two.
Best- Chris

The reporter is working on a story about the new filing against Paul King Jin. For over a year, the reporter has questioned the Justice Branch media spokesman about why Mr. Jin's court services online criminal record is sealed. Currently, the reporter claims that BCLC is "hiding behind Jin's privacy rights on my application for documents." The reporter would like to know:

1) Why is his record on things like sexual assault sealed?
2) I know that vulnerable workers in Richmond casinos have alleged they have been sexually assaulted and this individual had access to employees in the casino before and after he was banned. Did any of the predatory criminal cases against Mr. Jin involve casino employees?
3) Employees continue to allege to me that gangsters are allowed to threaten and mishandle them.These allegations go back to about 1997/98, when the NDP government expanded betting limits for baccarat, to $500 limits, and the Big Circle Boys started to frequent Richmond and Vancouver casinos. Its believed Mr. Jin is subject of the JIGIT investigation but he is in China and has been allowed to escape the reach of the law in B.C., is that the case?

Recommendation – Provide background

1) Why is his record on things like sexual assault sealed?

- The decision to apply a publication ban and/or a sealing order to a court record is made by a judge to protect the identity of the victim(s).
- When a publication ban or seal is made on a file, the file may not be visible on Court Services Online.
- The case file information may be available to the public or media who attend to make an inquiry at the Court Registry, subject to any other ban that may be ordered, providing the record or document is available to the public or media as set out in the Court's records access policies.

2) I know that vulnerable workers in Richmond casinos have alleged they have been sexually assaulted and this individual had access to employees in the casino before and after he was banned. Did any of the predatory criminal cases against Mr. Jin involve casino employees?

- The Ministry cannot comment on criminal investigations.

3) Employees continue to allege to me that gangsters are allowed to threaten and mishandle them.These allegations go back to about 1997/98, when the NDP government expanded betting limits for baccarat, to $500 limits, and the Big Circle Boys started to frequent Richmond and Vancouver casinos. Its believed Mr. Jin is subject of the JIGIT investigation but he is in China and has been allowed to escape the reach of the law in B.C., is that the case?

- There is zero tolerance for criminal activity in casinos.
- Should service providers suspect criminal activity, they must contact police and report it to BCLC and GPEB.
- Casino service providers must adhere to all applicable laws, including employment laws and provide a safe and secure workplace.
- The Ministry cannot address questions about Mr. Jin's presence in China or any ongoing criminal investigations.

9.6.2 Hearing loss - Commercial drivers

These guidelines apply to driver fitness determinations for commercial drivers who are required to conduct a pre-trip vehicle inspection under s.37.22 of the Motor Vehicle Act Regulation

National Standard	Eligible for class 2 and 4 driver licence, and classes 1, 3 and 5 when transporting dangerous goods, if either • Perceives a forced whispered voice at not less than 5 (1.5 metres) feet with or without the use of a hearing aid ; or • Hearing loss no greater than 40dB averaged at 500, 1000, and 2000 Hz in their better ear
BC Guidelines	RoadSafetyBC may find individuals fit to drive any type of commercial vehicles if • they meet the dB standard in the second bullet above • On initial application or if the treating physician indicates a change in hearing ability in a licensed commercial driver who previously met the hearing standard above, RoadSafetyBC will request an audiometric assessment conducted by an ○ otolaryngologist

	○ audiologist, or ○ a hearing clinic operated by BC Ministry of Health
Conditions for maintaining licence	No conditions are required
Restrictions	• RoadSafetyBC will place the following restriction on an individual's licence if the individual must wear a hearing aid in order to meet the hearing standard ○ R23 Must wear hearing aid ○ If the audiometric assessment indicates that an individual does not meet the hearing standard, RoadSafetyBC will apply ○ R51 Visible low air warning device (FOR CLASS 1, 2 and 3 only); and ○ R22 (Code W) Class 1-4 Invalid in USA (FOR 1, 2, 3 and 4)
Reassessment	RoadSafetyBC will re-assess in accordance with routine commercial re-assessment
Information from health care providers	Results of a recent auditory testing
Rationale	• For Classes 5 and 6, hearing loss should not constitute a barrier to driving ability. While the ability to hear or communicate is of paramount importance for the operator of a passenger bus, ambulance or other emergency vehicles (i.e. Classes 2 and 4), there are a number of factors which suggest it is inappropriate to apply the same requirement to the operator of a Class 1 or 3 motor vehicle. Consequently, it is suggested that the holder of a Class 2 or 4 driver licence and the operators of emergency vehicles be required to meet a hearing standard. It is also recommended individuals who hold a Class 1, 3 or 5 licence and are engaged in the transportation of dangerous goods meet the medical requirements corresponding to Classes 2 and 4 as stated above. While it is agreed that a degree of hearing would be beneficial for all motor vehicle operators, in the absence of empirical data, the totally deaf individual who is able to successfully complete the driving tests should be permitted to obtain or hold a Class1, 3, 5 or 6 licence The US FMCSA whisper test is described as:

	• For the whispered voice test, the individual should be stationed at least 5 feet from the examiner with the ear being tested turned toward the examiner • The other ear is covered • Using the breath which remains after a normal expiration, the examiner whispers words or random numbers such as 66, 18, 23, etc • The examiner should not use only sibilants (s-sounding test materials) • The opposite ear should be tested in the same manner

The reporter is trying to get accurate information concerning a change to B.C.'s estate laws. She has been told that in B.C., marriage no longer means that a previous will is automatically revoked, meaning the new spouse is no longer automatically allowed to gain access to a lifetime of accumulated wealth.

Can the ministry confirm that this is accurate?

Recommendation – Provide background

- This is not new, the change was made when the Wills, Estates and Succession Act was brought into force on March 31, 2014.
- The previous Wills Act specified that a will was revoked by the marriage of a person who made the will. The Wills, Estates and Succession Act no longer includes marriage as a factor that will revoke a will.
- This change was made because lawyers practicing in the areas advised that many people were unaware of this rule revoking their will and that wills were inadvertently revoked (and careful estate plans giving assets to parents, siblings and other close family members undone) with the result being that the spouse could take all of the estate on intestacy (where there were no children).
- While the spouse no longer automatically receives the deceased's wealth (or a share of that wealth) if there is a will that preceded the marriage that was not updated, spouses are well protected by other provisions in the Wills, Estates and Succession Act. Division 6 of Part 4 of the Wills, Estates and Succession Act allows a spouse to apply to vary a will if they are not adequately provided for. In addition, under the common law for long term relationships the spouse may have "resulting trust" claims against assets in the deceased's name that were accumulated during the marriage (essentially an argument that the marriage lowered the cost of living for the deceased, which, in turn allowed the assets to be accumulated).
- Ultimately it was thought that these protections were sufficient to protect the spouse and that the harm caused by inadvertent revocation of wills outweighed the benefit of automatically allowing spouses to acquire the deceased's estate through the laws of intestacy.
- Part of Make a Will Week (April 7-13, 2019) is not only encouraging people to make a will, but to remind them to update their wills when there has been a life event (marriage, birth of a child, etc.) to prevent disputes and the necessity of a spouse having to apply to court to vary a will (when the named beneficiaries in the will are unwilling to recognize the spouses claim and negotiate a fair distribution).

Hi everyone,

The MO has received the following FOI request from Media:

Regarding the Jan. 16, 2019 call with Marvin Storrow, as mentioned in A-G Eby's calendar, I seek the agenda, minutes, briefing note, presentation material, handwritten notes, transcript, and recording of the call.

All MAs and the Minister should complete a search for this request. Sam, Tanera, and Nicole – please advise if you have any meeting materials for this request.

If you do not have records, please let me know as soon as possible. If you will have over 200 pages of records, or require over three hours search time, please let me know by April 2nd, as the Ministry may be in a position to issue a fee estimate. Otherwise, please send records no later than April 8th. Submitting records outside of this ten-day window puts the request at risk of going overdue.

If you have any questions about how this request should be interpreted or need more time to gather records, please contact me immediately.

Thank you,

Hi Derrick,

The MO has received the following FOI request from an Individual (also directed to CSB, JSB, LSB):

Copies of all meeting minutes, notes, discussion notes, email and correspondence relating to the new Provincial Family Court model, also known as the Provincial Court Family Rules Reform Project.

Copies of all related meeting minutes, notes and correspondence among and between but not limited to A-G Hon. David Eby, Nancy Carter, E.D. Family Policy, Legislation and Transformation, Min of Justice and Mr Kurt Sandstrom, Asst Deputy Minister and former A-G Suzanne Anton regarding the new Provincial Family Court model.
Copies of the names and contact information for each member sitting on the new Provincial Family Court model also known as the Provincial Court Family Rules Reform Project. (Date Range for Record Search: From 05/15/2014 To 03/06/2019)

Due to the need to search off-site paper files/archived emails on my end, I am submitting a fee estimate, which will put the request on hold. Could you please give me an estimate of search time the MO will require, and I will add it to our estimate? I know the MO will only have records dating from when the Minister took office, but even if the MO's search time is under three hours, which is usually the threshold for a fee, we will still add it to the total fee. Please feel free to call if I can explain further!

Thanks,

Hi everyone,

Another program area has submitted a fee estimate for this request, which will put the file on hold. All other areas are required to submit their search time so IAO can issue a combined fee. Could you please send me your estimated search time for this request by March 14th? I will let you know when we are required to gather records again.

Derrick and Tanera – I have your records already, but could you please let me know approximately how long it took you to search?

Thank you,

Camas Ussery

Subject: MAG-2019-91215 Call for Records Due March 20

Good morning everyone,

The MO has received the following FOI request from an Individual:

- Calendar entries, agendas, telephone records showing phone call dates and times, notes, or any other records related to the Attorney General or any staff member in his ministry meeting with Fred Pinnock and records of what was discussed at those meetings.
- Any emails or any other records including hand written notes, of the Attorney General, deputy attorney general, associate deputy minister or any assistant deputy minister, ministerial assistant or executive assistant in the Attorney General's office where Fred Pinnock is mentioned.
- Any record related to the cost or funds expended by government on obtaining legal advice or representation for Fred Pinnock (Date Range for Record Search: From 07/01/2018 To 02/28/2019).

All MAs, Sam, Tanera and the Minister should complete a search for this request.

If you do not have records, please let me know as soon as possible. If you will have over 200 pages of records, or require over three hours search time, please let me know by March 14th, as the Ministry may be in a position to issue a fee estimate. Otherwise, please send records no later than March 20th. Submitting records outside of this ten-day window puts the request at risk of going overdue.

If you have any questions about how this request should be interpreted or need more time to gather records, please contact me immediately.

Thank you!

ISSUE: Estate law
STATUS: Provided Background

- • This is not new, the change was made when the Wills, Estates and Succession Act was brought into force on March 31, 2014.
  • The previous Wills Act specified that a will was revoked by the marriage of a person who made the will. The Wills, Estates and Succession Act no longer includes marriage as a factor that will revoke a will.
  • This change was made because lawyers practicing in the areas advised that many people were unaware of this rule revoking their will and that wills were inadvertently revoked (and careful estate plans giving assets to parents, siblings and other close family members undone) with the result being that the spouse could take all of the estate on intestacy (where there were no children).
  • While the spouse no longer automatically receives the deceased's wealth (or a share of that wealth) if there is a will that preceded the marriage that was not updated, spouses are well protected by other provisions in the Wills, Estates and Succession Act. Division 6 of Part 4 of the Wills, Estates and Succession Act allows a spouse to apply to vary a will if they are not adequately provided for. In addition, under the common law for long term relationships the spouse may have "resulting trust" claims against assets in the deceased's name that were accumulated during the marriage (essentially an argument that the marriage lowered the cost of living for the deceased, which, in turn allowed the assets to be accumulated).
  • Ultimately it was thought that these protections were sufficient to protect the spouse and that the harm caused by inadvertent revocation of wills outweighed the benefit of automatically allowing spouses to acquire the deceased's estate through the laws of intestacy.
  • Part of Make a Will Week (April 7-13, 2019) is not only encouraging people to make a will, but to remind them to update their wills when there has been a life event (marriage, birth of a child, etc.) to prevent disputes and the necessity of a spouse having to apply to court to vary a will (when the named beneficiaries in the will are unwilling to recognize the spouses claim and negotiate a fair distribution).

Tricia, who can explain more. Ideally it would also be great if there was a contact at the ministry who could be an appropriate person to have a call with s.22

Thanks so much! Please give me a call if any questions/issues.

Ask:

1. Speak with Tricia about the file to get background + information about s.22
2. Take a call with s.22 (ideally while he is with Tricia at the Constituency Office)

Thank you,

Sonia

My colleague Karen at Labour concurs – it is with them. Can you let Sonia know?
Thanks!

I think this may be better suited for Minister of Labour. I will discuss with my counterpart there to see if they concur and if so will see if they can be in touch.

Thank you, Leah -

Here is your Final, complete with queue number and permalink.

This will go as a hairtrigger release - tomorrow morning, probably around 8:30ish.

Distribution will be provincewide - but I've included all the distribution codes that got the matching MA so they are not left out.

If anything goes sideways or south, I'll in the office around 7:30 in the ayem.

No problem. We won't have anyone on site from my team at either, just to be clear. The 8:30 one just came up this afternoon as you I am sure know and the 11 am one they wanted to keep to them selves somewhat. But I'll be in touch with the techs for both as much as possible.

Sorry Samara – these have been reviewed in hard copy and I thought they had been sent back to you. Just took a look and found they are still at our office.
Will get the package in the mail to you in next several days.

Good morning Derrick. I'm following up on the above noted file. I caused a little confusion when I sent out the original email with the wrong file number in the subject line. Just in case you missed the correction, I am re-attaching the records for MO harms review on file MAG-2018-84722. The details I laid out below are for this file.

Please send your harms back as soon as possible. Let me know if there is anything I can do to assist.

Have a great day.

Subject: RE: Harms Review (MO) MAG-2018-83611/84722 Due: March 18

Good morning Derrick. First off, please let me apologize, as there is an error in the file number in the subject line. The correct file is MAG-2018-84722.

Generally speaking, I never send the whole package back. I go through and mark pages for your office, other program areas and consults with other ministries/agencies, so that they can provide their harms assessment. I apply severing to more obvious pages (like personal information, clear legal advise, etc.), and some pages don't have anything I question (generic emails i.e. signing complete (with no other details)). So I only send pages where there could be a harm or I don't know which program area the issue is related to, etc.

Just to give you an idea, this file now contains 243 pages (a few pages were removed as duplicates (you originally sent 254 pgs)). I only sent you 58 pages for harms review, JSB – 19 pgs, LSB – 42 pgs, DAG – 22 pgs, CSB – 2 pgs, LDB – 4 pgs, LCRB – 2 pgs, Associate DM – 8 pgs, ISO – 1 pg and two consults were sent – GCPE – 29 pgs and OOP – 3 pgs)

In the future, if the MO wants to review the whole package for harms, may I suggest providing two copies of the records when you provide them during the gathering stage (this does save a lot of time, and reduces the need to/or the page count that has to be sent to other program areas for harms). Other program areas do this as well. Once the records are gathered and combined into a PDF, you save one copy as the 'clean' copy and then do a 'save as' and name it something like ‘marked’ copy or ‘with harms’ etc. The harms can be done using the comments option in adobe. The other option is to print out a copy, make notes on the pages and then scan that back in as the “marked copy”, ensuring both the ‘clean’ and ‘marked’ copies are sent to IAO.

Please let me know if you have any other questions or wish to see the entire package. Please let me know if there is anything I can do to assist the MO staff and the Minister to make things run smoother😊

Have a great day.

Hi Samara –
I have this package marked to send back. But I notice that substantially less than the 243 pages, as numbered, are provided. Have the other pages been otherwise severed, or?

Thanks

Good morning George and Derrick. I’m hoping one of you can have the attached records reviewed for any harms under FOIPPA. Please ensure that subject lines are also reviewed for any harms.

The Ministry received the following request from the media:
Records of any and all emails, text messages, BBMs, slack messages, and WhatsApp messages – excluding attachments - sent from the Minister/Minister of State. (Date Range for Record Search: From 04/01/2018 To: 04/30/2018)

The attached pages, or a portion thereof, originated with/or are related to your program area. I’m sending them for a harms review on the content originating from/or related to your program area (please ensure to take note of the names of attachments to emails in addition to the review of the content of emails).

As this is a harms review, no formal signoff will be sent, an email providing any harms and an indication of Executive approval via email is sufficient. Please note these records will be posted on the Open Information website.

The harms review and Executive approval are due by March 18, 2019.

Thank you, have a great day.

The reporter is working on a story about the new filing against Paul King Jin. For over a year, the reporter has questioned the Justice Branch media spokesman about why Mr. Jin's court services online criminal record is sealed. Currently, the reporter claims that BCLC is "hiding behind Jin's privacy rights on my application for documents." The reporter would like to know:
1) Why is his record on things like sexual assault sealed?
2) I know that vulnerable workers in Richmond casinos have alleged they have been sexually assaulted and this individual had access to employees in the casino before and after he was banned. Did any of the predatory criminal cases against Mr. Jin involve casino employees?
3) Employees continue to allege to me that gangsters are allowed to threaten and mishandle them.These allegations go back to about 1997/98, when the NDP government expanded betting limits for baccarat, to $500 limits, and the Big Circle Boys started to frequent Richmond and Vancouver casinos. Its believed Mr. Jin is subject of the JIGIT investigation but he is in China and has been allowed to escape the reach of the law in B.C., is that the case?
Recommendation – Provide background

1) Why is his record on things like sexual assault sealed?
- The decision to apply a publication ban and/or a sealing order to a court record is made by a judge to protect the identity of the victim(s).
- When a publication ban or seal is made on a file, the file may not be visible on Court Services Online.
- The case file information may be available to the public or media who attend to make an inquiry at the Court Registry, subject to any other ban that may be ordered, providing the record or document is available to the public or media as set out in the Court's records access policies.

2) I know that vulnerable workers in Richmond casinos have alleged they have been sexually assaulted and this individual had access to employees in the casino before and after he was banned. Did any of the predatory criminal cases against Mr. Jin involve casino employees?

- The Ministry cannot comment on criminal investigations.

3) Employees continue to allege to me that gangsters are allowed to threaten and mishandle them.These allegations go back to about 1997/98, when the NDP government expanded betting limits for baccarat, to $500 limits, and the Big Circle Boys started to frequent Richmond and Vancouver casinos. Its believed Mr. Jin is subject of the JIGIT investigation but he is in China and has been allowed to escape the reach of the law in B.C., is that the case?

- There is zero tolerance for criminal activity in casinos.
- Should service providers suspect criminal activity, they must contact police and report it to BCLC and GPEB.
- Casino service providers must adhere to all applicable laws, including employment laws and provide a safe and secure workplace.
- The Ministry cannot address questions about Mr. Jin's presence in China or any ongoing criminal investigations.

I don't have the details on this specific incident or what was said at the time (2012), but I do know that, as soon as ICBC became aware of this, they took immediate and decisive action.

Additional response to CTV:
For your story on the Express Repair program, please consider the following:

- This story was already covered by Global in December 2018: https://globalnews.ca/news/4742271/icbc-is-spending-50-per-cent-more-on-vehicle-damage-than-in-2012-is-it-getting-value-for-money/
- Since the story aired – and our trainee Express estimators have become more familiar with ICBC's systems – we have seen significant improvement in the number of transactions processed on a daily basis. This has had a positive effect on our ability to meet the goal of a two-hour turnaround on estimate approvals.
- Additionally, as mentioned previously, we're in the process of modernizing our collision repair and glass supplier programs because we know there are opportunities for improvement. Some of the objectives of this work focus on increasing accountability, raising performance standards and achieving cost reductions through increased efficiencies, while ensuring our customers continue to receive safe, prompt repairs at the best market value. We think this is an important fact that should be included in your story.

For your question on ATS, "Do you know if ICBC knows how many vehicles are paid for under the ATS? Or if not that (as it appears to vary by dealer) how many they are required to have under the program?":

- The Alternative Transportation Service program is designed to provide customers with flexibility and choice. As a result, repair shops are expected to satisfy a customer's transportation needs by providing a courtesy car, rental vehicle, shuttle service, or taxi/bus fare reimbursement.

For your question: "I heard about $3,000 in direct cash payments to one of these employees and I didn't see that in the below. Is that accurate?"

- We're aware of allegations of direct cash payments but we couldn't verify that in our investigation.

Hi Derrick, George, Gala and Samantha:
Can you please review this draft response ICBC has prepared for CTV reporter Jon Woodward and let me know if you have any concerns. Jon Woodward has questions about some collusion that occurred between ICBC estimators and approved collision shops in 2012. The reporter's deadline is this afternoon, by 5 p.m. Thanks very much for your help!
Best Regards
Cathy Dargie
Reporter: CTV Jon Woodward
Deadline: March 12, 2019

1. No. 1 Collision question. As I understand it they were originally facing a fine of $70,416. It was sent to the supplier conduct committee instead, where the fine was instead levied at $52,576. Am I understanding that correctly?
   As previously noted, ICBC has Express Repair and Accreditation Agreements with Number 1 Collision. We are reviewing the request to ensure we fulfill our third-party obligations as they relate to the release of supplier data.
2. In 2012, six employees were fired from ICBC for sending business to certain body shops, and approving repair estimates over the phone rather than in person (https://www.richmond-news.com/news/six-sacked-at-icbc-more-could-follow-1.498170). As I understand it this was only part of the problem: they were also receiving gifts from the body shops that took various forms.
   a. Did the investigation discover those gifts? If so what forms did they take and how much were they worth?
      Our investigation suggested that some ICBC employees received a variety of gifts. While we couldn't verify the value of these gifts, they included lunches, alcohol, gift cards and two trips. It's important to note that ICBC took immediate action regarding this incident. These actions were clear violation of our Code of Ethics, which ICBC employees and contractors are required to annually review and acknowledge – a requirement of employment at ICBC.
   b. As the investigation continued were other people also fired? For what?
      Did any ICBC employees that were fired as part of the below get any severance? If so, how much?
      As a result of the continuing investigation, one employee was terminated for violation of company policies and procedures.
      None of the seven terminated employees received severance.
3. What steps does ICBC take to watch for favouritism etc on an ongoing basis? Are there ongoing studies done that show certain shops getting too much business, as a flag for corrupt behaviour?
   The vast majority of ICBC customers are able to take their damaged vehicle directly to an ICBC-approved collision repair facility for an estimate and repairs. When a claim is reported to ICBC, customers are directed to the shop locator, where they can choose an accredited business in their preferred area. It is always the customer's choice, not ICBC's, where they take their vehicle for repairs. In 2018, 77 per cent of all material damage claims were estimated at an Express Repair shop, compared to 25 per cent in 2009.
   Estimates and supplements for repairs are submitted to ICBC by Express Repair facilities province-wide and go into an electronic queue. These are reviewed in the order they are received by a team of approximately 45 Express estimators. Estimators regularly rotate between completing estimates at ICBC locations and visiting repair facilities to review submitted estimates and supplements. Estimates that are completed in the field (compulsory for unaccredited shops) are submitted in hard copy and reviewed by an ICBC manager.
   ICBC's Code of Ethics sets out the principles that all ICBC employees are expected to follow in their daily work activities, whether interacting with customers, business partners or each other. This includes prohibitions on conflicts of interest, receipt of gifts from third parties, accepting or offering bribes, and involvement in the business of a stakeholder. Every ICBC employee and contractor is required to annually review and acknowledge the Code of Ethics as a requirement of employment at ICBC.

In addition, ICBC offers a confidential tip line, where instances of suspected fraud can be anonymously reported.

CTV would like to schedule a pre-taped on-camera interview with Minister Eby to discuss:
1) ICBC's Alternative Transportation Program. Did the minister decide to keep this program around? If so, why?
2) In 2013, seven ICBC estimators were fired for taking gifts (alcohol, meals, vacations) from body shops in exchange for professional favours. Does the minister think there's a chance estimators are still doing this? What prevention methods are in place?

The interview would be 10-15 minutes with reporter Jon Woodward. CTV is able to send a camera to the minister's location. They have also reached out to ICBC for an interview.

> - Later this spring, suppliers will have an opportunity to provide their feedback on the new programs.

If pressed for more information on ATS or program changes:

- As I've mentioned, this work is in progress so I'm unable to provide specific details at this time. However, I can tell you that ICBC will soon be sharing more information with suppliers, who will have the opportunity to provide their feedback.

Richmond claim centre issues

- As I'd expect, ICBC took immediate action in response to this incident. They conducted a thorough investigation, informed police, and provided them with the results of their investigation.

If pressed about specifics and what was reported in media:

I don't have the details on this specific incident or what was said at the time (2012), but I do know that, as soon as ICBC became aware of this, they took immediate and decisive action.

Additional response to CTV:
For your story on the Express Repair program, please consider the following:

- This story was already covered by Global in December 2018: https://globalnews.ca/news/4742271/icbc-is-spending-50-per-cent-more-on-vehicle-damage-than-in-2012-is-it-getting-value-for-money/
- Since the story aired – and our trainee Express estimators have become more familiar with ICBC's systems – we have seen significant improvement in the number of transactions processed on a daily basis. This has had a positive effect on our ability to meet the goal of a two-hour turnaround on estimate approvals.
- Additionally, as mentioned previously, we're in the process of modernizing our collision repair and glass supplier programs because we know there are opportunities for improvement. Some of the objectives of this work focus on increasing accountability, raising performance standards and achieving cost reductions through increased efficiencies, while ensuring our customers continue to receive safe, prompt repairs at the best market value. We think this is an important fact that should be included in your story.

For your question on ATS, "Do you know if ICBC knows how many vehicles are paid for under the ATS? Or if not that (as it appears to vary by dealer) how many they are required to have under the program?":

- The Alternative Transportation Service program is designed to provide customers with flexibility and choice. As a result, repair shops are expected to satisfy a customer's transportation needs by providing a courtesy car, rental vehicle, shuttle service, or taxi/bus fare reimbursement.

For your question: "I heard about $3,000 in direct cash payments to one of these employees and I didn't see that in the below. Is that accurate?"

- We're aware of allegations of direct cash payments but we couldn't verify that in our investigation.

Please give me a call if you have any questions.
Thanks,
Lindsay

Hi Cathy,
Update for you on this – it's going to take us another week or so to be able to provide an answer to question #1 to the reporter so we'd like to proceed with providing the answers to questions #2 and 3 (included below).
We'd like to provide this to CTV by tomorrow. Do you have any concerns?
Note: we'll send you our draft response for question #1 for your approval when it's ready.
Thanks,
Lindsay

Hi Cathy,
As discussed, we've got more work to do on question #1 so we thought it would be best to remove that answer from our response for now and let him know we're still working on it along with all of the other requests he has.
Once we're ready, we'll send it to you for approval again.
Does this approach work for you?
Thanks,
Lindsay

Subject: For review/ approval please - ICBC response to Media inquiry from CTV

Hi Derrick, George, Gala and Samantha:

Can you please review this draft response ICBC has prepared for CTV reporter Jon Woodward and let me know if you have any concerns. Jon Woodward has questions about some collusion that occurred between ICBC estimators and approved collision shops in 2012. The reporter's deadline is this afternoon, by 5 p.m. Thanks very much for your help!

Best Regards

Cathy Dargie

Reporter: CTV Jon Woodward

Deadline: March 12, 2019

1. No. 1 Collision question. As I understand it they were originally facing a fine of $70,416. It was sent to the supplier conduct committee instead, where the fine was instead levied at $52,576. Am I understanding that correctly?

   As previously noted, ICBC has Express Repair and Accreditation Agreements with Number 1 Collision. We are reviewing the request to ensure we fulfill our third-party obligations as they relate to the release of supplier data.
2. In 2012, six employees were fired from ICBC for sending business to certain body shops, and approving repair estimates over the phone rather than in person (https://www.richmond-news.com/news/six-sacked-at-icbc-more-could-follow-1.498170). As I understand it this was only part of the problem: they were also receiving gifts from the body shops that took various forms.
   a. Did the investigation discover those gifts? If so what forms did they take and how much were they worth?

      Our investigation suggested that some ICBC employees received a variety of gifts. While we couldn't verify the value of these gifts, they included lunches, alcohol, gift cards and two trips. It's important to note that ICBC took immediate action regarding this incident. These actions were clear violation of our Code of Ethics, which ICBC employees and contractors are required to annually review and acknowledge – a requirement of employment at ICBC.
   b. As the investigation continued were other people also fired? For what?
      Did any ICBC employees that were fired as part of the below get any severance? If so, how much?

      As a result of the continuing investigation, one employee was terminated for violation of company policies and procedures.

      None of the seven terminated employees received severance.
3. What steps does ICBC take to watch for favouritism etc on an ongoing basis? Are there ongoing studies done that show certain shops getting too much business, as a flag for corrupt behaviour?

   The vast majority of ICBC customers are able to take their damaged vehicle directly to an ICBC-approved collision repair facility for an estimate and repairs. When a claim is reported to ICBC, customers are directed to the shop locator, where they can choose an accredited business in their preferred area. It is always the customer's choice, not ICBC's, where they take their vehicle for repairs. In 2018, 77 per cent of all material damage claims were estimated at an Express Repair shop, compared to 25 per cent in 2009.

   Estimates and supplements for repairs are submitted to ICBC by Express Repair facilities province-wide and go into an electronic queue. These are reviewed in the order they are received by a team of approximately 45 Express estimators. Estimators regularly rotate between completing estimates at ICBC locations and visiting repair facilities to review submitted estimates and supplements. Estimates that are completed in the field (compulsory for unaccredited shops) are submitted in hard copy and reviewed by an ICBC manager.

ICBC's Code of Ethics sets out the principles that all ICBC employees are expected to follow in their daily work activities, whether interacting with customers, business partners or each other. This includes prohibitions on conflicts of interest, receipt of gifts from third parties, accepting or offering bribes, and involvement in the business of a stakeholder. Every ICBC employee and contractor is required to annually review and acknowledge the Code of Ethics as a requirement of employment at ICBC.
In addition, ICBC offers a confidential tip line, where instances of suspected fraud can be anonymously reported.

Deadline to conduct Friday, March 29, 2019 3:00 PM

Request
The reporter noticed that none of the planned BC Cannabis Stores are in any major city centres in B.C. beyond Kamloops (specifically Vancouver, Victoria and Kelowna). He would like a comment from the AG on why this is – whether it's those municipalities wanting to stay local/independent with their stores, or some other reason?

Background
This is a follow-up to a media request from March 28, 2019.

REQUEST:
The reporter has heard reports that 15 more BC Cannabis Stores are set to open this year. He would like to know:
1) Is this true?
2) Where will these stores be locations?
3) When will they be open?

RESPONSE:
Referred to Third Party
Referred to LDB

Recommendation – provide background

- A number of factors are making it more complicated for the Liquor Distribution Branch in securing locations in the lower mainland, particularly in Vancouver and Victoria. Some of the key challenges include distance requirements from places such as schools and community centres, as well as existing private retailers that are expected to receive licencing.
- It's important to note that BC Cannabis Stores' online sales platform, which launched on October 17, ensures all British Columbians have access to a regulated, safe product regardless of where they live in B.C.

Deadline to conduct: Friday, March 29, 2019 4:07 PM

Request
CBC On The Coast would like to schedule a live radio interview with Minister Eby this afternoon to discuss the agreement with legal aid lawyers.

The interview would be 7-8 minutes with host Gloria Macarenko. There would not be call-ins. CBC has an open time slot at 4:07 p.m.

Deadline to conduct Friday, March 29, 2019 4:00 PM

Request
CTV would like to schedule a pre-taped on-camera interview with Minister Eby to discuss:
1) ICBC's Alternative Transportation Program. Did the minister decide to keep this program around? If so, why?
2) In 2013, seven ICBC estimators were fired for taking gifts (alcohol, meals, vacations) from body shops in exchange for professional favours. Does the minister think there's a chance estimators are still doing this? What prevention methods are in place?
3) Is the minister concerned that body shop over billing was not really addressed in the PwC report?

The interview would be 10-15 minutes with reporter Jon Woodward. CTV is able to send a camera to the minister's location. They have also reached out to ICBC for an interview.

- A number of factors are making it more complicated for the Liquor Distribution Branch in securing locations in the lower mainland, particularly in Vancouver and Victoria. Some of the key challenges include distance requirements from places such as schools and community centres, as well as existing private retailers that are expected to receive licencing.
- It's important to note that BC Cannabis Stores' online sales platform, which launched on October 17, ensures all British Columbians have access to a regulated, safe product regardless of where they live in B.C.

Request
CTV would like to schedule a pre-taped on-camera interview with Minister Eby to discuss:
1) ICBC's Alternative Transportation Program. Did the minister decide to keep this program around? If so, why?
2) In 2013, seven ICBC estimators were fired for taking gifts (alcohol, meals, vacations) from body shops in exchange for professional favours. Does the minister think there's a chance estimators are still doing this? What prevention methods are in place?
3) Is the minister concerned that body shop over billing was not really addressed in the PwC report?

The interview would be 10-15 minutes with reporter Jon Woodward. CTV is able to send a camera to the minister's location. They have also reached out to ICBC for an interview.

> 1. Multiple sources close to the alleged victim in the first allegation of concern, have confirmed that Mr. Lai allegedly sexually assaulted a female Richmond casino employee, who is relative to a family of Great Canadian Gaming employees that are prominent in BC's regulated gaming industry. The alleged crime took place in the Holiday Inn, where Mr. Lai kept a room. In respect of the potential victim's privacy, I will leave out her name and that of her relatives, but I'm quite certain BCLC and the Ministry of the Attorney General knows of this particular family of casino employees that are central to the VIP gambling business model in Richmond. What did BCLC and BC's government do in response to this allegation of rape of a female employee by China's most wanted man?

FEAR OF ABUSIVE VIPS AND THREATS

2. It is also alleged in a Great Canadian Gaming employee journal entry that I have obtained and vetted for accuracy, that the high-roller and gang associate known to the journal writer only in late 1998 as

Copyright

According to the allegations in this journal of a Great Canadian Casino supervisor, the allegation is a female baccarat pit supervisor was threatened by "Fat Man" with the words: Copyright

Copyright

What did BCLC and BC's government do in response to this allegation specifically; and more generally, to the concerns documented in meetings with BCGEU union organizers and Great Canadian Gaming managers in 1999, specifically at a meeting in March 19, 1999, in which the union organizers, according to GCG's president Ross McLeod, complained of and discussed exposing threats to employees who were fearful of being forced to work in an atmosphere of 'money laundering' 'loan sharking' and gang crime?

2. A further journal entry from February 9, 1998, sets out the details below, and the information was learned by staff from Zhan Quan Meng, a Big Circle Boy associate loan shark in the Richmond casino, aka Michael, aka Pretty Boy Meng https://www.canlii.org/en/bc/bclrb/doc/2001/2001canlii33099/2001canlii33099.html?searchUrlHash=AAAAAQAWIlJveWFsIERpYW1vbmQgQ2FzaW5vIgAAAAAB&resultIndex=6 that was shot by another loan shark recorded in journal notes as 'Scar Face' whose real name was Hoi Yim.

According to the February 9, 1998, journal entry, Meng was referencing information about a higher ranking loan shark known in the Richmond casino, to employees as Louie: I would like to know BCLC's and BC gov'ts knowledge from internal records and Section 86 reports of this or similar information in the 98 to 2000 time period, as cited below in quotes

"Louie banned for one year by police invited back … (Michael inf.) according to Michael, from Louie
A) Louie works for drug dealers laundering money
B) Louie given 5M a month – his job to clean it to 3M – 2M is overhead – gambling – he has 40 to 50 runners going to every casino – Richmond #1 Royal Diamond #2
C) Runners receive $10,000 a month and receive percentage about that
D) Michael has been offered job as runner

3. The journal refers to data and also the observed perception by employees in the Richmond GCG casino, that as soon as bet limits were raised from $25 to $500 in May 1997 and baccarat tables were installed, an automatic influx and exponential month to month increase in Chinese speaking gangsters, namely Big Circle Boys --- and cash transactions surrounding the baccarat tables, occurred. And revenue quickly doubled. I have reviewed records quoted below, and attached a clip of the data evidence.
As one journal taker has stated about the evidence below: Copyright

Copyright

The maximum number of tables in the casino was 30 and did not change.
eg. In May total casino win was $1,617,000, Gcc share $647,000
In June (with changes) win was $2,490,000 GCC share $996,000,
In July win was $3,035,000 GCC share $1,214,000
These numbers show the casino WIN after all bets have been paid. In 60 days the casino win nearly doubled. This was a small casino with only 30 tables and no slot machines.

Imagine how much money was coming across the mini baccarat tables to generate that increase in revenue. Most of that money did not appear to be coming from a bank but instead from the loan sharks through their clients."

Sam Cooper -- Question for the AG Ministry: Would BC's current NDP gov't, in any way, dispute the direct relationship between raised betting limits for baccarat in 1997, and the near doubling of revenue, and that this boost in revenue was related to large scale drug money laundering? Also, that police were aware at this time, in the 1990s, that the Big Circle Boys liked to make drug money exchanges in the Richmond casino, (as reported in the Canlii database)?

Hi Richard –

This background came up in response to a media request from Sam Cooper w/r/t Paul Jin. I've pulled excerpt to the top but full context is below.

s.13; s.14

He'll have time for a call between 12-12.45

Thank you!

The reporter is working on a story about the new filing against Paul King Jin. For over a year, the reporter has questioned the Justice Branch media spokesman about why Mr. Jin's court services online criminal record is sealed.

1) Why is his record on things like sexual assault sealed?

- The decision to apply a publication ban and/or a sealing order to a court record is made by a judge to protect the identity of the victim(s).
- When a publication ban or seal is made on a file, the file may not be visible on Court Services Online.
- The case file information may be available to the public or media who attend to make an inquiry at the Court Registry, subject to any other ban that may be ordered, providing the record or document is available to the public or media as set out in the Court's records access policies.

From the reporter:

"That doesn't answer my question -- you have TNO and you would see the transcript for A-G Eby's appearance on the Jon McComb Show, where he indicated that the luxury cars and horse racing portions would be released first and the rest later.

Did A-G Eby wrongly read his briefing note? Will there be a phased release of the second German report?"

Background
This is a follow-up to a media request from March 25, 2019.

REQUEST:
The reporter heard Minister Eby on the Jon McComb show and would like to confirm:
1) Will the second German report be released in phases, with the horse racing and car sections being released separately, before the real estate section?
2) What is the schedule for public release? Late June?

Provided Background
• Dr. German will submit his second report to government on March 31. As we learned from the first report, the information included is often complex and will require a period of review before it can be made public. We expect that the report will be publicly available before summer. After initial review, if there is information we can provide in advance, independently of the full report, we will make every effort to do so.
Recommendation – provide background

- As mentioned in our initial response, Dr. German's second report will be submitted to Government on March 31st. The report will then require a review by government before details are released. There are no plans for a phased release.
- The Attorney General was correct in his interview in that if appropriate he may choose to release details related to horse racing and luxury cars in advance of the full report, if it makes sense and does not require the content of the full report. This will be decided following a review of the findings.

The reporter is working on a story about the new filing against Paul King Jin. For over a year, the reporter has questioned the Justice Branch media spokesman about why Mr. Jin's court services online criminal record is sealed. Currently, the reporter claims that BCLC is "hiding behind Jin's privacy rights on my application for documents." The reporter would like to know:
1) Why is his record on things like sexual assault sealed?
2) I know that vulnerable workers in Richmond casinos have alleged they have been sexually assaulted and this individual had access to employees in the casino before and after he was banned. Did any of the predatory criminal cases against Mr. Jin involve casino employees?
3) Employees continue to allege to me that gangsters are allowed to threaten and mishandle them.These allegations go back to about 1997/98, when the NDP government expanded betting limits for baccarat, to $500 limits, and the Big Circle Boys started to frequent Richmond and Vancouver casinos. Its believed Mr. Jin is subject of the JIGIT investigation but he is in China and has been allowed to escape the reach of the law in B.C., is that the case?

- The Ministry cannot comment on criminal investigations.

3) Employees continue to allege to me that gangsters are allowed to threaten and mishandle them.These allegations go back to about 1997/98, when the NDP government expanded betting limits for baccarat, to $500 limits, and the Big Circle Boys started to frequent Richmond and Vancouver casinos. Its believed Mr. Jin is subject of the JIGIT investigation but he is in China and has been allowed to escape the reach of the law in B.C., is that the case?

- There is zero tolerance for criminal activity in casinos.

- Should service providers suspect criminal activity, they must contact police and report it to BCLC and GPEB.

- Casino service providers must adhere to all applicable laws, including employment laws and provide a safe and secure workplace.

- The Ministry cannot address questions about Mr. Jin's presence in China or any ongoing criminal investigations.

Deadline ASAP

Request
News 1130 is working on a story about three former employees at Parq casino who were fired last year and arrested by police. They would like to schedule a pre-taped radio interview with Minister Eby to discuss the firings and the cause of them. If no one is available to speak, they will accept background or a statement addressing:

1/ How did it come to the attention of Casino managers or others who reported this issue that a scheme was going on?
2/ What was the time period over which the offences occurred?
3/ Has the province requested any protocol changes in the wake of these allegations?
4/ How does "88 casino workers were cited for improper conduct, seventy-nine were fired" between 2016 and 2018 compare to previous years' data?
5/ Is this investigation ongoing?
6/ What is the biggest concern that has risen out of these allegations/incidents?

The interview would be 7-8 minutes with journalist Ash Kelly.

Recommendation – provide background

1) How did it come to the attention of Casino managers or others who reported this issue that a scheme was going on?

These matters were identified by casino surveillance and security staff, who alerted Gaming Policy and Enforcement Branch (GPEB) investigators. GPEB referred the incidents to police for their investigation or follow-up. As these investigations have been passed to the Vancouver Police Department, they are more appropriately placed to respond to any further questions on this matter.

2) What was the time period over which the offences occurred?
These incidents occurred in 2018.
3) Has the province requested any protocol changes in the wake of these allegations?
GPEB has increased its presence at lower mainland casinos as a result of Dr. Peter German's December 2017 recommendation that government regulators have a presence on-site and are available to service providers throughout the day and during peak hours. With an increased presence in lower mainland casinos, GPEB is able to be on-site in casinos to proactively investigate incidents in real-time.
4) How does "88 casino workers were cited for improper conduct, seventy-nine were fired" between 2016 and 2018 compare to previous years' data?
GPEB created the record referenced in the FOI request for the applicant, as GPEB didn't initially have those records in the format the applicant requested. If you would like data from previous years, you may wish to submit a FOI request.
5) Is this investigation ongoing?

There was an input error in the report received through FOI. For the three gaming workers whose registration was cancelled for termination related to Cheat at Play, rather than "Charged by Police," the report should have stated that GPEB referred the incidents to police for their investigation or follow-up. In cases referred to police, GPEB is available for support and further assistance as needed. As these investigations have been passed to the Vancouver Police Department, they are more appropriately placed to respond to any further questions on this matter.

6) What is the biggest concern that has risen out of these allegations/incidents?
These allegations or incidents of cheat at play are of concern to GPEB. Our enhanced presence in casinos will assist in prevention and will allow for immediate action/assistance to casino staff and police of jurisdiction when there are allegations of wrongdoing.

Request
The reporter would like to schedule a phone interview with Minister Eby to discuss the timetable for ride-hailing insurance. He would like to know when it will be ready, as he has heard from sources that it may be available very soon.

The interview would be 8-10 minutes. He will accept a statement if an interview cannot be scheduled. He has also reached out to ICBC for comment.

Recommendation – Provide background

- Creating an appropriate insurance framework for the new ride hailing industry in B.C. is a complex task and we are taking the time to get it right.
- Government introduced and passed the comprehensive Passenger Transportation Amendment Act in fall 2018 to enable ride hailing in B.C.
- We are now working along with the Ministries of Transportation and Infrastructure, Public Safety and Solicitor General, and Municipal Affairs, on the regulatory framework to support the industry, and we are working in partnership with ICBC to develop the right insurance product for this market.
- The insurance product will be similar to what is offered in other jurisdictions including those with private insurers. ICBC will deliver a blanket insurance certificate, that we anticipate will be usage-based.
- Once the supporting regulatory framework is in place, ICBC will make an application to the BC Utilities Commission so that it will be ready to offer an insurance product to the ride hailing industry in B.C. for fall 2019.

The reporter is working on a story about the new filing against Paul King Jin. For over a year, the reporter has questioned the Justice Branch media spokesman about why Mr. Jin's court services online criminal record is sealed.
1) Why is his record on things like sexual assault sealed?
- The decision to apply a publication ban and/or a sealing order to a court record is made by a judge to protect the identity of the victim(s).
- When a publication ban or seal is made on a file, the file may not be visible on Court Services Online.
- The case file information may be available to the public or media who attend to make an inquiry at the Court Registry, subject to any other ban that may be ordered, providing the record or document is available to the public or media as set out in the Court's records access policies.

From the reporter:

"That doesn't answer my question -- you have TNO and you would see the transcript for A-G Eby's appearance on the Jon McComb Show, where he indicated that the luxury cars and horse racing portions would be released first and the rest later.
Did A-G Eby wrongly read his briefing note? Will there be a phased release of the second German report?"

Background
This is a follow-up to a media request from March 25, 2019.

REQUEST:
The reporter heard Minister Eby on the Jon McComb show and would like to confirm:
1) Will the second German report be released in phases, with the horse racing and car sections being released separately, before the real estate section?
2) What is the schedule for public release? Late June?

Provided Background
• Dr. German will submit his second report to government on March 31. As we learned from the first report, the information included is often complex and will require a period of review before it can be made public. We expect that the report will be publicly available before summer. After initial review, if there is information we can provide in advance, independently of the full report, we will make every effort to do so.
Recommendation – provide background

- As mentioned in our initial response, Dr. German's second report will be submitted to Government on March 31st. The report will then require a review by government before details are released. There are no plans for a phased release.
- The Attorney General was correct in his interview in that if appropriate he may choose to release details related to horse racing and luxury cars in advance of the full report, if it makes sense and does not require the content of the full report. This will be decided following a review of the findings.

The reporter is working on a story about the new filing against Paul King Jin. For over a year, the reporter has questioned the Justice Branch media spokesman about why Mr. Jin's court services online criminal record is sealed. Currently, the reporter claims that BCLC is "hiding behind Jin's privacy rights on my application for documents." The reporter would like to know:
1) Why is his record on things like sexual assault sealed?
2) I know that vulnerable workers in Richmond casinos have alleged they have been sexually assaulted and this individual had access to employees in the casino before and after he was banned. Did any of the predatory criminal cases against Mr. Jin involve casino employees?
3) Employees continue to allege to me that gangsters are allowed to threaten and mishandle them.These allegations go back to about 1997/98, when the NDP government expanded betting limits for baccarat, to $500 limits, and the Big Circle Boys started to frequent Richmond and Vancouver casinos. Its believed Mr. Jin is subject of the JIGIT investigation but he is in China and has been allowed to escape the reach of the law in B.C., is that the case?

Recommendation – Provide background

1) Why is his record on things like sexual assault sealed?

- The decision to apply a publication ban and/or a sealing order to a court record is made by a judge to protect the identity of the victim(s).
- When a publication ban or seal is made on a file, the file may not be visible on Court Services Online.
- The case file information may be available to the public or media who attend to make an inquiry at the Court Registry, subject to any other ban that may be ordered, providing the record or document is available to the public or media as set out in the Court's records access policies.

2) I know that vulnerable workers in Richmond casinos have alleged they have been sexually assaulted and this individual had access to employees in the casino before and after he was banned. Did any of the predatory criminal cases against Mr. Jin involve casino employees?

- The Ministry cannot comment on criminal investigations.

3) Employees continue to allege to me that gangsters are allowed to threaten and mishandle them.These allegations go back to about 1997/98, when the NDP government expanded betting limits for baccarat, to $500 limits, and the Big Circle Boys started to frequent Richmond and Vancouver casinos. Its believed Mr. Jin is subject of the JIGIT investigation but he is in China and has been allowed to escape the reach of the law in B.C., is that the case?

- There is zero tolerance for criminal activity in casinos.

- Should service providers suspect criminal activity, they must contact police and report it to BCLC and GPEB.

- Casino service providers must adhere to all applicable laws, including employment laws and provide a safe and secure workplace.

- The Ministry cannot address questions about Mr. Jin's presence in China or any ongoing criminal investigations.

Deadline ASAP

Request

News 1130 is working on a story about three former employees at Parq casino who were fired last year and arrested by police. They would like to schedule a pre-taped radio interview with Minister Eby to discuss the firings and the cause of them. If no one is available to speak, they will accept background or a statement addressing:

1/ How did it come to the attention of Casino managers or others who reported this issue that a scheme was going on?
2/ What was the time period over which the offences occurred?
3/ Has the province requested any protocol changes in the wake of these allegations?
4/ How does "88 casino workers were cited for improper conduct, seventy-nine were fired" between 2016 and 2018 compare to previous years' data?

5/ Is this investigation ongoing?
6/ What is the biggest concern that has risen out of these allegations/incidents?

The interview would be 7-8 minutes with journalist Ash Kelly.

Recommendation – provide background

1) How did it come to the attention of Casino managers or others who reported this issue that a scheme was going on?

These matters were identified by casino surveillance and security staff, who alerted Gaming Policy and Enforcement Branch (GPEB) investigators. GPEB referred the incidents to police for their investigation or follow-up. As these investigations have been passed to the Vancouver Police Department, they are more appropriately placed to respond to any further questions on this matter.

2) What was the time period over which the offences occurred?
These incidents occurred in 2018.
3) Has the province requested any protocol changes in the wake of these allegations?
GPEB has increased its presence at lower mainland casinos as a result of Dr. Peter German's December 2017 recommendation that government regulators have a presence on-site and are available to service providers throughout the day and during peak hours. With an increased presence in lower mainland casinos, GPEB is able to be on-site in casinos to proactively investigate incidents in real-time.
4) How does "88 casino workers were cited for improper conduct, seventy-nine were fired" between 2016 and 2018 compare to previous years' data?
GPEB created the record referenced in the FOI request for the applicant, as GPEB didn't initially have those records in the format the applicant requested. If you would like data from previous years, you may wish to submit a FOI request.
5) Is this investigation ongoing?

There was an input error in the report received through FOI. For the three gaming workers whose registration was cancelled for termination related to Cheat at Play, rather than "Charged by Police," the report should have stated that GPEB referred the incidents to police for their investigation or follow-up. In cases referred to police, GPEB is available for support and further assistance as needed. As these investigations have been passed to the Vancouver Police Department, they are more appropriately placed to respond to any further questions on this matter.

6) What is the biggest concern that has risen out of these allegations/incidents?
These allegations or incidents of cheat at play are of concern to GPEB. Our enhanced presence in casinos will assist in prevention and will allow for immediate action/assistance to casino staff and police of jurisdiction when there are allegations of wrongdoing.

1) What happens if symptoms from injuries show up after the 60-day time limit?
2) Were these changes previously committed to? Or are they a new development?

Recommendation – Provide background

1. What happens if symptoms from injuries show up after the 60-day time limit?
- The 60-day time limit only begins after people have incurred some expense in relation to their injury (e.g. paid for treatment).
- If they later develop more symptoms that require treatment, the 60-day time limit starts again for the new expenses they may incur.
- People may submit expense claims to ICBC throughout their recovery, up to the limit of their accident benefits.

2. Were these changes previously committed to? Or are they a new development?
- This is a new change.

- The amended regulation will help ensure ICBC receives the information they need to provide additional support to injured customers as needed, accurately assess the severity of the injury claim, and better forecast future costs. It will also ensure injured people are promptly reimbursed for any out of pocket treatment expenses.

> CLEBC is pleased to have Peter M. German QC PhD heading up the program. Peter really needs no introduction as he is the author of the report on money laundering in BC prepared for Attorney General David Eby QC. Peter's second report will be released in April (next week) and so, the timing of this year's course is ideal. Under Peter's guidance we have a solid agenda in place and with the support of all of you we will deliver a strong program this coming April.
> To recap, the course is scheduled for Wed Apr. 24, 2019. It will run from 9:00 am: to 4:00 pm. The location of the course is the Pan Pacific Hotel, 999 Canada Place, Vancouver. As faculty members all of you have complimentary registration and are welcome to stay for the entire day. The course includes a buffet lunch and a talk by Attorney General David Eby QC. (12:00-1:00pm) We expect AG Eby to come on at 12:30 pm.
> The course is advertised on P. 7 of the CLEBC's spring term calendar "the Spotlight". The course is also on the CLEBC web site: http://store.cle.bc.ca/productdetails.aspx?cid=1618. If you want to get the message about this course out to your clients and colleagues may I suggest that you copy and paste the above link in an email. That is an easy and effective way to get the message out.

At this time I attach for your reference a copy of Course Plan and Agenda #9 (updated Mar. 29, 2019). You can see what the time allocation is for your session.
When you were confirmed as a faculty member Peter German QC would have given you the heads up on the deadline for course materials. That deadline is now upon us. Ideally, we would like to receive all of your materials at least 3 weeks before the course --- that is, by Apr. 3, 2019. This includes power point presentations, papers and any other supplemental handouts that you may wish to provide.
The CLEBC contact person for power point presentations, written materials and all computer and audio-visual issues is Allison Smith, CLEBC Publications Assistant. Her contact coordinates are asmith@cle.bc.ca or (604) 893-2164 If you are going to be delayed with any submissions, please let Allison know as soon as possible and she will work with you to solve the problem.
We will not be having a faculty meeting of conference call. Peter and I have determined that as the content is chunked into self-contained panels; --- it will be more efficient if faculty members focus on coordinating with their co-panelists. Accordingly, there is no need for us to confer "in the whole". In a few cases there may be a concern with content overlap but you know who you are and I have discussed a plan of action with you.

For course logistics matters, I enclose a logistics information sheet. You will also be receiving an email from CLEBC Programs which will cover your basic course information and directing you to the CLEBC Volunteer Portal which contains a wealth of information to assist you as a presenter and writer for CLEBC. Between these 2 items you should be in good shape on logistics matters.

As you may know, we post faculty bios and photos on our faculty page. As each of you was confirmed I sent you a message of what we have on record for you. As desired, you have the option of updating one or both items.

Questions?

If you have questions about the course agenda, your assigned topic or your presentation --- they should be directed to our fearless leaders Peter M. German QC PhD (604 916-9030).

If you have questions about course materials they should be directed to Allison Smith of CLEBC (604) 893-2164.

If you have questions about anything else please direct your queries to me, Raymond Lee (604) 893-2112. (Please note: I will be away Apr. 1-3 on CLE business. Sorry, RL)

I look forward to working with all of you on this important program for all lawyers. As always, if I can be of assistance, please do not hesitate to contact me.
Cheers,
Raymond Lee
