Hi. Mark Benton and I were chatting and he had a voice message from the federal government left while we were on the call indicating that tomorrow an announcement will be made that the federal government will fund immigration and refugee legal aid in its entirety for BC. We will need to wait until tomorrow for final confirmation of numbers for the funding but at this point the potential crisis looks to be averted.

Mark's happy to chat further at 1:00 but I wanted the AG to have that information asap for the call. Please see the announcement relating to Ontario below:

Hi Daniel,

Minister would like to congratulate BCPS on the ACLEA award through an information bulletin. He also suggested that I reach out to Doug White to let him know about the award, Mr. White is our representative at the First Nations Justice Counsel.

We can certainly hold off if your branch is taking a lead on sharing the success publicly. Perhaps you can let me know either way.

Thank you.

Hi Candice.

Here is a bit of background information on the recent recognition the BCPS received from the ACLEA. We are also working on some internal/external messaging that we hope to roll out in a few days. It really is a nice story and the organizers did a wonderful job on the whole project. It may be that we will be able to coordinate something along those lines with the MO. Please let us know if you plan on using any of this information for external messaging as we may have something worked up already that may serve your purposes.

Cheers.

Subject: Award of Professional Excellence for the BCPS Indigenous Justice Cultural Safety Gathering 2019

Hello Peter and BCPS Members of the Gathering Working Circle:

The Gathering will be honoured by the Association of Continuing Legal Educators (ACLEA) with an award of professional excellence in the public interest category at the ACLEA conference in Chicago on July 30th.

With Richard's, John's and Lori's permission, I nominated the Gathering for the award. I am attaching a description of the Gathering and the BCPS that I provided to ACLEA.

Lisa Horsnell, Mark Sangret and I are registered for the ACLEA conference this year and will accept the award on our behalf.

The ACLEA conference is an extraordinary opportunity for us to get ideas for professional development and learn best practices for hosting events. Except Kristen Hutchinson, the other members of our team have attended previous conferences thanks to the support of the BCPS.

I am particularly interested in the sessions this year on lawyer wellness and cultural safety. Here is the link to the ACLEA conference agenda <https://www.aclea.org/mpage/schedule-chicago-2019>

Thank you for all your hard work to make the Gathering a huge success. I am excited to work with all of you on the next Gathering.

For more information about the ACLEA's best awards go to <https://www.aclea.org/page/awards>

The announcement of our award will appear on the webpage after July 30.

I am copying Dan McLaughlin and Kate Kimberley on this message to keep our communications specialists in the loop. We have been provided the awards logo in case we want to use it in an announcement about the award.

Congratulations,
Lynett
