Hi Minister – BC Housing, the City of Vancouver, the BC Non-Profit Housing Association and the Pembina Institute are launching an initiative, called the Reframed Lab, to do retrofit demonstration projects in up to five multi-unit residential buildings. Please let me know if you have any edits to your quote:

“The way our homes are built has a direct impact on our health and well-being, and the environment. That’s why it’s so important we work together to find new ways to make buildings work better,” said Selina Robinson, Minister of Municipal Affairs and Housing. “This partnership will help us take significant action on climate change while protecting and improving the safe and affordable homes that people need.”

Hi Minister – another purchase! This one is the American Hotel which is currently a higher-end SRO, and we'll slowly be transitioning it into housing with light supports for people who are ready for something a bit more independent. As we've discussed, there's a real need for this stage of housing so it's an exciting addition. Proposed quote:

"Housing is the foundation of peoples' lives, and we've seen that our supportive housing model works in helping people transition to the next chapter in their story," said Selina Robinson, Minister of Municipal Affairs and Housing. "These homes will provide another safe, secure and supportive option for people as they move forward in their journey to independent living."
