Thanks Tom-Pierre – great to hear from you. Hope that you’re doing well, and also finding a bit of space to relax over the summer.

I’m copying Molly here, as she’s engaged in this file when back in the office too. We’ll take a look at the attachment, and I’ve also copied Jena in our office here who will follow up about the meeting request with Minister Robinson.

Craig,

I hope this finds you well rested after a long weekend.

We sent last week recommendations to the Province on how retrofits could be leveraged for recovery (attached); given the central role of MAH in many of these opportunities, we’d welcome the opportunity to discuss these with Minister Robinson.

s.12; s.13; s.17

If Minister Robinson has time in the next couple weeks, we’d be grateful for an opportunity to discuss these with her. We could also give her a quick update on s.13

s.13

Let me know if that’s of interest, and when timing would be best suited?

Hi Craig – I understand from FCM that provincial governments will have the option to reallocate up to 10% of their initial total allocation under ICIP to the COVID-19 Resilience stream. Also heard that bilateral agreements will be negotiated with provinces in the coming weeks.

Do you have any insight you can share on how the Province intends to proceed?

Hi all – weekly TL ridership numbers below, along with a couple explanatory notes. Thanks, Silas

- Week-over-week growth is negative just due to the long weekend. BC Day was in the same week in 2019, so the year over year comparison is solid.
- Levels relative to Pre COVID are slightly higher than last week (43% vs 41%). Weekend ridership was stronger (likely linked to the favourable weather).

BRIEFING NOTE FOR DECISION

Date: August 14, 2020
Prepared For: Honourable Selina Robinson, Minister of Municipal Affairs and Housing
Title: Authorizing Proposed Mass Timber Buildings
Issue: s.13

RECOMMENDED OPTION:

s.13

BACKGROUND:

BC is established as a continental leader in wood innovation and design for buildings, and has been an early supporter of mid-rise and tall wood construction. This was demonstrated most recently in late 2019 through the early adoption of national code provisions for mass timber buildings up to 12-storeys for select jurisdictions. Other examples include two showcase buildings – the Brock Commons student residence at the University of British Columbia (2017), and the Wood Innovation and Design Centre in Prince George (2014). SSRs were created to authorize construction as both buildings were beyond the scale and scope of the BC Building Code (the Code) at the time.

SSRs repeal elements of the Code and add substitute requirements to enable the increased use of wood on certain sites while also ensuring adequate levels of safety and building performance. They are Minister's regulations authorized by the Building Act and enacted by Ministerial Order.

SSRs are a three-way partnership between the Province, the local government and the Proponent. All three players need to be supportive in order to proceed successfully. The Province incurs costs related to staff time, legal review, consultant fees and travel/meeting costs. These costs are typically recovered from the Proponents by means of a contribution agreement as authorized by s.25 of the Financial Administration Act. Proponents are being advised that they are paying for an evaluation process. They are not paying for a specific outcome, and the Minister's decision-making ability remains unfettered.

DISCUSSION:

s.13; s.17

1. s.13; s.16; s.17

s.16; s.17

2. Affordable housing s.16; s.17

s.16; s.17

The proposed building will replace an existing building and will double the number of affordable housing units currently at the site. It will also target zero carbon emissions, and will follow step 4 of the BC Energy Step Code to reduce energy and operational costs, and increase resident comfort.

Both OMTI and BSSB conceptually support this request because it aligns with provincial policy to increase the use of engineered wood in construction, construct high performing green buildings that minimize climate impacts, and expand affordable housing units. The project also has the potential to contribute to the body of knowledge for mass timber buildings by showcasing how affordable, highly energy efficient and low carbon construction projects can be delivered using mass timber construction systems.

Staff plan to initiate the regulatory development process (which includes drawing on experts to evaluate the design), and will communicate publicly about this. s.16; s.17

s.16; s.17

s.16; s.17

The Proponent has also been advised that timeliness will depend upon the quality of the technical submission and that multiple scenarios could delay development and approval.

This project provides OMTI and BSSB with an opportunity to contribute to advancing building code development in Canada and improve administrative efficiency of SSRs. OMTI staff are in discussions with the Proponent s.16; s.17

s.16; s.17

3. s.16; s.17

Ministerial approval to enact regulations will be sought separately at a later date if proponents can demonstrate proposals meet sufficient standards for building performance and safety. There will be no obligation to enact regulations if the results of an evaluation process indicate those standards have not been met. Staff will use the same method that was employed to develop site-specific regulations for UBC Brock Commons in 2016 and Corvette Landing in Esquimalt in 2018 (on pause).

Dear Michael,

I would just like to let you know what a positive experience it has been for our company, our staff, and our facility to be involved with the emergency response centre at the Save on Foods Memorial Centre in Victoria.

As you know, there were concerns at the beginning based on some negative stories we had heard through the media. We have now been involved for four months and our experience is quite the opposite. Our experience has been mostly positive, with a few issues that have come up but have been dealt with and never caused a problem. The residents have been respectful of each other, the facility, and the staff and have shown an appreciation for the care we have taken to make sure they are comfortable.

We have developed a great respect for those who have had to take shelter in this emergency response centre as they have had unfortunate circumstances in their life to bring them here. We have also developed a great respect for all those who work with these types of centres and make the effort to help those in need including yourself and all the staff at BC Housing and PHS who have been great to work with and have managed this so well. At our suggestion, we have now even started a movie night where we turn on the big screen and the sound system in the arena for the residents to enjoy a movie. This is a unique experience for them that we've never done for anyone.

It has become apparent from our experience in this short period of time that if you provide a safe place of mutual respect, it is a much more positive story compared to what you hear in the media.

We are very proud to have participated in this program and thank you for all your help in facilitating this.

Hi s.22

Just wanted to chime in here and add my own comments to echo Molly's before you officially wrap things up. It's been a pleasure to work with you and CHBA over the past few years, and your passion for the file and for your members has been clear throughout. I know that the Minister has appreciated a number of the opportunities that you've worked with us to set up for her to meet with and hear from your membership, and I wish your successor luck with the big shoes they will have to fill!

Take care, and all the best in your next challenge.

Subject: Comfort Inn Food Program Operated by BCH Staff up and running today

Hi All,

Today was the first day our Comfort Inn Kitchen was operational in providing 93 breakfasts and Dinner to the Comfort Inn Residents. We were able to hire 4 of the CI Food Staff and they did a stellar job of preparing the first meals out of the kitchen.

To prepare for the Food Services Operation at CI, our Food Services Team have been shadowing the Our Place Society Food Program operated out of the Drop In Center and have developed meal plans for the next month. They will also do resident check in's as the menu options. We have registered with the Food Share Program operated in Victoria and our new food team have used their previous relationships with food services company's for food supply.

Please see below for a few photo's of the breakfast (fresh pastry, fruit salad, yogurt) and dinner (Spaghetti Meatballs, garlic bread and green salad) as well as a few of the food team members. We will be looking for ways to support collaboration with the Red Cedar Non Profit and the CI Food Services Team.

Heidi
