Subject: Some of the stories we've heard

Hi Judy,

Here is a summary of some of the client stories we heard on the tours, which I had some notes on.

Other than the Crosstown stories, which we have fleshed out into messaging, these are just my basic notes on their circumstances. We will work on turning them into some message bullets that will be easier to use.

If you would like to pass on any other stories you've heard, we can incorporate them as well.

We have one more staff person starting on Monday, so we are slowly starting to add a bit more capacity to our team. We have another one starting on October 2nd as well. That leaves one vacancy to fill still.

Thanks
Sarah.

Hi Judy,

We are not sure of the exact angle of her story, but think that it is a national story that looks into the issue of the recent settlement with the company.

She requested information on Purdue opioid coverage through PharmaCare in B.C. for 2015 and 2016. The information below was provided, with the caveat that it only includes the prescriptions covered through the publicly funded system.

I am attaching the issues note on the Purdue settlement for your reference. You should also have a copy of it in your binder. It did have some minor updates recently, just so you're aware.

Utilization of brand-name, controlled-release opioids made by Purdue, paid by BC PharmaCare

| TOTAL | 113,208 | $7,118,322 | 115,233 | $6,751,633 |

For context, in 2016/17 the PharmaCare budget reached more than $1.1 billion, and provided coverage for 32.9 million drug claims for over 740,000 British Columbians.

PharmaCare Expenditure on Opioid Prescriptions

I have provided you with new TOCs (full and for Tab 2) removing the words “to follow”.

Thanks,

Plus, unless something has changed, I can't park for 4 days starting on a Sunday cause their valet parking is only open Monday to Friday and their regular parking won't let you buy a ticket for 4 days. That's why I had that ticket mess last time. Please let me know if there is any other way to park for 4 days for the future.

Hi Debbie,

I'm afraid there are two problems with the new keyboard tray.

It is so stiff and hard to move s.22

There is no room for me to manoeuvre the mouse unless I move the entire keyboard to the left.

I don't know if there is some trick to moving the keyboard in and out and up and down, but the one I'm used to in my C.O. just glides easily.

Let's chat tomorrow.
