. The formatting is rough, but the analysis pretty clear. This is for your information to share with your minister. I have included Don Wright, who is doing his own discussions, I assume, with his folks. There is a big task here for the AG, lots to think about for others.

Greetings Minister Heyman,

We met at Government House roughly 10 minutes into your position, and you said to call for a brief chat for my story for Nature on scientists getting active in climate politics. I heard from Kaley last week about a chat this week, and have now touched base with the Ministry media folks. It doesn't need to be a long one.

To refresh: Andrew Weaver is front-and-center character for my piece. My piece would be greatly enhanced by your perspective on whether/how Dr. Weaver's scientific standing has impacted climate/energy debates in the legislature, the BC electorate, and the platform that your government will implement.

My deadline is Friday.

With great interest,

Hello Caelie. This is FYI. Geoff Meggs and I will follow up with the Green Caucus on this and then we'll get in touch with you regarding a meeting with Minister Heyman. No need for you to action anything at this point.

Cheers,
