Good morning Jayne, I had a call yesterday from a lovely lady that is asking on behalf of a group of ladies from different churches around town. When the House comes back in the fall they would like to present Members of Executive Council with Poverty Dolls. These are handmade ornamental dolls. The woman's group is working to combat poverty amongst children.

My question is who would I put them in touch with to make this presentation? They would like to have some media coverage when it is done so ideally they would like to present these to the Ministers as a photo opportunity as well as a presentation. I'm assuming it would be someone in your office that this group should be in contact with about setting up this event. Are you able to give me a contact that I could pass on to this lady?

Any direction you could provide would be wonderful; thank you.

Leah says to tell you we found out about accessible sailing people. They are called the "Disabled Sailing Association of BC". Leah also says you should connect with "British Columbia Mobility Opportunities Society (BCMOS)" is an independent non-profit society that provides opportunities to people with physical disabilities to access outdoor recreation. We are also inviting these folks to our event on the 30th and will keep you posted on their RSVP status.

Leah now says it's time to go home.

Good Morning,

I am just wondering if either of your ministries has been in contact with the City of Langley about providing modular housing or social support and what their response was.

Hi Roseanne,

In anticipation of UFCW coming to the Legislature to meet with MLAs (see attached email) about Poverty Reduction on May 15th, the Minister has asked that I share a couple of documents with you in hopes that someone on your team can distribute the materials to all government MLAs.

We have attached a copy of the letter the Minister sent in response to the meeting request and some key messages for MLAs to take with them to any meetings they have about the Poverty Reduction Strategy. I understand that when Teresa told the LAs and ACs about the meeting, she informed them that these documents would be coming.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Cheers,
Jayne

Thanks, Sarena. We can tinker with the narrative and will ask Leah to set up another call with the Feds to talk about these dates.
