Hi Dawn and Viveca,

Val from the Minister's office will be sending us the conference call-in info shortly.

Viveca we'd like to talk about your research project, the members of the forum who have been interviewed and how we advise members of the forum about the project.

Talk soon!

Hi Mable,

Please find attached the full grant application, since you asked and we are happy to share. I will send a clear one-pager about the Ethics project (which is within the greater Community Impact Coop project) to you next. We have $250,000 over 3 years for this project from the Vancouver Foundation. This project is under the umbrella of the Vancity Community Foundation—they are our host and charitable ‘umbrella’.

We are studying and developing innovative best practices to ensure 'people in poverty' are successfully engaged and supported in consultative roles to build successful public policy to end poverty. The Minister's Forum appeared an opportune place to perhaps partner to develop these best practices, but we do understand the points you raise.

At this time, we have identified a non-profit partner that we can carry out the Ethics of Engagement project with in place of the Minister's Forum directly, and our main hope would be that we could forward the results to you and others in government Mable, for at least a read-through and consideration later on when the project concludes in March.

Thanks to you both for your willingness to have this dialogue!

Warm regards,

Viveca

Subject: Ethics of Engagement Project

Hi Viveca,

It was good to talk to you yesterday about your "Ethics of Engagement" project.

Unfortunately we cannot have your researcher attend our next forum meeting.

I also have questions about the scope of your project and the proposed role of the Advisory Forum.

Can you please forward Dawn and me your project proposal sent to the Vancouver Foundation?

Let's have another conversation after we have a chance to review the project proposal.

Warm regards,
Mable

Subject: Re: October 26 - Minister's Advisory Forum on Poverty Reduction + next meeting date

Thanks for your email Trish.

We will have the opportunity for discussion of changes at our next meeting and we will use the current Key Recommendations document as the basis for our considerations.

Remember we are not aiming to reach consensus on priority recommendations but rather to have input from all forum members on the range of perspectives.

Dawn and I are both available for more discussion if you wish before our next meeting.

Kind regards,
Mable

Hi everyone,

Apologies to those who may have already voted in the priorities exercise. I do see that a few changes have been made on the Key Recommendations document, in particular, in the housing section but I propose a few more changes before we vote. I would love to include other people's changes to the list too before we vote so please do send those where you see gaps.

All of our recommendations were included in our poverty reduction submission (as well as many other submissions we've made over the last year to various government consultation processes) so, given that we're supposed to be responding to the consultation process, I think it's important to include them. I've attached a document outlining our recommendations for inclusion in the Key Priorities document and also some explanatory notes.

Please advise when you will send out an updated list for us to meet the Oct. 22 deadline for voting.

Thanks for your consideration,
Trish

Hello everyone,

This email contains the materials for the next forum meeting on Friday, October 26. You will find the agenda, the record of decision from September 7, forum advice from September 7, and an exercise on priority recommendations.

Please complete the priorities exercise by Monday, October 22. Feel free to contact me if you have questions or need help completing the exercise. We will mail the materials to those of you who have requested physical copies. We will also be bringing copies of these materials to the meeting.

A reminder that the October 26 meeting is being held at YWCA Hotel Vancouver, 733 Beatty Street (off Robson). There are several options for paid parking in the area, including underground parking at hotel and at the Sandman Hotel next door. As always, Margaret is available to help with your travel needs.

The next meeting is scheduled for Friday, December 7. We will let you know the location as soon as we can.

Looking forward to seeing you.

Take care,
Stacey
