Subject: REquest for Letter of Support Witset First Nation Phase 1 Plan and Design Education Training Campus (ACTION REQD)

Dear Honourable Ministers for BC,

On behalf of Witset First Nation requests a letter of support to accompany our funding request to undertake Phase 1 of the Planning and Design for an Witset Educational Training Campus (estimated at $1.2 million) for our highschool and college programs and associated daycare and student housing. Please see the background information below from Kyah Wiget Education Society Executive Director Diane Mattson. In the past, Laura Nash and Nichola Manning have provided letters of support for our training initiatives. The education society here has been hugely successful. We ask that letters of support be addressed to Chief and Council and send via return email no later than August 3rd. My apologies for the tight timeframes but the deadline for applications is also tight. Missiyh, and many thanks for your anticipated support.

Background Information:

Kyah Wiget Education Society (KWES) is an independent school that is accredited by the BC Ministry of Education and overseen by a non-profit society 8 member board of directors. KWES provides training from Kindergarten age 4 to grade 7, daycare, I-Count high-school grades 8-12, college and university level certificates and diplomas courses. KWES has 58 employees and BC accredited professional instructors led by Diane Mattson who has a Masters of Education and 43 years of experience.

The Kyah Wiget Educational Society began operations in 1986 with only a few students and has steadily grown over the years. KWES graduated 168 students in our college programs last season and continues to maintain between an 85%-91% successful completion rates due mainly to the incorporation of culturally sensitive training and highly dedicated, experienced group of educators. Aboriginal youth travel from great distances to attend our programs. Our 10 member team of professionals at the college has a combined experience of 243 years. Considering that we operate in a community of approximately 750 people, graduating 168 students in one school year is impressive.

KWES adapts education training to meet market demands. Labour market projections by KPMG, estimate that the LNG sector alone will add another 50,000 jobs. We plan to have the Witsuwit'en youth trained and ready to take on many of these jobs. Additionally, the 2012 Skills Gap Analysis for Northwest BC highlight the 27 occupations in need and we have targeted our educational offerings to fill these gaps. In cooperation with Northwest Community College and the Nicola Valley Technology Institute, we have expanded our courses offerings to include:

University and College Entrance Preparation Courses ie: Math, Science, and English

Dogwoods

Business Administration

Accounting Level 1 and SAGE 300

Residential Health Care Attendant Program

Aboriginal Health Administration

Infant Child Mental Health

Social Worker Diploma

Computer software upgrading

Trades Training:

Carpentry Level I and II

Small Engine Repair

Heavy Equipment Operator

S 100 and S185 Forest Fire Suppression and Chainsaw Operations

Building Services Worker Level I and II - Janitor
Security Officer Certification
Construction Safety Officer
OFA Level I, II, III
Paramedic Training
Emergency Medical Responder
Security Officer Certification
Cook's Helper
Dangerous Tree Assessor Certification
CORE course
Tree Falling Supervisor
Motor Vehicle Body Repair Level 1 and 11
Class 7 through 1 Driver Training through the Driver Training School
Witsuwit'en Cultural Tourism Certificate
Electrical Foundations

Kyah Wiget Education Society works in cooperation with Witset First Nation who provides employment supports for our students and links them with businesses willing to provide work experience and hire aboriginals. Our new Discovery Program is geared to help find work experience and apprenticeships for aboriginal students. Together we have a history of training and educating young men and women and helping them find employment. (Please see the attached Schedule A that outlines our statistics and history)

KWES college programs are presently delivered on the upstairs attic and basement rooms of the Centennial Hall via long sets of stairs. Students and admin staff are crammed into tiny spaces that lack ventilation. KWES is currently making plans for temporary space to accommodate growth for next season including the use of the Health Station board room as a classroom and the use of the attic storage above the school gym for additional finance and administrative office space. Highly problematic for both teachers and students, is that the Centennial Hall also doubles as a morgue for the community when a member dies. As per Witsuwit'en custom students and staff must leave the building during the cultural wake period (of up to a week) to allow the family time to grieve. The disruption of learning creates difficulties for the students and educators who must meet curriculum requirements. The I-Count High school operates out of an old residential school and does not meet educational standards for washrooms and administrative space (it does not have any!). Training facilities that accommodates both the high school and college programs and support staff is desperately needed in Witset.

For those few students who do not successfully complete their course, the main barriers to completion is adequate daycare, housing, and income supports. Many students have children. Our daycare operates out of an old building that can accommodate only 10 babies and 14 toddlers. Presently, there are 10 additional babies on the wait list and 5 toddler aged children. However, this does not represent the total wait list for children of students as many do not bother to apply because they know the wait list is long. Secondly there is no available on-reserve student housing for youth and limited income support so youth elect to continue working in minimum wage paying jobs rather than pursue their educational aspirations as they cannot afford to go to school.

Kyah Wiget Education Society has successfully incorporated work experience into its' educational programming. Today, KWES owns and operates Kyah Professional Janitorial Services – a cleaning company that has taken on contracts for companies such as Canadian Tire and Red Apple in Smithers. We are presently working towards our own Kyah Security Guard Company to provide work experience for our ten professionally trained security guards in our community.

KWES wants to expand its course offerings to include social worker, and environmental courses in forestry, mining, fisheries so as to develop environmental monitors and technicians. However, we do not have any laboratories for science course training. Also, KWES desires to expand its trades training with a mechanical shop for welding, auto body repairs, and heavy duty mechanic training. We have the team, the accreditation, the motivation, the reputation and the talent to help this community develop a confident, competent, generation of professionals and trades people. We just need require the facilities in which, unencumbered, we can continue to provide the kinds of results that already attracts the youth, educators, and partners.

Witset First Nation has experienced radical changes in these last twelve years. Hope is present; people now dream and plan – education and training is the catalyst for these changes. With your funding assistance, we hope to build on our past success and become active partners in the development of LNG and all it has to offer our youth in terms of training and employment.

I strongly urge you to support Witset First Nation's grant application for Phase 1 of the design for an educational training campus.

Sincerely,

Diane Mattson, Executive Director

Our CEO received the attached letter from Opposition MLA Laurie Throness requesting CLBC move an individual who is in a staffed residential in Chilliwack s.22 . We're planning to respond from Seonag but looping you in first in case you have any concerns with us responding or if the MO wants to provide any input or review it. It looks like Adriana is away this week so wondering if I should also give CCU a heads up in case the MLA writes to the Minister separately?

Hello Sue,
s.22 suggested I contact you and that you might be able to help. I am a former NDP MP for Saanich Gulf Islands (1988-93) and also a former Victoria City councillor. He was responding to my following Facebook post from last week:

What does it say about a tourist town that has no accommodation for people who use wheel chairs? This means no grab bars in the bathrooms, no roll in showers and no ramps to get in to cabins. Pretty little Parksville is one such place. It is ironic that it is represented in the BC Legislature by a woman who uses a wheelchair. I guess she never stays in any rental accommodations. I raised this issue with Parksville City Council and the Chamber of Commerce 3 years ago but there have been no improvements. For my family it means that we can not be all together for our family holiday. The nearest accessible accommodation is 18 kms away in Qualicum. Will it take federal legislation to require some accessible accommodation?

I contacted the Mayor and Council of Parksville 3-4 years ago on this same issue but nothing has changed. It seems to be related to the issue of strata ownership of resort properties. Each unit is privately owned.
s.12

I have heard that Kamloops currently has a contest praising tourist facilities for their work on making their properties accessible. Perhaps that is something you could initiate.

As you are no doubt aware, the economy of Parksville is hugely bolstered by people like us. I estimate that our family spent more than $22 in your town last week. I doubt we will be back because of the lack of accessible accommodation.

I will certainly be letting people know about the deficiency in Parksville by-laws which allow for this discrimination against people who use wheelchairs and will continue to lobby for federal legislation to stop this outrage. I am copying the federal and provincial Ministers responsible as well as my own Member of Parliament as well as my family members.

I await your response.

Regards,

Also do you have a preference for returning to Vancouver? Leah is hoping to finish up by 4:30 on the 29th, so you could head back on the 5:30 Helijet to Vancouver if that works.

Hi MSS,

An update on the follow up I've done for Anna at the Binnars after our meeting with her a few weeks back.

- I connected Anna and Mary Ellen at the United Way and they have met up. Anna appreciated the invitation and the meeting with Mary Ellen and got some good advice. Anna had thought though that the United Way might have funding suggestions for the Binnars, which they didn't. It was my understanding that the suggestion to connect Anna with the United Way was for guidance/advice for the Binnars, not necessarily for funding ideas, since they're such a new organization and could use some assistance, particularly from such a large and well established organization like the United Way. Was that what you meant by the suggestion to connect them or did I miss something?
- Any government procurement the Binnars are interested in securing should be done through BC Bid <https://www.bcbid.gov.bc.ca/> - so I will pass that along to Anna

- Re: the CEP project and the Binnars, Karen recommends that she coordinate a CEP representative to reach out to Anna to discuss opportunities – shall I go ahead and get that ball rolling as well?

Let me know your thoughts. Thanks.

Hi Casey,

Great speaking to you on Friday.

In follow up to our conversation, I wanted to extend an invitation to Honourable Shane Simpson, Minister of Social Development and Poverty Reduction and staff to attend the 10th Annual Alley Health Fair, September 25th, 11am-3pm. The location is 400 block of Columbia Street between Hastings and Pender Street. The Alley Health Fair website link is: <https://alleyhealthfair.wordpress.com>

The Alley Health Fair is a street festival that brings together service providers in Vancouver's Downtown Eastside to promote health, wellness and educate participants about local services available to them and to minimize social isolation for people by engaging them to participate in their community and connect to each other. The event includes music, lunch, hair cuts, health testing, massage, bicycle & wheelchair repair, among many other features.

We are volunteers organizing this event and have secured some grant funds to cover the costs but we are short for a few of the following costs.

1. Waste Management, $800 to hire the Binners (link: <https://www.biddersproject.org>) A downtown Eastside Social Enterprise.
2. Tent Rentals - we are short $500 to cover the increase in cost this year.
3. I was trying to organize interactive drumming but do not have the information yet.

We really hope the Minister and staff can attend. I look forward to your response.

Thank you sincerely,

Joanne Webber

Let's add a sentence or two that is forward looking. As we move forward on poverty reduction and a proactive commitment to improved supports for the clients of our ministry your experience, skills and leadership will be critical to our success.

That's not it but you get the idea. Thanks.
