John,

Lori W and I are doing an operational update for PO at 07:30 this am. Lori W has spoken with Penny many times yesterday and did talk to her late last evening – based on Lori's last call, I don't believe that Neil ended up talking with her. Lori and/or Neil and/or I can give Penny a call sometime after that – I will coordinate that with them.

Recognizing this is a marine spill and Coast Guard Lead, we've had and will enhance our resources on the ground this am as part of the integrated/unified response to this incident – the Manager for the Environmental Emergencies program will be at the Integrated Incident Command (ICC) Post, we have a number of Environmental Emergencies Response Officers (EEROs) on the ground, EMBC has staff integrated with the City of Vancouver since early yesterday afternoon to ensuring situational awareness within the wider Metro region and to provide supports to the ENV and other partners, and GCPE will have a public affairs officer in the ICC this morning.

Hi Penny,

s.22

I have copied in Kim and Neil. Kim is covering for me and should participate. I know that Neil was involved in discussions with the City yesterday evening.

Hopefully the coordination and action will improve today. I will try to check in by email late in the day.

John

Hi Penny.

As I indicated earlier, I have connected directly with the Commissioner for the Coast Guard in Ottawa. She has assured me that the UCC will be moving to a 24/7 presence immediately. In addition to the provincial resources deployed yesterday, we have deployed 12+ people to the UCC this morning. We are committed, through MOE, to lead the clean-up until the beaches are restored.

It is my understanding that there is a visible shift in attitude in the UCC this morning. I will keep you posted and would appreciate if you could do the same.

Thanks.

Lori
