QP today – *I'll send around transcript once it gets posted to the Hansard Blues.

Wine war / Liberals say trade war has let Alberta Dept of Energy to formally voice its opposition to the North Montney Mainline Extension (natural gas pipeline linking BC natural gas operations with eastern markets). Liberals asking if Premier will get on plane to Edmonton to solve trade dispute.

PJH says response from AB was surprising. Says he hopes AB will live up to signed agreements (NWP). BC is within its jurisdiction. Working hard to defend interests of British Columbians. Just returned from trip to Asia – where at every event agrifood and BC wine were promoted.

Cooperative federalism should have everyone at the table...that is not the case. Horgan says it's the BC Liberals that signed the trade agreements with AB (TILMA, NWP) and those agreements are not currently being abided by.

Advertisement in weekend paper. How much did it cost? The ad slogan "Toast the Coast" mirrors the slogan came up by those who oppose the pipeline (Dogwood, Greens)

Minister Popham said April is being proclaimed BC Wine Month and there will be announcements re: liquor stores providing more shelf space. Said actions taken were asked by the wine industry. Expanding the domestic and international market.

Why did AB Premier Notley not know of announcement but activists issued congratulatory news releases within minutes of the announcement Minister Heyman said they are standing up for BC jobs – those in tourism, film and TV, fishing.

Those people are concerned about diluted bitumen spill on our coast. Heyman said Premier Notley was informed before the announcement re: the content of the announcement.

Farm to Bottle

February 7, 2018

- The new BC Government can launch several initiatives to show strength and support for the farmers that are set to be negatively impacted by the Alberta BC wine embargo.
 - Here are some solutions that would appease the industry and would have no financial impact for government (if any at all would be negligible). You would have pretty much 100% support from the BC wine industry with stakeholders coming out in support of our new government.
1. Buy local focus for the Government Liquor Stores – This has always been their mandate but they continually do not do this.
 2. BC wine focus month – displays, etc. for the Provincial liquor stores.
 3. Additional tasting for wineries in provincial liquor stores this will lead to greater profile for farm to bottle producers.
 4. Increased the sku listings for BC wineries at Government liquor stores this has been reduced by the BC Liberal government year after year.
 5. Allow all wineries to have direct delivery for 100% BC wine in kegs (restaurants are asking for a greater offering and 50% of the wine produced is non-eligible for wine in keg.
 6. Support agriculture with implementation Sub-appellation task group – the report is on your desk waiting for approval.
 7. Activate Industry Licenses that are dormant to allow for further points of distribution and greater access to the consumer.
 8. Provide wholesale pricing to restaurants for 60 days (allows more consumers to try BC wines).
 9. Required Reporting –Each winery license should be mandated to report, this will provide clarity to the current state of the BC wine industry (currently we do not know how many acres, cases, or varietals for each winery). In every other wine region in the world this is required reporting to identify comprehensive wine strategy – this will allow for strategic wine government and industry planning. (BCLDB & BC Wine Authority).
 10. To assist BC wineries with a matching marketing fund to expand sales of BC wines into other provinces and countries. (Could be funded via a levy on all liquor sales of 1 cent per litre.)
- All of the above have been proposed to the previous BC Liberal government, who chose not to act and not to support farmers and small business.

Province supports local wine industry, proclaims April B.C. Wine Month

VICTORIA - On the heels of Alberta's boycott of B.C. wines, the B.C. government is ramping up its support for the industry by proclaiming April as B.C. Wine Month, including a special month-long promotion at all public liquor stores.

"B.C.'s wine industry is made up of family-run vineyards and wineries that have chosen farming and wine-making as their passion and their profession," said Minister of Agriculture Lana Popham. "In addition to delivering fantastic wine, they also provide good jobs in communities throughout the province, and we are proud to shine a spotlight on the work they do and the wine they make. We told British Columbians we would fight for our wine-making community, and devoting an entire month to B.C. wines is a wonderful way to do just that."

Along with the proclamation of B.C. Wine Month in April, other government initiatives in support of B.C.'s wine industry include:

* Increased opportunities to have B.C. wines in local BC Liquor Stores, including local wines from small and medium producers that are not typically available outside of the wineries.

- * Promotion throughout the month with storefront displays.
- * A greater variety of in-store tastings of B.C. wines.
- * Funding for an expansion of the Buy BC: Eat Drink Local campaign, to further develop partnerships between the BC Wine Institute and the British Columbia Restaurant and Food Services Association.
- * Funding to support the marketing of BC VQA wines to new international markets.

While the Province has worked to develop this support, the Ministry of Agriculture has been involved in ongoing engagement with wine producers throughout the province.

"We are grateful for the loyalty and support we have received from the consumers across B.C. and Canada in response to Alberta's announcement to boycott B.C. wine," said Miles Prodan, president and CEO of the BC Wine Institute. "We appreciate the Province's quick response in support of B.C.'s wineries, and we remain resolute in our mission to secure sales opportunities here in B.C. for the many B.C. grape wineries across the province, most of which are small, family-owned-and-operated businesses, and will continue to promote our local world-class products at home and abroad."

B.C.'s wine industry employs about 12,000 people, and has an economic impact of $2.8 billion annually.

Quick Facts:

- * B.C. is home to 929 vineyards, including over 350 licensed wineries.
- * There are just under 3,900 hectares of wine grapes grown in B.C.
- * Over 60 different grape varieties are produced in the province, including Merlot, Pinot Gris, Pinot Noir, Chardonnay, Cabernet Sauvignon, Gewurztraminer, Cabernet Franc, Syrah, Riesling and Sauvignon Blanc.
- * In 2016, B.C. wine exports increased 4% over the previous year to $9.7 million shipped to 17 international markets.
- * Ice wine exports were $1.8 million of the total.
- * The top markets for B.C. wine were China (54%), Taiwan (23%) and the United States (11%).
- * These initiatives in support of B.C.'s wine industry will be developed in the context of B.C.'s existing trade obligations.

Hi everyone,

Here is another Week in Review after the first week of session:

Throne Speech outlines a clear path to make life more affordable

- The previous government failed to address the housing crisis and let costs pile up for ordinary people, while cutting taxes for the wealthy. Our government is taking action to help make life more affordable for people.
- Historic investments in housing and child care are at the heart of the speech from the throne, which focused on making life more affordable, creating more opportunity for people and a brighter future for British Columbia.
- "Making life more affordable for people is at the heart of this throne speech, and will be front and centre in next week's budget," said Premier John Horgan on Tuesday, February 13. "British Columbians have made their priorities clear. People are frustrated after years of rising living costs, dwindling services and neglect by the previous government. Our government will take concrete action to give people relief from excessive fees and rising costs to help make life better and make sure people have the opportunities they need to succeed."

Pattullo Bridge replacement will improve safety and create good jobs

- It's time to invest in our aging transportation infrastructure and build a safe, reliable crossing for thousands of daily commuters. That is why we are making much-needed investments to get goods and people moving smoothly throughout the region.
- The Pattullo Bridge replacement project will be delivered solely by the Province. The project includes a new Pattullo Bridge that will be located upstream of the existing one, network connections in Surrey and New Westminster, and the removal of the existing bridge. The new Pattullo Bridge will be owned, operated and maintained by the Government of British Columbia.
- "This is an essential transportation link that British Columbians rely on, and it's our job to make sure it's safe and gets people moving better," Premier Horgan said Friday, February 16. "Replacing the Pattullo Bridge will help people get home to their families quickly and safely, while creating good jobs for local workers."

Province supports local wine industry, proclaims April B.C. Wine Month

- The BC Liberals are standing with Alberta by refusing to condemn the unfair and illegal attack on BC wines. Our government is well within our jurisdiction to stand up and defend our economy and our environment. We will continue to work hard to defend the interests of British Columbia, including standing up for our unfairly targeted wine industry.

"In addition to delivering fantastic wine, they also provide good jobs in communities throughout the province, and we are proud to shine a spotlight on the work they do and the wine they make. We told British Columbians we would fight for our wine-making community, and devoting an entire month to B.C. wines is a wonderful way to do just that."

One million people commit to end violence against women and children

- Violence against women and children hurts everyone and has long-term effects on families and our communities. Our government is committed to advancing gender equality and stands in support of the Moose Hide Campaign as we work together to change the attitudes and behaviours that allow violence to happen.
- The Moose Hide Campaign, now in its eighth year, is a B.C.-born, grassroots campaign to support men standing up and addressing violence. The campaign is symbolized by the moose hide patch, which signals support and commitment to change. Premier John Horgan joined Moose Hide Campaign officials earlier this week to hand out the one millionth moose hide pin, representing one million people standing together to end violence against women and children.
- "It's not enough to say that violence against women and children is unacceptable — words have to be followed by actions," said Scott Fraser, Minister of Indigenous Relations and Reconciliation on Thursday, February 15. "These actions are a shared responsibility, and by standing with grassroots movements like the Moose Hide Campaign, we can help address the many social concerns facing our communities around the province."

Premier John Horgan appoints Mitzi Dean as Parliamentary Secretary for Gender Equity

Winning B.C.-led supercluster bid to create thousands of B.C. jobs

- B.C.'s burgeoning tech sector already leads as a top economic driver and with this new supercluster funding it is poised to reach new heights. Our government will continue to look for new ways to advance our province's tech sector as a way to create skilled jobs and develop innovation that benefits people in our modern economy.
- British Columbia's innovation ecosystem received a huge boost with the selection of a B.C.-based digital supercluster consortium to share a portion of $950 million in federal innovation funding, announced Jobs, Trade and Technology Minister Bruce Ralston.
- "Today is truly a landmark day for tech and innovation in our province," said Ralston on Thursday, February 15. “From new and emerging technologies like AR/VR and quantum computing, to traditional industries like natural resources and manufacturing, the digital supercluster will help grow our tech sector and create economic opportunities for the people of B.C. Your government is proud to have supported this winning bid, and will continue to champion tech and innovation as a path to prosperity.”

Province contuse gender equity focus with support for We for She

- With more than 900,000 job openings expected in B.C. by 2027, women will play an increasingly important role in keeping the province’s economy strong and sustainable. That is why our government is proud to support the 2018 We for She conference, as we understand the value that women bring as leaders and innovators in all sectors throughout the province to our current and future economy.
- The B.C. government is supporting the advancement of women in the workplace and the global economy with its involvement in this year’s We for She conference. The Province has signed on as one of three organizing partners of the 2018 conference — to be held in Vancouver this fall – joining the Women’s Enterprise Centre and the Greater Vancouver Board of Trade.
- “We are proudly contributing $350,000 in support of the 2018 We for She conference to create greater awareness of career possibilities for women around B.C.,” said Bruce Ralston, Minister of Jobs, Trade and Technology on Friday, February 16. “Your government is working hard to encourage more young women to pursue careers in science, technology, engineering and math, which are predominantly occupied by men. We value this event because it introduces young women to successful and inspiring role models, motivating them to follow their lead and helping them become active participants in B.C.’s economy.”

Explaining the new entry. MO wants to have a release ready to go for the Minister proclaiming April as BC Wine Month. I've run this by AG and JTT (trade perspective).

I've got an early draft running through program areas. Quotes included would be Minister Popham and Miles Prodan, BC Wine Institute. Any further details would be announced at the official proclamation of BC Wine Month in April.

Is there a time this afternoon, after QP that this could go out province-wide? Even if it isn't addressed in QP, a letter is going out to stakeholders, so this needs to align.

MINISTRY OF JOBS, TRADE AND TECHNOLOGY

DECISION NOTE

Cliff #: 139852

Date: February 8, 2018

PREPARED FOR: Fazil Mihlar, Deputy Minister, Ministry of Jobs, Trade and Technology

ISSUE: Government of Alberta's boycott of the purchase of BC Wines by the Alberta Gaming and Liquor Control Board

BACKGROUND:

On February 6, 2018 Alberta Premier Rachel Notley announced that the Government of Alberta (Alberta) was immediately implementing measures to boycott British Columbia (BC) wines including the halt of imports by the Alberta Gaming and Liquor Commission (AGLC); and stepped up enforcement of Direct to Consumer sales. These measures were in response to its opposition to BC's January 30th, 2018, announcement that BC was proposing a second phase of consultations and regulations to improve preparedness, response and recovery from potential spills (i.e., Kinder Morgan Trans Mountain pipeline expansion project).

In response, Premier Horgan issued a statement on February 6, 2018 stating BC's support for its wine producers and the intent to respond to the Alberta's "unfair trade actions". In an interview on February 7, 2018, Premier Horgan further stated that BC would not seek retaliatory action but reiterated BC's intent to defend the BC wine industry.

In 2017, BC exported an estimated 17.2 million bottles or over 1.4 million cases of wine worth an estimated $70 million (wholesale) to Alberta.

BC and Alberta are parties to both the New West Partnership Trade Agreement (NWPTA) and the Canadian Free Trade Agreement (CFTA) which include specific trade obligations and dispute settlement provisions.

The BC Wine Institute (BCWI) met with the Minister of Agriculture, the Honourable Lana Popham on February 6, 2018 and with representatives of the Ministry of Jobs, Trade and Technology and the Liquor Control and Licensing Branch of the Ministry of Attorney General on February 7, 2018.

Hi everyone,

Here is another Week in Review after the first week of session:

Throne Speech outlines a clear path to make life more affordable

- The previous government failed to address the housing crisis and let costs pile up for ordinary people, while cutting taxes for the wealthy. Our government is taking action to help make life more affordable for people.
- Historic investments in housing and child care are at the heart of the speech from the throne, which focused on making life more affordable, creating more opportunity for people and a brighter future for British Columbia.
- “Making life more affordable for people is at the heart of this throne speech, and will be front and centre in next week’s budget,” said Premier John Horgan on Tuesday, February 13. “British Columbians have made their priorities clear. People are frustrated after years of rising living costs, dwindling services and neglect by the previous government. Our government will take concrete action to give people relief from excessive fees and rising costs to help make life better and make sure people have the opportunities they need to succeed.”

Pattullo Bridge replacement will improve safety and create good jobs

- It’s time to invest in our aging transportation infrastructure and build a safe, reliable crossing for thousands of daily commuters. That is why we are making much-needed investments to get goods and people moving smoothly throughout the region.
- The Pattullo Bridge replacement project will be delivered solely by the Province. The project includes a new Pattullo Bridge that will be located upstream of the existing one, network connections in Surrey and New Westminster, and the removal of the existing bridge. The new Pattullo Bridge will be owned, operated and maintained by the Government of British Columbia.
- “This is an essential transportation link that British Columbians rely on, and it’s our job to make sure it’s safe and gets people moving better,” Premier Horgan said Friday, February 16. “Replacing the Pattullo Bridge will help people get home to their families quickly and safely, while creating good jobs for local workers.”

Province supports local wine industry, proclaims April B.C. Wine Month

- The BC Liberals are standing with Alberta by refusing to condemn the unfair and illegal attack on BC wines. Our government is well within our jurisdiction to stand up and defend our economy and our environment. We will continue to work hard to defend the interests of British Columbia, including standing up for our unfairly targeted wine industry.
- On the heels of Alberta’s boycott of B.C. wines, the B.C. government is ramping up its support for the industry by proclaiming April as B.C. Wine Month, including a special month-long promotion at all public liquor stores. Click here to learn about additional government initiatives in support of B.C.’s wine industry.
- “B.C.’s wine industry is made up of family-run vineyards and wineries that have chosen farming and wine-making as their passion and their profession,” said Minister of Agriculture Lana Popham on Wednesday, February 14. “In addition to delivering fantastic wine, they also provide good jobs in communities throughout the province, and we are proud to shine a spotlight on the work they do and the wine they make. We told British Columbians we would fight for our wine-making community, and devoting an entire month to B.C. wines is a wonderful way to do just that.”

One million people commit to end violence against women and children

- Violence against women and children hurts everyone and has long-term effects on families and our communities. Our government is committed to advancing gender equality and stands in support of the Moose Hide Campaign as we work together to change the attitudes and behaviours that allow violence to happen.
- The Moose Hide Campaign, now in its eighth year, is a B.C.-born, grassroots campaign to support men standing up and addressing violence. The campaign is symbolized by the moose hide patch, which signals support and commitment to change. Premier John Horgan joined Moose Hide Campaign officials earlier this week to hand out the one millionth moose hide pin, representing one million people standing together to end violence against women and children.
- “It’s not enough to say that violence against women and children is unacceptable — words have to be followed by actions,” said Scott Fraser, Minister of Indigenous Relations and Reconciliation on Thursday, February 15. “These actions are a shared responsibility, and by standing with grassroots movements like the Moose Hide Campaign, we can help address the many social concerns facing our communities around the province.”

Premier John Horgan appoints Mitzi Dean as Parliamentary Secretary for Gender Equity

- To emphasize B.C.’s ongoing commitment to end violence against women and children, Premier John Horgan appointed Mitzi Dean as Parliamentary Secretary for Gender Equity on Thursday, February 15. To learn more about the scope and responsibilities of her new role, click here.

Winning B.C.-led supercluster bid to create thousands of B.C. jobs

- B.C.’s burgeoning tech sector already leads as a top economic driver and with this new supercluster funding it is poised to reach new heights. Our government will continue to look for new ways to advance our province’s tech sector as a way to create skilled jobs and develop innovation that benefits people in our modern economy.
- British Columbia's innovation ecosystem received a huge boost with the selection of a B.C.-based digital supercluster consortium to share a portion of $950 million in federal innovation funding, announced Jobs, Trade and Technology Minister Bruce Ralston.
- “Today is truly a landmark day for tech and innovation in our province,” said Ralston on Thursday, February 15. “From new and emerging technologies like AR/VR and quantum computing, to traditional industries like natural resources and manufacturing, the digital supercluster will help grow our tech sector and create economic opportunities for the people of B.C. Your government is proud to have supported this winning bid, and will continue to champion tech and innovation as a path to prosperity.”

Province confuses gender equity focus with support for We for She

- With more than 900,000 job openings expected in B.C. by 2027, women will play an increasingly important role in keeping the province's economy strong and sustainable. That is why our government is proud to support the 2018 We for She conference, as we understand the value that women bring as leaders and innovators in all sectors throughout the province to our current and future economy.

- The B.C. government is supporting the advancement of women in the workplace and the global economy with its involvement in this year's We for She conference. The Province has signed on as one of three organizing partners of the 2018 conference — to be held in Vancouver this fall — joining the Women's Enterprise Centre and the Greater Vancouver Board of Trade.
- “We are proudly contributing $350,000 in support of the 2018 We for She conference to create greater awareness of career possibilities for women around B.C.,” said Bruce Ralston, Minister of Jobs, Trade and Technology on Friday, February 16. “Your government is working hard to encourage more young women to pursue careers in science, technology, engineering and math, which are predominantly occupied by men. We value this event because it introduces young women to successful and inspiring role models, motivating them to follow their lead and helping them become active participants in B.C.'s economy.”

Quick update to advise winery sign-up for BC Liquor Store consideration to be included in April BC Wine Month has been fantastic (see attached).

While we're awaiting word from the BCLS on whom they've determined to be selected, industry interest indicates interest in the support.

Mike:

As anticipated, been getting feedback (see example email string below) from those wineries not selected to participate.

Understand including all those who submitted (see attached) impractical, but expectation for BCLS support of April Wine Month is high!

I've also heard there's interest to provide BCLS with "premium BCVQA wines" if they could be include in premium wine section of a store.

I've taken the liberty of including the ministries whom we're working with on April Wine Month to keep in the loop as well.

Let me know if there's anything I can do from my end.
