I hate do to this Tara, but is there any way they could start earlier? Or that anyone that wanted to join Don could start earlier?

He has a conflicting request from Caucus for Don to speak from 10-11, and he has some other obligations in the Premier's Office from 8:30-10.

If you guys would like him at 7:30 though, we can totally accommodate.

Hi Christine,

Jacque suggested I reach out to you to see if Don might be available to be a guest speaker at our upcoming Local Government Division all staff forum on Dec 5th, right now we have a spot open at 10:20 but we can adjust to accommodate Don's schedule.

Please find attached our draft agenda, this is an opportunity to get our staff together to reset on our strategic direction and priorities for the Division as part of the Ministry's broader direction. We always value time from our senior leaders and staff have requested if Don is available for 10-20 minutes to address the division on priorities for the Government and how Local Government Division can support/what we should be attune to.

We understand Don is speaking at the IPAC session in the afternoon on this day, unfortunately our staff will miss that as we are scheduled into the forum so would still really appreciate hearing from Don in the AM.

Again, we can be flexible on his time in the AM if there is another time slot that works.

Please advise?

Thanks

Christine,

Thanks again for your feedback on the DMCNR update for ELUC. That is scheduled to go forward now Dec 6. I took your advice and took some staff down for a Chambers tour.

Tim Sheldon and I thought it might also be good to share with you some similar strategic planning work we are doing at the Ministry level within FLNRORD, for info and any connections you may see.

The attached document is an internal strategic framework for the Ministry that forms the basis of our overall management approach, guiding our planning and performance management. It's a tool for our Executive to communicate new strategic direction, drive work on mandate commitments and ensure alignment with broader government goals. Over the coming months, we will be rolling this out through conversations with staff and more detailed business and budget planning.

If you think this type of work is something that may be of interest to others in the PO please let us know.

Keira / Paul,

At some point, would it be possible to arrange some time for Rose Ellis from FLNRORD to see chambers, and particularly to see how presentations display on the screens? Paul, as these presentations come up to ELUC, you will either have the presentation Rose is currently working on or maybe could put up some of the other recent ones where there has been some very content-heavy slides.

Rose coordinates the DMC Natural Resources, and does a lot of the coordination of priorities between / across the natural resource ministries. Being able to see how the DMCNR presentations display on screen at ELUC would be really helpful for her.

Thank you!

If you haven't seen this before, one day you should pop down and see how things display on the projection screens in chambers. It always helps people to understand when they see it, as committee members really struggle to see the content if the content of slides becomes too dense.

Thanks for the opportunity to comment. Again, well done on coordinating all this information.

In her absence, Keira and I are making the arrangements. I was going to be in Vancouver anyway on Friday for other meetings, so if there is an extra ticket I would be pleased to use it.

Do we need print tickets, or is it a name registration process? If it is names, attendees would be Stephanie Papik, Rakiya Larkin, Heather Williamson and myself.

If further tickets remain, let me know and I will see if there are any Vancouver-based Aboriginal Youth Internship Program grads that might be available to go.

Good morning Christine,
This is to confirm that we can definitely accommodate Stephanie and at least 2 Aboriginal Youth Internship Program grads. We could likely accommodate up to 4 grads if there is interest. It will be great to have them at We for She. Should I connect with Stephanie to confirm arrangements?

Dear Colleagues,

On Friday, November 17, 2017 the Province is partnering with the Greater Vancouver Board of Trade and the WEB Alliance of Women's Business Networks to deliver the fourth annual We for She: Step It Up for Gender Equality conference.

This event is one of North America's largest gatherings of women's organizations, business leaders and young women geared to advancing gender equality. Approximately 1000 Grade 11 and 12 students and chaperones and 450 business leaders are registered to attend this year. The Honourable Carole James will deliver the keynote address and The Honourable Patricia Hajdu, Minister of Employment, Workforce Development and Labour, Government of Canada will also speak. See <http://weforshe.ca/> for more information on the agenda and speakers.

I would like to encourage you to attend We for She. We have a limited number of registrations available as part of our sponsorship package. Please contact Alison Coyne (Alison.Coyne@gov.bc.ca) by end of day Friday, November 10 if you or another member of your Executive wish to attend. Alison will follow up early next week to confirm registration details.

I hope to see you at this powerful and engaging forum.

Would it be your preference to fly or drive?^{s.22} but of course if winter conditions make it easier to fly that is fine as well.

Good morning all,
<https://youtu.be/MPQDD3STyec>

Leadership development can take many shapes and forms. From empowering the acquisition of new skills to supporting continuous improvement, developing future leaders often requires just as much creativity as it does guidance. Stephanie Papik uses spinning – an ancient method of creating yarn from fibres – to bridge the gap between developing young leaders and engaging with them creatively.

Learning to spin is more than just the positioning of the drop spindle or knowing the tensile strength of the various wool fibers. It's about being authentic with your challenges and becoming aware of your habits, tendencies and impulses. Stephanie has used her spinning journey as an opportunity to overcome these challenges and channel these learnings into her recruitment and leadership development efforts with the Aboriginal Youth Internship Program (AYIP).

Using spinning as the tool for engagement, Stephanie has connected with hundreds of people and shared both her knowledge about this ancient art and empowered others in their AYIP leadership efforts. By exercising patience with student struggles and taking ownership of their challenges and opportunities, Stephanie has used spinning as a model for leadership development and spun the connecting fibres for a community of young leaders.

Watch the video as Stephanie demonstrates how you can use your passion projects to spin for success.
