Hi,

I like the idea of the “3 session” model – makes sense.

Are these the final materials for May 8th/June 5th? I feel like members will get a bit lost with the “placemat” document especially. Can we simplify the discussion and materials with a single PPT deck? I understand this is a complicated exercise trying to reconcile a 49 point list with a 30 point list.

I think the key is understanding how the Minister wants to lead the discussion, and build materials out of that approach.

To me, what we need to learn on June 5th is what issues are most important for HWG members to pursue further. We have a 30-point plan with the budget – now what? What’s missing from the 30-point plan? What needs to be refined? What areas should MAH prioritize over another within the 30-point plan?

Perhaps we should find time to sit down with Craig?

My two cents.
Jon

Hi Jon,

As we’ve discussed verbally over the past few weeks, I’m sharing a brief PPT deck that outlines our proposed approach for the May-June HWG planning sessions.

This is the “3-session” model where we use the May 8 HWG to close the loop on the 49/30 point lists and set the context for the visioning session on June 5, do the visioning session on the 5th, and then come back with a decision note on June 26th to lock in the direction set at the previous 2 HWG meetings.

Please take a read and let me know if you have 20 mins this afternoon to discuss. Roger and Greg are supportive of this approach, and if you are OK with it as well, we will take it through DMO and MO approvals next week.

Cheers,

Erik

Minister Robinson wanted me to share with you a project that the Office of Housing and Construction Standards is working on.

We recently received support-in-principle from Minister Robinson to proceed with evaluating a developer's proposal for a tall (12-storey) wood residential building in the Township of Esquimalt. It's called Corvette Landing and there has been some minor media coverage recently.

For this proposal to proceed, a new provincial regulation specific to the site will need to be developed. The current BC Building Code only allows for up to 6-storey wood buildings, and the regulation will need to repeal elements of the Code and provide substitute requirements that ensure an adequate level of safety and building performance. The National Research Council of Canada has developed draft national building standards for 12-storey wood construction. These have been reviewed by experts across Canada and released for public review. It's anticipated that these will form the basis of the regulation. A site-specific regulation like this is a Minister's Regulation authorized by the Building Act and enacted by a Ministerial Order; Cabinet approval will not be required. This is similar to the process used to develop the site specific regulation that enable Brock Commons at UBC.

My office will accept the proposal for review, facilitate expert technical reviews and draft the regulation for the Minister's consideration. Her final decision on the regulation will be requested at a later date, following completion of the evaluation results.

The proposed timelines are very tight. The proponent's development permit application is scheduled to be heard by Council on January 22, 2018 and they plan to apply for a building permit before April 1, 2018. A regulation would need to be developed, approved and deposited before this date in order to meet this timeline. We've advised the proponent that multiple scenarios could delay this.

I'm pleased to share that this project will support the government's public commitment to establishing BC as a global leader in engineered wood products and further develop the value-added sector, and facilitate innovation in structural and architectural design. It will also demonstrate responsiveness to industry requests for regulatory support.

I'm happy to provide further details if you'd like.

Greg.

With apologies for the delay in getting this to you, I attach a short note which expands on some of the issues we discussed a couple of weeks ago. It refers in several places to a really useful report on the UK Climate Change Act which I sent to you last week but here is the link again for ease of reference:

Over the next couple of weeks I plan to get sign on from other NGOs ahead of publication.

It would be great to discuss further to get a sense of how these ideas are likely to be received and to answer any questions. I was planning to come over to Victoria in the first week of May if that would work for you? I appreciate you will be very busy but I am pretty flexible as to days and times.

Hello Jon,

So nice to chat the other week. Thank you for taking the time. So sorry for the delay in getting materials to you; we've had a bit of a log-jam in the communications department with a bunch of things happening – you know how it goes. A few things:

1. Please find attached a DRAFT version (still draft, but I have assurance that we will have a final version this week!) of the Wetland Policy Whitepaper, to get you a sense of what we are up to and to avoid further delay.
2. I've also attached a 2 pager, that summarizes many of the key ideas in the Whitepaper. Please note that there are also factsheets and infographics on key issues like wetlands and climate change and wetlands and species at risk that are in the process of being desk-topped, and that will support the 2-pager with easy references on key points.

3. Jurisdictional Analysis – a high level scan showing what other provinces are doing/ have done related to wetland policy.

We didn't get to this on our call the other week, but DUC is planning a dinner in Victoria at the end of May to mark DUC's 80th anniversary in Canada, and our 50th here in BC. In preparation for this, and in light of our desire to profile wetland policy as a solution for this government, we have been trying to secure meetings with both Ministers Heyman and Donaldson as soon as possible. We have been in contact with their offices for a while now, and while there is appetite to meet, we are concerned about the anticipated scheduling wait, given our May 27th event. Anything we can do, or you could do to help with this?

Also, I want to make a trip down to Victoria in the next few weeks to have a few meetings and would love to link that in with a face-meeting with you if possible. I am pretty flexible at this point, as are the other that I would meet with. Might this be possible? Is there a time and day that might work for you? Late morning to mid-afternoon is ideal for me, as I can make a one-day trip and get home to the kidlets.

Thanks again for your interest in and help with this.

1. Please find attached a DRAFT version (still draft, but I have assurance that we will have a final version this week!) of the Wetland Policy Whitepaper, to get you a sense of what we are up to and to avoid further delay.
2. I've also attached a 2 pager, that summarizes many of the key ideas in the Whitepaper. Please note that there are also factsheets and infographics on key issues like wetlands and climate change and wetlands and species at risk that are in the process of being desk-topped, and that will support the 2-pager with easy references on key points.
3. Jurisdictional Analysis – a high level scan showing what other provinces are doing/ have done related to wetland policy.

We didn't get to this on our call the other week, but DUC is planning a dinner in Victoria at the end of May to mark DUC's 80th anniversary in Canada, and our 50th here in BC. In preparation for this, and in light of our desire to profile wetland policy as a solution for this government, we have been trying to secure meetings with both Ministers Heyman and Donaldson as soon as possible. We have been in contact with their offices for a while now, and while there is appetite to meet, we are concerned about the anticipated scheduling wait, given our May 27th event. Anything we can do, or you could do to help with this?

Also, I want to make a trip down to Victoria in the next few weeks to have a few meetings and would love to link that in with a face-meeting with you if possible. I am pretty flexible at this point, as are the other that I would meet with. Might this be possible? Is there a time and day that might work for you? Late morning to mid-afternoon is ideal for me, as I can make a one-day trip and get home to the kidlets.

Thanks again for your interest in and help with this.

Andrea

Sorry for the delay in getting back to you.

Do you have some time this afternoon? I have a meeting from 2:00 to 3:00, but am free the rest of the afternoon.

I'm in Vancouver on Thursday and Friday for work, so Monday would be the next opportunity.

Hello Martin.

Thanks for the introduction Stephanie.

Martin, I am particularly interested in housing data. As you may have heard, an ED Housing Committee has been struck, reporting to an ADM Housing Committee. The main purpose of the ED committee will be to develop and implement a performance monitoring framework for the initiatives and investments in the Homes for BC: A 30-point plan for Housing Affordability in British Columbia.

I wonder what housing data is currently collected by BC stats, and how that can be best used in performance monitoring of the 30-point plan.

Could you provide me with an overview of current and available housing data from BC Stats?

Thanks,

Hello,

Please see the attached discussion paper, which proposes a vision for the climate plan and suggests integrating the plan with other economic and social priorities. Geoff asked me to produce this as a starting point following discussions with the Greens.

It has been reviewed by Caelie and Bobbi, who support the general direction, as well as Donna and Caitlin, Evan and Robb.

Looking forward to the discussion on Monday.
