Good afternoon Mr. Ramstad,

I would like to thank you and your associates for your presentation on Heerema Fabrication Group's Albatros Concepts' Aquabarge, Ocean Aquatower Platform and Smolt Barge systems. I was not able to attend but I have read the presentation materials and spoken with those in attendance.

I do have two questions.

I am particularly interested to know, for salmon from eggs to harvestable size of 4–5 kg, what are the estimated startup costs and the projected economic performance of each system?

Kind regards,

Dear Kirsten

I would like to use this opportunity to thank you and the meeting representative for hospitality during our visit to Victoria Island. Please note that our confirmation for a potential revisit are valid. The main agenda for such a revisit would be to discuss how a pilot project for sustainable salmon fish farming could be organized from our side in British Columbia

However the most important factor are to work aligned with the different government departments which has an responsibility within this sector. A potential cooperation will include both financial support as well as technical support. A pilot project will from our side will follow a stage gate procedure were we start with a feasibility study. The other important element are to involve the local salmon fish farmer organizations in the area as well as wild salmon organization in the area on an early stage.

The feedback we have received so far from a global market perspective are very positive. The combination of use of high tech proven technology combined with focus on fish welfare and zero environment footprint has been confirmed to be a step in the right direction for this industry.

British Columbia are an important producer of fantastic pacific salmon as of today. The challenges in British Columbia salmon fish farming are the same as for all areas where salmon fish farming takes place today.

Nevertheless salmon fish farming are a very conservative business's, so a pilot project with government which includes direct support are required to lift this industry to a new level for sustainable future based salmon fish farming

Subject: CCFRI

Good Morning Don, This is Charlotte Neufeld, the owner/operator of Creative Little Learners. Your name came to me, as a person to discuss the new initiative to decrease childcare fees for parents

I "opted in" to the childcare initiative before the deadline, in hopes that parents fees would be reduced commencing April 1st. In my application, I did make it apparent that fees were increasing in September, and that the parents were all aware of this (with my increased fees, parents fees will still be lower than what they pay now)

I received an email On March 31, 2018 stating

"We have reviewed your application to determine your eligibility for the Initiative. At this time, we require additional information to supplement your application. You will be contacted by an Adjudicator to discuss your application in order to finalize the review."

At this time, I could not decrease the parents fees for April, as I had to wait for an adjudicator. On April 11, 2018, I received a second email that mentioned that my fee increase" Does not appear to align with your facility's historical fee increases; and Does not align with other provider fees in your area".

I was asked to write an explanation as to why I was increasing my fees (first time ever since opening in 2016). I wrote my letter explaining my education, philosophy of education, why I increased my fees (better programming) and I was greeted with "We regret to inform you that, based on the information you have provided us to date, your facility has not been accepted to participate in the Initiative at this time.. We compared your facility's fee and increase(s) with the median range of fees charged by other Family child care providers, in the Service Delivery Area where your facility operates; and We sent an email to your facility, asking you to provide us with: Additional information that would demonstrate how your facility's fee increase(s) do, in fact, align with your historical fee pattern; or, Additional information that would show a bona fide, meaningful and unexpected increase in your expenses that was unplanned and beyond your control. Examples of these kinds of expenses could include: a sudden and unexpected increase in operational expenses; loss of revenue routinely received from a source other than parent fees or government funding; or, an unexpected increase/pressure outside your control that would impact your facility's ability to continue to operate."

Firstly, I have polled my area, and I have the lowest fees. I also connected with 13 daycare's in the langford area, close to me and once again, I am very much on the lower end, so this is inaccurate for them to say that I do not align with other provider fees in the area. As noted above, they are also comparing me to family childcare centre, that of which I am not. I am a multiage age facility and need to have more education and also can have more children in my care.

Secondly, i was told that everyone would be looked at on an individual basis. This is quite ironic, as two other centres within a KM of me, all got the same generic letters back of denial. When I called the CCOF prior to opting in, I talked about my fee increase in September and was told this would not be an issue. After not being accepted, reading the media realizing people got accepted with massive increases without explanation is quite troubles, i turned to contacting the CCOF again. At this time I was told that they could not speak to this but If I just write the letter, it will be looked at and everyone will get accepted as there is so much money to give out. In the end, I received an email back stating once again that my fees don't fit in and i didn't have an unexpected increases

At this point I am quite disappointed that my parents are not getting a fee reduction. If this is about helping families, they need to look at a different approach.

Do you have any suggestions as to next steps?

Thank you for your time
Charlotte

Hi Don, just a brief note to thank you for attending last Friday's Salmon Secretariat meeting hosted by MLA Olsen in Vancouver. I was one of the forum attendees asked for input on the secretariat concept.

I very much appreciated your interest and enthusiasm and was particularly encouraged that Premier Horgan had created a "salmon file", and that it's in your hands.

On behalf of BC Conservation Foundation, I'd like to again extend an offer of advice, program strategy or feedback on potential policy directions, should a need for this arise. BCCF is an acknowledge leader in BC salmonid conservation, restoration and advocacy. Led by our Program Manager J.C. (Craig) Wightman, RPBio, retired Provincial Fisheries Biologist, our team based in Lantzville has expertise in a large range of fish and fisheries related environmental issues, and enjoys excellent working and mentoring relationships with several BC south coast First Nations (e.g., Cowichan Tribes).

Personally, I'm gratified to have met Mr. Horgan on a Charters Creek (Sooke) project several years back that successfully assured water for wild fish. He was very supportive of such work then, and I'm confident he'll elevate BC fish to the profiles they deserve.

Please don't hesitate to call.

Hi Geoff,

This went out today and it is likely so very low on your list that it is but a blip, but it is so profoundly unjust and I would like to know if there is someone we may be able to raise this with in the Province...?

These are small boat, and low volume/income fishermen who have faced near death by a thousand cuts and are now facing a complete loss of all there earning ability AND any possible recovery of value for their assets. This is forcing them into retirement poor and without dignity despite a lifetime of back breaking work.s.22

For him to be facing dispossession again without any form of compensation, though it may be within Minister's discretion, is profoundly wrong. And it is for all the trollers in this situation.s.22

This is definitely not something to make a big argument with this Minister over when battles need to be picked carefully and alliances fostered, but if he was made effectively aware of the issue he may feel compelled to respond and if there can be some expression of support from the Province that would be very helpful. I am curious if in your likely -5 minutes available you have any thoughts/advice on this?

Hi Don,

ICYMI this morning ...

Jessica

Report 1—Salmon Farming

What we examined (see Focus of the audit)

Salmon farming, also referred to as salmon aquaculture, is the farming of salmon for commercial purposes. In Canada, it is carried out primarily along the coasts of British Columbia and the Atlantic provinces. In 2016, the salmon aquaculture industry in Canada was valued at $1 billion.

Canada is the fourth largest producer of farmed salmon after Norway, Chile, and the United Kingdom. The Canadian salmon farming industry is considered to have significant potential for growth due to Canada's long coastline, cold water temperatures, and proximity to the United States market.

This audit focused on whether Fisheries and Oceans Canada and the Canadian Food Inspection Agency managed the risks associated with salmon aquaculture in a manner that protected wild fish.

Why we did this audit

This audit is important because salmon aquaculture is a growing industry in Canada that provides an important source of fish, given declining wild fish stocks. Globally, aquaculture now provides half of all fish for human consumption. Raising farmed salmon in net pens in the ocean has potential effects on wild fish that need to be understood and addressed, as appropriate.

What we concluded

We concluded that Fisheries and Oceans Canada did not adequately manage the risks associated with salmon aquaculture consistent with its mandate to protect wild fish. Although the Department had some measures to control the spread of infectious diseases and parasites to wild fish in British Columbia, it had not made sufficient progress in completing the risk assessments for key diseases that were required to understand the effects of salmon aquaculture on wild fish. It also had not defined how it would manage aquaculture in a precautionary manner in the face of scientific uncertainty. Moreover, the Department did not adequately enforce compliance with aquaculture regulations to protect wild fish.

The Canadian Food Inspection Agency had measures to prevent the introduction and spread of infectious diseases with respect to aquaculture. However, the Department and the Agency had not clarified roles and responsibilities for managing emerging diseases. This lack of clarification created a risk that potential emerging diseases affecting wild salmon would not be adequately addressed.

What we found about...

Studying the effects of salmon farming on wild fish

Overall, we found that Fisheries and Oceans Canada had not made sufficient progress in completing risk assessments for key diseases, which were required to assess the effects of salmon farming on wild fish.

This finding matters because the Department committed to conducting scientific studies and assessments to understand the effects of aquaculture on wild fish.

- Fisheries and Oceans Canada had not made sufficient progress in completing risk assessments for key diseases

Recommendation. Fisheries and Oceans Canada should conduct its planned disease risk assessments by 2020 to increase its knowledge of the effects of aquaculture on wild salmon, as it committed to doing in its response to the Cohen Commission report.

Preventing the spread of infectious diseases and parasites

Overall, we found that although Fisheries and Oceans Canada and the Canadian Food Inspection Agency had put in place some measures to mitigate the spread of infectious diseases and parasites from farmed salmon, key elements were missing. For example, Fisheries and Oceans Canada's program for auditing the health of farmed salmon in British Columbia was out of date, and the Department had limited laboratory capacity to provide timely surveillance test results. In addition, the Department and the Agency had not clarified roles and responsibilities for managing emerging disease risks to mitigate the potential impacts of salmon farming on wild fish.

This finding matters because diseases and parasites present in salmon farms in the ocean may pose a risk to wild fish.

- Some measures to address disease risks in aquaculture management were not yet in place

Recommendation. Fisheries and Oceans Canada and the Canadian Food Inspection Agency should clarify their roles and responsibilities for managing emerging disease risks to mitigate the potential impacts of salmon farming on wild fish.

Recommendation. Fisheries and Oceans Canada should determine and communicate how it applies the precautionary approach to managing aquaculture when there is uncertainty about the effects of aquaculture on wild fish. The Department should also clearly articulate the level of risk to wild fish that it accepts when enabling the aquaculture industry.

Controlling the effects of drugs and pesticides

Overall, we found that Fisheries and Oceans Canada did not conduct adequate analysis to know whether its rules for drug and pesticide deposits at salmon farms would minimize harm to wild fish. In addition, the Department did not define limits on the amount of drugs or pesticides that could be deposited, or confirm the accuracy of information self-reported by aquaculture companies.

This finding matters because drugs and pesticides used in aquaculture operations can harm wild fish, especially those living on the ocean floor.

- Fisheries and Oceans Canada had not assessed the effectiveness of its rules for depositing drugs and pesticides at salmon farms to minimize harm to wild fish

Recommendation. Fisheries and Oceans Canada should establish thresholds for the deposit of drugs and pesticides into net pens to more effectively minimize harm to wild fish.

Recommendation. Fisheries and Oceans Canada should develop and implement an approach to validate the accuracy of information that aquaculture companies report regarding their drug and pesticide deposits.

Controlling fish escapes

Overall, we found that Fisheries and Oceans Canada had not set a national standard for the quality and maintenance of equipment, such as nets and anchoring systems, to reduce the risk of fish escapes.

This finding matters because preventing fish escapes is important to minimize the risk of causing negative genetic effects in wild salmon. This is especially important in Atlantic Canada, where escaped farmed salmon have begun to interbreed with declining wild salmon populations.

- Fisheries and Oceans Canada did not set a national standard for nets and other equipment to prevent fish escapes

Recommendation. Fisheries and Oceans Canada should initiate discussions with its counterparts in the Atlantic provinces to address the quality and maintenance of equipment on salmon farms to prevent fish escapes.

Enforcing and reporting on compliance

Overall, we found that the Department did not sufficiently enforce its Aquaculture Activities Regulations to minimize harm to wild fish. It also did not always publish detailed or up-to-date information about such matters as disease outbreaks.

This finding matters because enforcement is important to ensuring that aquaculture companies are complying with regulations designed to protect wild fish. Publishing information about disease outbreaks and compliance with regulations is important to building public confidence in government regulation of the industry.

- Fisheries and Oceans Canada did not adequately enforce compliance with regulations to minimize harm to wild fish

Recommendation. Fisheries and Oceans Canada should more effectively enforce aquaculture regulations and pursue additional enforcement measures.

Recommendation. Fisheries and Oceans Canada should provide timely public reports with detailed information on companies' drug and pesticide deposits, and on the health of farmed fish in British Columbia.

Hi all-
Shawna is wondering if there's a meeting with NNTC (Nlaka'pamux Nation Tribal Council - Grand Chief Bob Pasco) set up with PJH – do any of you know if the request was put forward (see attached email)?
I checked in CLIF and couldn't see anything obvious.

Hi everyone,

Passing along the outcome from my notification calls with First Nations leaders in the areas PJH visited during the March/April tour.

Summary: I made 21 calls. The full list of calls and their outcomes is available here, but below are the key takeaways. I am including all substantive feedback even if it is not immediately actionable so you don't need to check the document unless you are just wondering who was called. I will also share this information with Shawna French and Jonathan Sas at MIRR who assisted me in bringing together the calling list.

Recommendations going forward:

I have put together an operational protocol document (who to check with and when to gather relevant information), but that is probably not relevant to all of you unless someone else takes over making these calls in future. If that happens just let me know and I will pass that list along as I felt I learned some things along the way.

Decision points:

A decision should be made about whether we wish to continue with these calls in an ongoing and systematic way, and who will be responsible. I leave that to you directors to discuss, and will wait on your decision in relation to the upcoming May break week.

Thanks and let me know if you have any questions!

Hi Shawna,

Thanks so much to everyone on your team for your assistance in making these notification calls before the Premier's travels during the March/April break weeks. I have summarized all the substantive feedback I heard in those calls below and attached the two pieces of written correspondence I received. In all instances I just took the message and passed it along where appropriate. Let me know if you want to discuss.

Hi everyone,

Passing along the outcome from my notification calls with First Nations leaders in the areas PJH visited during the March/April tour.

Summary: I made 21 calls. The full list of calls and their outcomes is available here, but below are the key takeaways. I am including all substantive feedback even if it is not immediately actionable so you don't need to check the document unless you are just wondering who was called. I will also share this information with Shawna French and Jonathan Sas at MIRR who assisted me in bringing together the calling list.

Terrace/Kitimat

- Kitselas – Chief Joseph Bevan (250) 635-5084^{s.22}
 - Reached Chief Bevan, they have made two requests to meet in September and haven't yet been able to schedule something. Have requests out to MIRR and EMPR that have not yet received responses.
- Haisla – Chief Councillor Crystal Smith (250) 639-9361, ext 123^{s.22}

 - Spoke with Chief Ignace and extended the invite to send people to digital economies reception. He would like to pass along the message that his community was working with Minister James^{s.16} and this has been moved to MIRR, but he would like the opportunity to work directly with Finance again. He also shared that the Shuswap Nation Tribal Council meeting is in Kamloops on the same day the Premier will be there. An invitation was extended for Tribal Council leaders to join.
 - Nlaka'pamux Nation Tribal Council - Grand Chief Bob Pasco (250) 455-2711
 - Spoke with, and followed up by email, with Executive Director Lillian Grenier, asking for invitations to the Premier's digital economies reception.^{s.16}
- ^{s.16}
^{s.16} See included email.

Prince George

- CSTC – Tribal Chief Reg Mueller^{s.22}
 - ^{s.16}
 - ^{s.16} CS have offered to host PJH for a meal when he is next in the area.
- McLeod Lake – Chief Harley Chingee (250) 750-4415^{s.22}
 - Chief Chingee sent along official correspondence which is attached.

Recommendations going forward:

^{s.13}

I have put together an operational protocol document (who to check with and when to gather relevant information), but that is probably not relevant to all of you unless someone else takes over making these calls in future. If that happens just let me know and I will pass that list along as I felt I learned some things along the way.

Decision points:

A decision should be made about whether we wish to continue with these calls in an ongoing and systematic way, and who will be responsible. I leave that to you directors to discuss, and will wait on your decision in relation to the upcoming May break week.

Thanks and let me know if you have any questions!

Subject: RE: Chemainus Wells amendment

Hello Chief Thomas,

Thank you for your email and for your participation over the past several years in the review of the amendment for the Chemainus Wells Project. During this review, the EAO has sought to understand and mitigate any potential impacts of the project and, in working with the Halalt, proposed a number of substantial revisions to the certificate conditions to directly address Halalt's concerns. The amendment report includes a table that summarizes the concerns raised by the Halalt, EAO's responses and proposed mitigation. The amendment report can be accessed here: <https://projects.eao.gov.bc.ca/api/document/5acf9f4ad666d00024857124/fetch>

I understand that the Municipality of North Cowichan (MNC) has invited Halalt, FLNRORD, and EAO to a meeting to be held by May 15, as required by the Certificate. The purpose of the meeting is to review the monitoring report and flow release information and to seek Halalt's and FLNRORD's input on the operation of the wells for the year ahead. This will be the first of several annual meetings that MNC is required to hold and to invite Halalt, in order to ensure an ongoing dialogue about any potential effects from summer pumping of the wells. The EAO is aware that the MNC has also contacted Halalt in regards to installing the Banon Creek flow measurement gauge, as required by the Certificate.

In consideration of the factors raised during the amendment and the approved conditions, the EAO is of the opinion that the Chemainus Wells amendment would have no adverse impacts on Halalt's right to fish. The EAO believes that the mitigation of releasing water from Holyoak Lake and Banon Creek would augment the Chemainus River flow and create additional habitat for fish. We remain committed to working with the Halalt on the implementation of the conditions and to continuing to seek to understand and address Halalt's concerns.

Please don't hesitate to contact me if you have any questions.

Thanks, Gerry

Hello Bill and Chief Thomas, I'm writing to let you know that today the Executive Director approved the Chemainus Wells amendment. A copy of the signed order that includes conditions is attached for your information, and will also be posted on the EAO's website today <https://www.projects.eao.gov.bc.ca/>

I appreciate the time and work that Halalt First Nation have put into reviewing this amendment application and providing us with valuable input throughout the assessment. I would like to re-iterate my offer to schedule a meeting with the Halalt First Nation, along with a representative from EAO's Compliance and Enforcement Team, to go over the conditions in the amendment and in particular to discuss the Halalt's role in implementing the conditions. I think it would also be useful to have a representative from FLNRORD at this meeting as well. Please let me know when the Halalt are available to meet and I can coordinate this meeting.

Please don't hesitate to contact me if you would like to discuss or have any additional questions related to the decision materials.

Hi All,

We had previously scheduled a briefing with Ministers Eby & Heyman for tomorrow at 4:30pm, however I have just been advised that Minister Heyman will still be in estimates and unable to attend. Cancelling tomorrow's briefing and can look for a new time that works for everyone.

Good morning Gala,

I remembered the question! Here it is.

What process do Statutory Decision Makers in provincial permitting agencies undertake to make their own unfettered determination as to whether the impacts on asserted or established treaty or Aboriginal rights, including title (Aboriginal interests) arising from the proposed provincial permits have been adequately consulted on, and accommodated for?

Is it largely decided upon documentary information provided by the proponent of the project requiring the provincial permits?

Thank you.

Good afternoon Annette,

It would not be appropriate to exclude the elected political representatives Kukpi7 Judy Wilson, Cheryl Casimir and Robert Phillips over the two FN Summit Co-Chairs.

It is best to invite the elected political representation of BCAFN, UBCIC and the First Nations Summit.

I would suggest issuing invitations to Regional Chief Terry Teegee, Grand Chief Stewart Phillip, Chief Bob Chamberlin, Grand Chief Ed John, Cheryl Casimir and Robert Phillips. My belief is not all the invitations will be accepted due to either conflicting meetings or personal reasons. At such time, it would be then appropriate to extend an invitation to the two FN Summit Co-Chairs.

Kind regards,

Hello Don,

I'm with the Office of Protocol, working on the installation of the new Lieutenant Governor. We received the attached list from Mira and I just had a couple questions for you. We have already invited Regional Chief Terry Teegee, Grand Chief Stewart Phillip, and Grand Chief Edward John. As our invite numbers are quite high and space is limited we would not be able to invite everyone on this attached list, however, we were wondering if it would be appropriate to invite Chief Bob Chamberlin, and the two FN Summit Co-Chairs, Chief Leah George-Wilson and Ray Harris.

Sincerely yours,

My sense is all First Nation, provincial and federal laws apply to treaty settlement land as defined by each respective final agreement. If the First Nation does not have a law similar and meets/beats the RTA, the RTA would apply.

Dear Evan,

I received your business card from one of our Executive Officers, Corinne McKay, who attended the meeting with the Premier last week. Corinne indicated that I could contact you to follow up on the Premier's discussion with members of Nisga'a Lisims Government at the Terrace meeting. I had asked our general counsel, Margaret Rosling, to follow up and your administrative assistant gave her this address for further correspondence.

Nisga'a Lisims Government is requesting a meeting with the Premier, Minister Mungall and Minister Fraser to follow up on our discussions last September at the First Nations Gathering concerning potential LNG development in the Nass Area and the steps that are necessary to close the pending land transaction at Nasoga Gulf. Of course, we would be pleased if other members of the Cabinet and senior staff are able to attend as well.

We have identified April 16 as a date the NLG senior government representatives are available and are hoping that this date can work for the Premier and his Cabinet colleagues. We understand that the Legislature is in session on that date and are planning to travel to Victoria for the meeting so that it does not interfere with duties in the House.

Minister Donaldson has recently corresponded with us as well, seeking a meeting to discuss issues that have arisen as a result of the recent amendments to regulations relating to grizzly bear hunting. We have also advised Minister Donaldson that April 16 is our preferred date.

Travelling to Victoria for Nisga'a Lisims Government that day will be:

Eva Clayton, President
Brian Tait, Chairperson
Corinne McKay, Secretary Treasurer
Margaret Rosling, Aldridge + Rosling, General
Counsel to NLG Myself

Thank you for your attention to this matter. I look forward to hearing from you.

Regards,

Collier Azak

The Government of British Columbia has released the report that it received from the Minister of Agriculture's Advisory Council on Finfish Aquaculture (MAACFA).

The council worked over the past 18 months to complete the report, which provides strategic, immediate and long-term recommendations.

They are grouped into six themes:

- Salmon farm locations
- Aboriginal rights and title
- Marine planning and community engagement
- Pathogens and disease
- Alternate technologies and approaches
- Transparency and information gaps

The report recommends policy changes by both the B.C. government and the Government of Canada, some of which require new funding to implement.

The Province is releasing the report to allow for public review, and to enable consultation with Indigenous peoples, the aquaculture industry and Fisheries and Oceans Canada. The report recommends further consideration of implications, risks and benefits.

The moratorium on issuing new tenures for finfish aquaculture will remain in place while the Province considers the council's report and recommendations.

The advisory council was formed in 2016 by the Province to provide strategic advice and policy guidance to the Minister of Agriculture about the future, and issuance, of new Crown-land tenures for marine-based salmon aquaculture in British Columbia. The members of MAACFA included representatives from the aquaculture industry, academia, non-governmental organizations, First Nations and federal and provincial government officials.

The council met 12 times between July 2016 and January 2018. It was provided with background on salmon farming (regulatory regime, operational arrangements and research and health developments) and presentations on finfish aquaculture issues. The council's meeting minutes are also available on the MAACFA webpage.

Is there an opportunity for staff to call in? If so, can you please send me call in details. Also, if staff is calling in, must it still be either a DM or ADM and 1 Ministry staff person? Hello Connie,

As you may already be aware, we are setting up a meeting for the Premier to meet with the Tsleil Watuth Chief and council.

We are confirming the meetings at VCO for:

Friday, April 6 at 4:15 pm – pre-brief

Friday, April 6 at 4:30 – 5:15 pm – meeting with Tsleil Watuth with attendees and background materials to be confirmed.

This meeting was initiated at their request regarding their invite to visit the Watch House and possibly review a draft engagement policy proposed last August.

Please confirm that you have this time available for MSF and provide me with a confirmation of attendees from MIRR for the pre-brief and meeting.

We also require an updated BN on the request for the meeting by April 4 at 10 am.

I will forward any further updates regarding this meeting as they are available to me.

Hi Don,

Just to let you know, Chief Thomas will not be bringing the entire council to the meeting on Friday.

They understand that we have taken the Crown Lands issue off the agenda.

We did find the letter requesting a meeting from October and the notes on the file say that Mira was going to follow up about the request and we closed the file.

Another meeting request may flow out of this meeting and perhaps we can get an update from Mira on her discussions with the MST Corporation.

Your thoughts?

Hi Amber,

I will need some time with Geoff tomorrow when he is at VCO. Just 15 – 30 minutes.

Hi Don,

I had to cancel the check in with Geoff tomorrow – as he is now required to attend a meeting here in Victoria at that time. Give me a call if you have any questions.

Hi Don,

Wondering if you could be on standby for a call with PJH at 5:45/6pm today? He may like to speak with you before tomorrow's visit to the Lower & Upper Nicola Bands. He will be visiting the solar farm at the Lower Nicola Band school and also having lunch with the Upper Nicola Band before touring their proposed solar site.

Good morning all,

Spoke to Geoff this morning. The briefing this afternoon with the Greens should proceed.

He is in agreement to have the messaging tweaked and the release should go out as planned on Thursday.

Sage will be in touch with your respective offices regarding messaging. Lorne, we should touch base on messaging later this afternoon.

Thank you.

Good morning everyone,

Can you let me know if and when you might be available for 30-45 minute call? Suggest later afternoon (3:30/4:00 ish) or early evening (7:30ish). Happy to accommodate other times.

Once I hear from everyone, I will let everyone know what might work.
