Hi Mira:

Some key things that governments across Canada have done to celebrate IWD:

- Announcements: funding for women's programs, mandate of a new ministry (Status of Women Ministry), creation of a women's advisory committee
- Gatherings/receptions by invite to celebrate and honour particular women (leaders in business, leaders in social change, immigrant women) at the Government House with the LG or at the Legislature
- Free events open to the public to discuss women in leadership: eg: interview with Kathleen Wynne at the city library
- Statements to acknowledge the day, usually with a particular theme
- Digital content (videos, graphics, greetings on social media based on the theme)

Themes this year: International campaign #PressForProgress. Canadian Federal Government #MyFeminism

Absolutely, thanks Chantille,

I'm adding Stephanie Ferguson to this thread, she's heading up the project management of this on our end.

I'm attaching the video brief Stephanie wrote up re: our current thinking given the timeline and internal capacity on our team.

Other products we're also considering:

1. A 'Top X ways the Budget is working for women in BC' type article
2. A graphic of some kind
3. I've asked FIN if we can frame the Budget Facebook Live Q+A that evening to include a focus on how the Budget will benefit women in BC, and they are receptive to that idea.

I imagine the Premier will also have some kind of joint statement with PS Dean, which can be posted online by him that day as well as other content.

I look forward to chatting at 3pm. For those of you who would like to join us in GCPE, I've booked the large boardroom, though if the meeting before us runs long, we can just meet in my office. Fourth floor of 617 Government Street, N417.

Hi All,

It looks like tomorrow we will have a motion put forward (supported by all sides) to allow infants into the legislative chambers. It would be good to have Mitiz either speak to this in a members statement or to the motion itself.

Kim – Perhaps we want to add this to her members statement or perhaps provide a script for her to speak to the motion?

Sage – do we want the Premier or anyone else to do anything additional on this file?

Charlotte – might be worth some calls to stakeholders... or Kim can send the statement to them following the motion passing.

Let me know your thoughts or if we should arrange a quick call to discuss.

Hi Jessica,

I'm writing to follow up on our conversations about the Premier visiting the Gallery. To clarify, we are looking at March 21 from 4:30-5:15pm. The time may move up slightly earlier, but it will be in that range. As discussed, it will primarily be an opportunity for him to see the gallery, meet people in the arts community and hear directly from artists.

I've cc'd my colleague Marlene who works in events. She will want to advance the gallery and will work with us on an "event plan" for the visit.

Thanks so much for your help in making this happen,

There's also work that has to be done on the sector side to make sure that workplaces are equitable and inclusive and respectful of Indigenous voices, as well.

When we speak about reconciliation, specifically economic reconciliation, there's a lot that the tech sector itself can be doing to create opportunities for Indigenous people to thrive.

How difficult is it to bridge the gap between the young and the old?

I think there's a natural bias toward focusing on younger populations, but there's tremendous opportunities for technology to be used amongst elders.

We've heard a lot of stories around how technology is being used for connecting with family members ... and how technology can actually create an opportunity for intergenerational learning.

Youth can be providing opportunities for elders to be learning about technology, and, at the same time, elders can be sharing teachings and practices to the youth, so that's it actually a convening force, so we're having elders and youth come together ... and deepen those relationships.

There's a lot of internet dead spots across northern and rural B.C. How much is accessibility a factor?

The CRTC ruled nationally that broadband internet access is a basic necessity for all Canadians, yet, despite that, we're still not seeing equitable access.

I think for a lot of individuals, particularly those in large, urban centres where high-speed access is readily available ... there's an assumption that everybody in Canada has that same access.

Again, when we're talking about conversations around reconciliation and looking to the future and seeing reconciliation, not just as a process of looking backwards but looking to the future, full and equitable access to these emerging digital technologies is a fundamental human right in Canada, and we need to be seeing a bigger push in those areas.

BC Hydro moves forward with five First Nations' clean energy projects

CFNR

Wednesday, March 14, 2018

By Bill Fee

BC Hydro is moving forward with five First Nations' clean energy projects, but says it won't issue any more power purchase agreements until the NDP government completes its review of the process.

Hi Shawna – I think yes, we should absolutely do something. There isn't really any protocol around it that we are aware of, but a letter from the premier and a gift seems appropriate from our perspective.

Thanks,

Subject: Question: Honouring retiring Chief - Shacken

G'morning Shawna,

Grand Chief Percy Joe (Nicola Tribal Association, and Chief of Shacken) is retiring on March 18, 2018 after 47 years of being Chief.
He is also a war veteran.

As part of a potential MOU signing with the Nicola 5 Chiefs (Nicola Tribal Association) for a watershed pilot in mid-March, I've been talking with partners FLNRORD and MOE about doing a small recognition of Chief Joe as a secondary component to the signing. If the signing is delayed, we could also consider mailing as an alternative.

Curious to know if there are any protocol or gestures we can make to Chief Joe, such as a letter from the Premier on official letterhead and a small gift?
It definitely would be meaningful. Thanks for any thoughts or advice.

Thanks,
Alexandra

Hey Mira, Charlotte

MSF is heading to Merrit for the signing of the Nicola Valley watershed agreement with the Nicola Tribal Council this Friday. But it is also a chance for us to recognize, in person, Chief Shacken who is retiring after 47 years. You might remember we sent out a letter in recognition of his retirement that I believe PJH signed? Wondering if PO has some sort of formal certificate or other form of recognition that we could bring and present to him?

Thanks

Hi Marlene,

Happy to have toured Jarrett through the Gallery yesterday and I hope you have what you need for a great event tomorrow.

Confirmed attendees (from our end):
Reid Shier, Director
Jessica Bouchard, Associate Director
Iain Mant, Board Chair

Artists:
Raymond Boisjoly
Tim Lee
Myfanwy MacLeod
Tracy Williams

We have not contacted City Hall re. Mayor Mussatto and Craig Keating's attendance, nor MLA Ma's office. Please advise as you are able on these fronts.

Also, as requested, here are the named spaces in the new facility:

1. The building is named The Polygon Gallery in honour of Michael Audain's $4 million lead campaign donation – jointly invested from Polygon Homes and the Audain Foundation. (Formerly, we were Presentation House Gallery).
2. The Lobby is named the Chan Family Gallery in honour of a donation of $750,000 from the Chan Family (same family as named the Chan Centre at UBC).
3. At the top of the stairs is the TD Bank Group Gallery in honour of a $500,000 donation from TD Bank. FYI, TD has also supported the Gallery's opening exhibition, and a Canadian contemporary exhibition for the new facility's first five years.
4. The main exhibition space is the Freybe Family Gallery, in honour of a $1,000,000 donation from Henning and Brigitte Freybe.
5. The main event/education/projection space is the Seaspan Pavilion, in honour of a $1,000,000 donation from the Dennis & Phyllis Washington Foundation.
6. The small retreat space adjacent to the deck is the Denna Homes Gallery, named in honour of a $500,000 donation from Denna Homes.

I've attached two documents that may be helpful to you in building your briefing note:

1. The Polygon Gallery's Case for Support – a rigorous document: the full story of our institution, our work over 40 years, the need for a new home, the ambitions of the expanded space.

2. The exhibition guide for the inaugural N. Vancouver exhibition: with dedicated pages about the four artists who will be in attendance tomorrow. (Jarrett will have brought hard copies of this back for you)

Please let me know what more you need, and thanks so much for your coordination. I look forward to your timeline today.

Hi Stephanie,

Thanks very much for the quick response and immediate engagement. I've cc'd my colleague Rick who manages events and can work with you on venues, set up, etc.

With respect to size, our goal for this event is to have a real conversation on housing & affordability so I would imagine limiting the size to approximately 30. Having said that, I'm open to ideas depending on venue and format. I am happy for you and Rick to sort this out.

And I would say that we are definitely interested in out-of-the-box ideas for venues. No board rooms needed!

Thanks again – I look forward to together on this.

Best,

Where is the Premier coming from and headed to next? We'd like to choose a convenient venue for you. Are you open to more out-of-the-box ideas for a venue? We were brainstorming and have a great brewery that could be a good fit.

What format would you like to see? The room layout will dictate our options for venues.

What would your ideal number of attendees be?

Thanks again for this opportunity.

Hi Nico and Eldad –

Thanks very much for this. From my perspective this looks great. If it's possible to shave 5 minutes off the tour or the daycare visit, I think it would be great to have closer to 20 minutes for the meeting so community leaders don't travel to the JCC for only 15 minutes.

I'd like to talk to you both a little more about how the conversation will be facilitated in the gallery, but you should feel free to extend invitations. I'm imagining the Premier speaking to the budget/government priorities for the first 5 minutes max and then being open to questions/comments. Who are you anticipating introducing him/the conversation?

Thanks,

I wasn't imagining a round table with parents so let's talk through that piece.

And let's also talk about the community leaders portion of the event - just in terms of who will be speaking and about what.

Hi Pat –

It was really nice to see you as well! And you've now given me great long weekend reading. Thanks for sharing your piece.

I can definitely give you a synopsis of the visit. I will leave the possibility of a call to my colleague Sage Aaron, cc'd. The best number to reach me on is 604 839 1967. I can also share photos from the event if that's helpful.

All the best,
Mira

Subject: Premier's visit to JCC

Hi Mira,

It was nice to see you at the Dave Barrett celebration of life. That turned into the longest story I've ever had published. Probably the longest piece the paper has ever published!

I understand Premier Horgan visited the JCC this morning and Nico suggested I contact you. Would it be possible to get a few minutes with the premier on the phone? Alternatively, a synopsis of the discussion?

Many thanks,

Pat

Eldad -

Thank you so much for hosting us this morning. The Premier really enjoyed the whole thing - it gave him a flavour for the amazing work that happens at the Centre.

The quote is fantastic.

Thank you so much - photos to follow!

Dear Mira,
I would like to thank you, the premier and the team for this morning's visit. The visit was very positive and left all of us feeling engaged by the premier. His personable approach was very well received by all!

As requested, we have prepared a quote re the childcare fee reduction strategy:

"The Jewish Community Centre of Greater Vancouver applauds the new Provincial Childcare Fee Reduction Initiative. It is huge step forward in making child care and education affordable for families. The initial focus on families with infants and toddlers speaks to where the need is the greatest both because the fees are the highest and parents are in most need of support. The quick implementation of this program in response to the urgency of the problem is heartening to see and bodes well for what steps might come next. "
