Hey Amber/Donna,

Just talked to Andrew and he would prefer if Premier Horgan can use his other phone number: s.22 .

Sorry for the delay in getting this confirmed.

Hello Evan and Jaymini. The call with PJH has been changed to 6:50 pm (our time), Tues Jan 23. I believe Bob has mentioned this to Andrew.

Can you please confirm best phone # for PJH to reach Andrew (for Amber, cc'd above).

Thank you,
Donna

March 20, 2018

Mr. Andrew Wilkinson, MLA
Leader of the Official Opposition
Room 109
Parliament Buildings
Victoria, BC V8V 1X4

Dear Mr. Wilkinson:

Thank you for your letter regarding the threat to the workers in British Columbia's pulp and paper industry. We share the same perspective on the urgency of the issue as was clear from last week's statements in the Legislature.

Since the threat emerged, the Minister of Jobs, Trade and Technology has been actively working with a number of parties to find ways to stand up for our industry. Before the decision on anti-dumping tariffs was made, the minister met in-person with Ned Dwyer, Catalyst CEO, to discuss tariffs and potential impacts.

Following the decision, as you are aware, the minister released a public statement regarding the tariffs. He had telephone calls with Graham Kissack (Government Relations at Catalyst), Unifor Local 76 President Mike Rumley (Powell River Catalyst Mill), Natural Resources Minister Jim Carr, and Trade Minister Chrystia Freeland's office. I also expressed our concern and anger to Governor of Washington Jay Inslee during his recent visit. The minister has been assured by Ottawa that we will receive the same support for the pulp sector in the face of American attacks as has been extended to the softwood sector.

Our office has written to Prime Minister Trudeau and to key American trade officials underlining our rejection of this action. While we continue to work with the federal government to fight these unfair tariffs, it is clear that this problem lies in Washington, not Ottawa.

To ensure we have a strong understanding of the terrain, I have asked Minister Ralston to arrange for a briefing for you and Andrew Weaver by senior federal government officials. We will be looking to do this at the earliest opportunity and will keep you apprised of any developments.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, reading "John J. Horgan", with a long horizontal flourish extending to the right.

John Horgan
Premier

cc: Dr. Andrew Weaver

I am attaching the latest Scenarios Report from SHELL called “SKY: Meeting the Goals of the Paris Agreement”. This is a very credible and well informed report.

Please note Summary in Chapter 1;

1. Introducing Sky – an ambitious scenario to hold the increase in the global average temperature to well below 2°C. This requires a complex combination of mutually reinforcing drivers being rapidly accelerated by society, markets, and governments.
2. From now to 2070 –
 - (i) A change in consumer mindset means that people preferentially choose low-carbon, high-efficiency options to meet their energy service needs.
 - (ii) A step-change in the efficiency of energy use leads to gains above historical trends.
 - (iii) Carbon-pricing mechanisms are adopted by governments globally over the 2020s, leading to a meaningful cost of CO₂ embedded within consumer goods and services.
 - (iv) The rate of electrification of final energy more than triples, with global electricity generation reaching a level nearly five times today’s level.
 - (v) New energy sources grow up to fifty-fold, with primary energy from renewables eclipsing fossil fuels in the 2050s.
 - (vi) Some 10,000 large carbon capture and storage facilities are built, compared to fewer than 50 in operation in 2020.
 - (vii) Net-zero deforestation is achieved. In addition, an area the size of Brazil being reforested offers the possibility of limiting warming to 1.5°C, the ultimate ambition of the Paris Agreement.

This is definitely a worthwhile “read”.

Hi Geoff – the reference to a two-phased approach is laid out in all of our public materials including the CEAA/EAO Environmental Assessment report. I may see Evan on Wednesday when I am in Victoria and could speak to him directly if helpful. Page 19 of our EAC pasted below.

“The main processing or production units of an LNG facility, where natural gas is converted to liquid, are referred to as “trains”. The Proponent anticipates that the proposed Project would be constructed in phases, with the first phase consisting of two trains and a further two trains to be added in subsequent phase(s). If an EAC is issued, and other regulatory approvals are received, construction of the proposed Project would start in 2015. Construction of the first phase would be completed in approximately four to five years following issuance of permits, with the subsequent phase(s) being developed as required by market demand.”

Susannah, thanks for your note to Dave Nikolejsin regarding LNG Canada’s intention to do a second FID before moving two Phase 2 of your project. Is there a public location where that information can be viewed? If not, may I share your e-mail with the Green Party Caucus?

Hi Geoff,

Thought I would flash this your way in case it was of interest. Linked below is the Special Committee on Sustainable Aquaculture from May 2007 I was referencing in our last meeting.

Committee had Government and Opposition MLAs and the recommendations on page 53 of the document were pretty bold (and as far as I can tell unanimous).

Hi Susannah,

We are hearing a report here that Boskalis (sp?), the dredge working in Kitimat, is using Filipino TFWs. Can you get us any info on that?

Best regards
