Subject: Uber, Ridesharing and Improved Accessibility

Evan,

Over the past few weeks there has been media reports of a pregnant TV host, travellers arriving at the airport, and now a senior in a wheelchair being let down due to Vancouver's existing transportation system falling short of expectations.

Fortunately, there are solutions that have been put in place elsewhere that have been shown to improve transportation. The stories from the past three weeks highlight the importance of the provincial government keeping the commitment to enable ridesharing before the end of the year, and Uber remains ready to partner with the province to make it a reality.

By allowing any eligible driver to participate in ridesharing there are no caps on who can provide service. In cities with Uber this has led to a significant increase in mobility options across the city, but especially in suburban neighbourhoods. This is one reason why Translink CEO Kevin Desmond has called for ridesharing to come to BC for the past two years.

Uber partners with vehicle owners, and the majority of personal vehicles are not accessible for non-collapsible wheelchairs. However, in cities where we are able to partner with enough wheelchair accessible vehicles (privately owned or fleets), Uber is able to offer that service and use incentives to ensure reliability. Wheelchair trip requests are the same price as typical ridesharing for the rider, and drivers can receive incentives to encourage them to complete accessible trips. Incentives are useful to ensure that drivers complete wheelchair trip requests rather than being stationed at the airport or focusing on other trips.

Toronto is an example where the average wait time for a wheelchair accessible trip with Uber is under 10 minutes. In some cities without accessible partnerships, cities have put in place a moderate per trip fee ($0.07/trip in Ottawa) which can add up to significant funds to help ensure a reliable, public accessible service.

One of Uber's most successful partnerships is with the Metro Boston Transit Authority. MBTA subsidizes Uber rides for para-transit eligible riders, to increase the capacity and service levels of the city's Handy Dart equivalent service for those in non-collapsible wheelchairs. Similar programs to enhance accessibility are being contemplated in other jurisdictions

The BC all-party provincial ridesharing Committee specifically highlighted these opportunities to increase service for all in its recommendations.

We are focused on working with the province to expand transportation options in British Columbia, and to do so this fall.

As always, please reach out with any questions or concerns.

All the best,

Michael

Housing prices were up again in June (limiting people's ability to buy homes), and the development community continues to call for more supply. You've launched a number of affordable housing projects across BC ... so what is it that you think the development community is calling for, and overall is the amount of housing supply moving forward to the level you're hoping for ?

Subject: Filipino Community Roundtable today

Hi folks-

I just heard from Min. Dix's staff that he will be joining PJH at the roundtable today (the venue is in his constituency). I've let Mable know already, but wanted to let you all know as well (if you needed to!)

Cheers,
Chantille

Please ensure that the correct number of emails that you are dragging over matches what ends up in the LAN. We have noticed that sometimes some of the emails don't copy over onto the LAN.

Records of any and all emails, text messages, BBMs, slack messages, and WhatsApp messages sent from Evan Brown.

(Date Range for Record Search: From 03/01/2018 To 03/31/2018) Date Format is MM/DD/YYYY

I'd like to make an amendment to the Organizational Excellency Act if I may.

It is actually helpful for me to have some materials sooner than the deadline just so I don't have to print them all at once and potentially run out of time if I'm in a pinch.

So if the materials could all go to Erin, and then as she sends me them she could say for example.

This is the NR and SN for tomorrow, what is still outstanding is:
(Blank)

Once all the materials are in to Erin I would still appreciate them all sent in one email as well to follow.

Is that okay or am I complicating things?

Thanks team,

Hello Evan,

We met on Friday last at the Cowichan District Hospital. As Chair of the Island Corridor Foundation we have requested on two occasions to meet with the Premier respecting the future of the corridor. In speaking with the Premier Friday, it is imperative that we have a face to face meeting to work in a collaborative way to communicate the importance of this asset for the benefit of the entirety of Vancouver Island. Evan,

What is happening with the letter we sent Premier re. Dementia Care (follow-up from Terrace visit)? He had us direct it through you so he would actually see it in less than a week and so that you could forward it to appropriate persons for some kind of action. Hopefully, not a round file. We have heard nothing from you or anyone.

Hi Patty,

Yesterday evening, premier was in discussion with s.22

I assume you have probably talked to them already. They have concerns regarding a 4 to 6 million dollar filtration system being built in their community to service about 856 homes. They do not find it necessary as the water they currently have, when tested, is very clean.

I'm awaiting an email from them but I thought I would pass it over your way before it slipped my mind.

Their email is: s.22

Thank you,

Hi Evan,

It was nice to touch base with you about Premier Horgan's availability in January 2019. The BC Federation of Students' general meeting will be most likely scheduled for Thursday, January 10 to Sunday, January 13, 2019. We would very much like to have the Premier attend to bring greetings and, if he is interested, engage in a question and answer period. Our January meeting typically has about 80 to 90 student representatives from 13 institutions across the province.

Please let me know if there is a process we should go through to invite the Premier to our January 2019 meeting.

Also, this summer's general meeting is running Wednesday, July 25 to Saturday, July 28 at Vancouver Island University; we currently have MP Sheila Malcolmson and MLA Andrew Weaver speaking. If the Premier is available and interested we would be very happy to make space (I know it's short notice, just thought I would put it out there).

Thank you very much, I look forward to hearing from you. If there's anything I can assist you with, please contact me on my cell at ^{s.22} I hope you enjoy your time at tomorrow's event in Duncan.

Warm regards,
Michael

Re: Bladder cancer walk

Hello Sean,
So glad to hear you are coming out. The walk is Sunday Sept 23rd, 2018
It takes place at Deer Lake Park near the boat rentals. The entrance is near Sperling and Canada Way.
In this age of google maps I won't give you a bunch of direction but if you have any difficulty locating it let me know.
Registration starts at 9 am and the walk starts at 10 Sam.
There is a 5 km or a 3 km route.
It is an easy flat walk along a very scenic lake. You can also walk out a ways and back for a shorter walk.
I believe Tammy sent you the web page where you can register, join a team or start a team.
My team is Team McFalcon.
This email will ensure you have my email address if you have any questions.
Look forward to seeing you at the walk.

Hi Sean
Last year Dr Peter Black spoke.
Our emcee is Kristie Gordon.
We keep it pretty tight.
Did you or your Mum have some suggestions?

You spoke with him at the BC Elder Gathering in Cowichan. Below is Sm'oogyit McDames's post in the Facebook group (<https://www.facebook.com/groups/202743520354785/?ref=bookmarks>) that supporters created to keep up to date on my case. See image below:

I appreciate you taking the time to speak with him and to provide your contact information to us. After the news about my case first broke in a CBC article on June 13th, it's been covered extensively in the media. Here are links to the articles and radio interviews. If you only have time to listen to one interview and read a few articles, I've highlighted the ones that will give you a firm background the fastest. Dear Mr. Evan Brown,

This is first Canadian -Korean composer (Canadian Music Centre) is celebrating the 21st Anniversary Enchanted Music of Grace Jong at the Queen Elizabeth theatre on Sept.7th Friday at 7:30PM.

Could we have Premier's greeting letter for this concert? We will have around 3000 audience and love to hear from you. Also, would that be possible the Premier can have a short speech for that night? Since this year is the 55th Anniversary of economic relations between Canada and Korea it would be grateful for the all community .

Thanks very much will you send the greeting by Aug.15th for the brochure job.

Thanks again.

Amber/Evan, below is an additional note for PJH to be aware of before Sunday.

PavCo Residential Building Approved

Background:

- On Tuesday, July 24, Vancouver council approved the rezoning of Area 10C with two options:
 - 1) Approved 400,000sqft at up to 300ft in height with no conditions or restrictions.
 - 2) Approved 400,000sqft at up to 400ft with condition that all residential units are designated as secured market rental housing.
- This would allow for provincial Crown corporation PavCo to build a 40-storey (400 foot tall) or 300 foot tall residential tower on Pacific Boulevard, between Rogers Arena and B.C. Place Stadium.
- PavCo's original proposal to the City of Vancouver for Area 10C was for a 300ft building. Feedback from City staff, as described in the City's North East False Creek Plan, indicated that the public was interested in retaining views of the stadium.
- Subsequently, a taller building – up to 400ft – with a smaller floorplate was brought forward as a second option.
- The proposal has been criticised for impeding viewing corridors of the North Shore mountains - including a "Save our Skyline YVR" social media campaign.

Message:

- I'm aware of people's concerns about view corridors.
- I understand PavCo will continue to engage with the City on this, and will review the outcome before making any decisions.
- I look forward to hearing PavCo's recommendation.

Haven't received anything new yet – just a heads up: Evan advises they are wrapping up earlier now – will need to get the SN/Issues scan to Evan as soon as possible.

Matt – are you able to send what you have now with a supplemental for Evan on Sunday?

Cara – can I provide the copy of the SN I have to Evan or shall we wait for you to send final?
