As discussed yesterday here is a DRAFT framework for how May 17 might work. s.13
s.13

It's all pretty sketchy at this point, and if a different order or focus makes sense I'm good with that.

Can I suggest Doug that you share it with your folks and see what they think? I am going to talk to Don Bain and get his input. And MO can talk to MSF.

Then we can talk Friday around the DMC and confirm if this is what will work.

Elizabeth

I have a text message in to you about this. Was hoping to talk before the materials went out for tomorrow, but I missed that mark.

Here is my take on the fall agenda:

- Shaded items I think need a policy run through before RFL stage
- Orange shaded items are ones that I've moved. It ends up with 7 majors and 5-6 minors
- There are some yellow highlighted comments
- I didn't go all the way the minor/moderate B list

Robb – as discussed last week. I don't have an electronic version of the paper. These comments are based on a printed version I have containing an introductory letter from MCJ (2 pages), a Summary (3 pages) s.13

In the meantime, I've talked to Lori W about the narrative sections. While confirming that this is a consultation piece, aimed at informed practitioners and stakeholders, she agreed that the language could be reframed somewhat to reflect a few things. To my mind these include:

That's the basics, Robb. I don't think it's a big job of editing, but it would benefit from someone with a finer sense of the affordability/fairness focus having a run through.

I believe this consultation will be partly targeted to interested stakeholders/professional groups, and partly a more general public round of input. It's a bit unclear to me exactly how that's going to happen, but I assume Finance has a plan to get feedback in an organized way.

This is my short run through/reorganization of the ppt. For lack of time, it's very rough, but I think strips it back to the main points. Perhaps a bit too far, but things can be re-inserted.

Rather than devote more time to it, I thought I'd send it back and ask if you or Lori would like to have a more extensive conversation tomorrow. I'm in Cabinet in the morning, but am free otherwise.
