Hello,

As you may know, there has been some restructuring in the Premier's Office. As such, I believe my ipad permissions to cabinet material was rescinded as a member of the former Priorities and Accountability office.

However, my new position as Director of Policy in the Chief of Staff's office requires that I maintain access.

Can you please advise as to how I get my permissions back?

Hello,

As you likely know, there have been some organizational changes in the Office of the Premier.

Over the past 14 months, the Priorities and Accountability Office was focused on providing direction on mandate priorities during the start-up and establishment phases of government. With this work now substantially complete, myself and the other members of the office are being assigned to other areas across government.

Effective today, I am reporting to the Chief of Staff as the new Director of Policy in the Premier's Office. I am very excited about this new role.

It's been a pleasure working with you as part of PAO, and I am sure our paths will cross again in my new role.

Kind regards,
