Hello Government Communications and Public Engagement,

The Office of the Premier received this FOI request from an individual:

All documents, including memos, briefing notes, backgrounders, e-mails, text or Instant messages, media lines, etc., regarding the proposal, rollout and fallout of the Alberta Government's announcement on February 6, 2018 regarding the ban of BC wines into Alberta, including all related documents for BC's response to the wine ban. Excluding records specific to BC Wine Week and Today's News Online. (Date Range for Record Search: From 02/06/2018 To 02/27/2018)

They identified the attached documents as responsive records and wish to get your views on disclosure. If you need help determining harms, please contact me directly.

Your program area's response is due July 9, 2018.

IAO may take one to two business days to apply any severing.

1. Ministry Program Harms Assessment:

Please indicate which applies:

- 1. There are no harms in these records. They can be released in full.*
- 2. There are harms in releasing all of these records. They should be withheld in their entirety.*
- 3. There are harms in portions of the records. Please give details so that IAO can apply the appropriate sections of FOIPPA. Please feel free to write directly on the attached records and send back to IAO. If you are unsure of why it is harmful please call the IAO to discuss the appropriate severing.*

Name, Title, Program

2. IAO's review of harms assessment and recommendations on release

Comments/Recommendations:

IAO will assess the program area's harms and recommend full release, withhold in its entirety or partial release.

3. Ministry Executive approval for release

Comments/Recommendations:

Please indicate which applies:

- 1. Approved for release with no changes.*
- 2. Approved for release with the following changes... (insert changes).*

3. Not approved for release and why.

Ministry Executive (Delegated Signoff):

Note that all general FOI request records that are released to an applicant should be published on the Open Information website unless the exemption criteria apply. The exemption criteria can be found on page 11 of the Open Information and Open Data Policy. Consultations from outside provincial public bodies are not published on the Open Information website.

Exercise of Discretion:

The Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act (FOIPPA) contains both mandatory and discretionary exceptions to disclosure. Sections 13 to 20 are the discretionary exceptions. Where Information Access Operations (IAO) has advised the head that a discretionary exception may apply, it is important that the head consider the possibility of releasing the information despite the fact that an exception may apply.

Factors relevant to the exercise of discretion include:

- the general purposes of the legislation: public bodies should make information available to the public; individuals should have access to personal information about themselves;
- the wording of the discretionary exception and the interests which the section attempts to balance;
- whether the individual's request could be satisfied by severing the record and by providing the applicant with as much information as is reasonably practicable;
- the historical practice of the public body with respect to the release of similar types of documents;
- the nature of the record and the extent to which the document is significant and/or sensitive to the public body;
- whether the disclosure of the information will increase public confidence in the operation of the public body;
- the age of the record;
- whether there is a sympathetic or compelling need to release materials;
- whether previous orders of the Commissioner have ruled that similar types of records or information should or should not be subject to disclosure; and
- when the policy advice exception is claimed, whether the decision to which the advice or recommendations relates has already been made.

Sage,

This is the almost final version of the letter PJH will send to LeBlanc today. Christine 's team is sending to correspondence and Don W and PJH have approved. Geoff approved over the weekend, though it's been shortened since then. MLP's office is up to speed and MOE, and IGR have all been involved. I expect Okenge will reach out to the PCO and alert folks

My recommendation is that we give it to the media, though it's really likely only of interest to coastal regional press and Victoria). I'm here till midday and am happy to discuss.

Allison,

Once you get a final version back from the correspondence shop, can you get a copy to Sage and distribute to the Counsel?

Revised per discussions with Don and PJH. Final will be run through editors once its content stable.

The Hon. Dominic LeBlanc
Dear Minister,

I am writing with respect to your department's recent decisions regarding Northern and Southern Resident Killer Whales in British Columbia and related Chinook salmon fisheries management. While I fully support federal efforts to recover these two iconic BC populations, your department's approach has been taking a toll on BC residents and coastal communities.

The process through which Pacific Region staff engaged with stakeholders over the recently enacted closure Southern Resident Killer Whale-related closure in the Strait of Juan de Fuca left many stakeholders questioning the value of engaging in such a process. The final closure will have a significant impact on tourism opportunities in the community of Sooke.

Following on the heels of this closure, Pacific Region initiated an external review of critical habitat for both Northern and Southern Resident Killer Whales. Many of our Indigenous, recreational and commercial stakeholders are currently engaged in peak-season operations of their fisheries-related businesses and traditional harvests. I'm sure you can appreciate that many of those stakeholders have little time to devote to a process that could impact them profoundly. Moreover, it appears that many of these stakeholders are one of the primary sources of reliable information about whale foraging and Chinook salmon abundance for the staff at Pacific Region.

British Columbians are deeply concerned about the state of our Southern Resident Killer Whales and are prepared to make sacrifices to protect this iconic population. Similarly, British Columbians are determined to conserve our wild salmon stocks and want to ensure they are available to Southern Resident Killer Whales, First Nations, recreational and commercial fishers for generations to come. Unfortunately, it appears that Pacific Region is more focused on short-term fixes rather than on presenting a cohesive plan that will accomplish these goals over the long term. Indeed, the scientists Pacific Region assembled for the November 2017 workshop at the University of British Columbia uniformly agreed that in the absence of a cohesive plan to bolster Chinook stocks, addressing the foraging challenges facing Southern Resident Killer Whales would be incredibly difficult.

I strongly encourage your department to reconsider the timelines of its in-season consultation plan to provide stakeholders with the necessary opportunity to provide meaningful input and so your department can conduct the necessary scientific work to determine the full extent of Southern and Northern Resident Killer Whale critical habitat.

I believe that if we work collaboratively, we can develop a strategy that will produce more fish for Southern Resident Killer Whales and stakeholders alike.

Sincerely

PJH

Amber,

A few more details. We'll do the call from the Rose Room so that PJH can leave and Allison and Christine can carry on with the call. Allison and Christine are pulling together some high-level materials for him (names, timelines, topics to be tackled etc). One we're confirmed, I'll ask Allison to connect with the co-chairs so they can introduce him and give him a spot on the agenda. Then again he may take over the agenda, given his interest.

Thanks

Folks, we need to set up some briefings re the Highway 29 realignment plan for Site C.

Hydro has several viable options. AI have pros and cons and will be supported differently by different stakeholder groups. Hydro is agnostic re which option is selected as all are in the same ballpark re cost and schedule implications. That said they do need to make a final decision by mid August.

The process that hydro will use to inform their final recommended plan is to take the various options directly to the affected stakeholders (communities, land owners, FN's, etc). They will do this starting now and take till end of July to complete. They will finalize their choice based on that feedback and then they want to brief Government before taking the final decision package to their Board in mid August. The decision would be made public before the end of August.

Melissa/Marlene, s.22 we will need to get MBR up to speed. I will leave with you to organize a briefing time for him late July/early Aug.

Grant, if you want your minister either to join that meeting, or have a separate briefing please let me know.
Doug, same wrt your Minister s.13; s.16

Don, I will ensure you get a briefing on this as well, but I think Les and/or I can handle that unless you tell me you want to be briefed direct from hydro on this. I am also assuming that no broader political briefings are required on this.

Haslam, please note timing and sync with hydro comm's on this as required.

Les, if I've missed anything please chip in.
Thanks all.

Hi Tom,

I have connected with flood safety staff at FLNRORD, and they are not aware of any flood mitigation plans in the works for Merritt. Staff have said they have made Merritt aware of the National Disaster Mitigation Program (NDMP) and the Community Emergency Preparedness Fund (CEPF) as potential flood mitigation funding programs.

According to my branch's records it looks like since 2007, Merritt has never applied to any flood mitigation funding programs.

Stan Bates has checked with the region and there are no requests made to EMBC and no proactive plans to mitigate the flooding risk in Merritt to EMBC's knowledge.

I hope this helps.

Amber,

Here is the initial response....more detailed responses on a couple of the other pieces is still coming.

Courthouse: The Mayor has asked MDE to consider capital investments that would improve the interior and exterior design that the community believes are public safety related. MAG is doing a broader capital review of all courthouses in the province and Merritt will be considered as part of that process that will determine capital priorities for the next 10 years.

Wellness Centre: Jas Singh is pulling a detailed note on the status of this program. I'll send it along by the end of the week.

Flooding Prep: I've connected with EMBC who in turn are working with FLNRO RD. More detailed notes forthcoming.

ICBC Issues on the Coq: I think I need more clarity on this. It could be mandatory driving training on interprovincial standards, it could be a call for more highway police officers, or it could be a call for an increase in commercial Vehicle Safety officers.

Thanks

Hello Government Communications and Public Engagement,

The Office of the Premier received this FOI request from an individual:

All documents, including memos, briefing notes, backgrounders, e-mails, text or Instant messages, media lines, etc., regarding the proposal, rollout and fallout of the Alberta Government's announcement on February 6, 2018 regarding the ban of BC wines into Alberta, including all related documents for BC's response to the wine ban. Excluding records specific to BC Wine Week and Today's News Online. (Date Range for Record Search: From 02/06/2018 To 02/27/2018)

They identified the attached documents as responsive records and wish to get your views on disclosure. If you need help determining harms, please contact me directly.

Your program area's response is due July 9, 2018.
IAO may take one to two business days to apply any severing.

1. Ministry Program Harms Assessment:

Please indicate which applies:

1. There are no harms in these records. They can be released in full.
2. There are harms in releasing all of these records. They should be withheld in their entirety.
3. There are harms in portions of the records. Please give details so that IAO can apply the appropriate sections of FOIPPA. Please feel free to write directly on the attached records and send back to IAO. If you are unsure of why it is harmful please call the IAO to discuss the appropriate severing.

Program Area Approval Authority:

Name, Title, Program

2. IAO's review of harms assessment and recommendations on release

Comments/Recommendations:

IAO will assess the program area's harms and recommend full release, withhold in its entirety or partial release.

3. Ministry Executive approval for release

Comments/Recommendations:

Please indicate which applies:

1. Approved for release with no changes.
2. Approved for release with the following changes... (insert changes).
3. Not approved for release and why.

Note that all general FOI request records that are released to an applicant should be published on the Open Information website unless the exemption criteria apply. The exemption criteria can be found on page 11 of the Open Information and Open Data Policy. Consultations from outside provincial public bodies are not published on the Open Information website.

Exercise of Discretion:

The Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act (FOIPPA) contains both mandatory and discretionary exceptions to disclosure. Sections 13 to 20 are the discretionary exceptions. Where Information Access Operations (IAO) has advised the head that a discretionary exception may apply, it is important that the head consider the possibility of releasing the information despite the fact that an exception may apply.

Factors relevant to the exercise of discretion include:

- the general purposes of the legislation: public bodies should make information available to the public; individuals should have access to personal information about themselves;
- the wording of the discretionary exception and the interests which the section attempts to balance;
- whether the individual's request could be satisfied by severing the record and by providing the applicant with as much information as is reasonably practicable;
- the historical practice of the public body with respect to the release of similar types of documents;
- the nature of the record and the extent to which the document is significant and/or sensitive to the public body;
- whether the disclosure of the information will increase public confidence in the operation of the public body;
- the age of the record;
- whether there is a sympathetic or compelling need to release materials;
- whether previous orders of the Commissioner have ruled that similar types of records or information should or should not be subject to disclosure; and
- when the policy advice exception is claimed, whether the decision to which the advice or recommendations relates has already been made.

Yes, theoretically, we could be operational as soon as July 20th, but I suspect not. The only reason I don't like August writ large is because it provoke a number of additional questions.

Hi,

As we are still sorting out dates, would "we expect the application process to be opened in August" work? Gives us wriggle room on timing and if we have to do paper just in case.

Hello

Does GCPE have a policy regarding speeches and requests from journalists or Consul General's or others, for copies of those speeches. The issue has come up recently in regard to the visit by His Excellency Wang Chen from China.

My concern is that politicians and others do not always stick to the script. Also, the nuances of a live situation are not always evident in the written word.

Let me know when you can.

Good Morning,

The Office of the Premier received this FOI request from an interest group:

All records to/from/referencing the Canadian Association of Petroleum Producers (CAPP), the Pembina Institute, and hydraulic fracturing – which relate to the scientific review on Hydraulic fracturing, as mentioned in <https://news.gov.bc.ca/releases/2018EMPR0006-000402> (Date Range for Record Search: From 09/01/2017 To 03/15/2018)

They identified the attached document(s) as responsive records and wish to get your views on disclosure. If you need help determining harms, please contact me directly.

Your program area's response and executive sign off is due July 16, 2018.

If you are not able to respond by this date, we are required to continue processing this file without your recommendations.

1. Ministry Program Harms Assessment:

Please indicate which applies:

- 1. There are no harms in these records. They can be released in full.*
- 2. There are harms in releasing all of these records. They should be withheld in their entirety.*
- 3. There are harms in portions of the records. Please give details so that IAO can apply the appropriate sections of FOIPPA. Please feel free to write directly on the attached records and send back to IAO. If you are unsure of why it is harmful please call the IAO to discuss the appropriate severing.*

Note that all general FOI request records that are released to an applicant should be published on the Open Information website unless the exemption criteria apply. The exemption criteria can be found on page 11 of the Open Information and Open Data Policy. Consultations from outside provincial public bodies are not published on the Open Information website.

Exercise of Discretion:

The Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act (FOIPPA) contains both mandatory and discretionary exceptions to disclosure. Sections 13 to 20 are the discretionary exceptions. Where Information Access Operations (IAO) has advised the head that a discretionary exception may apply, it is important that the head consider the possibility of releasing the information despite the fact that an exception may apply.

Factors relevant to the exercise of discretion include:

- the general purposes of the legislation: public bodies should make information available to the public; individuals should have access to personal information about themselves;
- the wording of the discretionary exception and the interests which the section attempts to balance;
- whether the individual's request could be satisfied by severing the record and by providing the applicant with as much information as is reasonably practicable;
- the historical practice of the public body with respect to the release of similar types of documents;
- the nature of the record and the extent to which the document is significant and/or sensitive to the public body;
- whether the disclosure of the information will increase public confidence in the operation of the public body;
- the age of the record;
- whether there is a sympathetic or compelling need to release materials;
- whether previous orders of the Commissioner have ruled that similar types of records or information should or should not be subject to disclosure; and
- when the policy advice exception is claimed, whether the decision to which the advice or recommendations relates has already been made.

Thank you,

Group,

Just to close the loop, I've been informed by the FLNRO RD and AGR MO's that both their ministers will be attending and signing tomorrow.

I've connected with Sarah and she's coordinating the on-the-ground logistics with Chief Chamberlin. I've also asked her to speak to the MO about whether we need a comms person there as a back-up.

Finally, I've asked Sarah to run the release (and LOU attachment) through the editors for release at 11:00 tomorrow.

Chief Chamberlin,

Just a quick follow-up.

The release is going to the editors and the plan is to have it released tomorrow at 11:00AM

I'll get an edited version back to you tomorrow morning.

I can also confirm that Ministers Fraser, Popham and Donaldson will all be on hand to sign tomorrow.

I've asked the Comms Director in MIRR to connect with your team to go over any logistical issues.

If anything comes up, please don't hesitate to call.

Thanks again for your help with this.

How's this for follow up with Justine? Okay for me to provide on background?

Q: who would be involved in the agreements with fish farm operators, band councils, hereditary chiefs, members?

A:
There is no single universal answer as to whom is the "proper rights holder" in a First Nation.

The rights holding entity in a community varies; and the Province relies heavily on the self-determination of the First Nation themselves in terms of whom needs to be engaged.

The agreements that fish farm companies conclude should be done with the relevant indigenous rights holders from that community.

Companies can find out the proper entity for engagement for each First Nation through the publicly accessible consultation areas database, in combination with consultation and clarification from permitting agencies (in this case FLNR who is the provincial permitting agency for the fish farm infrastructure).

Thanks,
Sarah.

Yes on MA, no on release.

NR should be set for trigger release and I'll make the call from the room. It will be at about 12:30

Just double checking that the plan is to send the MA at 7:40, and the release itself later this morning around 11:30.

Is this correct Eric?

The release will go out with a backgrounder.

The Canada-British Columbia agreement on aquaculture management (2010) sets out the responsibilities of both governments with respect to the management and regulation of the aquaculture sector in B.C.

- Fisheries and Oceans Canada is responsible for the conservation and protection of fish and fish habitat, proper management and control of fisheries including aquaculture.
- Canada is responsible for collecting data regarding the environmental performance of the industry in BC via its licensing activities and its regular scientific research and monitoring programs.
- Ministry of Agriculture is B.C.'s lead for seafood industry development and strategic aquaculture policy. The ministry's Plant and Animal Health Laboratory supports Fisheries and Oceans Canada's audit programs.
- Ministry of Forests, Lands, Natural Resource Operations and Rural Development issues Land Act tenures authorizing use of crown land and foreshore
- Ministry of Environment and Climate Change Strategy issues permits for sewage discharge and pesticide use

Hi All,

Scott, I will confirm the change with telus and let everyone know when it is confirmed.

And will both events be in the press theatre then? Tech briefing and subsequent avail? Do you need anything in either case beyond a podium for the speakers to stand at?

Scott might have already asked about this, but we'll need to know who is speaking at the tech briefing and then if the plan is still for Minister Popham to do the avail on her own.

Thanks
Rick

Rick, we've changed the venue and timing that we need the conference call for. Can this request be updated?

The call will be made from the Press Theatre in the legislature (hence Scott's CC).
We'll need the line from 12:00 PM to 1:00 PM tomorrow now.
It will be the same line for the technical briefing, and then the media avail.

Group,

As discussed, this is the list of stakeholders to be called.

Per James' comments this morning, I was hoping you could identify which other SFA industry contacts need to be made. We can add them to the central list for organizational purposes, but I think they will be best made through your MO's or DMOs.

On an unrelated point, Vivian discovered that there was no room in the Leg available for the technical briefing tomorrow, so we'll have to go with a conference call instead. That said, it came across very well on the phone this morning.

Thanks

Gentlemen,

Thanks for your considerable efforts on this. Two things:

- 1) Can you send me a copy of the deck once you have it and
- 2) I'd like to arrange a time on Tuesday to do a dry run of the presentation. We've done these a few times and we find that if we give you some practice by peppering you with potential and obnoxious questions, the actual briefing is much easier on the briefers. To be clear, the briefing itself will be background only and not for attribution.....thus far, the media have respected the rules.

Please let me know when on Tuesday works best for you.

This may have already made its way back to you but I wanted to ensure everyone is on the same page. As of late yesterday afternoon, the planned format of the announcement had shifted. The plan now is that we will arrange a technical briefing by staff on the planned tenuring changes via conference call at 11:00 on Wednesday. It will be a not for attribution briefing by staff. Immediately following the conference call, we'll issue the release and backgrounder and then MLP would do a media availability at 1:00.

The deck will still serve as the basis of the briefing, but it won't be a visual aid.

Can you give me a sense as to where your respective teams are at with respect to the technical presentation and who you think is the best person or persons to do the briefing?

The Editor

Maclean's

As a lifelong New Democrat who has worked for decades to make life better for working people, I was surprised to see your publication's claims regarding the focus of our government's efforts. I was surprised because one of the first things our government did after taking office was to reverse the last government's tax cut for the top 2% of income earners in our province. We are reinvesting those dollars into supporting public education and other programs so important for the middle class.

The last government chose to raise revenue by doubling regressive MSP premiums. These fees fall disproportionately on working and middle class British Columbians to the benefit of the wealthiest in our province. Our government is taking the enormous step of eliminating this regressive fee altogether. At $2.6 billion, this is one of the largest tax cuts for families in B.C. history. We're putting up to $1,800 a year back into the pockets of middle class families in our province.

We have eliminated bridge tolls, reduced prescription drug costs for those with lower incomes, invested in seniors care and team-based health care, tackled the opioid crisis, hired 3,800 more teachers, improved benefits for those on social assistance, and made the largest investment in affordable child care in B.C.'s history. Our child care fee reduction benefits all families with children in licensed care while our affordable child care benefit provides up to $1,250 per month for families earning up to $45,000 and up to $910 per month for those earning as much as $80,000 a year. Middle class British Columbians tell me they are seeing the difference in their pocket books and they have hope for the first time they will be able to get ahead. These are the actions of a government that is working for the middle class.

Our government is also strongly committed to tackling the housing crisis across the urban centres of our province. We have made the largest investment in housing supply in B.C. history along with targeted tax changes to help moderate demand. These are actions that academics, advocates, municipalities and the public have called for so people can afford to live and work in their own province. These measures are strongly supported in poll after poll by the vast majority of British Columbians.

We are moving forward with a bold, new speculation tax targeting non-resident owners, satellite families, and those with homes sitting empty in B.C.'s hottest housing markets. We are increasing the progressivity in the school tax by asking the top 2%, those that have benefitted most from skyrocketing housing prices, to pay a little bit more on the value of homes over $3 million. Not only does this help fund the services that people rely on, but it will help to moderate the market so that middle class families can afford a place to call home.

Our government is taking exactly the kind of bold action needed after 16 years of neglect from the last government. We are tackling the housing crisis head on. We are eliminating regressive MSP premiums that hit the middle class the hardest. And we are pushing forward on an historic, made-in-BC child care plan to make child care affordable and accessible for working and middle class families. These actions support the middle class and they support our economy. Our government will continue to work hard to deliver on our commitments to British Columbians.

Meghan,

Is there someone on your AGR who can put together a high-level overview of the province's interaction with the feds on fisheries jurisdiction. Specifically I'm thinking about something that does a bullet-point over view of significant agreements between BC and Ottawa, the creation of the fisheries ministry in the late 90s etc. Does not need to be detailed, but rather capture milestones.

It will help PJH prepare for Friday's announcement.

Hi Eric,

Apologies for the late notice, but here is the deck that we are proposing for MO staff. You will note this is a bit fuller than the deck for Ministers, but this too is the original course provided. The intent is to move through the old content pretty quickly so that we can spend some quality time on the new use cases provided at the end of the deck – to your point, I think the real value is in the discussion/application/question portion.

Please let me know if you want to discuss, or have any changes to suggest given your experience.

Subject: AQ announcement

Wes and Tim,

Further to last night's discussion, it's become apparent that the aquaculture announcement, in its simplest terms, is one of outlining a new process that government (or more accurately SDMs) will follow post 2022 in considering tenure renewals. The adoption of the new process raises a number of other issues that government will need to answer but for the purposes of the 22nd, the focus should be on the move to the new process itself.

To that end, I recommend that we have a technical briefing on the 22nd that illustrates the following:

- A brief history of how the tenure system developed over the past 20 years
- The impact of the 2009 court ruling on limiting BC's role
- The planned new criteria and process for renewing tenures or granting new tenures

If the technical briefing covers these items, then the formal presser can address the political questions with respect to the potential consequences of the decisions with respect to wild salmon, First Nations, industry, workers communities etc.

Can you have your respective teams start work on a brief deck outlining the above that could serve as the basis for the briefing?

Thanks

Records of any and all emails, text messages, BBMs, slack messages, and WhatsApp messages sent from Kate Van Meer Mass. (Date Range for Record Search: From 06/30/2017 To 07/31/2017)

They identified the attached document(s) as responsive records and wish to get your views on disclosure. If you need help determining harms, please see the attached harms assessment or contact me directly.

Your program area's response is due June 14, 2018. Please note that this file, as a "Restored Records" file, is a high priority, and a quick response would be much appreciated. IAO may take one to two business days to apply any severing.

1. Ministry Program Harms Assessment:

Please indicate which applies:

- 1. There are no harms in these records. They can be released in full.*
- 2. There are harms in releasing all of these records. They should be withheld in their entirety.*
- 3. There are harms in portions of the records. Please give details so that IAO can apply the appropriate sections of FOIPPA. Please feel free to write directly on the attached records and send back to IAO. If you are unsure of why it is harmful please call the IAO to discuss the appropriate severing.*

2. IAO's review of harms assessment and recommendations on release

Comments/Recommendations:

IAO will assess the program area's harms and recommend full release, withhold in its entirety or partial release.

3. Ministry Executive approval for release

Comments/Recommendations:

Please indicate which applies:

- 1. Approved for release with no changes.*

2. Approved for release with the following changes...
(insert changes).

3. Not approved for release and why.

Note that all general FOI request records that are released to an applicant should be published on the Open Information website unless the exemption criteria apply. The exemption criteria can be found on page 11 of the Open Information and Open Data Policy. Consultations from outside provincial public bodies are not published on the Open Information website.

Exercise of Discretion:

The Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act (FOIPPA) contains both mandatory and discretionary exceptions to disclosure. Sections 13 to 20 are the discretionary exceptions. Where Information Access Operations (IAO) has advised the head that a discretionary exception may apply, it is important that the head consider the possibility of releasing the information despite the fact that an exception may apply.

Factors relevant to the exercise of discretion include:

- the general purposes of the legislation: public bodies should make information available to the public; individuals should have access to personal information about themselves;
- the wording of the discretionary exception and the interests which the section attempts to balance;
- whether the individual's request could be satisfied by severing the record and by providing the applicant
- with as much information as is reasonably practicable;
- the historical practice of the public body with respect to the release of similar types of documents;
- the nature of the record and the extent to which the document is significant and/or sensitive to the public body;
- whether the disclosure of the information will increase public confidence in the operation of the public body;
- the age of the record;
- whether there is a sympathetic or compelling need to release materials;
- whether previous orders of the Commissioner have ruled that similar types of records or information should or should not be subject to disclosure; and
- when the policy advice exception is claimed, whether the decision to which the advice or recommendations relates has already been made.

Subject: Invitation to join the Wild Salmon Advisory Council

Importance: High

Good afternoon Chief Marilyn Slett:

The Province of British Columbia is undertaking urgent work to restore healthy and abundant wild fish stocks, with the key emphasis on protecting wild salmon.

On behalf of the Office of the Premier, I extend an invitation for you to join the Wild Salmon Advisory Council.

The Wild Salmon Advisory Council will be comprised of representatives from First Nations, commercial fishing, sports fishing, NGOs and local governments. The Council will work with Coastal First Nations in strategic development and production of an options paper to serve as the basis for public consultations on a Draft Provincial Strategic Framework on Wild Salmon.

The proposed options paper will explore the restoration and enhancement of wild salmon populations, sustainable fisheries management and stewardship opportunities for communities, and new economic development opportunities to assist viable / sustainable community-based fisheries.

The objectives for the Draft Provincial Strategic Framework on Wild Salmon include:

- Restoring healthy and abundant wild fish stocks, with an emphasis on protecting the iconic and official symbol of our coast: wild salmon;
- Maximizing the benefits to British Columbia from recent changes to the Fisheries Act (Bill C-68: An Act to amend the Fisheries Act and other Acts in consequence) that contemplate a larger role for provinces and Indigenous communities in sustainable fisheries development;
- Establishing a lasting and productive collaboration between the Department of Fisheries and Oceans Canada (DFO) and British Columbia in the management of each government's respective responsibilities for the health of B.C. fish stocks, habitat and fisheries policy;
- Honouring and supporting reconciliation with Indigenous communities;
- Recognizing the important cultural, economic, social, and food security interests of coastal and inland Indigenous and non-Indigenous communities;
- Through an open and transparent decision-making process, increasing the community-level economic benefits of fisheries for Indigenous and non-Indigenous local communities, families and businesses, while respecting the interests of commercial license holders and owner-operators, sport fishers and others;
- Pursuing economic development opportunities for fishing communities through value-added processing and by-products optimization;
- Confronting climate change.

If you would like to accept the invitation to be a member of the Wild Salmon Advisory Council, please review and complete the attached Candidate Profile and Declaration for Governing Boards form at your earliest convenience.

If you would like further information, please feel free to contact me directly. I look forward to working with you.

Sincerely,

Note that all general FOI request records that are released to an applicant should be published on the Open Information website unless the exemption criteria apply. The exemption criteria can be found on page 11 of the Open Information and Open Data Policy. Consultations from outside provincial public bodies are not published on the Open Information website.

Exercise of Discretion:

The Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act (FOIPPA) contains both mandatory and discretionary exceptions to disclosure. Sections 13 to 20 are the discretionary exceptions. Where Information Access Operations (IAO) has advised the head that a discretionary exception may apply, it is important that the head consider the possibility of releasing the information despite the fact that an exception may apply.

Factors relevant to the exercise of discretion include:

- the general purposes of the legislation: public bodies should make information available to the public; individuals should have access to personal information about themselves;
- the wording of the discretionary exception and the interests which the section attempts to balance;
- whether the individual's request could be satisfied by severing the record and by providing the applicant with as much information as is reasonably practicable;
- the historical practice of the public body with respect to the release of similar types of documents;
- the nature of the record and the extent to which the document is significant and/or sensitive to the public body;
- whether the disclosure of the information will increase public confidence in the operation of the public body;
- the age of the record;
- whether there is a sympathetic or compelling need to release materials;
- whether previous orders of the Commissioner have ruled that similar types of records or information should or should not be subject to disclosure; and
- when the policy advice exception is claimed, whether the decision to which the advice or recommendations relates has already been made.

Hi Eric,
Here's an initial take at an Event Plan for consideration for the WSS.
As you can see, I've provided two options. I personally think option 2 is the option that could get further reach, as we would make use of gov't social channels and those of the relevant stakeholders, as well as traditional media.
Let me know if, generally, this is headed in the right direction with messaging, and what you think about the secondary option.

While there are many sources that discuss the commitment to hold a referendum on electoral reform, there are very few that go into detail or include quote.

Interview with Fair Vote Canada, Posted April 11th, 2017 (Youtube)

"What motivated me to do this was, of course, the notion of a citizen's assembly, which I applauded when Gordon Campbell brought it in in 2001.... Let's have a group of citizens sit down and look at all of the options available let's have experts on hand to answer any questions, but let's let citizens decide... I didn't agree with what they came up with... I have always preferred It's been NDP policy to support mixed member proportionality as the preferred proportional representation system"

"Our plan would be, after the election – should we be successful with the first past the post system, would be to strike a committee, and go about hearing from citizens, formulating a question at the conclusion of that putting that question to a referendum"... "The difference would be that the government would campaign in favour of that question, and I believe that we can convince the majority of British Columbians, fifty percent plus one"

.....

"It would be 50% plus one of the total votes, but I've talked to Gary about this and I'm inclined to agree with him, we need to ensure that we are protecting rural voters, voters in sparsely populated regions of the province are not disproportionately affected by this decision. You don't want Metro Vancouver to vote heavily in favour and every other part of the province voting against"

Platform/Website

Our current first-past-the-post voting system isn't working. Parties that don't get 50 per cent of the vote get all the power and the voices of minority groups often go unheard. It's time for a system where every vote counts.

John Horgan and the BC NDP would hold a referendum on changing our voting system to a proportional system. We'll ensure BC's regions are all represented fairly and we will campaign for the "yes" side.

Vancouver Sun – Palmer – February 3rd, 2017

"If elected in 2017, New Democrats will give British Columbians a vote to decide if they want a proportional representation system in place for the 2021 provincial election," the NDP promise continues.

"Further, a New Democrat government would not only consult British Columbians on the specific proportional reform to be put to a vote, but would campaign strongly in favour of that reform."

In the absence of consensus, Horgan has suggested a two-step option that played out in New Zealand some years back. In the first referendum, voters approved the shift away from first past the post. In the second, they chose among different forms of proportional representation. But that would add to the complications and the expense as well.

QP From April 24th, 2018

A. Wilkinson: Last Thursday we had quite a show put on by the Attorney General as he demonstrated that he was unwilling or unable to answer the most basic questions about the proportional representation referendum that is apparently happening someday this fall.

The supposedly neutral arbiter of the process has demonstrated in the past, through his statements and behaviour, that he is in fact deeply biased in favour of a positive outcome for that vote.

He has completely failed to avoid the perception of bias. In any judicial system, he'd be voluntarily recusing himself from the role. However, the Attorney General carries on and maintains the facade that he can be neutral.

Will the Premier keep his promise made during the election that he will establish a truly independent and non-partisan oversight process for the referendum?

[1040]

Hon. J. Horgan: I thank the Leader of the Opposition for the question, but I have to say I reject the premise. I have full confidence in the Attorney General to discharge his responsibilities to this place and to the people of British Columbia.

We will be having a referendum in the fall to address the question of electoral change. That's something that we campaigned on. That's something the people on the other side of the House put into a throne speech that didn't make it past first-day debate. But nonetheless, they seemed enthusiastic about it then. I don't know why they're not now.

Mr. Speaker: The Leader of the Official Opposition on a supplemental.

A. Wilkinson: This is diagnostic of the problem. The Premier takes an arrogant, dismissive approach to this issue, which is going to be fundamental to how this institution is governed and how our province is governed.

Interjections.

A. Wilkinson: The members opposite mock the need for an objective process. Listen to them sneering at the prospect of an open process.

What we have is a record. In 2005 and in 2009, British Columbians were asked questions that were formulated by an independent body that took more than a year to develop those questions, in cooperation with the academic community, with Elections B.C. The entire process was clear and transparent.

Instead, today we have a referendum with no date. We have a question apparently to be decided by cabinet. We don't know if there will be one or more questions. There's no prospect of a debate in this House on what the questions might be. There's no set date for the referendum. There's no clarity whatsoever about any funding for organizations, both acting in favour and opposed to the referendum.

We are told nothing. The people of British Columbia are kept in the dark, and this is supposedly five months away. And we have arrogant and dismissive answers from the Premier.

To the Premier, how can he justify this charade in comparison to the 2005 and 2009 open, transparent and public engagement processes?

Hon. J. Horgan: We have had a record response to this question in terms of feedback from the public to the government and to this Legislature about where the people of British Columbia want us to go with respect to this question.

Electoral reform was a key pillar in our election campaign, as well as for the Third Party. Again, as I say, it was embraced most recently by those on the other side of the House last June.

I would say to the Leader of the Opposition that we're doing our level best to ensure that we have everything in order in a timely matter so that the public will have an opportunity to have their say on whether they want to keep the first-past-the-post system or they want to have a different approach in British Columbia.

We're committed to that, and I would hope that the members on the other side would join us in that regard.

Mr. Speaker: The Leader of the Official Opposition on a second supplemental.

A. Wilkinson: The Premier has broken his promise of a simple yes-or-no question. No debate about that. The Premier has broken his promise for regional thresholds. No debate about that. The Premier has broken his promise to set up an all-party committee on proportional representation. No debate about that. A series of broken promises.

Now the Premier falls back on an on-line contact process, for which they refuse to disclose the actual material that came in and where it came from. Was this done by bots from Zimbabwe? We don't know because they won't tell us.

This process is entirely secretive, is entirely hidden, and the Premier smirks with glee as he says: "I'm getting away with it." This is an insult to the people of British Columbia.

Will this Premier finally acknowledge that this cynical exercise is nothing more than an effort to mollify the Greens to keep his fragile coalition together?

Hon. J. Horgan: Cynical exercises are being practised by those on the other side of the House who forget their record of 16 years of indifference to public participation, their indifference to engaging with the public to get a true understanding of where the people of British Columbia want to go. We're engaging in that process now.

To suggest that I've broken a promise on a question that we don't yet know is a little bit of a reach by the Leader of the Official Opposition.

I understand that asking questions from that side of the House is new to those members, and they're going to get better at it over time. But I think they should have some patience, allow us to fulfil the commitments we made to the people of B.C. It will be known in the fullness of time. I have full confidence in the Attorney General to do that in an impartial and just way.

Subject: Fish farm audit

Materials, including the draft report, are being finalized in advance of a briefing for MGH tomorrow (I'll attend that briefing). I'll get a hold of all final docs and send them along when ready. In the meantime the ADM has sent me the conclusions and recommendations from the draft report.

Conclusion and Recommendations:

Based on the results of the audit following inspections of the 30 fish processing facilities and a review of effluent discharge quality samples, permit requirements, a jurisdictional scan and best achievable technology (BAT), it can be concluded that:

1. Eighteen of the 30 fish processing facilities are currently operating or plan to be operating in 2018, and are or will be discharging effluent to the environment.
2. Eight of these eighteen facilities operate year round and the remaining 10 operate seasonally, generally between June and September.
3. The tonnage of farmed salmon processed represents 67 percent of all fish processed at these 18 facilities operating in BC. All of the farmed salmon is being processed by five fish processing facilities.
4. Two of these facilities processing farmed salmon, process greater than 60 percent of all fish. One other facility, processing exclusively wild finfish, processes nearly 20 percent of all fish. The tonnage of fish processed by the remaining 15 facilities represents less than 20 percent of the total fish processed and less than 10 percent of the total farmed salmon processed.
5. The effluent discharges are also regulated by with Fisheries and Oceans Canada (DFO) and Environment and Climate Change Canada (ECCC) under the Fisheries Act, which prohibits causing serious harm to fish and the deposit of deleterious substances into waters frequented by fish. The effluent discharges are also regulated by the DFO and Canadian Food Inspection Agency (CFIA) co-led National Aquatic Animal Health Program, which prevents the transfer of pathogens and the DFO administered the Species at Risk Act. This Act currently lists in BC, chinook, coho and sockeye salmon as endangered, threatened or of special concern.

6. A jurisdictional scan of seafood processing waste discharge legislation, standards and guidelines identified almost no requirements or environmental standards of effluent discharges.
7. A consultant's review of the existing data and knowledge of piscine orthoreovirus (PRV) in BC determined that, researchers have been unable to demonstrate a causative relationship between PRV and Heart, Skeletal and Muscle Inflammation (HSMI) disease, testing for PRV does not indicate whether the virus is viable and without the ability to test for the live virus, it is unknown what the efficacy of wastewater disinfection is for PRV.
8. The fish processing facilities were In Compliance with 44 percent of their permit requirements and Out of Compliance with 22 percent of their permit requirements. Compliance was Not Determined for 10 percent of all requirements and Not Applicable for 24 percent of all requirements. The instances of non-compliance were due to:
 - a. Exceeding discharge rate;
 - b. Exceeding discharge quality;
 - c. Modifying authorized treatment works without approvals;
 - d. Failure to post outfall signage;
 - e. Failure to conduct outfall inspections;
 - f. Failure to conduct monitoring or sufficient monitoring of the discharge rate, discharge quality or receiving environment quality; and
 - g. Failure to submit required data or reports.
9. Effluent discharge samples were collected at eight fish processing facilities that were currently operating and discharging to the environment at the time of the inspection. These included facilities that process farmed salmon, wild salmon and wild finfish and seafood as well as facilities that have treatment works that ranged from only fine screening to fine screening in combination with primary treatment and disinfection.
10. The effluent discharge quality and toxicity results indicate that typical undiluted fish processing facility effluent having passed through current treatment works is frequently acutely lethal to fish due to high levels of BOD, COD and TSS. Once released into the receiving environment effluent mixing and dilution occurs potentially reducing harmful concentrations of contaminants.
11. The requirements of the 30 EMA permits, which were assessed in this audit do not contain consistent wording or requirements. All permits contain a maximum discharge rate; however, only some permits set effluent discharge quality limits, have maintenance of works, bypass and process modification requirements, outfall posting and outfall inspection requirements, discharge rate, discharge quality and receiving environment quality monitoring and reporting requirements.
12. Most of the current permits do not contain foundational environmental protection provisions. Some inconsistencies are expected due to the site-specific nature of permitting; however, the permits frequently do not contain effluent discharge quality limits and monitoring and reporting requirements for discharge rate, discharge quality and receiving environment quality.
13. Most of the current permits authorize treatment works that utilize treatment guidelines developed in 1975 and are generally limited to fine screening.
14. Best achievable technology (BAT) for the sector includes: preliminary treatment (solids removal), primary treatment (suspended solids removal), and disinfection where required to control the spread of fish pathogens. The authorized treatment works of 24 of the 30 fish processing facilities is limited to preliminary treatment using fine screening. Two of the 30 permits require fine screening and also primary treatment and disinfection. These two facilities, process nearly 40 percent of all farmed salmon and 40 percent of all fish.
15. BAT for facilities operating continuously for more than six months of the year also includes secondary treatment (soluble BOD reduction). None of the 30 permits currently require secondary treatment.

16. Many of the permittees indicated that the costs associated with additional treatment would be too much of a burden on their current budgets and would likely mean that in the event that they are required to add additional treatment, they would have to discontinue the operation of their facilities.

It is recommended that:

1. The existing permits be amended to include foundational environmental protection provisions such as:
 - a. Numerical values for effluent discharge quality, in particular BOD, COD, TSS and nutrients. ENV should engage with DFO and ECCC to ensure that these values consider existing legislation such as the Fisheries Act, to ensure that the effluent discharge quality limits do not cause serious harm to fish and the effluent would not be considered a deleterious substance;
 - b. Monitoring for effluent discharge quality and toxicity;
 - c. A well-designed receiving environment monitoring program; and
 - d. An interpretation of the receiving environment data and an assessment of the impact of the discharge on the environment.
2. The existing permits be amended to include consistent and verifiable requirements for all permits to the extent possible without limiting the site-specific nature of permitting. Wherever there is a limit or rate, there must be requirements to monitor and report. Wherever there is an authorized works, there must be requirements to maintain the works and to not bypass the works or modify the works without notifying ENV.
3. The amending of the existing permits should prioritize facilities based on relative environmental risk, the existing treatment technologies, the tonnage of fish processed and the volume of effluent being discharged.
4. The fish processing facilities develop and review their Standard Operational Procedures to reduce the volume and improve the quality of the effluent discharged to the environment.
5. The treatment capabilities of best achievable technology (BAT) should be considered in determination of effluent discharge limits.
6. In the event that BAT is not possible to achieve effluent discharge quality limits, that the fish processing facilities consider alternatives for effluent disposal including connection to a municipal sewerage system, if possible.

I'm meeting with the MO on it tomorrow, as we're all wrapped up in Bee Day events today. My DM didn't have much info, it sounds like my MO has more info than the Ministry.

Can I give you an update tomorrow?

Don,

I've got AGR working on a complan and components for the Wild Salmon announcement. Corp Cal is nailing down a date for next week. Any sense of how long it will take for the members to respond? We don't need them at the announcement, but we do need to be able to announce who they are. I flag this because if we can't guarantee they will all be confirmed by next week, then we may have to push.

Hello Government Communications and Public Engagement,

The Office of the Premier received this FOI request from a political party:

All records relating to the Alberta Government's ban on BC wine. Excluding records specific to BC Wine Week and Today's News Online. (Date Range for Record Search: From 12/01/2017 To 02/26/2018)

They identified the attached documents as responsive records and wish to get your views on disclosure. If you need help determining harms, please contact me directly.

Your program area's response is due May 25, 2018.
IAO may take one to two business days to apply any severing.

1. Ministry Program Harms Assessment:

Please indicate which applies:

- 1. There are no harms in these records. They can be released in full.*
- 2. There are harms in releasing all of these records. They should be withheld in their entirety.*
- 3. There are harms in portions of the records. Please give details so that IAO can apply the appropriate sections of FOIPPA. Please feel free to write directly on the attached records and send back to IAO. If you are unsure of why it is harmful please call the IAO to discuss the appropriate severing.*

Note that all general FOI request records that are released to an applicant should be published on the Open Information website unless the exemption criteria apply. The exemption criteria can be found on page 11 of the Open Information and Open Data Policy. Consultations from outside provincial public bodies are not published on the Open Information website.

Exercise of Discretion:

The Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act (FOIPPA) contains both mandatory and discretionary exceptions to disclosure. Sections 13 to 20 are the discretionary exceptions. Where Information Access Operations (IAO) has advised the head that a discretionary exception may apply, it is important that the head consider the possibility of releasing the information despite the fact that an exception may apply.

Factors relevant to the exercise of discretion include:

- the general purposes of the legislation: public bodies should make information available to the public; individuals should have access to personal information about themselves;
- the wording of the discretionary exception and the interests which the section attempts to balance;
- whether the individual's request could be satisfied by severing the record and by providing the applicant with as much information as is reasonably practicable;
- the historical practice of the public body with respect to the release of similar types of documents;
- the nature of the record and the extent to which the document is significant and/or sensitive to the public body;
- whether the disclosure of the information will increase public confidence in the operation of the public body;
- the age of the record;
- whether there is a sympathetic or compelling need to release materials;
- whether previous orders of the Commissioner have ruled that similar types of records or information should or should not be subject to disclosure; and
- when the policy advice exception is claimed, whether the decision to which the advice or recommendations relates has already been made.

Exercise of Discretion:

The Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act (FOIPPA) contains both mandatory and discretionary exceptions to disclosure. Sections 13 to 20 are the discretionary exceptions. Where Information Access Operations (IAO) has advised the head that a discretionary exception may apply, it is important that the head consider the possibility of releasing the information despite the fact that an exception may apply.

Factors relevant to the exercise of discretion include:

- the general purposes of the legislation: public bodies should make information available to the public; individuals should have access to personal information about themselves;
- the wording of the discretionary exception and the interests which the section attempts to balance;
- whether the individual's request could be satisfied by severing the record and by providing the applicant with as much information as is reasonably practicable;
- the historical practice of the public body with respect to the release of similar types of documents;
- the nature of the record and the extent to which the document is significant and/or sensitive to the public body;
- whether the disclosure of the information will increase public confidence in the operation of the public body;
- the age of the record;
- whether there is a sympathetic or compelling need to release materials;
- whether previous orders of the Commissioner have ruled that similar types of records or information should or should not be subject to disclosure; and
- when the policy advice exception is claimed, whether the decision to which the advice or recommendations relates has already been made.

Subject: Consultation on OOP FOI requests Re: Geoff Meggs's Emails Due: June 11

Hello GCPE,

The Office of the Premier received three similar FOI requests seeking:

Records of any and all emails, text messages, BBMs, slack messages, and WhatsApp messages – excluding attachments - sent from Geoff Meggs.

OOP-2018-80797: (Date Range for Record Search: From 09/01/2017 To 09/30/2017)

OOP-2018-81512: (Date Range for Record Search: From 10/01/2017 To 10/31/2017)

OOP-2018-82582: (Date Range for Record Search: From 11/01/2017 To 11/30/2017)

For streamlined processing, IAO is sending out consultations for all three of these requests in a consolidated package. Please review the attached documents and provide your views on disclosure. Please note that in some instances, information has been removed from the records when that information does not pertain your public body.

Your program area's response is due June 11, 2018

IAO may take one to two business days to apply any severing.

If you are not able to respond by this date, we are required to continue processing this file without your recommendations.

Thank you,

Chad, as discussed, below is GCPE 2018-83596 and the response from GDX based on what they think might be involved. I've just double checked on the second 2 requests, and they are producing records (likely with a modest fee estimate) as we speak so I won't require your guidance on those after all. In the case below, the issue is not the fee estimate (which obviously isn't feasible, but rather that the scope is so broad and the wording so vague as to put us in a bit of a box.

I appreciate the help.

Hello,

GCPE has received a request information under the Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act (FOIPPA).

Scope: All records regarding data collection and data capture and the use and disclosure of any data collected by the government. (Date Range for Record Search: From 07/18/2017 To 04/27/2018)

The Applicant has advised they are interested in records that would provide insight into how data is collected, captured and used through various online platforms such as Facebook.

Subject: Fwd: needs to be validated some more but these numbers are very very large

So here is the estimate Walter came up with last week.

As you can see, he's interpreted the request broadly but I think correctly. Here is the original wording:

"All records regarding data collection and data capture and the use and disclosure of any data collected by the government. (Date Range for Record Search: From 07/18/2017 To 04/27/2018)

The Applicant has advised they are interested in records that would provide insight into how data is collected, captured and used through various online platforms such as Facebook."

Looking forward to chatting more.

Would your suggestion be we work through IAO to let the applicant know this is an impractical request?

Don,

Following up on our chat. I think the board could benefit from some more representation from the recreational sector, largely because that sector makes up the largest stakeholder in terms of direct users (+/- 250,000 saltwater anglers in BC). It also produces 6,100 jobs and $563 million in GDP. The commercial salmon fishery produces 3,300 jobs, and $260 million in GDP.

I had a discussion with Maura who said that she had connected with you to make recommendations on a supplementary training program/course for political staff. I mentioned to her that Krista D'Argis (our GCPE FOI lead) had put together a 45 minutes session that focused on records management and FOI for those for whom most records consisted of emails. It's been well received by those who've taken it and may just fit the bill in terms of what you've been asked to provide. So I was going to suggest that your team take a look at what we've got and see if it might be of use?

Hi all,

Here is a quick draft – let me know your thoughts

VIP Tour Draft:

- Depart Langley or YVR Airport (Whatever is easiest for PJH)
- Aerial overview (Port Mann Bridge to Hope) (EMBC Senior Regional Manager Ian Cummings, FLNROD flood accessor and PJH/staff)
- Seabird Island Visit (looks like we can land at seabird right behind their band council, just need to coordinate Landing Zone safety with Haig Fire Base and Seabird Island Fire Dept)
- For media availability we are looking into two potential sites, one in the Bridgeview area of Surrey and one at the EMBC warehouse in Chilliwack.
 - There is no active work being done in Surrey; however, we could get PJH to speak to the work that was done there and along the Lower Fraser.
 - Chilliwack location would give the opportunity to have a backdrop of sandbags, tiger dams, etc, and speak about the large volumes of flood mitigation equipment running in and out of the location.
- Return to Langley Airport (or YVR)

Please advise on the following:

- Whether Chilliwack or Surrey would be a preferred media availability site
- What time PJH and staff would be able to get to either YVR or Langley Airport, and
- How many people will be travelling
 - The helicopters we're looking at hold 7 people. That would mean we could accommodate PJH and 4 additional staff on the tour. If more is needed we can book two helicopters.

Group,

Bob Turner tells me that current projections suggest that peak waters will occur near the long weekend. To that end, I'd suggest that we pull a subset of this group together Monday to put together both messaging and directions for the public that we can put out in advance telling people where to get information about areas of concern etc. Jordan likely has much of this already mapped out, but It would be worthwhile reviewing and determining where the gaps are.

So this one should go to Karl/Kathryn who should assess how long they think it will take to pull the requested records. If they think its more than 3 hours then stop and do a fee assessment and/or go back to the requester for a narrowing of scope.

Rick, Bob and Jennifer,

I just wanted say thanks for a well-executed series of briefings on the Abbott/Chapman Report. It consumed a significant part of your calendar at a busy time of the year.

The Opposition was appreciative and the feedback from the media was positive, though, not surprisingly, they were a bit overwhelmed with the information.

The initial coverage is good and I expect we'll see more in the coming days.

Thanks again

Thanks for your help over the past week, I think we've got just about everything nailed down.

2 things:

- I understand that the reports and executive summaries will be sent to Keira's office. When they arrive, can you please let Stephanie Sherlock know so that her team can help distribute at the technical briefing at 1:30.
- Don wanted to make an on-the-record point about the work the public service did last year in fire and flood. While much of that will be addressed by MDD in his response to the report, we recommend that if he is so inclined, he should have a chat with Palmer. Please let us know if he'd like us to facilitate this.

Jackie,

I was hoping we could arrange a technical briefing for you and your colleagues tomorrow with respect to the Abbott Chapman report. Unfortunately neither of the chairs is available, but three senior staff from FLNRO RD, EMBC and TRAN who worked with Abbott and Chapman are happy to provide an overview. I'd expect it would take about an hour (30 mins for the presentation, 30 mins for questions), and would be provided on an embargoed basis until the report is released at 3:00 on Thursday.

The group has a window at 11:30-12:30 tomorrow if that works?

Thanks very much for your help with this

Key Messages:

- GCPE does not gather personal information for one purpose and use it for a different purpose.
- GCPE is fully compliant with the requirements of FOIPPA and this fact has been confirmed by the OPIC
- The Ministerial Orders of February 2018 did not grant GCPE any new or additional powers with respect to the gathering and use of personal information.

My reason for including at the top of the note is so the Minister can deliver a simple, factual answer and use the rest as background information.

Dave W,

Just to close the loop, when you and Karl have the draft, could you ship it to Dave H and me.....Dave made some good suggestions about including a reference to the fact that we routinely do PIAs and that this was an anomaly.

Rob Shaw from the sun is on the story, and his Qs are attached below.....I believe what we discussed will answer these as well. Note that he wants to file for 4:00 today, so if we can meet that, all the better.

Eric

Hi,
I'm sending this Q to both Citizens' Services and Finance because it straddles both the FOI act, Minister Sims' estimates and GCPE in finance.
I'm following up on Minister Sims' estimate debate from yesterday (Monday) regarding the OIC that authorized data collection by GCPE.
I'd like to ask:

- Was a privacy impact assessment conducted prior to Ministerial Order 080? If so, I'd like a copy please. If not, why not?
- What "data capture" was done in the 2017 throne speech, as written in Karl Hardin's Sept. 3 2017 email and referenced in estimates? Please provide any and all examples of how and why this data was captured and what it was subsequently used for and where else it was shared inside government.
- Was this same "data capture" subsequently used for the 2018 February throne speech?
- What other "data capture" was used in February for the throne speech or budget?
- What does GCPE do with the items it collects in (2) in MO 080 – including people's names, demographics, personal opinion, IP addresses and images/audio/video? Does it go into some sort of spreadsheet? Where has it been used or shared since this MO was passed? Why does GCPE need someone's data like this?
- Has government consulted with the privacy commissioner in any way on this?

Deadline 4pm today.

Thanks,
Rob

BCLC are proposing the following media response to Sam Cooper regarding materials he received through FOI. Both BCLC and GPEB have reviewed and approved. Seeking your review and approval before responding to media. Sam Cooper's deadline is noon Monday. Thank you.

Subject: UPDATED MEDIA REQUEST: Global National

Good afternoon,

BCLC has received questions from Global National regarding documents obtained through an FOI request (see screen grabs below the suggested draft response points).

Reporter / Outlet / Contact: Sam Cooper / Global National / Sam.Cooper@globalnews.ca

Deadline: Monday, May 7, 3 p.m.

Request:

Regarding Mr. Ennis letter: Could BCLC clarify what the concerns of Mr. Ennis were with regards to the high-limit baccarat independent report findings? Specifically what were the findings pointed to by Ennis, that he found objectionable? Was it appropriate for Mr. Ennis to request the findings be changed? In what manner did Ennis convey his request, and with what language?

Regarding Mr. Kroeker: Would the BCLC answer, as to whether there could be any perception that (BCLC VP of Security) Mr. Kroeker, possibly had already formed a view that money laundering was not occurring at the company of Mr. Ennis, therefore, could there be a perception that it would be difficult for Mr. Kroeker to change his views?

Regarding RRCR Player Review: As this VIP was by definition a "PEP" or "Politically Exposed Person" according to standard Canadian AML understanding, why was the client relationship not immediately severed? Is this the type of patron that BCLC finds to be an acceptable source of business? To the knowledge of BCLC, how many of these third-party type transactions in hotel room "cash houses" took place, in RRCR or any other Metro Vancouver casino, from 2014 through 2017? It is suggested to me by an employee inside the casino, that a manager of the hotel cited in the below report, has been disciplined or is no longer employed. If so, was this action taken in connection to cases such as the one cited below, or any connections to the investigations into the VIP hostess that was de-registered in 2018?

Response: Provide response on background

Regarding Mr. Ennis letter:

- You may wish to reach out to Great Canadian Gaming Corporation for questions related to its employees and correspondence.

Regarding Mr. Kroeker:

- As part of BCLC's Standards of Ethical Business Conduct, all employees and contractors are required to disclose any actual or perceived conflicts of interest – including any previous or current involvement in the gaming industry, in any capacity. Disclosure of any direct or indirect interest in a gaming service provider must also be disclosed to the Gaming Policy and Enforcement Branch (GPEB) as part of its registration process, which is a requirement of employment with BCLC. We will not comment on perceptions about an employee.

Regarding RRCR Player Review:

- Monitoring of “politically exposed persons” is not a specific requirement for the casino sector in Canada. However, BCLC takes a proactive approach to conduct due diligence in this area, including with background checks and source of funds interviews. If BCLC identifies a patron as a “politically exposed person,” the patron will be flagged and placed into the appropriate risk category based on the outcome of BCLC's screening process. The player's activities will be monitored as per legislative requirements.
- The Proceeds of Crime (Money Laundering) and Terrorist Financing Act & Regulations place no requirements on the reporting entity to immediately terminate a business relationship based solely on the fact the patron is a confirmed “politically exposed person.” The prescribed measures are risk based. Note that “politically exposed persons” include classes of individuals, such as every deputy minister and court of appeal justices, under the legislation.
- As part of BCLC's AML Program, BCLC may place certain conditions or requirements on patrons. When BCLC receives credible information regarding a patron or a particular source of funds deemed to be of high risk, BCLC will immediately act on that information, which can include placing the patron on various conditions or barring the patron from all gambling facilities in B.C.
- BCLC reports all suspicious financial transactions to FINTRAC and local law enforcement agencies for further investigation. BCLC also reports all conduct, activity or incident that involves the potential commission of an offence under the Criminal Code or Gaming Control Act to the Gaming Policy and Enforcement Branch.
- BCLC does not allow third-party buy-in transactions at B.C. gambling and entertainment facilities. We cannot comment on activities at offsite locations.
- You may wish to reach out to Great Canadian Gaming Corporation for questions related to its employees.

Executive Director, Corporate Security & Compliance
Great Canadian Gaming Corporation

Dear Mr. Ennis,

Re: High Limit Baccarat Evaluation

I write in response to your letter of June 13, 2017. BCLC acknowledges the extensive efforts that Great Canadian Gaming Corporation (GCGC) has made into ensuring it complies with BCLC standards, policies and procedures related to money laundering and in helping ensure that BCLC meets its obligations as a reporting entity under Canadian anti-money laundering (AML). Moreover, BCLC is aware that GCGC appreciates that protecting casinos in the province cannot remain static and must evolve and improve to meet money laundering and terrorism risks. BCLC looks forward to GCGC's continued dedication and collaboration on this important work.

With respect to the comment in the Baccarat Evaluation you

The management of aquaculture in Canada is primarily the responsibility of the federal government under the Department of Fisheries and Oceans Canada (DFO). The province works in partnership with DFO. The following more specifically outlines the roles and responsibilities of the federal government and the Province:

Fisheries and Oceans Canada	DFO responsible for licensing industry and protection of fish health Will accept license applications but is not making decisions due to harmonized process with BC
Ministry of Agriculture	B.C.'s lead for seafood industry development B.C.'s lead for strategic aquaculture policy Maintains Plant Animal Health Laboratory that supports DFO's audit program
Ministry of Forests Lands and Natural Resource Operations and Rural Economic Development (FLNR)	Issue tenures authorizing the use of the land, foreshore and marine areas for finfish and shellfish aquaculture (Land Act) Issue freshwater licences (Water Sustainability Act). Marine Use Planning
Ministry of Environment and Climate Change Strategy	Issues permits for sewage discharge (Environmental Management Act) Issue permits for pesticide use (Integrated Pest Management Act)

This is a very accurate response. The confusion is understandable from a US reporter because in the states, the treaty has to be ratified between Alaska, Washington, Oregon and California and the FNs. Not so here.

Request

I am freelancing a feature article for a Canada-US magazine, based in Seattle, about salmon-fish farms. I have two sets of questions related to "Salmon Treaty" talks, and BC's review of fish processing plants.

"Salmon Treaty"

On March 16th, at a joint-newser seated beside B.C. Premier Horgan in Vancouver, Washington Gov. Inslee described negotiations for a "Salmon Treaty" with Canadian jurisdictions. Gov. Inslee said he was hopeful the "treaty" talks would conclude in the "weeks ahead" to protect salmon along our shared coast. That timeline would put us to about now.

1. What is the status and purpose of these "Salmon Treaty" negotiations with BC, described by Gov. Inslee?
2. Technically, is this a Canada-US "treaty", or some kind of other agreement between Washington state and B.C. (and possibly other jurisdictions)?
3. Do those negotiations for a treaty/agreement touch upon salmon aquaculture farms (a.k.a. fish farms)?
4. Does the "Salmon Treaty" described by Gov. Inslee have anything to do with negotiations for an updated "Columbia River Treaty"?

BC review of fish processing plants

In December, Minister Heyman announced a review of fish processing plants, in the wake of a "blood water" video that went public.

1. What has this B.C. review found so far?
 2. A Dec. 20 CBC report said in December that the province conducted its own tests of the blood water, but "the results [were] not back yet." Are those provincial test results back in now -- and if so, what have tests shown?
 3. What efforts, if any, is the BC government exploring to move BC's salmon fish farms inland?
- Deadline: end of week (May 4) if possible.

Background

Recommendation

Provide the following bullets on background:

Attributable on background to Ministry of Agriculture

- The treaty Gov. Inslee was referring to is the Canada-US Pacific Salmon Treaty (PST)
- The Federal Department of Fisheries and Oceans (DFO) is the Canadian lead on the PST negotiations.
- Detailed comments about negotiations and the current process need to be sent to DFO, as the lead agency.
- The PST represents a bilateral Pacific salmon agreement that addresses conservation and harvest sharing on a coast-wide basis. It provides a forum for the countries to meet and develop coordinated fisheries management plans to achieve the objectives of Treaty – conservation and sharing.
- The Province has participated in the Pacific Salmon Commission (PSC) process since the Treaty was signed in 1985.
- The Province has had a Commissioner representing its interests at the table since 2001.
- The BC Commissioner is appointed by the federal Minister of Fisheries and Oceans. Paul Sprout is the current appointee.
- No, the PST does not have a connection to the Columbia River Treaty.

Attributable on background to Ministry of Environment

- Following an announced review of fish processing plants on December 20, the provincial government initiated inspections of the 30 fish processing plants with provincial permits. The inspections will review whether:
 - o Effluent discharge is potentially causing harmful pollution
 - o Current authorizations contain strong environmental protection provisions.
 - o Current authorization holders in the fish processing sector are in compliance with their permit.
 - o Best achievable technology (BAT) is being used in the treatment of effluent from fish processing plants.

* Audit is on track to be complete by May 31, 2018.

* Once inspections and data collection is complete, Ministry staff will be reviewing permits and/or regulations to require that best available technology is used in the treatment of effluent from fish processing plants to protect wild salmon stocks.

Information about the audit and fish processing is available here :

<https://www2.gov.bc.ca/gov/content/environment/research-monitoring-reporting/reporting/environmental-enforcement-reporting/e-p-compliance-audit-reports/fish-processing-compliance-audit>

(On Closed Containment)

- The Province is committed to helping the aquaculture industry transition to closed containment where possible.
- Government is also committed to protecting wild salmon and the nearly 10,000 good-paying jobs that depend on it.
- DFO is responsible for aquaculture licensing in B.C.

- The Province has started on a path forward with First Nations in the Broughton Archipelago that will engage them as true partners in protecting wild salmon on our coast.
- There is a cross-ministry effort to also work closely with the aquaculture industry and the federal government – responsible for fish farm licensing.
