Geoff – amidst all the other activity on Friday we had an outstanding presentation from the executive director of Climate Outreach - the UK based climate communications experts – who shared with us their latest research and advice concerning best framing and narratives for persuasive communications about climate action on the part of governments. Their work is based on solid international research and experience. I made sure that Angus was present (fair to say he was impressed).

If you have some time I would urge you to take a look at this deck (replete with notes). I've got more from them, but this is a good start.

For this event I brought together the Climate Action Secretariat, some of our key people, plus Angus, Stratcom, Now, Merran Smith, amongst others.

Hi Geoff –

As discussed, a few take-aways I thought were worth sharing from my meeting with Sander (Hollyburn) yesterday. I will share with Craig as well.

The high-level points were:

- They are “spooked” by this – see it as a one-off decision, knee-jerk reaction but they also very much want to partner with us
- UDI has developed a renters committee – he is a member of it
- He is concerned that the municipal rental incentive programs need to be reviewed/changed because of this change (I'm unclear as to why)
- He said that the challenge with the increases being connected to repairs is that they are named as “unforeseen” repairs. He said none of their repairs are unforeseen because of the lack of tradespeople, they plan at least 3 years in advance for balconies, roofs, elevators etc.
- They build in Ontario so he reflected back some of the experience based on that – he said the biggest issue is land depreciation
- Lastly, he offered to share any of their data with us to the extent it can be helpful

Long and short: I suggested they bring constructive ideas to the table about what they think would support Purpose Built Rental but wait until they see all of Spencer's recommendations. He was open to that and has already followed up with me.

Pls let me know if you have questions,

Dear Mira,

Thank you for your note below.

For the Thursday meeting, will it be just the three of us or will others be joining also? If the latter, we would like to try and have a couple of others join us from overseas and so are wondering if an earlier morning meeting would work? If not, then we will go with 11:30 am.

For the joint honorary degree ceremony (which is being hosted by UBC and SFU), the audience will include representation from both academic institutions, government leaders, civil society leaders, representatives from corporate BC, other key relationships each of the universities has and some senior leaders from the Ismaili community. Any other questions you have or info you need, please let me know.

Subject: FW: Weaver LNG

Mr Weaver, I know obviously you're opposed to this project. But I wanted to know specifically. How far are you willing to go to stop it?

Andrew Weaver: We have, in our confidence and supply agreement, an agreement to actually have in place a 40% reduction of emissions by 2030. The BC NDP have suggested that they can do that and add a two-train LNG facility. We've challenged them to deliver, and we're working very hard to ensure that happens.

I do challenge some of your initial reporting. There is not a $40b investment in Canada; $12b of that investment is actually in Asia. It's not construction begins tomorrow in Kitimat. Construction begins in Asia, because the facility is built offshore and brought in. the 10,000 construction jobs are not Canadian jobs. They'll be temporary foreign worker jobs because our labour market, we're already 100% employed in the construction sector.

The other billions of dollars have already been invested ages ago in the acquisition of fields by Petronas. What's not mentioned, of course, is that there's $3.2b in unclaimed royalty credits because the BC Liberals, when they were in power, decided that what they needed to do was essentially give away the resource and they would get revenue for our province down the road through income tax. The NDP have taken that and said, well no, we don't even need that revenue. Not only that. We're willing to build Site C and charge the ratepayer about twice the rate we're going to sell that discounted to, to LNG Canada, and we're going to exempt them from the carbon tax.

What we've said to the BC NDP is that's fiscally reckless and we are not going to support the required legislation to make that pass.

Kapelos: Okay. So if it is so bad, why was the prime minister there? Why was Premier Horgan lined up there? Why have 25 First Nations signed onto this, if there is no economic impact?

Weaver: I'm not saying there is no economic impact. What I am saying is that there's a lot of politicians who'll say anything to get a photo op. BC Green politicians are not those people. We stand....

Kapelos: You think that's what this is, just a photo op?

Weaver: For me, the Premier of BC campaigned on a climate plan. Prime Minister Trudeau has campaigned on a climate plan. Well, so far we've had no emissions reductions. We have Trudeau essentially buying [inaudible]. You and I both own a pipeline now, which somehow is supposed to be part of a climate plan. And Mr Horgan is adding the single biggest point source of emissions in Canadian history, and saying it's part of a climate plan. We've got some doublespeak happening.

And what we have, unfortunately, is political leaders who say one thing to a generation who are looking up to them for leadership in critical areas to the younger generation, [inaudible] of intergenerational equity, and they are being feeling betrayed and cynical.

In the case in BC, it's particularly alarming, in that I, today in question period, and will continue to do, just have to read the quotes that the NDP, including the Premier, hurled at the Liberals in terms of abusive language, saying that they were selling out and this, that and the other. But they've taken that to a whole new level. Ultimately, history will judge this decision today, like history is judging the decisions in Australia, where they sold out in a desperate attempt to land natural gas, and now they're paying the consequences down the road.

Kapelos: Beyond asking those questions in question period, though, what can you really do to stop it? What power do you hold specifically?

Weaver: There are two things that are required through legislation that we're not going to support. Number one, the BC NDP must introduce legislation to exempt LNG Canada from increases in the carbon tax. We will not support that. The NDP must also introduce legislation that would actually exempt this construction from PST until down the road. We will not support that.

So the NDP have to go and work with the BC Liberals. Now, the BC Liberals....

Kapelos: But they will likely support it, won't they?

Weaver: Well, the BC Liberals, that's the question you'll have to ask them. They don't actually have a rich history of collaborating on anything. The BC Greens have historically, and continue, have done our best to advocate on behalf of all British Columbians to what we believe is the best interests of British Columbians, not only for today's generation but also for the one that follows. We don't think it is appropriate to give away our resource for a quick win today, when we're going to wake up tomorrow with a hangover, saying now what?

The example that I like to use is this. Let's suppose that there's a little town or town the size of Victoria that's got tons of ice cream shops in it. You can't open another ice cream shop because you're not going to make any sales. But if you want to have an ice cream shop and you open it up and give away ice cream, sure you're going to get lots of customers. That's what BC has done here today. Essentially, it's said we're going to give away our natural resource because we're going to get some short-term activity in the region, but we're also sending a signal to the broader economy that we're continuing to do more of the same.

The one thing I will say here is the BC Greens have been very instrumental in terms of developing a clean growth strategy that will be announced. The BC NDP did not have an economic agenda when they campaigned in 2017. We did. We had a vision for a new economy based on our strengths, and that will emerge in the clean growth strategy [inaudible].

Kapelos: Mr Weaver, if the ice cream generates $22b in direct government revenue over the next 40 years, isn't it worth selling?

Weaver: First off, anybody who believes it's going to be $22b needs to go and actually look at those numbers. I don't believe that for a second. We go back to Christy Clark. This is more political rhetoric. Christy Clark, back in the day, $100m prosperity fund, a one trillion dollar increase in GDP, 100,000 jobs -- it's all political rhetoric. And that [inaudible]....

Kapelos: But at what point, though...? I understand that it generates emissions. At what point does it become a worthwhile investment for you? Is there any value to the potential for government revenue, be it $22b or another number? Is there any value to the creation of jobs? I know they're claiming 950 and 10,000. You're saying no. At what point do you actually support something?

Weaver: I'm saying yes. And when you see the clean growth strategy, a BC Green action plan for a vibrant new economy, you'll see not a few hundred jobs; you'll see tens of thousands of jobs that would be modeled through economic modeling that will result from this. We have a plan, but we believe our plan is to build on our strategic strengths in this province. Our natural beauty, a place where we can attract and retain people from around the world because of the quality of life we can offer, our boundless renewable energy and forests and water -- that is our strategic strengths.

The BC NDP and before them the BC Liberals' approach was essentially race-for-the-bottom economics. Give away a resource. Try to get a few short-term bucks. Wake up tomorrow with profound troubles in terms of things like loss of natural habitat, water quality because of extensive growth of horizontal fracking. We're going to be throwing money after dying caribou herds. Our ungulate populations will decline because we've actually destroyed the natural habitat. There are profound consequences that'll arise that have not been costed in because government has given away a resource for today, not thinking about what'll happen tomorrow. That is very [inaudible]....

Kapelos: What about the signal that it sends investors? There was a lot of worry -- and I don't know if you share in that concern -- that Canada is not a place to build a big infrastructure project. Doesn't this send the opposite signal?

Weaver: Actually, the world was sent a signal by Paris, and Canada is a signatory of that agreement that decarbonization of our energy systems must begin today. The signal that Canada has sent, and BC has sent, is we are not going to be a part of a world community that is decarbonizing its energy systems. It's actually the wrong signal to be sending. It's saying a signal.... What I would suggest to you is why, instead of trying to do what everyone else has done and do so in race-for-the-bottom economics when we talk about LNG, why aren't we building a Tesla Gigafactory in Kitimat, a factory that produces energy storage systems?

Kapelos: Tesla isn't exactly the safest investment today.

Weaver: It doesn't have to be Tesla, but the reality is the biggest breakthroughs in energy are going to come through storage. Small-scale home-based storage systems of renewable distributed sources of energy. That is the economic boom of tomorrow. People around the world, the Chinese, in India, in Europe, recognize this and are going all in, in investment. What we're doing is we're saying no. Even though we could and should and have led in this area, we're saying no. What we're going to do is continue to do more of the same. We're going to wake up a couple of years from now and say, well, that was fun. Now what? Meanwhile, we start buying the technologies, and we start lagging the way the rest of the world has gone.

Mr Trudeau and Mr Horgan will be judged very unkindly by history. They may be judged very kindly by a few people who are getting employed today and the temporary foreign workers who'll come to actually build it and the people in Asia who'll build the facility, because they're not building it in BC, and a few shareholders in a few multinationals might benefit. But in a few years.... Again, I wish I'm not right. But history will just repeat itself. There will be a judgment that this was a wrong investment. The consequences have been profound. BC has lost its leadership in innovation and the new economy and instead has decided to just double down on the economy of the last century.

Kapelos: I have to leave it there, but thank you so much for your time, Mr Weaver. [xrz]

As you know, Lana Popham was appointed to TB to replace Michelle Mungall. That would have left Lana on 4 Committees, so we're taking her off LRC to balance the work somewhat.

I've talked with Liam Lawson, who does not believe Mike Farnworth would have any concerns with Lana leaving. There is no need to replace Popham on the Committee. They will be left with 9 members, including the Chair. Liam agrees that a replacement is not necessary.

So, unless there is a concern, Lana will come off LRC and no replacement will be named.

Hi all –

Chantille has done great work researching Diwali celebrations across the country. As I've mentioned to many of you, most legislatures celebrate Diwali on-site and we would like to do the same this year with a modest event. I have consulted with all Surrey MLA's about it and they support the idea (Harry, in particular).

We have put together a proposal for this year. Please see below.

Time has tentatively been held in the Premiers calendars. He has expressed general support for the idea with me (we have not spoken about specifics or had a briefing).

Vanessa, there is a small budget involved, attached below.

Geoff, Amber – please let me know if you are okay to proceed.

Thank you,
Mira

Draft Proposal: Diwali at the Legislature: A festival of light

Proposed time and location: November 6th, Tuesday, 5:00-6:00* or 5:30-6:30 Outside the Legislature.

Dates of Diwali: in 2018, Diwali is celebrated on November 7th. (November 5-9)

Background: Diwali is an annual festival of light. Spiritually it signifies the victory of light over darkness, good over evil, and hope over despair. Festival rituals extend over 4 to 6-day period. It is observed by Hindus, Sikhs, Jains, and Newar Buddhists.

It has been celebrated by governments across Canada in different ways:

- Alberta's Speaker hosts a celebration in the Legislature Rotunda with remarks from all sides of the House, a performance, and food distributed outside the front doors of the Legislature.
- In the Ontario legislature, the first Diwali reception (2006) was co-organized by Panorama India and the Consulate General of India, sponsored by CIBC, and hosted at the Legislature. It continues to be an ongoing celebration, signature event. Dignitaries and distinguished members of the Indian diaspora attend. There is lighting of traditional diyas, chanting of mantras and prayers by Hindu priests, greetings from Premier, and food served.

- Since 2000 Parliament Hill has hosted and organized a Diwali event which brings in over 500 people. The evening event includes Diwali puja (prayers), speeches from political leaders, performances and a reception with food. They also have unveiled stamps and made other special announcements.

Recommendations:

- Host an event at the Legislature, co-organise with Victoria based community organisations and the multicultural advisory committee through TAC:
 - invite community organizations, and the event can be open to the public
 - Give out and light lamps/lights on the lawn of the legislature (not open fire)
 - Include remarks from the Premier, Minister, MLAs (from all parties), performance, and share sweets.
 - Flow of event similar to Nowruz celebration: Remarks, performance, mingling with sweets and lights and photos.

 The sun will have set and it will be twilight with the full night at 6:30pm. This will highlight the lights. Rachna recommends the 6th, not 7th, as many people will be at home to do their prayers on the 7th of November.*

Budget:

Item	Cost per unit	Number	Total
Food (sweets)	$5	300	$1,500
Performers	$500	1	$500
Lamps/tea lights	$1	300	$300
Total			$2,300

*does not include budget for proclamations and printing, or event set up such as A/C and equipment rental, space rental or podium art with are normally covered by events

No-one really knows why but the best thinking is that the leadership all favour choice and when they saw the scale of money coming in (the Pro lifer's had 30 million Euros returned to them) they saw it as having a terrible down side for their brands.

Could we figure out a way to call on them to do that here in the Pro Rep campaign?

This request for the Premier's attendance at the announcement of a $100M + social purpose fund, created by TELUS, and with significant leadership power behind its board, is before the Premier's office. Would you have a few minutes today (after 9:30 am) to discuss its importance, the type of event it will be, and what it means.

Hi Amber,
I hope all finds you well! I am pleased to share the attached invitation to Premier Horgan from TELUS CEO Darren Entwistle to join us for the launch of the TELUS Future Friendly Foundation on October 19 (additional details below). It would be Mr. Entwistle's and the entire TELUS team's honour if Premier Horgan were able to attend and say a few words.

The Foundation will help vulnerable populations in British Columbia and across Canada thrive in our digital society through better access to technology, health and educational opportunities. Commencing with an inaugural investment of an unprecedented $100 million from TELUS and a commitment to provide an additional $20 million over the course of the next 10 years, the TELUS Friendly Future Foundation will offer much-needed funding for those people and organisations that need our support and care the most, including the more than one million Canadians living in low-income households, desperately in need of support to help them realise their full potential.

As noted in the letter we believe we share a common vision with this government to: offer children the quality public education they need to succeed; provide families and seniors with timely access to medical services; and tackle poverty and inequality. And we are proud to support this vision with the launch of this Foundation.

Please let me know at your earliest convenience if the Premier might be able to attend. I recognize his very busy schedule and this date is fast approaching. I am also happy to discuss over the phone at any time at 604.803.0564.

Thanks – although, given this is a quote, I'd propose we simplify this up (and hence less qualification) a bit – combining exposition and quote to produce:

"Keeping these operations open and jobs in place shows what British Columbians can achieve when we come together and put workers, families and communities first," said Premier John Horgan. "This purchase by Paper Excellence Canada is another major vote of confidence in our province and people – more importantly, it will help keep families and communities strong as we continue to revitalize our coastal forest sector."

Hi all: the new cannabis website is up at www.getcannabisclarity.ca

Attached is a rollout of materials including feds and other partners (living doc, so dates are soft but gives you an idea).

TV spot is set to run next week, and household mailer is arriving in all BC mailboxes.

The feds also had a mailer, that was due to arrive the week of legalization, but due to the looming Canada Post strike, it went out early.

MMF will be doing a caucus briefing on the campaign, date tbd. Feel free to share with your MO.

Let me know if you have any questions.

Attached is a rollout of materials including feds and other partners (living doc, so dates are soft but gives you an idea).
TV spot is set to run next week, and household mailer is arriving in all BC mailboxes.
The feds also had a mailer, that was due to arrive the week of legalization, but due to the looming Canada Post strike, it went out early.
MMF will be doing a caucus briefing on the campaign, date tbd. Feel free to share with your MO.
Let me know if you have any questions.
Happy Thanksgiving!

I've secured time on Friday for a comms briefing with PJH. Bob is getting back to me tomorrow to confirm if the time works for him. He'd rather do it when he's back in town but can make a phone briefing work.

I'll shoot both of you a presentation outline tonight/tomorrow and I'll pull together info.

Do you want to be in the briefing as well or would you rather just review the presentation beforehand?

Thanks,

Hi all, for the usual papers. This will also be adapted into a Medium blog post.
It's a challenging subject and well managed here. Lele & Shruti will review the translations closely to ensure the focus remains on solutions, wellness and healthy communities.

Making sure people have a home, and the chance to build a better life

By John Horgan

People need a home to live in, and the opportunity to build a better life for themselves and their families.

After years of inaction, the housing crisis in B.C. has left too many people unable to find an affordable home to rent or buy. And some can't find a home at all.

The crisis is affecting people who should be able to find affordable housing in a province as prosperous as ours. Including people who are earning a good living, new parents, students, and seniors on pensions.

Our government is taking strong steps to tackle the housing crisis from every angle, by increasing supply, curbing demand, bringing in protections for renters, and tackling fraud in B.C.'s real estate market.

For people who are going through difficult times in their lives - like struggling to find employment or dealing with an illness - the housing crisis is even more challenging, and too often the result is homelessness.

That's why we're also taking action to build supportive and affordable housing for people experiencing homelessness. That includes building modular homes so people can get off the streets and into housing sooner. In total, we are opening more than 4,500 supportive homes with 24/7 support across the province.

And we're working to help lift people out of poverty. When we make sure people have access to housing, supports and services they need to break the cycle of poverty, everyone benefits. Housing, access to education, and health and addictions services are all part of the solution.

We're seeing the results of this approach already. People who have left tent cities and moved to supportive modular homes are finally getting the opportunity to improve their lives. People upgrading their skills to get back to work, and accessing desperately needed services, like health care for illnesses that have gone untreated for far too long.

Instead of spending all day trying to survive through terrible conditions, people can focus on rebuilding their lives. And their success helps build healthier communities, and a more equal province for us all.

As we mark Homelessness Action Week, we thank the outreach workers, non-profits and front-line service providers working so hard every day to help people experiencing homelessness.

We're working together to make sure people have access to the housing and supports they need to break the cycle of poverty.

Everyone goes through difficult times, and sometimes we all fall. People deserve the chance to get back up again.

We're going to keep working hard to make sure people have a home, and the chance to build a better life. To make life better for everyone in B.C.

Good afternoon – this is a follow up to a discussion with Elizabeth at Agendas last week re: the Assessment Act amendments. Given the compressed timelines for this item, the RFL was not scheduled to committee for review, however, it was proposed that key individuals (those of you on this email) should be canvassed to ensure that the draft legislation is consistent with what was intended. Attached for your review/confirmation is the draft legislation and briefing note (scheduled to LRC this Thursday) and the RFL provided to Legislative Counsel and their comments.

As this is going to LRC this Thursday morning, please advise by end of business tomorrow whether this is consistent with your expectations for the legislation. Please call if you have any questions.

Hello again Geoff,

You mentioned back in February to try you again if we were putting on another publisher dinner. And we are. This time on Oct. 24. Editor in Chief David Walmsley and Publisher Phillip Crawley will be hosting a gathering. We're hoping to get a conversation going with a diverse group of leaders in the community to help us deepen our understanding of the issues we cover.

So far, we've got a tech entrepreneur (Jeff Booth) coming, along with Merran Smith, Marcia Smith and Ian Gillespie. Jimmy Pattison has also responded yes and I've got some other asks out and some other RSVPs received.

The dinners have proven to be interesting with several guests really able to inform how and what we cover in terms of their unique perspectives.

I hope you can come?

Let me know and if not this time, I'll pester you next time.

Cheers

Subject: Meeting Request - Genworth MI Canada

Hello Mr. Meggs,

I hope you are doing well, I am writing to you on behalf of our client, Genworth MI Canada, Canada's largest private residential mortgage insurer. The CEO of Genworth, Stuart Levings, will be out west on November 15th, and would like to meet with you to introduce himself, and to discuss housing market trends, especially on how various regulatory measures impact communities of different sizes in BC and throughout Canada.

Genworth provides mortgage default insurance to Canadian residential mortgage lenders, making homeownership more accessible to first-time homebuyers. Genworth is also an aggregator of risk and information, and in this role, it provides important data, insight and advice that helps guide the decisions and actions of both lenders and policy makers. For more than two decades, Genworth Canada has supported the housing market by providing thought leadership and a focus on the safety and soundness of the mortgage finance system. With sight lines across home buyer demographics, across lenders and throughout the regions, Genworth acquires information and data not available to any other entity about the housing market across the country, including a sense of risks, trends and unique regional features.

As a housing market stakeholder, Genworth regularly engages the Government of Canada and various provincial governments on housing finance issues. Given BC housing market's unique situation, Genworth is very keen for an opportunity to discuss the impact of the various housing regulatory measures on the housing market (in particular on first time homebuyers) and the broader economy.

Mr Levings is available on the afternoon of Thursday November 15th and would appreciate an audience with you if your schedule allows.

Thank you very much for your consideration. Please kindly contact me at (416) 649-8493 or at jmckenna@hanselladvisory.com. I look forward to hearing from you.

Best,
John

Hello Geoff,

Sorry about the delay in getting this to you, s.22

Under the former NDP government, all government letterhead had a required footer that said BC is an equal opportunity employer. When the Liberals took over, one of their first directives was to remove this statement, which I found to be an odd priority.

My advice is both a nod to the past and a heads-up about the future of BC. Attached is a summary of s.22 major research findings of declining board diversity in BC and elsewhere in Canada. There are abysmally low levels of visibly minority representation in a variety of the sectors s.22 examined, including provincial Agencies, Boards and Commissions in Metro Vancouver, where there is around a 50% vis min population base for comparison. s.22 used a related SPARC BC study from 2011 to provide the baseline for comparison. Here are some key highlights:

- Province of BC Government Agencies, Boards and Commissions appointments: 11% visible minority in 2011, compared to 8.7% in our 2016 analysis (a decline of over 2%)
- Not-for-profits (charities and foundations) Boards of Directors: 13% visible minority in 2011, compared to 11.2% in our 2016 analysis (a decline of almost 2%)
- Corporate Sector Boards of Directors: 10% visible minority in 2011, compared to 7.1% in our 2016 analysis (a decline of almost 3%)

s.22 are continuing to explore this topic and examining it from an enterprise-risk-management perspective, and also the potential impacts on not-for-profits, corporations and cooperatives with respect to new federal legislation around reporting on board diversity, such as Bill C-25 which s.22 mention in s.22 attached set of slides.

s.22 also think reporting on board diversity could be relevant to the new BC Societies act and potential data collection around under-represented groups on governance boards.

Given that when you were a Vancouver City counsellor you always seemed to show up and be engaged with immigrant settlement issues, I hope you find this information worth reflecting on. Please also share any of the above with your colleagues and contacts who may find it useful and informative.

Please let me know if you are interested in connecting about any of this, or can refer^{s.22} to anybody who has a stake in this area of data and analysis.

We have done some assignment shifting and there is some new leadership at our local 2301 in Kitimat.

Is it possible to schedule a time for Unifor to meet with the Premier and Minister Ralston on the impact of the tariffs on our members? We would bring the local president and staff rep to the meeting. Joie and/or I may also attend depending on schedule.

Subject: WSAC paper public consultation and FOPO

Hi all,

I am not certain exactly who of the WSS and WSAC I should pass this on to, but I thought I'd start with you.

I want to let you know while you are planning the WSAC paper public consultation process that Ken Hardie, MP for Fleetwood-Port Kells and member of the Fed Standing Committee on Fisheries (FOPO), is coming out to hold preview meetings on November 12th and 13th in Nanaimo and Vancouver. These preview meetings are on the subject of the FOPO study tour (to be held in full late Jan early Feb) on owner operator and distribution of benefit issues in BC fisheries. There will be a number of fish harvesters First Nation, and fishing community folks attending those meetings and it would be very good to have a few of the BC Standing committee on Ag, Fish, Food members present at those to benefit from the info shared in relation to the public consultation process they themselves will be having on wild salmon and fisheries.

I am not sure of the current status of the timeline for the BC SCAFF public consultation, but if this is planned for November it would also be ideal to capitalize on those dates as a number of people will have made their way to those meetings, possibly from other communities. If the BC SCAFF meetings were lined up in a complimentary schedule, interested parties could be present for both without doubling travel in the same month. Even more important would be to be aware of these meetings to ensure there is not a conflict created whereby people have to choose between them.

One other thought one of our staff had re the public consultation process, as a vehicle for effectively getting the word out to all commercial fish harvesters and license holders (including communal), the DFO National Online Licensing System can produce notices that go out to every harvester and licence holder. I would recommend looking into how to make use of that as a way to get the word out regrading this process to that interest group. This may also be true of the National Recreational Licensing System, though I am not sure of that.

Happy to add further info if useful.

Best,

Tasha

Okenge, I would like your advice on options for a possible Asia trip by Premier Horgan in January. Presumably we would build on connections made on the original trip last January, with a view to emphasizing our work on sustainable economy and improved trade with the Asia Pacific. I am not asking for advice on a trip to India at this time. I don't need an exhaustive itinerary. Instead, I would appreciate some high level options that could include visits to China, Japan and Korea, although other destinations that align with our government's objectives and business opportunities.

Please don't hesitate to call me if you need further direction. I would appreciate some feedback in seven to 10 days in a brief note.

Thanks for your assistance

I just talked to Fortis. They understand plan as Paul describes and will be able to give us an assessment re impacts to their customers once they see what pressure the 30 inch pipe is operating at and how that balances in the system. I asked for a gut sense of what the impacts would be if the small line can come back at full pressure and he says with that and the emergency gas from the south they will likely be able to serve all customers as long as the weather stays mild. Once it gets cold they need that 36 inch pipe fixed or interruptible industrial users will get curtailed again. s.13 s.13 . So we are working on an emergency basis to get them some gas for tomorrow. Bottom line, this issue will go on for some time until we can get the main pipeline fixed. We will get ETA on that as soon as possible, but it will take some time.

Fortis will send us an update on customer impacts based on the 30 inch flows asap in the morning.

Just off a call with Minister Mungall, Dave and Enbridge. Enbridge's focus is assessing the 30in line that feeds Fortis with the NEB at Enbridge's office in PG. They have been to the site and are looking at the data they have. They have put together a plan to restart tonight if everything looks good. They and the NEB are fingers crossed it is tonight or first thing tomorrow so are working together to ensure it can be restarted safely. It likely won't be at full pressure right away. Fortis would have to assess if there are any potential impacts to industrial or other customers as a result of a pressure drop.

Good evening,

The NEA PREOC hosted a coordination call this evening to provide updates for the current pipeline situation near Prince George. The following updates are of note:

- Enbridge conducted on site assessments and established that the 30" pipeline is intact. The depth of cover was sufficient to ensure its structural integrity.
- Enbridge are working with their operations arm, Fortis and the regulators to ensure a resumption of service as soon as possible.
- The BC Ministry of Environment are working with Enbridge and regulators completing on scene assessments to establish any environmental impact.

The SWE PREOC will host a coordination call tomorrow morning at 1000hrs for Enbridge, Fortis and provincial regulators to provide updates and field questions.

The SWE PREOC is stood down and will reactivate at 0830 hours Thursday October 11, 2018.

Please forward to George Smith with a request for an update on decisions taken on these areas -- this list is at least a year old. The briefing note just needs to give a status report on each of these areas since the review.

Hello Mitzi:

A few months ago, the federal government launched an initiative called "Seamless Canada" which aims at reducing administrative obstacles faced by members of the Canadian Forces and their families during interprovincial transfers.

The federal government is asking each province to designate an elected representative to sit on an FPT table which will work on resolving these issues nationally.

We thought that you would be ideal in this role given your connection to CFB Esquimalt.

In this endeavour, you would be supported by the Intergovernmental Relations Secretariat led by DM Okenge Yuma Morisho.

The next meeting of the FPT "Seamless Canada" table is currently scheduled on December 5-6 in Ottawa. A draft agenda is attached for your convenience.

Should you have any question about the "Seamless Canada" initiative, Sukumar Periwal, Executive Director, International Relations and Strategic Policy, would be happy to provide you with a full briefing. Sukumar can be reached at Sukumar.Periwal@gov.bc.ca or 250 387-0761.

Thanks a lot for your help on this important national initiative.

Hi Jake –

Checking in on some letters.

- i. Unist'ot'en (Sept 13/17) and Office of Wet'suwet'en (Oct 5)
 - I. These are two we have been chatting about – we now have a draft going through approvals, but I haven't received direction on who is to sign it.
 - II. Who should sign this – PJH or MSF?
 - i. If MSF, does the PO want to review before it's sent?
2. Wet'suwet'en Matrilineal Coalition (Sept 10 incoming – doc name says Sept 5 though) – please note we are seeking clarity of whether meeting should be proposed for FNLG.
 - I. Do you have an original of this – email or PDF? We only have an un-signed word version.

- II. Does this match your records that we are drafting a response? This is the first I am seeing of this letter.
 - III. Who should sign this – PJH or MSF?
 - i. If MSF, does the PO want to review before it's sent?
3. Wet'suwet'en Nation Chiefs (Sept 10 incoming)

It's interesting how both McKenna and Butts are pushing the Nordhaus path and validation today – partly in terms of BC being a useful counterfactual in their urgent debate regarding a C tax – yes or no – at the national level. The minister just finished a FaceBook town hall making the same points. It strikes me that federal Liberals are engaged in a polemic that BC has long since passed over (thankfully).

Having said this – it is helpful to be seen to be building upon the legacy of the Campbell government and to be proud of our achievements, emphasizing the continuity of our plans.

Finally, it should be noted that Bobbi did a great job explaining the innovative details of the clean growth incentive program to Lord Stern during our meeting in San Francisco.

Thanks for the reading.

Evan,

Interesting article indeed.

Nordhaus has been a long-time advocate of the carbon tax – his first article was in 1975. A key point is that his modelling has consistently shown that the optimal carbon tax starts low and rises gradually over time. (I believe his most recent estimate of the “social cost of carbon” is about US$40/tonne.) And his models suggest that the costs of overly aggressive reductions in GHGs exceed the benefits.

Finally, he has always been very consistent in saying none of this will work unless all countries impose this carbon tax – he has mused about allowing countries to impose countervailing duties against imports from countries that don't impose the tax. This, of course, is related to our anxiety about “carbon leakage.” s.13

s.22 I had indulged myself over the weekend by looking at economists' postings on the Nobel awards. These will be a little wonkish for you normal human beings, but this one is worth looking at, at least for the chart near the end of the article which compares “optimal carbon paths.” s.13

s.13

<https://afinetheorem.wordpress.com/2018/10/08/how-we-create-and-destroy-growth-a-nobel-for-romer-and-nordhaus/>

And, I know this is totally indulgent on my part, but this is one of the original Nordhaus articles:

<http://cowles.yale.edu/sites/default/files/files/pub/d04/d0435.pdf>

You might just want to take a look at the figures and the tables. Other than amusing yourself at what copy looked like before personal computers et al, it is quite interesting how well something written in 1976 has weathered. Which is another way of saying Nordhaus deserved the Nobel prize.

Ok, enough self-indulgence for the day.

This story in today's NYT is a pretty big deal - Nordhaus is saying:

You may have noticed it's getting a fair bit of attention - retweets by McKenna and Butts etc.

Here's a story from The New York Times that I thought you'd find interesting:

A few governments—notably, parts of Canada and South Korea—have adapted his idea in ways that not only show signs of working, but it also reframe it not as a tax, but as a windfall for taxpayers.

*Bob Pearson s.22 & he were talking about a company which would like to start manufacturing Electric trucks in BC.
They will be likely be manufacturing these in Nanaimo. One of the trucks will be here, doing tests on October 27th*

I had tentatively confirmed John to test drive a truck at 2pm. s.22 has now let me know that they would meet up at the Legislature to have John test drive the electric truck & shoot some photos.

I will ask for more information in regards – but flag as I'm not sure what the photos will be used for.

Hi Geoff –

Following up on a request of yours from a couple weeks ago – Liam worked with the Leg library to fill out the attached table outlining some of the experiences with differentiation procedures in other Westminster-style governments in minority agreements.

Please let me know if you'd find further info on some of these examples useful.

For your interest only, I've pasted links from this document showing a few cases of governments navigating differentiation.

Hi Jen and Sheena,

We'd like to invite Premier John Horgan to join us on The Early Edition for a debate on electoral reform next week with BC Liberal leader Andrew Wilkinson. Our host Stephen Quinn would moderate with questions.

Mr. Wilkinson has agreed to join us. Is there a time that would work for the premier?

We could do Monday, October 22nd, live on air from 8:10 a.m. to 8:30 a.m. Would that work?

It would be fantastic if the premier could join us in our downtown Vancouver studio (at 700 Hamilton Street), arriving 15 minutes early. If that's not possible, maybe we could have him join us in our Victoria studio?

I am hoping to confirm his availability before Thursday this week. You can reach me at 604-662-6463.

Thanks,

Claudia

Many Thanks Geoff for your reply.

In answer to local governments' need for research capacity with a regional lens to understand and address local and regional natural disaster risks and recovery, a request for funding will be forthcoming to support the creation of endowments for three complementary provincial research chairs (one each at UNBC, TRU and UBCO). These chairs will work with their respective cities to look at all facets of Natural Disaster Management, including flood/fire/drought prediction and response, interface fuel management, evacuation management, snowpack monitoring, high-value assets/critical infrastructure protection, community health and ecosystem impacts.

Further to the attached letter dated September 26th to Premier Horgan from Mayors Hall, Christian and Basran seeking a meeting in Victoria on November 16th, we look forward to receiving confirmation of this meeting and the opportunity to move forward with this important initiative.

Subject: RE: Vimy ceremony

It appears BC's contribution was $350k. Please see original news release below or through the following link: <https://news.gov.bc.ca/releases/2017FIN0015-000721> . Also see more info on the Vimy Foundation Centennial Park at: <https://www.vimyfoundation.ca/vimy-100/vimy-centennial-park/> (you will note that BC is acknowledged as the sponsor).

Provincial sponsorship honours the memory of Vimy Ridge veterans

In honour of the Canadians and British Columbians involved in the victory at Vimy Ridge in 1917, Finance Minister Michael de Jong announced today that the Province will contribute $350,000 to the Vimy Foundation to support the creation of a Centennial Park at the site of the battle.

The Vimy Foundation Centennial Park will be located adjacent to the Vimy monument in France. This unique area will be comprised of 100 Vimy Oak trees symbolizing the centennial. These trees are direct descendants of acorns collected following the battle in April 1917 and will be planted in a circular pattern four deep to represent the four divisions of the Canadian Forces that fought together for the first time at the Battle of Vimy Ridge.

Benches and reflective areas in full view of the famous monument will also be part of the park. Funding also will be provided to support participation by local cadets at the ceremony in France.

British Columbians supported the war effort in great numbers, and facilitated the raising and mobilization a great number of Battalions for the Canadian Expeditionary Force. Units from around the province were part of the victory, including:

- 2nd Battalion (Canadian Mounted Rifles) – recruited from Victoria and Vernon;
- 29th Battalion (Vancouver) – recruited from Vancouver and New Westminster;

- 102nd Battalion (Northern British Columbia) – recruited from Northern B.C. and Comox; and
- 131st Battalion (Westminster) – recruited from New Westminster.

Estimates suggest that 81 British Columbians lost their lives between April 1 and May 1, 1917. Of those, 47 soldiers are commemorated on the Vimy Memorial, 10 soldiers are buried at La Chaudière Military Cemetery, Vimy, and 21 soldiers are buried at Canadian Cemetery No. 2, Neuville-St. Vaast. British Columbia lost three nursing sisters who are buried in cemeteries tended by the Commonwealth War Graves Commission.

The current monument on the grounds welcomes approximately 700,000 visitors a year. The centennial anniversary of the Battle of Vimy Ridge is taking place on April 9. The official commemorative ceremonies are taking place at the Canadian National Vimy Memorial, organized by the Government of Canada (Veterans Affairs Canada) and an estimated 30,000 Canadians will be in attendance.

de Jong attended the Vimy Centennial Celebration gala dinner in Toronto on March 20, 2017, in support of the Centennial Park and the Centennial Legacy Fund that will help send 25 students to travel to Europe each year for the next five years and ensure Canadian youth ‘walk through the footsteps of history’ and experience Canadian history first hand.

Quotes:

Minister of Finance Michael de Jong –

“The brave young men who fought on Vimy Ridge not only won a battle, but are also part of a legacy that has often been referred to as the birth of a nation. As Canadians we owe a debt of gratitude to the lives lost and affected by this valiant victory. British Columbia is proud to support the Vimy Foundation’s Centennial Park to help ensure the honour and memory of British Columbians and Canadians who fought on the ridge at Vimy will never be forgotten.”

Hello everyone! Apologies for the delay in the correspondence report. These should be sent out every Monday going forward! I hope session is going well for you all.

LNG FID Announcement – We received a majority of these incomings just after the FID decision was made. They are largely commentary about emissions and broken promises on climate change. The supportive messages include stakeholders from LNG Canada as well as the Haisla and local government.

Rental Increase Formula – The lay out of this may seem a bit confusing. The first cell, Rental Increase 4.5%, were messages sent before the announcement and implementation of the reduced 2.5% (only inflation) increase. The second cell, Rental Increase 2.5%, are messages from people after the decrease announcement. Before the announcement, people were writing about how this increase happens every year without fail and they feel like they are being penalized. After the announcement, we received largely praise from renters and criticism from property owners and landlords complaining about how their costs will continue to rise.

Cannabis Legalization – Most of these incomings are people seeking clarification on BC policy on legalization, from where you can smoke to how much you can buy etc. We have had a few complain about public health effects and questions about how to keep drugs out of the hands of children etc.

DST – As is tradition, when the time change approaches people will send us emails about how they want to stay on one time, either DST or PST. The consensus among writers is to abolish the change.

Old Fort Landslide – Citizens affected by the Old Fort landslide writing in about the lack of supports or communication with ministry officials. These are passed on to Emergency Management BC to ensure they are getting the supports they need.

ICBC ‘Extra Driver’ fee – In an attempt to reduce fees, ICBC has introduced an ‘extra driver’ fee of $50 to allow drivers not on the insurance to drive the vehicle. If someone is in an accident and is not under the insurance, they will likely have to face much stiffer penalties. Drivers are writing in saying this is gouging and they should not have to pay.

Bill 92/Closure of Private Health Clinics – As a result of private health care clinics, the province has been fined 15.9 million dollars under the Canada Health Act due to extra billing. A recent crackdown on private clinics has resulted in patients writing in to the Premier about the advantages of this system and how they feel it is not unfair.

Apologies for the length on this one. As always, if you would like clarification or examples of correspondence, please let me know! Have a great week.

Dear Parents and Guardians,

Following a pipeline rupture near Prince George on Tuesday October 9, Fortis BC requested that all consumers conserve natural gas. As a result, Vancouver School Board building engineers have reduced gas consumption by starting gas fueled heating systems later, turning them off earlier and adjusting system settings in all schools and buildings throughout the District. Staff have also been advised to close windows and doors, where appropriate, to maintain heat. This has been underway for a few days.

Please be assured, we do not expect these measures to have major impacts on our school day. However, during this time, please ensure your child has appropriate clothing to remain comfortable while at school.

If you have any questions or concerns, please contact me.

Hi Geoff,

MOTI staff met with the 5 bands, FLNRO, and MIRR in August. At that time MOTI Committed to:

1. Share MOTI survey information and pit development plan. (Complete)
2. Look into options to move the gravel out of the gravel pit area. (Working through initial concepts)
3. Identify potential Interchange upgrades that may impact FN development in the future. (Planning study underway)

MOTI only has gravel interests on Crown land, no actual MOTI lands in question here. MOTI is unaware of any land transfer application.

Hi Geoff,

We have been engaged on this file since the summer. Our ministry provided Spayum – the development arm of the five bands – with $80,000 to conduct a feasibility study into future uses for the former visitor centre’s site. This was to include a technical site assessment, servicing plans and consultation with local communities and with other First Nations. We understand there are more than 20 nations that have an interest in the area. The feasibility study is expected to be completed by early next year.

To initiate any land transfer would first require an application from Spayum. We have not received an application and Lands staff in Kamloops were not aware that a land transfer was imminent. Staff will be reaching out to Chief Aaron to get more information about what the five bands have in mind. Staff met with Spayum at the site as recently as August.

Once an application is accepted, we have a review process that would include agency referrals, resolving any conflicts, consultation and public advertising. Again, that consultation would have to include consultation with the other impacted First Nations.

Hi Elizabeth,

After consulting with the whips office and checking with the members assistants, it looks like Tuesdays from 11:00am – 12:00pm works well for the members (Routledge, Conroy, Kahlon for sure – still waiting to confirm with Minister Chows assistant that he has no individual conflicts). I also checked with Debbie Wade and it works well for Geoff except he has a conflict for the first meeting that would take place on October 30th.

We could move the first meeting to the afternoon and hold it in a boardroom, however Minister Chow would need to request one hour leave from HWG which is 1:30-3:30 in Chambers. The meetings thereafter would be 11:00-12:00 in Chambers.

This was to include a technical site assessment, servicing plans and consultation with local communities and with other First Nations. We understand there are more than 20 nations that have an interest in the area. The feasibility study is expected to be completed by early next year.

To initiate any land transfer would first require an application from Spayum. We have not received an application and Lands staff in Kamloops were not aware that a land transfer was imminent. Staff will be reaching out to Chief Aaron to get more information about what the five bands have in mind. Staff met with Spayum at the site as recently as August.

Once an application is accepted, we have a review process that would include agency referrals, resolving any conflicts, consultation and public advertising. Again, that consultation would have to include consultation with the other impacted First Nations.

Hi Geoff,

Please find enclosed a copy of the site layout for the visitor centre land the 5 Nicola Bands are pursuing. I am not sure if you remember, but the city of Merritt fully supports the 5 bands working together on this initiative.

If you could please contact Minister Fraser's office to ensure that this transaction is moving forward. The 5 bands are hoping to finalize the land transfer over the next 30-60 days.

Dear Dons -- this was another early morning e-mail mix-up. Don Wright, I had intended to send this to Don Bain along with a follow up note I did send to Don Bain. But if you can assist, wonderful, and Don Bain can stand by. I know the ministries have been working on it, but the chief was hoping to resolve this fall.

Minister:

Update on the Nuka work to date. Coles Notes is that the bibliography and literature review is done (attached) with the final report arriving in early November.

Key take-aways from the literature review:

- Dilbit sinks neither faster or slower in water than conventional oils
- Dilbit behavior in water is similar to conventional oils
- Dilbit is neither harder or easier to clean up than conventional oils
- Dilbit toxicity is similar to, or slightly less than conventional oils

Regards, MZ

Nuka Outputs (Terms of Reference)

1. Phase 1: By August 24, 2018. Received [see attached FINAL Phase 1 – 180912 Dilbit Biblio v4]
 - a. A briefly annotated bibliography of the most important peer reviewed, published reports, literature reviews, or individual articles on fate and effect of heavy oil and its environmental impacts as well as its impacts on human health. If warranted, this bibliography may also reference as-yet unpublished studies from other research in this field (e.g. federal agency research or industry research).
 - b. A short (e.g. 2-3 page) summary of the state of the research (e.g. do we know how dilbit behaves when spilled to water?) and the primary areas of controversy and debate with respect to the fate and effect of heavy oil when spilled to water.
2. Phase 2 Final report by early November, 2018. The report should be in language and structure appropriate for public posting.
 - a. Summarize the current state of the knowledge/understanding regarding the fate and effect of heavy oil when spilled to water in a report.
 - b. Summarize the current state of knowledge with respect to response techniques appropriate to heavy oil spilled to water and make recommendations regarding best practices applicable to the British Columbia context.
 - c. Assess existing knowledge and research regarding environmental and human health consequences of transportation of heavy oil, particularly but not solely with respect to aquatic environments.
 - d. Identify remaining research/knowledge gaps on both (a) and (b) and (c) above, with particular emphasis on the environmental conditions present in British Columbia.
3. Phase 3: At the direction of the Ministry, and subject to the availability of the contractor, this phase will include the following tasks by March 31, 2019: TBD based on Ministry direction
 - a. Summarize best practices with respect to bitumen transportation and storage as it relates to:
 - i. Emerging transportation options (e.g. CanaPux)
 - ii. Spill prevention (all modes of transport)
 - iii. Spill detection

- iv. Safety practices (e.g. pipelines, tank farms, loading facilities)
- b. Make recommendations for the Ministry with respect to:
 - i. Potential provincial regulatory or policy changes
 - ii. Potential federal regulatory or policy changes
 - iii. Additional research

Details from CBC for the PR debate below. Please let me know ASAP if this works for all and I will confirm with them and let the other outlets know.

From the Producer:

Thursday November 8th between 6:30-7pm is preferred. Nov. 15 is also an option. I think Thursdays would allow some momentum to be built leading up to it.

Stephen Quinn will be the host and this can go ahead on all platforms, TV, radio and livestream on social media and the website.

I think it's best to have one person from the yes side, and one from the no. We can make some time beforehand in the leadup for Mr. Weaver. But for the audience to get the most out of the distinction between the two positions, I think its best we devote the most amount of time to it.

I'd like our note to say "As you know, some other members of our wider team have also recently taken new positions. I'd like, in particular, to acknowledge Suzanne Christensen, Stephanie Papik and Leila Farmer, who worked closely with us in the PAO. Best wishes to all of them in their new roles. Matt Hannah has been a member of our Premier's Office team from day one, expertly shepherding us through countless issues and challenges. We're sorry to lose him but he's not gone far and his new role gives him even more scope for his skills and experience. Best wishes to all of them.

Hi there. This notice has gone out to MLAs and caucus staff.

I am very pleased to announce an exciting development in caucus. We are introducing a new unit dedicated to issues management and opposition research. The unit will be headed up by Matt Hannah who will move to caucus from his current position as executive director responsible for issues management in Government Communications and Public Engagement.

As many of you know, Matt brings a wealth of experience as a skilled communicator, political organizer and issues manager. He will be a great asset to caucus.

Matt will officially start on Monday, October 29 as the Director of Issues Management and Strategic Initiatives in the New Democrat BC Government Caucus. He will work as part of the caucus management team alongside Roseanne Moran - Executive Director, Ed May - Director of Research, Communications and Legislative Services, Bev Bowen - Office Manager, Susan Vasilev - Internal Communications Manager, and Melissa Farrance - Outreach Manager.

There will be some assignment changes for staff as a result of the new unit and we will be making further announcements once they are confirmed.

I know that you will join me in welcoming Matt to the team.

Okenge, I would like your advice on options for a possible Asia trip by Premier Horgan in January. Presumably we would build on connections made on the original trip last January, with a view to emphasizing our work on sustainable economy and improved trade with the Asia Pacific. I am not asking for advice on a trip to India at this time.

I don't need an exhaustive itinerary. Instead, I would appreciate some high level options that could include visits to China, Japan and Korea, although other destinations that align with our government's objectives and business opportunities.

Please don't hesitate to call me if you need further direction. I would appreciate some feedback in seven to 10 days in a brief note.

Thanks for your assistance

Provincial sponsorship honours the memory of Vimy Ridge veterans

In honour of the Canadians and British Columbians involved in the victory at Vimy Ridge in 1917, Finance Minister Michael de Jong announced today that the Province will contribute $350,000 to the Vimy Foundation to support the creation of a Centennial Park at the site of the battle.

The Vimy Foundation Centennial Park will be located adjacent to the Vimy monument in France. This unique area will be comprised of 100 Vimy Oak trees symbolizing the centennial. These trees are direct descendants of acorns collected following the battle in April 1917 and will be planted in a circular pattern four deep to represent the four divisions of the Canadian Forces that fought together for the first time at the Battle of Vimy Ridge.

Benches and reflective areas in full view of the famous monument will also be part of the park. Funding also will be provided to support participation by local cadets at the ceremony in France.

British Columbians supported the war effort in great numbers, and facilitated the raising and mobilization a great number of Battalions for the Canadian Expeditionary Force. Units from around the province were part of the victory, including:

- 2nd Battalion (Canadian Mounted Rifles) – recruited from Victoria and Vernon;
- 29th Battalion (Vancouver) – recruited from Vancouver and New Westminster;
- 102nd Battalion (Northern British Columbia) – recruited from Northern B.C. and Comox; and
- 131st Battalion (Westminster) – recruited from New Westminster.

Estimates suggest that 81 British Columbians lost their lives between April 1 and May 1, 1917. Of those, 47 soldiers are commemorated on the Vimy Memorial, 10 soldiers are buried at La Chaudière Military Cemetery, Vimy, and 21 soldiers are buried at Canadian Cemetery No. 2, Neuville-St. Vaast. British Columbia lost three nursing sisters who are buried in cemeteries tended by the Commonwealth War Graves Commission.

The current monument on the grounds welcomes approximately 700,000 visitors a year. The centennial anniversary of the Battle of Vimy Ridge is taking place on April 9. The official commemorative ceremonies are taking place at the Canadian National Vimy Memorial, organized by the Government of Canada (Veterans Affairs Canada) and an estimated 30,000 Canadians will be in attendance.

de Jong attended the Vimy Centennial Celebration gala dinner in Toronto on March 20, 2017, in support of the Centennial Park and the Centennial Legacy Fund that will help send 25 students to travel to Europe each year for the next five years and ensure Canadian youth 'walk through the footsteps of history' and experience Canadian history first hand.

Quotes:

Minister of Finance Michael de Jong –

“The brave young men who fought on Vimy Ridge not only won a battle, but are also part of a legacy that has often been referred to as the birth of a nation. As Canadians we owe a debt of gratitude to the lives lost and affected by this valiant victory. British Columbia is proud to support the Vimy Foundation’s Centennial Park to help ensure the honour and memory of British Columbians and Canadians who fought on the ridge at Vimy will never be forgotten.”

Subject: Possible Asia trip - Premier Horgan

Okenge, I would like your advice on options for a possible Asia trip by Premier Horgan in January. Presumably we would build on connections made on the original trip last January, with a view to emphasizing our work on sustainable economy and improved trade with the Asia Pacific. I am not asking for advice on a trip to India at this time. I don't need an exhaustive itinerary. Instead, I would appreciate some high level options that could include visits to China, Japan and Korea, although other destinations that align with our government's objectives and business opportunities.

Please don't hesitate to call me if you need further direction. I would appreciate some feedback in seven to 10 days in a brief note.

Thanks for your assistance

Geoff

Mira, I know the Premier would like this to move quickly but he's deferring to MGC with regard to the exact speed. In other words, we should respect his understanding of the community and deliver tangible gains earlier if he thinks that is possible and appropriate, but not risk disappointment by overpromising and underdelivering. Hope this helps

Further to your helpful notes on Asia – would like some more options regarding clean and green tech with BC connections. The item here:

<https://www.britishcolumbia.ca/global/trade-and-investment-british-columbia-blog/april-2018/hydrogen-energy-and-fuel-cell-technology-in-britis/> is a perfect example – local jobs, potential export markets.

No need for anything exhaustive, but connections to Japan, Korea and Japan would be great.

Also anything with more detail regarding food exports would be great. I assume this is stuff like blueberries, pork, seafood. Again local producers's names welcome and anything with innovation dimension.

Dear Geoff, Aaron & Jen,

I hope this note finds you well. I wanted to introduce myself and pass along a request/opportunity for the Premier to deliver an address at our upcoming forum.

I am the new Director of Advocacy and Stakeholder Relations at the Greater Vancouver Board Of Trade. Prior to this role, s.22

s.22 The most important thing I'd like to convey is that I am available should you or your government require any assistance from GVBOT.

As for our events request, I think of it more as an opportunity. We are hosting our annual Energy Forum on December 6. We thought that this event would provide an excellent opportunity for the Premier to do an LNG "victory lap" following the legislature rising at the end of November. Our vision was that he could deliver the closing remarks to the conference as a follow-up to the grand event with LNG Canada and partners announcing the positive FID. The conference, as planned, is to be opened by Minister Carr, discussing overall energy opportunities resulting from the federal government's trade agenda. Following that, we have penciled in panels to discuss the current geopolitical energy climate, western Canadian energy developments and transferable (exportable) technologies. Do let me know at your earliest convenience whether that might be interesting or possible. I will also pass the attached invitation along to the generic email for the Premier.

I look forward to a productive and collaborative relationship with you and your government.

Kind regards,

David van Hemmen

Subject: Jackson Widjaja Meeting Request

Hi Amber. As mentioned, Paper Excellence would like to get a meeting for the Premier and their owner Jackson Widjaja (WEE-JAI-YAHS) in the week of November 5. They are flexible about schedule at this point, and could meet in either Vancouver or Victoria. I will provide a briefing note in advance about topics they may wish to discuss. So far, no problems have been encountered in the closing process on the Catalyst transaction.

For background, Jackson Widjaja is the sole owner of Paper Excellence, which is a Canadian company that is legally independent from other parts of the family enterprise. Previously an executive with the Sinar Mas Group, Jackson is the son of the Chairman of Sinar Mas and the grandson of the company's founder.

The Widjaja family is among Asia's wealthiest, with a global business empire that founder Eka Tjipta Widjaja (now 97) began as a teenager by selling cookies from a rickshaw. He and his first legal wife built an enterprise that includes the Sinar Mas Group, Golden Agri Resources and Bank International Indonesia from the ground up.

Before the Catalyst transaction, Paper Excellence owned 10 mills worldwide including 7 in Canada. The first of these (Meadow Lake in Saskatchewan) was purchased in 2007. As a private company, the nature of any family financial ties with the company's growth and capital investment are not known.

Hi Amber,

Just want to ensure these two Tourism Roundtables are on your radar.

Min. Beare will be hosting two Tourism Roundtables during November 2018.

The first will be in Vancouver on Thursday, November 15th from 10-noon. Exact location TBD .

The second will be in Victoria on Tuesday, November 20th in the Oak Room at the Legislature from 11-1pm.

If the Premier is able to attend either one of these for any period of time – that would be great!

Subject: For your records - Enbridge pipeline rupture Oct 26 update

Good afternoon,

Just wanted to update everyone with the latest key messages and FAQ in regards to the Enbridge natural gas transmission pipeline rupture. We continue to ask customers to conserve natural gas until the Enbridge transmission pipeline is repaired and operating at full capacity. Here is a quick summary on high level communication activities that have taken place this week:

1. A new web page has been developed to support a paid media campaign. There will be digital ads in market starting this weekend and radio starting at the end of next week. Below is a link to the landing page for your reference:
<https://www.fortisbc.com/MediaCentre/BCsNaturalGasSupplyLimited/Pages/default.aspx>
2. We continue to monitor and respond to social media. We also have mechanisms in place to boost our posts to increase reach and engagement.
3. A special edition of Energy moment will be going out today.
4. We continue to work with the contact centre and are working on updating the service alerts on Account Online and Paperless billing.

Please share this information with your teams so employees have information needed to answer any questions they may get asked.

If you have any questions, please reach out to Arlene Whiffin.

Thanks
Stephanie

The Rabbinical Association of Vancouver is gathering tomorrow at the Jewish Community Centre (950 West 41st Ave) for a vigil at 4pm. The community has extended invitations to elected officials and leadership from other communities. They would be happy to have political leadership speak.

Geoff - I haven't looked at the Premiers schedule but I know it would be enormously meaningful to everyone if he were there.

Roseanne, can you please help me by sharing this with Lower Mainland caucus members? It would be helpful to know who is coming so I can share it and so they can be introduced. I'll be there.

As you can imagine, this is a very significant event in the community.

Really appreciate the help in making sure we have representation.

Sent the following to be read by Selina as a statement from PJH:

I send my deepest sympathies to everyone gathered here today, and I share your grief.
British Columbians' hearts are broken hearing the devastating news of the shooting at the Tree of Life synagogue in Pittsburgh.
Everyone should feel safe in a place of worship.
An attack like this is deep violation of safety and security.
My caucus and I reject anti-Semitism, racism, discrimination, intolerance and bigotry.
When these forces rise up, we must stand united and denounce them in the strongest possible terms.
We will continue to stand up for the values shared by the vast majority of British Columbians: equality, inclusiveness and unity.
Our thoughts are with the families of those targeted and Jewish people around the world.

Subject: Climate action plan rollout

Evan,

Thanks for taking the time this afternoon to walk through the current critical path and launch plans for the climate action plan. As agreed, here are my notes and few thoughts I had on the way home:

1. Overall organization

- to help with co-ordination we'll make this a priority item in the 8.30 a.m. check-in;
- we should bolster Mira Oreck's stakeholder work with outside assistance, as we discussed, to get more national and international awareness and validation.
 - this will include work with several ministries like JTT, MEMPR, MoE, MIR to ensure they reach their audiences as well.
- We discussed the need to clarify the statements that could be made about funding as well as how this plan is reflected in the upcoming budget, ie what budget measures may be required for implementation. I'll work with Don W on this part.

2. Critical path

- your shop should confirm the "breadcrumb" announcements with Sage and Kate as soon as possible so planning can begin and we can incorporate in the Premier's briefing. We need to discuss with GPC right away.
- we need to review the critical path/launch plan with a view to incorporating CASA consultation. Although the GPC has had plenty of consultation, we need to build in time at a couple of points to see where we stand, particularly after Phase 3 review on Nov. 7. This will inform how MLA Weaver participates.
- The Premier's Office should review the draft plan at each stage, at least me and Sage. That's not clear in the current plan.
- The caucus briefing should be organized by the Minister's Office in the next seven to 10 days.
- We will book a full briefing for the Premier at an early stage, but no later than the beginning of the Phase 2 review. It would include plan content, roll-out, etc. We'll begin to pull that together.
- We need to flesh out the details of post-launch events.

3. Launch preparations for Dec. 5

- The event should be in Vancouver to maximize access for national and local media.
 - I'd like you to convene a meeting to give further consideration to suggestions like a keynote speech in Ottawa.

- Alternatively, we could offer national media outlets opportunities to interview the Premier before the trip to Ottawa or in Ottawa.
- The plan should acknowledge other run-up events that need inclusion in the rollout: First Nations Leadership Gathering speech (Nov. 28?) as addresses to BCBC summit (Nov. 16, BC Fed Nov. 27 and BC Chamber of Commerce (December ?). Key messages need to be incorporated in these addresses, something we'll need to co-ordinate between our offices.

Thanks to you and your team for all your work on this project.

My name is Daisen Gee-Wing and I represent MST Development Corporation (Musqueam, Squamish, Tsleil-Waututh Nations).
Further to my discussions with Premier Horgan, in addition with MLA George Chow and Mr. Geoff Meggs, we are currently scheduled to meet with Doug Foster and his team in Victoria this Thursday, November 1 @ 10:00am on real estate matters as they relate to the First Nations.

I will be accompanied by David Negrin, CEO of MST Development Corporation and wondered if the Premier might be available to accommodate a quick 5 minute, "meet and greet" as I don't believe he's been formally introduced to David Negrin.

MLA Chow has given me your email and asked that I forward the request to you.

Thank you for your attention to this matter and I look forward to your response.

- A draft letter for the Minister to send to the NEB, cc'd to Minister Sohi

I wanted to share with you to get any feedback that you have before we approve for sending.

Hi Geoff;

Nico Slobinsky is wondering if we can reschedule their meeting (from Oct. 29th) to next week Nov 7th (I have highlighted their original request below for reference)

By now, you likely saw that the JCC rezoning application for the redevelopment project has been approved by CoV. I would like to take this opportunity to thank you for all the support you offered the project and our community in your previous job. Eldad Goldfarb, the JCC's Executive Director is planning a round of updates and briefings that will start very soon. He will be in Victoria with me on Monday, Oct 29th and I am wondering if we could find a time to meet with you.

Please advise if ok to schedule or advise not possible.

Dear Debbie,

Just finishing a productive day of meetings in Victoria, we are sorry that Geoff's schedule was busy. That said, we very much appreciate the support from the Premier, Geoff and Cabinet both today and during this past weekend. As you can imagine, these are difficult times.

If it helps, my colleague Eldad and I are back in Victoria for meetings the morning on Wed. Nov 7th. Would Geoff perhaps have some time then for a meeting?

Looking forward to hearing from you.

Subject: Possible Asia trip - Premier Horgan

Okenge, I would like your advice on options for a possible Asia trip by Premier Horgan in January. Presumably we would build on connections made on the original trip last January, with a view to emphasizing our work on sustainable economy and improved trade with the Asia Pacific. I am not asking for advice on a trip to India at this time. I don't need an exhaustive itinerary. Instead, I would appreciate some high level options that could include visits to China, Japan and Korea, although other destinations that align with our government's objectives and business opportunities.

Please don't hesitate to call me if you need further direction. I would appreciate some feedback in seven to 10 days in a brief note.

Thanks for your assistance
