Lauren, Anika:

I am catching up on my reading. I just came across this article in The Economist.

It mentions the 3 main elements of Canada's international strategies:

- work with like-minded countries
- invest in more armed forces
- diversify trade.

Now if we translate this into a provincial international strategy:

- work with stakeholders that shared the same values and that are involved internationally;
- invest in what others may need and that we have.
- trade diversification (in terms of key countries)

Subject: REGRETS Re: CSG West

Good afternoon Martha:

I would like to clarify an earlier email response you received today from BC regarding the CSG's invitation for BC to play a leadership role on the newly-formed Canada Relations Committee. The creation of the Committee is a good avenue for dialogue and learn from each other. However, it is with regrets that BC is not in a position to accept the CSG-West invitation. As you have proposed, it would be advisable for you to seek leadership from another province.

I, on behalf of the BC Government, wish the CSG success with this initiative aimed at enhancing understanding of both countries' priorities and approaches.

Happy 2019- I hope your holidays were joyful and restful!

Forwarding CSG West's newsletter that announces the Canada Relations Committee, among others (link below). Please let me know if leadership from British Columbia for the 2019-2020 biennium seems possible. If not, no worries. We certainly understand that restraints exist in every state and province. I just need to make a decision as to whether we reach out to another province or leave this as unfilled for the foreseeable future.

FORMER AMBASSADOR WAYNE TESTIFIES ON BORDER SECURITY

On December 12, 2018 Former U.S. Ambassador to Mexico and Public Policy Fellow at the Wilson Center's Mexico Institute, Earl Anthony Wayne, testified before the U.S. Senate Committee on the Judiciary, Subcommittee on Border Security. His testimony focused on U.S. - Mexico cooperation and areas of potential engagement with Mexico's new president, Andres Manuel Lopez Obrador, as well as the progress made over the past ten years on a range of security issues. He also addressed the pressing challenges faced today and stated that the U.S. and Mexico need to invest in deepening joint efforts to augment the homeland security of both countries, while also reviewing how cooperation can mesh most effectively with the new multi-pronged approach to public security being developed by Mexican President Lopez Obrador and his team.

THE U.S. - MEXICO BORDER REGION PRESENTS: CALIFORNIA

California is known for its 1,100-mile-long coastline, national parks, redwood trees, the Hollywood entertainment industry, and is often cited as a laboratory for testing new modes of living. The heartland of California is the Central Valley, which runs for 450 miles and is the state's agricultural center. With more than 40,000 plant and animal species, it is the most biologically diverse state in the United States. The state shares six land ports of entry throughout its border with Baja California, including San Ysidro which connects San Diego and Tijuana. This port is often cited as the world's busiest land border crossing and, in 2017, it was estimated that more than 32 million people crossed from Mexico into the United States at San Ysidro, averaging over 87,000 per day. According to the Bureau of Economic Analysis (BEA), in 2016 the Gross Domestic Product (GDP) in California reached $2,637,868,000,000, which was 14.2% of total U.S. GDP and continues to be ranked as the largest state economy in the nation.

WESTERN GOVERNORS ASSOCIATION - 2018 WINTER MEETING

The Western Governors Association (WGA) convened its 2018 Winter Meeting in the Big Island of Hawaii on December 11-13. WGA Chair and Hawaii Governor David Ige hosted ten western governors' as well key federal officials and regional stakeholders. The meeting included roundtable discussions on biosecurity and invasive species, outdoor recreation, skills development for veterans, renewable energy integration, and social determinants and health care. Moreover, western governors engaged with federal administration officials, including Secretary of Agriculture Sonny Perdue, Secretary of Veteran Affairs Robert Wilkie, and Small Business Administration Administrator Linda McMahon.

The participating governors also adopted four policy resolutions. The resolutions covered a variety of issues, including foreign visitor preclearance, cybersecurity, compensatory mitigation, and health care in the western states. Furthermore, the WGA and the U.S. Department of Agriculture signed a Memorandum of Understanding to establish a framework to allow the U.S. Forest Service and WGA to work collaboratively to accomplish mutual goals, further common interests and effectively respond to the increasing challenges facing regional landscapes.

Hi Pierrette. I believe the Premier is not going. Is that correct and can I tell Chuck?

Thanks.

Jeremy, Lucy,

Any chance you guys can share whether or not Premier Horgan will make it to the winter meeting of the National Governors Association in Washington, DC, Feb. 22-25? We understand a number of other provincial leaders from across Canada will attend and want to make sure he's taken care of.

Hope you're staying warm out there,
