Hi Sage,

I understand from Robyn Croft that a statement is being issued from the Premier tomorrow about World AIDS Day.

Gala Milne in our Minister's office asked that I share the following information with you:

This afternoon our Deputy received confirmation that the Attorney General of Canada intends to issue a directive regarding the federal Criminal Justice System's Response to the Non-Disclosure of HIV report issued on December 1, 2017: <https://www.justice.gc.ca/eng/rp-pr/other-autre/hivnd-vihnd/p1.html>

I don't know when exactly the information will be released by the federal government, but it may be this weekend to coincide with World Aids Day.

Our suggested response is:

Hahaha. Well this has been fun. I should hear back from health on Monday about their plans. If there is any chance we want to hold this until January for the premier let me know so I can push pause on it. Would be great to get photos of him with dr snuggles.

Have a great weekend.

Office of the Premier
Ministry of Environment and Climate Change
Strategy

CleanBC* plan to reduce climate pollution, build a low-carbon economy

VANCOUVER – The s.13 has released its CleanBC plan aimed at reducing climate pollution while creating more job and economic opportunities for people, businesses and communities.

“The low-carbon economy we can build together will bring opportunities and jobs s.13 the province, so people can s.13 greater security s.13 in the communities they call home,” said Premier Horgan. “By moving to clean, renewable energy – like our abundant supply of B.C. electricity – we can power our growing economy, and make life better and more affordable for British Columbians.”

In unveiling the CleanBC plan, Premier John Horgan said his government has put priority on:

- Reducing s.1 pollution by shifting homes, vehicles, industry and business off burning fossil fuels and towards greater use of clean B.C. electricity and other renewable energies.
- Boosting energy-efficient solutions, like zero-emission vehicles and home heat pumps, by making them more affordable and available for British Columbians.
- Becoming a destination for new investment and industry looking to meet the growing global demand for low-carbon products, services and pollution reducing technologies.

The CleanBC plan was developed as a pathway to achieve the Province’s legislated climate targets of eliminating 18.9 megatonnes (Mt) of greenhouse gas (GHG) emissions by the year 2030 – that is a 40% reduction from 2007 levels. The plan describes and quantifies measures that will s.13 of its 2030 target; remaining reduction initiatives will be quantified over the next 18-24 months.

“With CleanBC, British Columbia is rising to the challenge of climate change,” said Horgan. “Every year, we’re seeing the unprecedented wildfires and floods that hurt so many people, communities and businesses. We need to begin changing how we live, work and commute to put B.C. on a cleaner, more sustainable path.”

“CleanBC will position our province for success as the world transitions to low-carbon solutions,” said Andrew Weaver, leader of the B.C. Green Caucus and MLA for Oak Bay-Gordon Head. “It is a testament to what we can accomplish when we recognize our shared values and commit to working together. I look forward to working with government, business and other stakeholders to action this plan so that British Columbians can count on a bright future where all our communities enjoy a thriving economy and a high quality of life for generations to come.”

Highlights of the CleanBC plan include:

- s.13 every new car sold in B.C. will be a zero-emission vehicle. s.13 helping people to afford cleaner cars and save money on fuel with incentive programs, and making it easier to charge or fuel them. 1.3 MT of carbon pollution reduced by 2030
- s.13 speeding up the switch to cleaner fuels at the gas pump – with further reductions to the carbon intensity of our transportation fuels. 4.0 Mt of carbon pollution reduced by 2030
- Every new building constructed in B.C. will be “net-zero energy ready” by 2032. Along the way s.13 requiring new buildings to be more efficient, and ramping up funding for renovations and energy retrofits to s.13 existing homes and offices, including $400 million to support retrofits and upgrades for B.C.s stock of publicly funded housing. 2.0 MT of carbon pollution reduced by 2030
- s.13 reducing residential and industrial organic waste and turning it into a clean resource. 0.7 Mt of carbon pollution reduced by 2030
- s.13 helping industry lower their emissions and reduce their pollution. 8.4 MT of carbon pollution reduced by 2030

ADDITIONAL QUOTES

CleanBC is a specific-B.C. approach to making our communities strong and vibrant for decades to come as we rise to the challenge of global climate change. We can build a low-carbon economy that includes all sectors and all workers. Together we can protect our children’s future while making life more affordable today.

George Heyman, Minister of Environment and Climate Change Strategy

We can make things more efficient, use less energy and waste less, while make sure that the energy we use is s.13 s.13 made-in-BC. We look forward to continuing our work with resource industries who have been taking action over the last two decades to reduce greenhouse gas emissions, and who are embracing the responsibility to do more.

Hi all, I think the names on the attached list should be invited as media, unless you have reason to invite them to the event in a separate manner.

As for JWN/Glacier – they will be on the business media invite list, and be able to send someone of their choosing. I guess I'm not surprised to see keen early interest from them.

Jen, do you have any thoughts?

Hello Sage and Jen,

Attached is a list of media stakeholders who were identified as part of the stakeholder list building process with our team and the consultants. None of these folks have been invited to the December 5th event as guests, though we thought you might want to add some of them to the media list. If you'd like us to send out any information or invites, let me know.

In addition- we need your guidance on the request below. As far as we can tell, neither Bill Whitelaw nor JWN Energy/Glacier Media were on the original invite but there is space to add if we approve the request.

Cheers,
Chantille

Bill Whitelaw of JWN Energy/Glacier Media here. I am unable to make it to the exciting Dec. 5 event. Would it be possible for Mark Melville to attend in my stead?

Mark is the Vancouver-based president of Glacier's business information group, including our energy, mining and resources practices.

Glacier operates in all the BC communities that will benefit from this announcement!

Thanks, Jillian. This is a great list.

I like the idea of sending them the MA with a blurb on Monday.

I think I'd rather try for volume, over an exclusive. The challenge is scheduling in the premier given that he's off to the first minister's conference on the 6th. We have some time in the afternoon and can work a few in there – we will probably tap Minister Heyman on our side to get them all done.

Hi Sage,

Here is a list of US/UK climate reporters. I think a good place to start would be to just forward them the advisory on Monday with a little preamble about why they might be interested - that this will be a one of the most significant climate plans in North America and the story of how it came to be through our agreement.

I think we could either offer follow up interviews to everyone, or think about offering an exclusive to do a joint profile for one of them. I would start with David Roberts or Zahra Hirji.

LMK what you think and how you want to work together on this. Happy to do the outreach however you think is best.

Thanks,

Your observation about the audience is totally on point. I appreciate the close read of the Chamber's agenda and I really like your proposed formatting, with a couple of questions/hesitations:

1. Overall space and time – I want to make sure he can get through the material in the time allotted.

s.13

I too would like to avoid a last minute rewrite so will get PJH's buy-in on this approach on Monday. And I want to apologize again. Unfortunately I don't think we'll be able to get a read through to happen because he'll be off at the First Minister's meeting in Montreal for the latter part of this week, then at BC Chamber the following Monday. With that said, I would really like to provide him with a point form version for this one as well. It worked so well at the BCBC Summit.

Thanks,

Hi Sage,

It would be great to touch base on the phone in the next day or two, particularly so I have a better idea of the origin of this Outline and so I might better understand the Premier's preferences on a couple of fronts.

In the meantime, I have an observation and a proposal.

All that said; I would like to give you a first draft that is, at least, functionally workable, such that we might avoid a last-minute rewrite. In a best case, that might also make time for me to come hear a reading and to fine tune the language - after which I could again prepare a point-form prompt version of the sort that you say worked well at the BC Business Council event.

Thoughts?

PJH wants to continue to use the People / Power / Place frame to organize his thoughts. The attached outline is there to help with Ministry-approved boiler plate, if that is indeed helpful.

Hi Sage,

Here is a list of US/UK climate reporters. I think a good place to start would be to just forward them the advisory on Monday with a little preamble about why they might be interested - that this will be a one of the most significant climate plans in North America and the story of how it came to be through our agreement.

I think we could either offer follow up interviews to everyone, or think about offering an exclusive to do a joint profile for one of them. I would start with David Roberts or Zahra Hirji.

LMK what you think and how you want to work together on this. Happy to do the outreach however you think is best.

Hi Aaron,

Thanks very much for asking us to chime in.

1. July 2017: Absolutely, it was both leaders' perspective that they have many areas of agreement, including transit, housing and infrastructure. I would add childcare and climate action. Premier Horgan has always tried to focus on the areas where he agrees with the federal government. Prime Minister Trudeau stated his belief the pipeline was necessary, Premier Horgan disagreed and they left it at that. To be honest, the pipeline did not dominate that discussion at all. They did discuss the ocean protection plan separately.
2. April 2018: Premier Horgan's concerns about the risk to our coast and economy of a seven-fold increase in tanker traffic has been and is still clear.

Hi Sage...

As promised, I return to ask about a few things.

1. On the first meeting between Horgan and Trudeau in July 2017, I have that:

-Trudeau suggested he and Horgan agreed about more than they disagreed about: they had both been elected to invest in transit, housing and infrastructure, and they should try to minimize their fights over Trans Mountain.

-But Trudeau explained that the pipeline was going to be built and his government was going to do everything in its power to make sure it did.

-Trudeau said he hoped that, at some point, he could provide Horgan with an “off-ramp” -- maybe more money for ocean protection or a higher percentage of unionized contracts for the construction. Two or three things that Horgan could point to while conceding defeat and assigning all responsibility for the pipeline to Trudeau.

-Discussions between the federal and B.C. governments continued along those lines over the next six months.

2. On the meeting between Horgan, Notley and Trudeau in April 2018, I have that;

-Trudeau pressed Horgan about what the federal government could do to allay his concerns about the pipeline, but Horgan did not offer a definitive answer

3. On a general point, it's not clear to me whether the federal government ever threatened to withhold any kind of funding from British Columbia. If I could get that confirmed, one way or the other, it would be much, much appreciated.

Aaron.

Subject: Book talk

Hi Sage...

I thought it might help if I refined my request a bit.

I'd like to talk to Geoff Meggs about the Trans Mountain expansion project, discussions between the federal and BC governments, and, specifically, Premier Horgan's meeting with the Prime Minister on July 25, 2017, the meeting between Premier Horgan, Premier Notley and the Prime Minister on April 15, 2018.

Do you think we can arrange that?

Aaron.

Hi All,

Attached are the specs for a backdrop we can have made. This is the most economic option (or at least a more economic option), as we have the hardware already and in good condition from the previous government. They purchased it in fall 2016 so it would have been used for less than a year.

I will ask the designer to mock up a repeated alternating "BC" logo intermixed with "Working for You", and a few other designs.

Let me know if you have any concerns or suggestions. To be clear, this would be for use in the hall of honour events and it has a carrying case that would allow it to be brought elsewhere (it is a large case, so flying would be expensive.)

Thanks
Rick

Hello all,

What you have there is a C33 Nomadic 8ft curved pop up display. I have attached the templates for the display and the podium along with our design guide, which the designer should follow carefully when building the files. (I'm not sure if you require the podium wrap, but the supplier sent it so I've included it.)

The price for the 5 mural panels is $1884.00 and the podium wrap is $384.00 should you want that option. Taxes and shipping are extra.

We would require roughly a 7 business days once we have approved art files and would not require the hardware in our hands for this work.

Please let me know if you have any question, I look forward to helping further.

If you want to proceed, please send in a completed requisition (I've attached one) and the print file to me directly.

Best Regards,

Paula

Subject: 6457 Generic Backdrop signage for GCPE

Hi Paula,

I Hope this message finds you well.

Rick and I went down into the basement store room to seek out the framework for previous signage that we could reuse for this new backdrop project.

We found one that was created in November of 2016 for BC Jobs plan that seems to be in great shape. It looks like it had plastic type panels (photomural strips?) that were printed on and mounted to the framework. These were rolled up and stored with the framework in a large roll black bin.

All the info I could gather on it are as follows:

It is an Exhibitree item, a "Nomadic Display" portable modular display product.

It appeared to have a curve to it.

The bin #: 1619195-1

C33

1095880

The instruction manual pics are attached

Ultimately we would like to find out the dimension specs of this display unit to create new panels that can be mounted to it.

(I can measure the old panels and send those dimensions if this helps. The question then would be if these panels are still available to be produced?)

Do you by any chance have records of this order form Nov 2016, or do any of the numbers help in tracking down the Specs and availability?

Thanks so much for all your valuable time on this Paula.

Happy FriYAY.

Bests,

Jackie.

Hello Rick, Andrew and Jackie,

I'm happy to help in this request. Please check out these links to see if these are a possibility. I'm happy to provide prices. We work extensively with these suppliers, as well as the one suggested in the email.

These are both portable and will be easy to use.

If one of these products might be a possibility, I'll confirm pricing and specifications for art design/layout for you.

Hi Bill

The graphics team recommended that I get in touch with you about what is possible in designing a large collapsible backdrop that could be used as a backdrop at announcements.

More details are in my request below. Let me know what you think.

Thanks
Rick

Hello,
We recently were able to purchase in-house all of the gear needed to do press conferences at the legislature, which will make for a great cost savings over the long term to avoid contracting AV support for all of those events. one concern that has come up is that the Legislature does not have the resources to always be able to get us a set of 4-6 BC flags to set up behind the speakers. We could look into purchasing our own set, but first i wanted to check into getting a backdrop made for repeated use.

One vendor that has been recommended is s.13 /, but perhaps there is one that we have used in past or have an agreement with through Queen's Printer or otherwise. I am looking for a fabric backdrop that would be set up on a collapsible accordion style frame that would make it very easy to transport/move around.

In terms of design I am open to suggestions, either a repeated BC logo, or perhaps alternating repeated BC logo and the phrase "Working for You"

Let me know if you want me to find more specs or if you have something that was done previously that you could work from. There is no rush on this.

Hi Rick,
I hope this message finds you well.

I am happy to take on this project for you.

Is there a possibility we can meet up briefly to chat about this and brainstorm on some ideas?

I am available anytime Thursday or Friday or next week.

In the mean time, if you are able to gather more specs on what is feasible with the Queens printer (whom we recommend to work with),
we can create some parameters and go from there.

Heather,

Here is a topline deck summarizing the findings. We will add in our observations on the demographic and regional differences. Also, for Q. 4 the open end on what people want in the budget - I am getting a couple of the larger categories broken down a bit more so we will revise that too. In the meantime this will give you something to chew on!

We are launching full-bore today after some testing over the weekend. We will be in field Nov. 12-21 and we will be able to run topline frequencies once we have done a significant chunk of the 1200 surveys. We will have full tables with all the coded open ends Nov. 26 but we could get you tables for all closed ends a few days earlier on the 23rd if that would be helpful.

Hi Jarrett –

Further to our call, below is a brief summary and time line of the lunch event we are hosting December 10th. Floorplan will follow shortly.

Like last year’s event , it would be great if the Premier can arrive between 11:15-11:30 to do a bit of networking with our guests before we head into the lunch. I have a ‘greenroom’ ready should the Premier and his team need some privacy to prepare before and after the event.

Event: Premier and Cabinet Lunch

Keynote speaker: The Honourable John Horgan, Premier

Guests: Cabinet Ministers – each at their own table with a host and our business and chamber members

Expected attendance: 200-220

Date: Monday, Dec. 10th 2018

Location: Hyatt Regency Vancouver, 655 Burrard Street, Vancouver BC, V6C 2R7
Meeting Space : Regency Ballroom
Registration and Reception : 11:00am
Lunch: 12pm-2pm
Greenroom: Prince of Wales Room

Brief rundown of the event:

11:00am Registration and networking reception
11:15am-11:30am Premier Horgan and Cabinet Ministers arrive
12pm – Val Litwin - Welcome Remarks
12:15pm – Lunch Served
1:00pm – Sponsor at podium, brief words, and invite Premier Horgan to podium
1:05pm – Premier Horgan, remarks (15 mins)
1:20pm-1:35pm – Premier Horgan and Val Litwin seated on stage
Q&A session through Slido platform, moderated by Val
Val to wrap up, indicate Premier Horgan to return to table seating
1:35pm-1:40pm Sponsor at podium, brief words, and Thank the Premier and Cabinet Ministers
1:45pm – Val Litwin – closing remarks.
2:00pm – Event concludes – photos with Premier

Feel free to let me know if you have any questions in the meantime – if you can't reach me on my office number, please feel free to call my cell 604.638.8112.

Hello Jarrett –
Pleased to "e-meet" you! I'd be happy to co-ordinate a call with you and I think it would be very helpful if we have Val (my CEO) with us to talk through some details. Would one of the following times work for you?
Thursday (tomorrow), 3pm or 4pm
Monday, 9:30am or 2pm
Thanks,

Rosaline Chan

Hi Rosaline,

Sorry for the shuffling on this but my name is Jarrett Hagglund. One of the Event Managers for GCPE. I will be coordinating the Premiers attendance at this event. Let me know when might be a good time to chat.

Thanks so much!

Jarrett

Yes. He's come in to help with Budget 2019 preparation and comms.
I'm sure you have a sense of his CV but I will mention that he was also former press sec to premier Mike Harcourt, teaches journalism & comms at TRU, worked in the mayor's office in Vancouver...

Hi...

Bill Whitelaw of JWN Energy/Glacier Media here. I am unable to make it to the exciting Dec. 5 event. Would it be possible for Mark Melville to attend in my stead?

Mark is the Vancouver-based president of Glacier's business information group, including our energy, mining and resources practices.

Glacier operates in all the BC communities that will benefit from this announcement!

Please let us know.

Okenge –

As discussed:

- Carbon Pricing: Governor Inslee is a passionate advocate for climate action. His attempts to get carbon pricing legislation through the Legislature have failed. Two ballot initiatives that would have introduced carbon pricing have also failed. In his 2018 State of the State Address, he recognized B.C. for having a carbon pricing system. However, there are sensitivities in messaging here that I would like to brief you on.
- Orcas: The Governor is very personally concerned about the future of the Southern Resident Killer Whale. While this issue is largely within federal jurisdiction in Canada, B.C. and WA officials are exploring ways that they can work closer together on this issue. The Governor's task force recently released a list of draft recommendations. This topic is included in the October 10th MOU.
- High Speed Rail: This remains a priority for the Governor. He will likely be asking the Premier to contribute funding to the next round of study which is likely to focus on environmental benefits.
- Support for Immigration, Trade and a Tolerant Society: Governor Inslee has been one of President Trump's most vocal critics and has been especially critical of the President's immigration and asylum agenda. In 2017, the Governor signed an executive order stating that Washington "shall remain a welcoming jurisdiction". Moreover, he received a standing ovation in B.C.'s Legislature when he mentioned his state's support for young migrants who came to the U.S. irregularly as children. The Premier, as a head of government from outside the U.S., could make a positive statement that people from outside of the U.S. that share his progressive values are taking notice of Governor Inslee's efforts.
- Overdose Crisis: This is an area of shared concern and B.C. has a lot to offer given our experience with safe injection sites, anti-stigma campaigns, etc. The Premier and the Governor discussed this in Vancouver in March, 2018. Minister Darcy is B.C.'s representative on a Pacific Coast Collaborative working group on this issue, but the Premier could offer support to the Governor's efforts in WA.

Please let me know if you'd like more information, a different format, etc.

Jeremy

Premier's statement on the National Day of Remembrance and Action on Violence Against Women

VICTORIA -Premier John Horgan has issued the following statement to mark the National Day of Remembrance and Action on Violence Against Women:

"Geneviève Bergeron, Hélène Colgan, Nathalie Croteau, Barbara Daigneault, Anne-Marie Edward, Maud Haviernick, Barbara Klucznik-Widajewicz, Maryse Laganière, Maryse Leclair, Anne-Marie Lemay, Sonia Pelletier, Michèle Richard, Annie St-Arneault, Annie Turcotte.

"Today, we say the names of the fourteen women murdered at École Polytechnique on December 6, 1989, and we remember their lives that ended in violence, stolen because of their gender.

"Twenty-nine years later, gender-based violence and discrimination continues to happen every day, in places that we work, learn and live.

"As we stand together and observe moments of silence in their honour, we recommit to using our voices and platforms to speak out, and to work together to end gender-based violence

"The time for change is now. Together, we can advance equality and build a brighter, safer future, for women, girls and trans people, in British Columbia, in Canada, and around the world."

A vigil will be held at 5 p.m. at the Parliament Buildings in Victoria, to commemorate the National Day of Remembrance and Action on Violence Against Women. The Canadian flag will fly at half-mast from sunrise to sunset.

Hi Bruce,

So my understanding is that GCPE are/will be working with Sage on speaking notes for the Premier.

We're happy for PJH to stay as long as his schedule will allow and as long as he's comfortable. We can work around it if he has to cut out short.

Hope that helps.

Hi James. Couple of points.

Thank you for the ongoing hard work you and your team are doing to pull this event off on such late year, short notice.

Not sure who is preparing speaking notes for PJH for this event. Can you clarify if it's your shop or Premier's office or ? Because PJH is there in the middle of the meeting perhaps he should speak for just 5 minutes and not 10? Perhaps his comments should answer discussion questions 2 & 3 ??? Or should they be more general about the opportunity we have in front of us. Personally, I haven't been in any meeting where PJH has had a chance to articulate what he wants to say at this gathering, so sorry I cant be more helpful on this.

Finally, I believe the Premier will be leaving the meeting before the scheduled end. Can you let Amber/Kate know if this is ok with your team or if you are hoping he will stay till end or ????

Despite the challenges I know the Premier is going to be happy this meeting is happening Monday and really looking forward to the discussion and outcomes.

Thank you.

Hi all,

As discussed with Kate, the attached is a (very draft) release that the CRD is wanting to put out late this week, which identifies the next four buildings to be built through the $90M CRD Regional Housing First Partnership funding (funding = 30 Fed / 30 Prov / 30 CRD). They tend to lead these ones, but I wanted to put this particular NR on your radar as all four of these buildings are in PJH's riding in Langford and Sooke (the first two were in Victoria and Salt Spring).

The release is currently structured with a single quote from each partner – Duclos on behalf of Feds/CMHC, Robinson on behalf of Prov/BCH, and Plant on behalf of CRD, plus the two local mayors. s.13

Happy to discuss further if you'd like,

Hi Sage,

Nice to finally meet you last week.

Hey, I heard from Sheena there's no space for me to have a year-ender with the Premier this year. After chatting with Rob, Richard et al., I hadn't realized it's unusual not to make room for a press gallery member. If you ever have concerns with anything I write, please don't hesitate to contact me; I'm always open to hearing your side of things, including criticism.

If you have time for a coffee before Christmas, I'd love to better introduce myself (and probably trade some PO stories.)

Cheers,

Your observation about the audience is totally on point. I appreciate the close read of the Chamber's agenda and I really like your proposed formatting, with a couple of questions/hesitations:

1. Overall space and time – I want to make sure he can get through the material in the time allotted.

s.13

I too would like to avoid a last minute rewrite so will get PJH's buy-in on this approach on Monday. And I want to apologize again. Unfortunately I don't think we'll be able to get a read through to happen because he'll be off at the First Minister's meeting in Montreal for the latter part of this week, then at BC Chamber the following Monday. With that said, I would really like to provide him with a point form version for this one as well. It worked so well at the BCBC Summit.

Thanks,

In the meantime, I have an observation and a proposal.

All that said; I would like to give you a first draft that is, at least, functionally workable, such that we might avoid a last-minute rewrite. In a best case, that might also make time for me to come hear a reading and to fine tune the language - after which I could again prepare a point-form prompt version of the sort that you say worked well at the BC Business Council event.

Do you have a BN or anything similar about how the Province is working to support local and regional government and, where relevant, facilitating a healthy relationship with business? Also, without appropriating municipal authority, how government is committed supporting a transparent and efficient regulation managed at the appropriate level? Most applicable to real estate development.

Not sure how helpful this is at this point...

Background:

At their Nov 14th meeting the Mayors' Council voted to suspend the Surrey LRT project and request further information from Translink about the possibility of switching to SkyTrain for discussion at their December 13th meeting. Mayor McCallum and Mayor Kennedy Stewart were the only members advocating for work on the Skytrain plan to start right away. The majority of other members supported Surrey's desire to suspend LRT, but stated they need more information before making a decision about SkyTrain. The Mayors' Council agreed to consider SkyTrain within the existing funding envelope of the 10 Year Vision.

Message:

We made a significant investment to support rapid transit in Surrey as part of the Mayors' Council 10-Year Vision. We remain committed to supporting rapid transit for Surrey and the region. The Mayor's Council has asked for more information to guide their decision on what the next steps are for Skytrain. Once a decision about next steps has been reached we look forward to expediting the review of a new business case to ensure there are no unnecessary delays. We will continue to work to keep people moving quickly and affordably in Surrey and the entire region.

Unlike the previous government, we've funded 40% of Phase Two of the Mayors' 10-year Vision and committed to funding 40% of Phase Three. The Mayors' Council is considering SkyTrain within the existing funding envelope of the 10 Year Vision.

Sage, in our meeting yesterday we had agreed to send out to MLAs/Ministers after the event tomorrow. If you have specific timing in mind, or would like us to coordinate sending this out with whatever other supporting materials you will be sending out, please let me know.

And as always, open to all the feedback.

Thanks!

We do not as we had envisioned MMM taking the bulk of the 2nd day media and are attentive to the feedback that SA media would prefer the ministers appended to a file.

Having said that, if we need a Punjabi speaker I think Minister Bains makes the most sense due to the economic and workforce implications of CleanBC. I've cc'ed Robb and Rosa here to canvass their opinions.

We do not as we had envisioned MMM taking the bulk of the 2nd day media and are attentive to the feedback that SA media would prefer the ministers appended to a file. Having said that, if we need a Punjabi speaker I think Minister Bains makes the most sense due to the economic and workforce implications of CleanBC. I've cc'ed Robb and Rosa here to canvass their opinions.

- I'm proud to be here today to help wrap up the 'Road to the World Juniors' educational program that introduces kids to the sport of hockey through fun games and skills development.

- Playing sports can improve physical skills, confidence and self-esteem in children, while promoting active living in families and communities.
- British Columbia is a great place to be active all year round, so it's fitting that we are the province to host this year's World Junior Hockey Championships.
- For nine communities outside of Victoria and Vancouver, fans can see world-class hockey in person, thanks to training camps and exhibition games closer to home.

Hi Evan,
Would you please print this for PJH to read on the plane?
A few things to note:
It's a first draft so will need changes, including:
It's too long and has to be cut back
The language has to be^{s.22} (the final version will be much more point form)
A few other content edits
But this will give PJH the gist of the speech and topics

Thanks,

Hi Sage,

Attached find a first draft, a bit long for my liking, but I thought I would leave you examples from which to choose. I've love to see any kind of markup, just so I have a sense of what might (or not). And I will protect some time Friday through Sunday for edits and a point-form version if this looks like it's working.

Dear Premier Horgan,
I hope this email finds you and your office well.

My name is Mia Gordon and I am the videographer and reporter in B.C. for the Weather Network.

The reason for this email is we are working on a story about the province's plan to phase out none electric cars and the announcement regarding Clean BC.

We would love to get the word out and remind BC residents that we can work together to help the planet.

We are hoping to complete the interview before the holiday's if there is time, however if that doesn't allow in your schedule, we are also open to the New Year, we just feel this is a great time for BC and want to spread the word.

I look forward to speaking with you further,
Thank you,
Sincerely,
Mia

A few thoughts. I printed it out in colour and have been thinking about it.

I kind of like how it isn't the regular dark blue. That could be severe, and we have that in our podium signs most times.

I think an image faded/wordmark-style in the background could be good, like a mountain, or something else iconic.

And I like the bigger "Working for You" one, with it only 5 times. I think that would get captured in images nicely. Though the smaller one is more subtle.

Hi Rick,

I hope all is well with you this fine sunshiny Wednesday.

Please find attached 2 concepts for the generic backdrop.

(The grey rectangle shows the height of our premier positioned centred in front of the backdrop)

1. This one is a tiled version as discussed
2. Is a larger logo placed 5 times, strategically to be visible at a variety of angles on camera

Andrew and I have discussed these two options and feel these are two solid directions.

Your feedback and input most welcome.

Jackie.

Dear Sage,

I hope you have been well since we last spoke in June.

I was wondering if you can connect me with someone in the BC Government:

John Jordan, Executive Director for services strategy in the office of British Columbia's CIO and the project lead for The Org Book.

It was announced in June this year that British Columbia will launch a beta test of what it for the time being calls TheOrgBook, a service that initially will give access to business incorporation documents. Ultimately the service hopes to add dozens of other government-issued digital licences and permits to be searched. Perhaps even law societies and professional organizations will also participate so the public can verify the professional credentials of members. Here is a reference to an article:

<https://www.itworldcanada.com/article/two-upcoming-government-digital-projects-show-future-for-digital-id-in-canada/406600>

The World Economic Forum Center for the Fourth Industrial Revolution in San Francisco is writing a white paper on decentralized digital identifiers within blockchain solutions. This white paper is part of the 'Blockchain for Supply Chain' project and is very much in line with what is planned via TheOrgBook. We believe there would be great value in collaborating.

If you can connect me with the John Jordan or someone in the CIO's office we would be very grateful.

Best wishes,

Hello,

Just so everyone knows what we are intending to deliver next week for end of year.

Attached is an example of what the shops have compiled for us, as well as the one-year guide from July that we will be updating for year end.

We are aiming to send drafts to Sage tomorrow of:

1. ALL end of year summaries compiled into one indexed document
2. A draft of the KM Guide revised for year end

Once it's finalized will send out the KM guide to CDs/MOs, and Karl's team will then assemble a Digital Toolkit to send out to CDs/MOs for year end posts.

I'd like to have a meeting on Monday to go through, discuss the messaging, and pull the best metrics out.

Erin will arrange if folks are free.

Thanks!

CleanBC: Creating opportunities for people and putting B.C. on the path to a cleaner, brighter future

By Premier John Horgan

The CleanBC climate action plan, launched by our government this week, will put B.C. on the path to a cleaner, better future, with more opportunity for people.

Like so many of you, when my kids were young, we took them to watch the salmon spawning and out exploring in hopes of seeing orcas in the wild. We need to protect this beautiful province for our children and grandchildren, and for the people, communities, and industries that depend on B.C.'s abundant natural resources.

We're rising to the challenge of climate change and building a strong, sustainable, low-carbon economy that reduces climate pollution. This new economy will create jobs and economic opportunities for people, businesses, and communities in every part of B.C. And we're working together with the B.C. Green caucus to get it done.

Over time, CleanBC will make how we get around, how we work, and how we heat our homes more efficient. It will make cleaner options more convenient, available, and affordable. And it will support industries and investments in low-carbon products, services, and pollution-reducing technologies.

By 2032, every new building constructed in B.C. will be "net-zero energy ready". We're also requiring new buildings to be more efficient, and ramping up funding for renovations and energy retrofits to our existing homes and offices. And we're reducing residential and industrial organic waste and turning it into a clean resource.

As part of CleanBC, every new light-duty car or truck sold in B.C. will be a zero-emission vehicle (ZEV) by 2040. ZEVs will be more accessible and affordable for people throughout the province. We'll help people save money on fuel with incentive programs, and make it easier to charge or fuel ZEVs. We'll also be speeding up the switch to cleaner fuels at the gas pump, and helping industry to lower their emissions and reduce pollution.

We're working collaboratively to seize new clean economy opportunities, and help communities adapt to the impacts of climate change. First Nations governments, local governments and businesses are all partners on the path forward. And by moving to clean, renewable energy – like our abundant supply of B.C. electricity – we will power our growing economy and make life better and more affordable for British Columbians. And we will work in partnership with Indigenous Peoples on the path forward.

The challenges of climate change are global, but the impact is all too clear here in B.C. Unprecedented wildfires and floods have hurt people, communities, and businesses throughout our province. We have a responsibility to act – for now and for future generations. Our government is taking that responsibility seriously.

It's time to put B.C. on a cleaner, more sustainable path, to build a better future for everyone in this province.

With CleanBC we're taking important steps forward, to make sure B.C. succeeds in the low-carbon economy of the future. We want to make sure people can live, work and build good lives in the communities they call home.

Statement from Premier Horgan on International Human Rights Day

VICTORIA – Premier John Horgan has issued the following statement to mark the 70th anniversary of United Nations General Assembly’s adoption of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights:

“Human rights are the foundation upon which all other rights and freedoms are built. On International Human Rights Day, we reflect on the hard work required from all of us to defend and champion human rights, here in B.C. and around the world.

“On this day last year, we released a report that included 24 recommendations for the re-establishment of B.C.’s human rights commission. A year later, we’re proud to have passed legislation to establish a new commission that reflects the diverse and inclusive province we are so lucky to live in.

“Human rights are not simply given – they have been fought for, and won, by people throughout history. Rights are also not guaranteed, so as we celebrate today we are also reminded that we must continue to stand together, defend human rights, and fight every day for equality for all.

Yes it is indeed one of the amazing (and world-leading!) projects we have underway. MJS will be presenting this to CCSSP on Monday. John Jordan is currently away so are you fine if I reach out to Jonathan directly and connect him to our government CIO?

Hello,

The BIV op-ed is due end of day Monday in my Asana. (I recently realized:)

Is that the actual due date?

Is there direction coming out of these economy speeches that you would like me to include?

I was thinking CleanBC, LNG, housing, childcare, trade, tech and reconciliation would be major highlights.

Following the investing in people, power, place narrative structure.

Does that sound good? Any other suggestions or inspiration?

Thank you,

My edits inline. Basically, s.13

A few months ago, I had the honour of being in the Big House of the Cowichan People, in the Cowichan Valley. I was told a story there about the hummingbird.

One day, the bear noticed the hummingbird flying to the river, grabbing a drop of water, and then flying to drop it on a forest fire. The hummingbird then flew back to the river, grabbed another drop of water, and flew back to drop it on the forest fire. The hummingbird kept flying back and forth, and the bear finally asked “what are you doing?”. The hummingbird answered, “I’m doing what I can”.

I believe all British Columbians, in all the spectacular corners of this province, are hummingbirds. We all have the power to do what we can to protect this special place we call home.

Every person in B.C., whether a long-time resident or newcomer, has a story of connecting with our natural environment in some way. But the increasing effects of climate change are threatening this ecosystem more and more.

The warning signs are all around us. The challenges of climate change are global, but the impact is all too clear here in B.C. The decreasing salmon stock, the unprecedented wildfires, the catastrophic flooding, the devastating droughts – within months of each other.

I feel hopeful, though, because British Columbians are coming together to rise to the challenge of climate change.

Government. Indigenous peoples. Industry and business. Communities, individuals and families. To work together. To do our part.

Yesterday, we released our CleanBC plan. A plan that will significantly lower greenhouse gas emissions and reduce climate pollution, while moving our province to a low-carbon economy. It will create opportunities for all, while protecting our clean air, land and water.

With CleanBC, we are focusing on reducing the air pollution by shifting homes, vehicles and businesses off burning fossil fuels and towards greater use of clean, B.C.-made electricity and other renewable energy. We are also boosting energy-efficient solutions like zero-emission vehicles, by making them more affordable and available. And we are positioning B.C. as a destination for new investments and industries that share our goal of urgent climate action.

Highlights of the CleanBC plan include:

- By 2040, every new car sold in B.C. will be a zero-emission vehicle – to help people make the switch, we’re offering up to $6,000 in rebates.
- By 2032, every new building constructed in B.C. will be 80% more efficient than a home built today.
- By 2030, 95% of organic waste will be diverted from landfills and turned into renewable resources.
- By 2030, 60% of homes will use clean energy.
- We are helping industry lower its emissions and reduce its pollution.
- We are speeding up the switch to cleaner fuels at the gas pump – with further reductions to the carbon intensity of transportation fuels.

Combined, these initiatives will put us on the path to meeting our legislated climate targets of reducing our province’s greenhouse gas emissions by 40% by the year 2030, based on 2007 levels.

I will never forget visiting Grand Forks this past summer after the flooding, or talking to people who’d just lost their homes around Cache Creek and Prince George during the wild fire season.

What struck me in these communities was the way people came together to help each other out. To protect homes and livelihoods. That is what we are doing as a province with CleanBC.

Our strength is our people.

People in B.C. are already working together to create a better, more balanced, and cleaner province for today and tomorrow. This plan will simply put their work across the province into high gear.

Over time, it will change how we get around, how we work, and how we heat our homes – making things better and more affordable for people while reducing air pollution.

And it is our commitment that the path we have defined, and the steps we will take, will be made in partnership with Indigenous peoples.

Indigenous peoples have been stewards of this land for thousands of years. We will work in collaboration with Indigenous communities and businesses to unlock the opportunities from the new, clean economy, and help these communities adapt to the impacts of climate change.

CleanBC reflects our government’s commitment to support the implementation of the United Nations Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples and the Calls to Action of the Truth and Reconciliation Commission.

B.C. cannot truly prosper until Indigenous Peoples are full partners in our future and our shared prosperity.

Our CleanBC plan is staged to succeed in part because B.C. is a clean-energy powerhouse.

98% of the power we generate is clean, renewable energy, but when it comes to the energy we use, we still rely too heavily on fossil fuels. By moving to clean, renewable energy – like our abundant supply of hydroelectricity – we can power our growing economy and make life better and more affordable for people.

CleanBC* is not only a climate action plan, it’s an economic strategy.

It's about making our province more resilient. Now and into the future.

It's time for us to come together and focus on the great challenge of our time. We all have a responsibility to do what we can. It's time for all of us to carry water to the fire. It's time for us to be that hummingbird.

I feel hopeful, though, because British Columbians are coming together to rise to the challenge of climate change.

Government. Indigenous peoples. Industry and business. Communities, individuals and families. To work together. To do our part.

Yesterday, we released our CleanBC plan. A plan that will significantly lower greenhouse gas emissions and reduce climate pollution, while moving our province to a low-carbon economy. It will create opportunities for all, while protecting our clean air, land and water.

With CleanBC, we are focusing on reducing the air pollution by shifting homes, vehicles and businesses off burning fossil fuels and towards greater use of clean, B.C.-made electricity and other renewable energy. We are also boosting energy-efficient solutions like zero-emission vehicles, by making them more affordable and available. And we are positioning B.C. as a destination for new investments and industries that share our goal of urgent climate action.

Highlights of the CleanBC plan include:

- By 2040, every new car sold in B.C. will be a zero-emission vehicle – to help people make the switch, we’re offering up to $6,000 in rebates.
- By 2032, every new building constructed in B.C. will be 80% more efficient than a home built today.
- By 2030, 95% of organic waste will be diverted from landfills and turned into renewable resources.

- By 2030, 60% of homes will use clean energy.
- We are helping industry lower its emissions and reduce its pollution.
- We are speeding up the switch to cleaner fuels at the gas pump – with further reductions to the carbon intensity of transportation fuels.

Combined, these initiatives will put us on the path to meeting our legislated climate targets of reducing our province's greenhouse gas emissions by 40% by the year 2030, based on 2007 levels.

I will never forget visiting Grand Forks this past summer after the flooding, or talking to people who'd just lost their homes around Cache Creek and Prince George during the wild fire season.

What struck me in these communities was the way people came together to help each other out. To protect homes and livelihoods. That is what we are doing as a province with CleanBC.

Our strength is our people.

People in B.C. are already working together to create a better, more balanced, and cleaner province for today and tomorrow. This plan will simply put their work across the province into high gear. Over time, it will change how we get around, how we work, and how we heat our homes – making things better and more affordable for people while reducing air pollution.

And it is our commitment that the path we have defined, and the steps we will take, will be made in partnership with Indigenous peoples.

Indigenous peoples have been stewards of this land for thousands of years. We will work in collaboration with Indigenous communities and businesses to unlock the opportunities from the new, clean economy, and help these communities adapt to the impacts of climate change.

CleanBC reflects our government's commitment to support the implementation of the United Nations Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples and the Calls to Action of the Truth and Reconciliation Commission.

B.C. cannot truly prosper until Indigenous Peoples are full partners in our future and our shared prosperity.

Our CleanBC plan is staged to succeed in part because B.C. is a clean-energy powerhouse.

98% of the power we generate is clean, renewable energy, but when it comes to the energy we use, we still rely too heavily on fossil fuels. By moving to clean, renewable energy – like our abundant supply of hydroelectricity – we can power our growing economy and make life better and more affordable for people.

CleanBC* is not only a climate action plan, it's an economic strategy.

It's about making our province more resilient. Now and into the future.

The global stage awaits us, but our backyard needs our attention as well. It's time for us to come together and focus on the great challenge of our time. It's time for us to be that hummingbird.

Subject: For review: CleanBC Medium blog

For an online Medium blog. The core of the story is PJH's speaking notes from yesterday, with the addition of the hummingbird story.

A few months ago, I had the honour of being in the Big House of the Cowichan People, in the Cowichan Valley. I was told a story there about the hummingbird.

One day, the bear noticed the hummingbird flying to the river, grabbing a drop of water, and then flying to drop it on a forest fire. The hummingbird then flew back to the river, grabbed another drop of water, and flew back to drop it on the forest fire. The hummingbird kept flying back and forth, and the bear finally asked "what are you doing?". The hummingbird answered, "I'm doing what I can".

I believe all British Columbians, in all the spectacular corners of this province, are hummingbirds. We all have the power to do what we can to protect this special place we call home.

Every person in B.C., whether a long-time resident or newcomer, has a story of connecting with our natural environment in some way. But the increasing effects of climate change are threatening this ecosystem more and more.

The warning signs are all around us. The challenges of climate change are global, but the impact is all too clear here in B.C. The decreasing salmon stock, the unprecedented wildfires, the catastrophic flooding, the devastating droughts – within months of each other.

I feel hopeful, though, because British Columbians are coming together to rise to the challenge of climate change.

Subject: Labour Force Survey - November 2018

Hi everyone,

The November 2018 briefing for the Labour Force Survey is attached.

B.C.

- In November, employment in British Columbia increased by 15,900 to 2.531 million.
- There was an increase of 33,400 in part-time employment and a decrease of 17,500 in full-time employment.
- Year-over-year to November 2018, there are 42,500 (1.7%) more people employed in British Columbia.
 - British Columbia has the fifth highest year-over-year rate among provinces at 1.7%.
 - Prince Edward Island has the highest year-over-year employment growth at 3.6%. Saskatchewan is second at 2.7%.
- In November, the unemployment rate increased to 4.4% from 4.1% in October as more people looked for work. British Columbia has the lowest unemployment rate in Canada for the 15th month in a row.
 - Quebec was second at 5.4% in November and Saskatchewan was third at 5.5%.
- Youth (age 15-24) employment increased by 600 in November. The youth unemployment rate increased to 7.3% as more young people looked for work.
 - British Columbia has the lowest youth unemployment rate in Canada. Saskatchewan has the second lowest rate at 9.2%.
- Average hourly wages are down $0.30 from $26.80 in October to $26.50 in November, a decrease of 1.1% from the previous month.
- Year over year wages are down -$0.32, a decrease of 1.2%. BC had the lowest year over year growth amongst the provinces, with Newfoundland leading at 5.0%.

Canada:

- Employment increased in November by 94,100.
- The biggest gains were in Quebec (25,800), Ontario 20,200 and Alberta 23,700.
- The unemployment rate decreased to 5.6% in November. The unemployment rate is 6% or lower for the thirteenth month in a row in Canada.

Subject: Friday mtg today: Is it at 2pm, 3pm or cancelled?

Hi all, I heard a rumour that our usual 2:00pm Friday meeting might need to take place at 3:00pm today – is that correct and does that work for everyone?

Please confirm and we'll adjust the room booking if it's available. Sounds like not many are available at 2:00pm, and both Rick & Danielle are away as you know.

This is to review and code the new entries in CC.

Many thanks,

Robyn

Jobs, Trade & Tech Minister's statement on November Labour Force Survey

- Bruce Ralston issued a statement about our strong economy and hot labour market: "B.C.'s strong jobs numbers and latest fiscal update show that we can have a truly balanced budget with a robust surplus, while investing in people and making life more affordable.
- "For the 15th month in a row, B.C. had the lowest unemployment rate in the country at 4.4% and, in the past year, employment in the province increased by 42,500 jobs.

Economic Forecast Council: B.C. to lead Canada in economic growth

- Finance Minister Carole James had good news about our economic forecast:
- New projections from the Economic Forecast Council show that British Columbia's strong economy will outperform Canada over the next three years.
- The council predicts B.C.'s real gross domestic product will grow by 2.3% in 2018 and by 2.6% in both 2019 and 2020. Over the medium term, B.C.'s economic forecast has been revised upward and is predicted to grow by 2.3% on average from 2021 to 2023.

Subject: Week in Review: Dec 3-7

Hi everyone,

Here are just a few things our government announced this week:

Province unveils its Clean BC. Plan

- The New Democrat government is rising to the challenge of climate change and setting our province on a path to a cleaner, more sustainable future.
- Yesterday, the government released its Clean BC aimed at reducing climate while creating more jobs and economic opportunities for people, businesses and communities. Click here to read our plan.
- Minister Heyman will introduce BC's CleanBC plan to global climate change leaders, as part of discussions at the United Nations COP24 climate change conference in Katowice, Poland.

- “By moving to clean, renewable energy – like our abundant supply of B.C. electricity – we can power our growing economy and make life better and more affordable for British Columbians,” said Premier John Horgan.

Treaty Principals sign Accord to transform treaty negotiations in B.C.

- After 16 years of BC Liberal government neglect that set the reconciliation process back, our government has made improving relations with Indigenous people and developing treaties that lead to lasting reconciliation a priority.
- On Saturday, the Province signed an accord with the Federal Government and the First Nations Summit committing to different approach to treaty negotiations that better recognizes the rights and titles of Indigenous Peoples in B.C.
- “The treaty process in British Columbia needs to better reflect our growing and evolving relationship with First Nations and our commitment to the UN Declaration. Our goal is to found treaties on lasting government-to-government relationships that are flexible, adaptable and don’t freeze rights in time,” said Scott Fraser, Minister of Indigenous Relations and Reconciliation.

More teachers to be trained to bring Indigenous perspectives into classrooms

- As part of our commitment to true, lasting reconciliation with First Nations, our government is implementing the TRC’s Calls to Action and investing in Indigenous education.
- The Ministry of Education is funding 15 teacher training seats at VIU's Cowichan campus. VIU will collaborate with the Cowichan Tribes and other local bands to develop a new education curriculum, ensuring more teachers are trained to bring Indigenous perspectives into classrooms.
- "A true and lasting reconciliation is at the heart of everything we do, and there's no question Indigenous students thrive when their culture is reflected in classrooms and they have a connection to what they are learning," said Rob Fleming, Minister of Education.

More safe homes for women and children in Nanaimo

- Women and children leaving violence in Nanaimo will soon have more safe places to regroup, recover and begin rebuilding their lives.
- The Province and the Snuneymuxw Youth and Family Society have partnered to provide a 10-bed women’s transition house in the Nanaimo area.
- "Safe housing offers refuge from violence and a place to rebuild. Our government’s investment in transitional housing around the province will make a critical difference for many women and their families." said Mitzi Dean, Parliamentary Secretary for Gender Equity.

Accessibility grants help break down barriers to inclusion

- Following years of BC Liberal claw backs, our government is helping make B.C. a better place for people with disabilities to live, work and play.
- Sixteen accessibility projects throughout British Columbia are benefiting from $500,000 in provincial funding that focuses on promoting greater accessibility and inclusivity for people with disabilities.
- “People with disabilities can face barriers that prevent them from fully participating in their communities and workplaces,” said Shane Simpson, Minister of Social Development and Poverty Reduction.

Indigenous-led project giving voice to women to help end violence

- As the Province observes the UN's 16 days of Activism Against Gender-Based Violence, the Minister's Advisory Council on Indigenous Women (MACIW) is marking the occasion with a call for new applicants for its Giving Voice project to help address the issue of violence against Indigenous women and girls.
- "I raise my hands to the community champions who are helping Indigenous women and girls to heal in this way, and I congratulate MACIW for its hard work and dedication to taking a leadership role on eradicating gender-based violence in communities," said Scott Fraser, Minister of Indigenous Relations and Reconciliation.

Buy BC and support local businesses this holiday season

- BC Buy Local Week is officially underway from Dec. 3 to 9, 2018, celebrating the contributions that B.C.- based businesses make to communities.
- "Buying from local shops, manufacturers, artisans and farmers keeps money circulating in B.C.'s economy. this holiday season, we encourage everyone to support local businesses and help keep our communities vibrant," said Bruce Ralston, Minister of Jobs, Trade and Technology

Attached are the following documents:

1. E&N Rail meeting KM-QA
2. E&N Rail meeting BG
3. E&N Rail meeting SN
4. E&N Media Clips
5. E&N Technical QA

As discussed, KM-QA updated to include some more questions that were in the Minister's QA document and the BG was updated with the latest agenda and guest list details.

The SN is the same except the room the event has changed since I sent them on Wednesday so I updated the header.

The last two documents were not prepared by me. They were in the package the MO sent me this afternoon. I figured I would add them here in case they are of use. Although, I believe the Technical QA may have already been sent to you by the MO. James had mentioned that the Premier had asked for it and that the Ministry was preparing. So apologies if my sending is redundant.

Those issues, as they appear on the BC Chamber of Commerce website, are as follows:

- Finance and taxation
- Local and regional government
- Transportation and infrastructure
- Trade and technology
- Environment and climate change
- Skills and training
- Natural resources
- Productivity
- Regulation
- Healthy communities

I think that's a great list.

I'll shuffle the order, but I'd like to work through them, one by one.

I am happy to begin with your first issue, in part because B.C.'s finances are as healthy as any jurisdiction in Canada.

Real GDP growth in the first two quarters of this year, at 2.2%, was among the best among in the country, and private-sector forecasts suggest we will stay in that range through next year.

As a result, we've been able to make historic investments in child care, housing, education, and health care, while maintaining a budget surplus for 2018, which is now projected to be $1.35 billion.

The provincial government has no operating debt for the first time in 40 years, and our debt-to-GDP and debt-to-revenue ratios have both improved in the last year.

At the same time, B.C. has had the lowest unemployment rate in Canada for 15 months straight. I know you'll want me to address the "taxation" part of "Finance and Taxation" and I am happy to do so.

One of our first major fiscal decisions was to cut small business taxes by 20% – from 2.5% to 2% – and we're eliminating PST on electricity for businesses.

We also eliminated the Medical Services Premium, creating one of the biggest middle-class tax cuts B.C. history.

Families will save as much as $1,800, and individuals will save up to $900 each year. The flipside of that decision, and one that I appreciate affects those of your members with payroll in excess of $1.5 million, was the creation of the Employer Health Tax.

As a more efficient tax instrument, the EHT will save the government $50 million a year, ongoing.

And even after its introduction, B.C. still has:

- the second-lowest small business rate in Canada
- the third-lowest general corporate income tax rate, and
- Canada's lowest personal income taxes for individuals earning less than $125,000.

Keeping economic topics together, this also leads well into a second Key Issue: Productivity.

Between 2000 and 2017, wage growth in B.C. was stagnant – ranking no better than seventh in Canada in 10 of those 17 years.

But in the last year, wages started trending upwards, increasing by 58 cents to $26.80.

That's 2.2%, an inflation cushion for wage earners and, I would think, an manageable increment for employers.

Hi Geoff (and Amber),

Just so you're aware – please see attached a few slides I will share tomorrow from our recent Collective Perspective survey (which interviewed 900 BC businesses) just last month.

In my speech tomorrow I'll present a balanced perspective from the business community as I always try to do: I'll offer our networks most sincere thanks/congratulations around LNG Canada and the investments in childcare and housing. I will then share some data from the attached report (businesses are feeling confident in their own abilities – but they see some challenges). And I will finish with a strong message around collaboration and teamwork as we look to the future.

Hope this is useful context.

Best, Val

For some reason we have two statements going out at 8 a.m. on Human Rights Day, one from PJC/PO, the other from the AG.
This doesn't make sense to me.
In the wildness that was Friday and the weekend, I didn't pick up on this 'til now.
Please advise.

Hi Sage,

Checking in to see if there is a revised copy of BC Chamber speaking notes the Premier would need prior to his flight tomorrow? Also wanted to let you know Bruce is staffing the Premier on Sunday at an event and can deliver any new drafts/other materials at that time if necessary.

Is there a QA to support the Chamber event at all? I know PJH isn't doing QA portion – but wanted to confirm if one was coming as supporting material regardless.

I spoke with Robyn in Finance – she is going to attend the event so she can bring any info back to the Minister is necessary. She has asked if PJH could acknowledge that Minister James is sorry she could not join everyone – she is in Ottawa at the Finance Ministers meeting.

For E&N – are updated SN coming our way – or are the ones provided for the briefing good to go.

Hi Evan

Who should lead media requests after MDD's call today? CBC is looking for someone tomorrow morning.

Thanks
Brad

Vivian Luk here, with The Early Edition at CBC Radio in Vancouver.

I understand Minister Bruce Ralston is not available today, and that Minister Doug Donaldson is already holding a media teleconference this afternoon.

But I'm wondering if either of them might still be available for a live interview tomorrow morning at 7:40 a.m.?

I know Minister Donaldson is overseas, so if 7:40 a.m. doesn't work, we can also pretape at 6 a.m. or 7 a.m.

Here are the interview details:

Show: The Early Edition
Host: Stephen Quinn
Length of interview: 7 minutes
Call-in number: 604-669-3733

Please let me know if this can be arranged. I'm at 604-662-6114.

Many thanks,

It would be our privilege if we could receive from you again this year some year-end thoughts.

Ideally these pieces would run about 600 words and identify some important themes, elements, and trends in the province that you believe matter most to those here. Some prescriptions are also welcomed as part of the expression of your insights.

I'd like to get these from you by Dec. 10, and as per usual, there is a mystery prize for early submissions.

Please let me know this week if you are interested in contributing, and many thanks in advance for your assistance.

Hi Jackie

We really like the one with five larger "Working for You" lines. Let's work off of that.

There are two things we'd like to see with that one. We like the triangular shape background. Is there any way that you could make that set of shapes look like a mountain view in some way in a faded watermark kind of way?

Also, could you just try taking the 5 working for you version with the current triangular backdrop and overlay a large watermark of the provincial logo on the size of the entire thing? This would be just the sun and the mountains, not the words "British Columbia" in the logo for the full size watermark.

s.22 But let me know if you have questions, we could talk if you want.

Thanks
Rick

Hi Rick,

Please find attached 2 concepts for the generic backdrop.
(The grey rectangle shows the height of our premier positioned centred in front of the backdrop)

1. This one is a tiled version as discussed
2. Is a larger logo placed 5 times, strategically to be visible at a variety of angles on camera

Andrew and I have discussed these two options and feel these are two solid directions.

Your feedback and input most welcome.

Subject: issues update

Hello Premier, a quick note on a late breaking news item.

Background

- In his year-end interview with Shane Woodford today (10 Dec 2018), Andrew Weaver said he wants to renegotiate the confidence and supply agreement with the BC NDP.
- Weaver said many of the issues outlined in the original CASA agreement, investing in child care, a climate plan, and banning union and corporate donations, among others have all been acted on.
- Quote: "We have to start to look at our confidence and supply agreement because so many of things that we have in our confidence and supply agreement have already been ticked off in two years that we are going to have to think about moving forward as to what we might view as other priorities collectively."
- Green Party staffers followed up with Woodford to clarify that Weaver was simply musing aloud about adding items to our shared agenda and not seeking to renegotiate the agreement itself.

Question:

Andrew Weaver said he would like to renegotiate CASA. Are you open to renegotiating?

s.13

If pressed on the following:

Will CASA need to be renegotiated to maintain confidence in your government?

Are you open to adding new must-dos to the list?

Red FM discussing lowest voter turnout for referendum in Surrey. Quoting centre for Policy Alternatives he said that the reason for this is that despite Surrey having a high a population of immigrants who are not fluent in English the packages were not translated and were in difficult English. He said moreover there was only one service centre in all of Surrey and that too in an area where it was very difficult for people to get to.

Group,

Quick update:

We are confirmed for Friday December 14 at 10:30 for the announcement. Hon. Wilkinson is confirmed to attend as well.

Location will be the leg library, with a possible Plan B if Bob Chamberlin can't attend in person. However, we believe that with the 10:30 start time, he will be able to take a ferry, which is likely the safest and most comfortable for him.

I'll be organizing a discussion with nations industry and reps tomorrow to go over the event logistics.

Working together, for a robust, sustainable economy. Now, and into the future.

By John Horgan, Premier of British Columbia

British Columbia is unique in the world. Our province is filled with unmatched natural beauty and resources, people brimming with talent and ingenuity, and an economy that is thriving.

The Economic Forecast Council predicts that B.C.'s strong economy will outperform Canada's economy over the next three years. But a truly prosperous economy needs to work for everyone, not just the few. It needs to create prosperity now, while meeting the challenges of the future.

Our government is taking a different approach and tackling the biggest challenges facing B.C. We know it's possible to build a robust, sustainable economy, that works for now, for the future, and for people. We also know we need to protect this beautiful province for the people, communities, and industries that depend on B.C.'s abundant natural resources.

In December, we introduced the CleanBC climate action plan to put B.C. on the path to a cleaner, better future. The plan will help our province rise to the challenge of climate change, while investing in a strong, sustainable, low-carbon economy that reduces climate pollution.

CleanBC will help B.C. seize new, clean economy opportunities, and help communities adapt to the impacts of climate change. First Nations governments, local governments and businesses are all partners on the path forward. By moving to clean, renewable energy—like our abundant supply of B.C. electricity—we will power our growing economy.

Further electrification, fuel switching, reducing emissions from forestry, land use and agriculture, and better urban design and transportation systems will help drive major emissions reduction. We know B.C. business leaders want to reach our targets too—we recently signed an MOU with the Business Council of B.C. to work together to build a low-carbon economy.

Our government has facilitated the largest private-sector investment in Canadian history: a liquefied national gas project worth $40 billion, of which $24 billion will be spent in B.C. That includes 10,000 construction jobs and 950 permanent jobs for B.C.

We set four stringent conditions for giving this project a green light. Any new LNG project must provide a fair rate of return for our natural resources; job opportunities and training for people in B.C.; meaningful partnership with First Nations; and critically, that it must fit within our climate action targets. It's an example of how taking a different approach, while putting people and our province first, can reap rewards.

We're working collaboratively to make our region a global hub of innovation and connectivity. The tech sector in B.C. is one of the fastest growing sectors of our economy. More than 10,200 tech-related businesses throughout the province, support over 106,000 good-paying jobs. The potential for growth in tech and innovation is huge, we want to make sure B.C. is a part of it.

To keep people and goods moving, we're also making infrastructure investments that will create jobs for British Columbians. We're working with trade partners to expand global markets and attract investment. And we're tackling the housing affordability crisis, while investing in people and the services they need.

We need the people who work here to be able to afford to live here too. That's why our government is making the largest investment in housing in B.C. history—more than $7 billion over 10 years. We're working to increase supply, curb demand, and tackle fraud in B.C.'s real estate market.

To make sure people have the skills they need to succeed, and that our labour force meets the demands of the market, we're investing in education and skills training across the board. We're also improving health care and other services that will make B.C. a better place to live and work. That includes a $1-billion investment to make child care more affordable and available, for more families.

B.C. is a remarkable place, with incredible people and unlimited potential. We're investing in people, tackling challenges in front of us, and putting B.C. on a more sustainable path.

We're going to keep working hard, listening to people, and delivering the investments B.C. needs to build a resilient economy and a brighter future.

Sorry, Kirk. The below should have been submitted including the highlighted phrase.

Working together, for a robust, sustainable economy. Now, and into the future.

By John Horgan, Premier of British Columbia

British Columbia is unique in the world. Our province is filled with unmatched natural beauty and resources, people brimming with talent and ingenuity, and an economy that is thriving.

The Economic Forecast Council predicts that B.C.'s strong economy will outperform Canada's economy over the next three years. But a truly prosperous economy needs to work for everyone, not just the few. It needs to create prosperity now, while meeting the challenges of the future.

Our government is taking a different approach and tackling the biggest challenges facing B.C. We know it's possible to build a robust, sustainable economy, that works for now, for the future, and for people. We also know we need to protect this beautiful province for the people, communities, and industries that depend on B.C.'s abundant natural resources.

In December, we introduced the CleanBC climate action plan, in collaboration with Andrew Weaver and the B.C. Green Caucus, to put B.C. on the path to a cleaner, better future. The plan will help our province rise to the challenge of climate change, while investing in a strong, sustainable, low-carbon economy that reduces climate pollution.

CleanBC will help B.C. seize new, clean economy opportunities, and help communities adapt to the impacts of climate change. First Nations governments, local governments and businesses are all partners on the path forward. By moving to clean, renewable energy—like our abundant supply of B.C. electricity—we will power our growing economy.

Further electrification, fuel switching, reducing emissions from forestry, land use and agriculture, and better urban design and transportation systems will help drive major emissions reduction. We know B.C. business leaders want to reach our targets too—we recently signed an MOU with the Business Council of B.C. to work together to build a low-carbon economy.

Our government has facilitated the largest private-sector investment in Canadian history: a liquefied natural gas project worth $40 billion, of which $24 billion will be spent in B.C. That includes 10,000 construction jobs and 950 permanent jobs for B.C.

We set four stringent conditions for giving this project a green light. Any new LNG project must provide a fair rate of return for our natural resources; job opportunities and training for people in B.C.; meaningful partnership with First Nations; and critically, that it must fit within our climate action targets. It's an example of how taking a different approach, while putting people and our province first, can reap rewards.

We're working collaboratively to make our region a global hub of innovation and connectivity. The tech sector in B.C. is one of the fastest growing sectors of our economy. More than 10,200 tech-related businesses throughout the province, support over 106,000 good-paying jobs. The potential for growth in tech and innovation is huge, we want to make sure B.C. is a part of it.

To keep people and goods moving, we're also making infrastructure investments that will create jobs for British Columbians. We're working with trade partners to expand global markets and attract investment. And we're tackling the housing affordability crisis, while investing in people and the services they need.

We need the people who work here to be able to afford to live here too. That's why our government is making the largest investment in housing in B.C. history—more than $7 billion over 10 years. We're working to increase supply, curb demand, and tackle fraud in B.C.'s real estate market.

To make sure people have the skills they need to succeed, and that our labour force meets the demands of the market, we're investing in education and skills training across the board. We're also improving health care and other services that will make B.C. a better place to live and work. That includes a $1-billion investment to make child care more affordable and available, for more families.

B.C. is a remarkable place, with incredible people and unlimited potential. We're investing in people, tackling challenges in front of us, and putting B.C. on a more sustainable path.

We're going to keep working hard, listening to people, and delivering the investments B.C. needs to build a resilient economy and a brighter future.

How does this look?

"Renting needs to be fair for both renters and for landlords. That's why I asked the Rental Housing Task Force to examine our rental housing laws for ways to make them work better for everyone. I'm pleased with their work, and I look forward to working with the Minister of Municipal Affairs and Housing to continue addressing the housing needs of British Columbians."

Hey Bruce,

Hope you are well.

Waiting on a potential quote from Mike Hicks.

Looks like the bridge will open to traffic by next Friday and the release will go out on the same day.

Cheers,

New Roche Cove bridge complete, making route more reliable

EAST SOOKE – The main alternate route to Highway 14 is now safer and more efficient with the opening of a new two-lane bridge on Gillespie Road at Roche Cove.

The bridge opened to traffic on Friday, Dec. 21, 2018 and replaces the old single-lane timber bridge built in 1928.

“The region has been asking for improvements to this route used primarily during emergencies for quite some time,” said Premier John Horgan, MLA for Langford-Juan de Fuca. “The old single-lane bridge required traffic to alternate and was slow for commuters. This new bridge will better serve the growing region and local residents.”

“Mike Hicks” – Juan de Fuca’s Electoral Area Director.

The work included:

- replacing the 30 metre, wooden single-lane bridge with new, 65 metre concrete two-lane bridge
- improved road alignment to allow for two-way traffic flow over the bridge
- 1.5 metre paved shoulders for pedestrian and cyclists
- improved transit bus pull-out

The $4.3 million-dollar project is part of the ongoing Highway 14 corridor improvements announced in January 2018. Corridor improvements include:

- three new bus pull-outs on both sides of Highway 14 – completed
- new safety signs at three locations – completed
- new rest area at Sombrio Beach – completed
- new highway line painting – completed
- slow-moving vehicle pull out east of Muir Creek – completed
- improved intersection at Sooke River Road – construction started Nov. 2018, scheduled for completion by summer 2019
- bus-queue jump lane at Jacklin Road – construction to begin early 2019, scheduled for completion by spring 2019

Removal of the single-lane bridge is expected to be completed in early 2019, and will require minor traffic delays while crews work to remove the bridge's span.

The ministry would like to thank local residents of East Sooke and Metchosin for their ongoing patience during the project.

Hey Bruce,

Hope you are well.

Just giving your office an update on the Roche Cove 2 Lane Bridge project. The latest from the program manager is below.

I'd like to offer a chance for PJH to offer up a quote for an NR that will likely go out on December 21 – or perhaps after Christmas depending on construction schedule. I was also thinking of asking for a quote from Juan de Fuca Regional Director Mike Hicks.

Thanks,

Chandler

The Gillespie Road two-lane bridge project at Roche Cove is scheduled to open up to traffic by the end of December, 2018.

Once the new bridge is open to traffic, demolition of the old bridge will begin and is expected to be completed by early 2019. During this process, slight delays can be expected so crews can safely remove material from the area.

The project was originally anticipated to be completed in the fall, 2018, but was delayed after crews found minor geotechnical issues in the bedrock not originally anticipated during the design phase. These issues have been addressed and the project remains on budget ($4.3-million dollars) .

Sarena,

This reporter just called and said she could do this tomorrow too. I said it's federal jurisdiction and minister won't be doing media. She said the public will want to hear about how this impacts BC, though. She has a sit down planned with PJH tomorrow and said she will raise it then if she can't get MBR for a few minutes. Should we flag for PO, and any advice on how we handle this one?

James,

We have received another request for MBR to speak about impact on BC-China trade – this one's from CKNW.

We have a QA underway to address this and I've also updated the KM in the IN, but they still need approval.

Heard from the PO yet about MBR doing these types of interviews?

I am hoping to have a quick conversation over the phone with the Minister regarding what concerns he has, if any, about trade between the province and China in light of the Huawei CFO's arrest and retaliatory measures by China. I know that Donaldson has spoken directly regarding the forestry trade mission. I am looking for a more broad overall look at our trade position in light of this.

Hi Veronica,
Thanks for this. Will there be a backgrounder? One of the first questions will be “what’s the difference between a test and an assessment?” – touched on in the NR but not fully explained.

Hi Sage,

Here is our news release for the grad program going out on Friday. Heather Finn helped our comms shop and the Minister is happy with it. We are sending it off to translation because of the limited time left, but I wanted to share with you to make sure you're comfortable with it.

Please let me know if you have any questions or concerns.

For the usual places. Childcare, housing, MSP elimination/middle class tax cut. With a holiday twist.

Making life more affordable for you and your family

By John Horgan

Too many people in B.C. have struggled to make ends meet and find a home they can afford. The holiday season often adds the financial strain of travel and entertaining, and combined with the high costs of rent, child care and other expenses, it can be overwhelming.

Our government has been working hard to make life more affordable for all British Columbians – through the holiday season and throughout the year.

The housing crisis was allowed to escalate for over a decade without government action. We're taking strong steps to tackle it and deliver affordable housing for B.C. families.

We've made the largest investment in affordable housing in B.C.'s history – more than $7 billion over 10 years. We're working to curb demand and bring in protections for renters and manufactured home owners. And we're using tools to moderate the housing market, like the speculation and vacancy tax.

Through the Building BC: Community Housing Fund, we are building 4,900 new affordable homes for middle-income families, which is our first step to build 114,000 homes for people over the next 10 years. To help renters, we are taking the recommendations of B.C.'s Rental Housing Task Force and cutting the annual allowable rent increase by 2%, while increasing funding to the Residential Tenancy Branch. We also closed the fixed-term loophole and the geographic loophole, which gives renters more protection from unfair evictions and rent increases.

To care for kids and help lift families up, we created a child care fee reduction of up to $350 per month for eligible child care spaces. We also introduced the Affordable Child Care Benefit earlier this year, which is available to families with a yearly income of up to $110,000, and can save families up to $15,000 per year, per child. To make licensed child care more accessible, we invested $237 million into the creation of 22,000 new licensed child care spaces around the province.

In November 2018, our government launched 53 prototype projects around the province that will deliver child care at a cost of $200 per month, per child. These prototype sites are the next phase in our government's 10-year universal child care plan, and will model high-quality, affordable child care that will be accessible to families in every corner of the province.

To lower more costs for families, we've reduced MSP fees by 50% and will eliminate them fully by 2020, creating one of the biggest middle-class tax cuts B.C. history. We froze BC ferry fares on major routes, reduced fares on non-major routes and fully restored the seniors' passenger fare discount. And we eliminated bridge tolls on the Port Mann and Golden Ears bridges.

The problems facing families in B.C. weren't created overnight, and they won't be fixed overnight.

Our government is going to keep working hard to make life more affordable for you and your family, improve the services you count on, and build a better province with more opportunity for the people who live here. So you can have less stress this holiday season – and year round.

s.22 in regards to the Premier's comments on Surrey Sky Train.
s.22 especially at the comments of raising Surrey taxes. MLA Kahlon went on air to clear some of the misinformation, but was attacked on the fact that why is the Premier saying there is no money for Surrey Sky Train, when Surrey hasn't even asked for it. They are saying that this clearly shows that this government doesn't care for Surrey. People's comments are very uncomplimentary in regards to the Premier and Surrey MLAs.
Mr Thind's headline story was also "Premier bluntly says no to more money for Skytrain"

Hi Rick:

Attached is the slide and a slideshow with the slide overtop of the photographs you sent along for example. The logos slide is transparent except at the bottom where the logos are. Insert it on top of the photographs for it to work. The gold seems to work given the fire in the centre of the house. I've scaled/moved the photos around a bit so the subjects are framed nicely, too. Hope this helps.

Hello,

I would like to show a series of photos on a flat screen at an upcoming event. They are attached. Is it possible to create a slide that incorporates the 4 logos in the word document header attached across the bottom of the slide in a watermark kind of way? A colour filter might be nice on the photos or it might be better to leave them unfiltered. Let me know what you think. This is for use friday morning, so i would need it at some point tomorrow. I will just send a few photos and will add more to the power point after the slide treatment is designed. I have inquired about higher resolution versions of the logos from the Ministry in case that is needed.

Thanks

A further reminder, I'm going to sent the preferences to Bonnie Lee to change the GAL entries reflecting the new system today; if you have a moment to indicate in the table below what you want to appear in the GAL for phone numbers. If you want your new UC #, just put an X in the cell, Bonnie has the numbers.
It can also be done at a later date.

Thx,

Subject: Issue - bomb threats emailed to car dealerships across N America including Penticton, Kamloops & Vernon

<https://globalnews.ca/news/4759712/bitcoin-demanded-in-bc-interior-bomb-threats/>

Background:

- Bomb threats were sent to car dealerships in Penticton, Vernon and Kamloops via email on Thursday, according to RCMP, with the unknown sender demanding bitcoin payments.
- It also appears that the threat is North American wide. New York City police said no devices have been found and Calgary police tweeted "At this time we don't have any reason to believe they are credible."

Message:

- Concern for those frightened and upset
- Belief that law enforcement will protect people and track down the perpetrators

Premier's statement on Christmas

Premier John Horgan has released the following statement in celebration of Christmas Day:

"On Dec. 25, Christians around the world celebrate the birth of Jesus Christ in prayer, in feast and in festivities.

"For many, Christmas represents the hope of peace on Earth, and reminds us to treat everyone in our communities with love and kindness.

"This special day is also an opportunity to rest, recharge, and reconnect with friends and family, and an opportunity to refocus on the things that matter.

"As we reflect on our blessings this Christmas, let us also remember those who are less fortunate than ourselves, and commit to living with a spirit of charity and generosity every day of the year.

"May all those who celebrate have a safe and joyous holiday season.

"Merry Christmas!"

Hi,

I have sent the request for the SFU grand opening event date between April 23 to 26 to the Minister's Office. However, they will not be able to confirm if Minister Bains, the PM or another federal rep will be attending until much closer to the date.

Therefore, can SFU and the Province please work together to determine the date and time that works best for both parties for this event?

Once this is confirmed, I can let the Minister's Office know and they can work closer to the date to confirm a federal rep.

Thank you,

Hi Leila. The week of April 22nd (23,24,25,26) works from our end. The building should be ready to receive people (not all labs will be fitted out but we would arrange/stage interesting demos) and our President is available. The Thursday morning might work well for garnering media interest.

It is the last week of exam period and we will curate a good student presence. We are reconfirming the capacity of the venue preferred, the atrium of the new building.

We had kick-off meeting yesterday, and the idea of formal speaking program, media availability (or pre-tours with platform party for media), group photos and tours sound good.

Let me know if there is anything we need to do from our end. We will continue our planning of this significant event.

I am just confirming with Rodney but April 22 week may work best since the House and Legislative Assembly are not sitting that week. Are there exams during this week or will we have students around? It would be good to have a lot of students attending the event.

Could you please send me an outline or rough draft of how you envision the event? I think you mentioned we could integrate a conference or lecture. If not, we can have the formal speaking portion, media avail, group photos and tour (followed by a potential opening lecture/conference in the new building perhaps).

Thanks!

I assume SFU wants to lock in the date really far in advance. But I assume I can ask why they need 4.5 months? Even waiting until early January to confirm and replying with 3.5 months' advance notice would give us a little bit more cover to avoid a big conflict before SFU sends out invites.

There isn't a conflict at the moment, no surprise. It is unlikely that we would have or find a conflict by January but it can't hurt (unless for some reason it can, which I can ask)

NEWS RELEASE
Provincial government puts B.C. on path to 100% zero-emission vehicle sales by 2040

VICTORIA - In a move aimed at removing a major source of air pollution and climate change, the provincial government has put British Columbia on a path to require the sale of all new light-duty cars and trucks to be zero-emission vehicles (ZEVs) by the year 2040.

Premier John Horgan has announced the government, in partnership with the B.C. Green caucus, will introduce legislation next spring to phase in targets for the sale of zero-emission vehicles (ZEVs). This legislation will set targets of 10% ZEV sales by 2025, 30% by 2030, and 100% by 2040, while government will take additional steps to make ZEVs more affordable.

"There's nothing more important than taking care of the place we call home," said Premier Horgan. "As a province, we need to work together to put B.C. on a path that powers our future with clean, renewable energy and reduces air pollution."

The Premier outlined a three-point plan to kick-start and fuel the rollout of the ZEV standard:

1. Expanding the size of the province's electric vehicle direct-current fast-charger (DCFC) network to 151 sites, with 71 already completed or underway and, leveraging federal and private-sector dollars, another 80 in the works.
2. Increasing the provincial incentive program, administered by the New Car Dealers Association of BC, by $20 million this year to encourage more British Columbians to buy clean energy cars now. This will bring the incentive program up to $57 million in total.
3. Reviewing the incentive program with an eye to expanding it over time, so buying a ZEV becomes a more affordable option for middle- and lower-income British Columbians.

"If we want British Columbians to be part of the solution for reducing air pollution, we need to make clean energy vehicles more affordable, available and convenient," said Premier Horgan, who added that this initiative is the first major policy commitment of the government's upcoming strategy to meet B.C.'s legislated climate goals.

"Everywhere I go, I hear from British Columbians who are excited to embrace electric vehicles," said Andrew Weaver, leader of the B.C. Green caucus. "As an EV owner myself, I can attest to how good it feels to save fuel and repair costs, while doing my part to reduce emissions. The B.C. ZEV mandate is an exciting development that will support British Columbians as we make the shift to the low-carbon economy."

British Columbia already has one of the largest charging and fuelling infrastructure networks - electric and hydrogen fuelling - in Canada and, with 12,000 clean energy vehicles registered, the highest adoption rates of electric vehicles in the country.

Quotes:

Michelle Mungall, Minister of Energy, Mines, and Petroleum Resources -

"We are committed to making cleaner vehicles more affordable and expanding the vehicle and charging network across the province. We're working toward a seamless network, integrated with other jurisdictions and servicing both urban and rural areas."

George Heyman, Minister of Environment and Climate Change Strategy -

"Creating affordable and accessible choices for people go hand in hand with lowering emissions. This is a great step that will help us cut carbon pollution with cleaner, healthier transportation. By embracing the ZEV standard, we're joining other jurisdictions like Quebec, 14 U.S. states and many others worldwide."

BACKGROUND

Program support for zero-emission vehicle use and infrastructure

British Columbia is a leader in zero-emission vehicles, with one of the largest charging-infrastructure networks in Canada (over 1,500 public charging stations) and the highest per capita adoption rate of electric vehicles in the country with about 12,000 CEVs registered in B.C.

The B.C. government has committed more than $71 million to the Clean Energy Vehicle (CEV) Program since the September 2017 Budget Update - encouraging British Columbians to choose clean, green vehicles that reduce their transportation greenhouse gas emissions. The program supports battery electric vehicles and plug-in hybrid electric vehicles, along with hydrogen fuel cell electric vehicles.

Government's target is that by 2025, 10% of new light-duty passenger vehicle sales in B.C. will be zero-emission vehicles (ZEVs), increasing to 30% by 2030 and 100% by 2040.

B.C.'s CEV Program invests in five main program areas:

- * vehicle incentives;
- * electric charging and hydrogen refuelling infrastructure, incentives and support;
- * fleet support;
- * public education and awareness; and
- * research, training and economic development programs.

To make cleaner vehicles more affordable and reduce greenhouse gas emissions, the Province offers point-of-sale incentives through CEVforBC (administered by the New Car Dealers Association of BC) of:

- * up to $5,000 for the purchase or lease of a new battery electric or plug-in hybrid electric vehicle; and
- * up to $6,000 for a hydrogen fuel cell vehicle.

The B.C. government's current support for zero-emission vehicles has:

- * more than doubled the size of B.C.'s electric vehicle direct-current fast-charger (DCFC) network to 71 from 30 sites with:
 - * BC Hydro installations at 20 new sites, which leverage about $1 million in federal funding and $700,000 in provincial CEV Program funding;

* thirteen DCFC sites throughout the Kootenays, with FortisBC operating five (with $125,000 from the CEV Program) and BC Hydro operating eight; and

* DCFCs at eight highway rest areas throughout the province.

* delivered $2 million in provincial funding for the next deployment of 80 DCFCs leveraged with two-to-one federal-to-provincial dollars. Through an agreement with the federal government, the B.C. investment is included in the latest federal call for projects and will be included in future federal calls until the $2 million is fully expended and the target of 80 additional DCFCs is achieved in B.C.;

* provided $1 million from the provincial Innovative Clean Energy (ICE) Fund to help local government and private fleets adopt hydrogen fuel cell electric vehicles; and

* put in place the first six public retail hydrogen fuelling stations in B.C., starting this year with two stations in the Lower Mainland and one in the Capital Regional District, and completion of all stations toward the end of 2020.

Hey,

Try this. Split it into two shorter paras. Actually think this is better while being consistent with the critique.

VANCOUVER – The original George Massey Tunnel Replacement Project pushed the ten-lane bridge option without fully considering feasible alternatives or local opinions on the best path forward.

Those are the key finding of a technical review of the Replacement Project, released today by Minister of Transportation and Infrastructure Claire Trevena.

Premier's statement on New Year's Day

Premier John Horgan has issued the following statement marking New Year's Day 2019:

"The beginning of a new year is a time to look forward to all the opportunities that lie ahead of us, while also taking stock of the accomplishments and challenges of the past year. We resolve to do better. And we set new goals.

"Looking back on 2018, this government made investing in people a priority. We've been tackling the housing crisis, delivering affordable child care and making sure there is quality health care for everyone who needs it. We also introduced the CleanBC climate action plan to put B.C. on the path to a cleaner, better future, while creating jobs and opportunities for all British Columbians.

"This coming year, our government will continue to put people first. Many more affordable housing initiatives throughout the province will open or break ground. All 10 urgent primary health care centres will be operational and welcoming patients by the spring. And we'll see families continue to benefit from the Affordable Child Care Benefit and fee reductions.

"In 2019, we will continue creating a strong, sustainable economy that benefits everyone, to make life more affordable for families and to improve the services people rely on.

"On behalf of the Government of British Columbia, I wish you all a happy new year!"

Dear Heidi,
Thank you for taking a moment to discuss the possibility of Minister James giving remarks at AME Roundup.

We understand that late January will be a busy time for the Minister; here are times at which members of the Cabinet will be speaking or are invited to speak.

- Sunday, January 27 -Minister George Heyman will be addressing the Student-Industry Networking Event
 -Minister Michelle Mungall will be providing remarks at the Chair's Welcome Dinner.
- Monday, January 28 -Premier John Horgan will be providing welcoming remarks at the Official Opening Ceremony.
 -Minister Michelle Mungall will be providing opening remarks at the AME Lunch, and is a panelist at the Government-Industry Forum.

Subject: Invitation for Minister James to Participate in AME Roundup - Finance Lunch - Tues., Jan. 29

Dear Heidi,

As mentioned in the forwarded invitation, we look forward to hearing regarding Minister James's availability to provide remarks at the AME Finance Lunch on Tuesday, January 29, 2019.

Date: Tuesday, January 29, 2019
Location: East Meeting Room 123, Vancouver Convention Centre East
Time: 12:00 PM – 1:30 PM (note revised time)

Our keynote speaker, Dr. Nicole Adshead-Bell, Director, Cupel Advisory Corp., will provide her perspective on the progression of exploration financing over the past 5 to 15 years and the innovative ways companies are approaching financing today.

We welcome Minister James to provide remarks on how BC continues to provide a fiscal platform that is globally competitive for attracting mineral exploration and development.

We are flexible in terms of the timing of remarks – they may be either before the lunch service (i.e. 12:05 or 12:10, or after the lunch service – i.e. around 12:40).

Please feel free to be in touch if you have any questions.

Regards,
Jonathan

Dear Heidi,

Thank you for taking a moment to discuss the possibility of Minister James giving remarks at AME Roundup.

We understand that late January will be a busy time for the Minister; here are times at which members of the Cabinet will be speaking or are invited to speak.

Sunday, January 27 -Minister George Heyman will be addressing the Student-Industry Networking Event
 -Minister Michelle Mungall will be providing remarks at the Chair's Welcome Dinner.

Monday, January 28 -Premier John Horgan will be providing welcoming remarks at the Official Opening Ceremony.
 -Minister Michelle Mungall will be providing opening remarks at the AME Lunch, and is a panelist at the Government-Industry Forum.

Tuesday, January 28 -Minister Scott Fraser will be providing remarks at the Reconciliation Breakfast.
 -Minister Doug Donaldson will be providing opening remarks AME's The Gathering Place.
 -Minister Carole James is invited to provide remarks at the Finance Lunch.

I have also attached a revised Events at a Glance sheet. We are finalizing our speaker program this week, so if you are able to confirm by end of day tomorrow, that would be ideal.

Premier John Horgan has issued the following statement on Yalda, the Iranian celebration of solstice:

"Tonight, families from Iranian, Afghan, Tajik, Azeri and Kurdish communities in British Columbia, and around the world, will be celebrating Yalda, the ancient celebration of the winter solstice.

"For thousands of years, family and friends have gathered together to mark the longest and darkest night of the year.

"Yalda Night is an opportunity to join together in ritual to reflect on the arrival of winter, the renewal of the sun and the victory of light over darkness.

"To everyone celebrating Yalda, I wish you a wonderful evening and brighter months ahead for you, your family and all British Columbians.

Hi Jonathan & Anne-Marie,
This is short notice but the Feds are holding a joint announcement on Thursday in Nanaimo. MLP's Ministry but she's unavailable. Any chance your Minister could be available to join?

Event description:

Event description:

Minister Wilkinson will announce approximately $1.1 million in funding from the Fisheries and Aquaculture Clean Technology Adoption Program (FACTAP) to support clean economic growth. Joining in making this announcement is BC Ministry of Agriculture (Rep) as the Province of BC contributed $182,494 in funding towards clean technology projects. The 14 projects funded will help fisheries and aquaculture businesses adopt greener practices that will improve energy efficiency, reduce waste and lessen carbon dioxide emissions.

Hi Sage,

Here is the updated KM Guide and Key Metrics. I added more context throughout the Key Metrics, and highlighted specific areas you asked for. The professional reliance and environmental assessment pieces don't have updated metrics, so I added them to the KM Guide (highlighted).

I've also attached the social media links that we will send out in the package.

Please let me know if you need any further changes, or if these are approved.

Thanks,

3 events for your consideration, all SIF projects (Strategic Investment Fund - federal funding):

- January 14 – opening of the $215,000 unique laboratory at Vancouver Island University, in Nanaimo, to foster sustainable fisheries and aquaculture through innovation [note that s.22 during this time and that MLA Weaver is not interested in attending] #TRC #CleanBC
- January 25 – opening of the $40.77M new Teaching and Learning Centre at UBC Okanagan as well as sustainability upgrades to 11 buildings across campus. MLA Nic Simons requested (not confirmed) to speak on behalf of Minister Mark. [$11.3 million investment from the Province] #CleanBC
- April 23 – 26 - opening of the new $126M Simon Fraser University (SFU) Sustainable Energy and Engineering Building at the Surrey Campus #CleanBC

If you'd like I can verbally repeat this at the meeting on Friday. Let me know 😊

Hello all – in prepping a comm plan for the next several months of Clean BC, we'll need to coordinate announcements for all the initiatives. Could you please chat up your program folk and/or ADMs - and send to Craig Chambers and I - your items from the plan, with a ballpark for timelines? If an initiative has several announcement opportunities pls send them all. Others will be a simple regulatory change, and so in those cases pls just send your best guess as to when that could happen. Hoping to have this be end of next week (or sooner if you have the info already).

Thanks very much,

NEWS RELEASE

New fund will help communities build cleaner infrastructure

SURREY - The Province of B.C. and Government of Canada are investing in locally owned green infrastructure projects that help communities use clean energy and become more energy efficient.

Funding will be provided through the new CleanBC Communities Fund, part of the Investing in Canada infrastructure plan's Green Infrastructure Stream (Climate Change Mitigation sub-stream).

"Through the CleanBC Communities Fund, we're making sure that people throughout B.C. can benefit from clean energy infrastructure and efficiency upgrades," said George Heyman, B.C.'s Minister of Environment and Climate Change Strategy. "Investing in community-owned projects helps all British Columbians to use less fossil fuels, while generating new economic activity, new jobs and building our clean energy sector."

"The Government of Canada is proud to support the CleanBC Communities Fund, which will help the province transition to renewable energy systems, promoting a greener way of life for all British Columbians," said Randeep Sarai, MP for Surrey Centre, on behalf of François-Philippe Champagne, federal Minister of Infrastructure and Communities. "Together with the Province, we are helping safeguard the environment and supporting clean economic growth for B.C.'s communities."

Beginning Dec. 18, 2018, local governments, First Nations, Indigenous organizations, not-for-profit and for-profit organizations can apply for cost-shared funding through the CleanBC Communities Fund for projects that manage renewable energy, improve access to clean energy transportation, improve energy efficiency of buildings or help generate clean energy to reduce community reliance on fossil fuels.

"Communities are the backbone of our province and play a key role on our path to a cleaner future," said Selina Robinson, B.C.'s Minister of Municipal Affairs and Housing. "By partnering with local governments and investing in sustainable community infrastructure, we are building stronger, healthier and more resilient communities today and protecting our environment for future generations."

"The CleanBC Communities Fund helps support communities around B.C. take advantage of the opportunities offered as we implement the CleanBC plan," said Andrew Weaver, leader of the B.C. Green caucus. "This investment will help kick-start new innovation in B.C. communities, making sure they are on the cutting edge of low-carbon solutions."

Examples of eligible projects include publicly accessible vehicle charging stations, public building retrofits to improve energy efficiency and clean community energy projects that can reduce community energy expenses and, for those who are not connected to the province's electricity grid, projects that can help reduce or eliminate diesel-powered electricity generation.

The Province is partnering with the federal government to invest up to $62.94 million through the initial intake of the CleanBC Communities Fund. This intake is supported by $34.3 million in federal funding and $28.6 million in provincial funding.

This cost-shared funding is available for public infrastructure owned by local governments, Indigenous communities, not-for-profits and projects in partnership with for-profit entities.

"B.C. local governments are looking for ways to reduce the carbon footprint of local operations and ensure the sustainability of our service delivery," said Arjun Singh, president, Union of BC Municipalities. "This funding will support communities as they implement projects that fulfil the objectives of the Climate Action Charter."

The CleanBC Communities Fund is also an important part of the B.C. government's CleanBC plan. CleanBC puts B.C. on the path to a cleaner, better future - building a low-carbon economy that creates opportunities throughout the province, while protecting its clean air, land and water.

The Province is administering the program and will accept funding applications until March 27, 2019. Applications can be made through the Investing in Canada Infrastructure Program - B.C. program website.

Quick Facts:

* The Investing in Canada infrastructure plan will provide up to $3.9 billion for projects throughout B.C. over the next 10 years.

* In addition to the CleanBC Communities Fund, the plan offers other funding streams and sub-streams, including Public Transportation, Environmental Quality, Rural and Northern Communities, and Community, Culture and Recreation.

* The following is the maximum cost share for the total eligible costs of approved projects under the CleanBC Communities Fund:

* For local government applicants - 33.33% provincial, 40% federal and 26.67% local government.

* For Indigenous applications for off-reserve projects - 15% provincial, 75% federal and 10% Indigenous applicant.*

* For Indigenous applications for on-reserve projects - 75% federal and 25% Indigenous applicant.*

* For applications by non-profits - 25% provincial, 40% federal and 35% non-profit applicant.

* For applications by for profits - 15% provincial, 25% federal and 60% for profit applicant.

*Indigenous applicants may seek up to 100% in federal funding by combining the portion provided under the CleanBC Communities Fund with funding from another federal department, as long as the project is eligible under both funding programs.

I assume SFU wants to lock in the date really far in advance. But I assume I can ask why they need 4.5 months? Even waiting until early January to confirm and replying with 3.5 months' advance notice would give us a little bit more cover to avoid a big conflict before SFU sends out invites.

There isn't a conflict at the moment, no surprise. It is unlikely that we would have or find a conflict by January but it can't hurt (unless for some reason it can, which I can ask)

Hi,

I have sent the request for the SFU grand opening event date between April 23 to 26 to the Minister's Office. However, they will not be able to confirm if Minister Bains, the PM or another federal rep will be attending until much closer to the date.

Therefore, can SFU and the Province please work together to determine the date and time that works best for both parties for this event?

Once this is confirmed, I can let the Minister's Office know and they can work closer to the date to confirm a federal rep.

Thank you,

Hi Leila. The week of April 22nd (23,24,25,26) works from our end. The building should be ready to receive people (not all labs will be fitted out but we would arrange/stage interesting demos) and our President is available. The Thursday morning might work well for garnering media interest.

It is the last week of exam period and we will curate a good student presence. We are reconfirming the capacity of the venue preferred, the atrium of the new building.

We had kick-off meeting yesterday, and the idea of formal speaking program, media availability (or pre-tours with platform party for media), group photos and tours sound good.

Let me know if there is anything we need to do from our end. We will continue our planning of this significant event.

Joanne Curry

Hello Joanne,

I am just confirming with Rodney but April 22 week may work best since the House and Legislative Assembly are not sitting that week. Are there exams during this week or will we have students around? It would be good to have a lot of students attending the event.

Could you please send me an outline or rough draft of how you envision the event? I think you mentioned we could integrate a conference or lecture. If not, we can have the formal speaking portion, media avail, group photos and tour (followed by a potential opening lecture/conference in the new building perhaps).

Thanks!

Hello,

Please see the below request and please let me know by December 6th whether or not you have any records:

Canvassed: Premier, Geoff Meggs, Kate Van Meer-Mass, Sheena McConnell, Sage Aaron, Jen Holmwood, Don Wright, Christine Kennedy

Records of any analysis – including all emails, text messages, BBMs, slack messages, and WhatsApp messages sent from or received pertaining to such analysis – quantifying provincial revenue implications of the four proposed measures (1. New Operating Performance Payments; 2. Clean Growth Incentive Program; 3. Industrial Electricity Rates; 4. Removal of LNG Income Tax) of a new framework as outlined in the March 22, 2018 government news release in Backgrounder 2 titled, “British Columbia establishes new framework for natural gas development.”

UPDATE: It is no longer necessary to send records as a PDF. Please send records in whatever way is most convenient.

If you think that the search for records will take you over 1 hour and/or the total volume of records will exceed 100 pages, please let me know as soon as possible.

Thank you all for your assistance with this request! If you have any questions please don't hesitate to contact me.

Hi Suzannah, further to our phone call just now – thanks for advising the feds do want to go ahead and do an event on this. The proposed dates you're looking at with them are either Friday, Feb. 15th, or alternatively, Monday, Feb. 11th so I am copying Rick on this for input as well since you will need event support, per discussion, and they want to get confirmation on a date soon.

Wow. That is great. I checked in with MAH and this is a unique product that they do for their major announcements (the brain child of Lisa Leslie).

I've never seen anything like it from other comms shops. I've asked Lisa for a copy of the template she has developed for it.

I don't know if we could have something like this for all Issues/Community scans (our team tries to note new major stakeholder developments in background of Issues Scans) – but I do think that we should set it as an expectation for comms shops to do for their major announcements.

Hi everyone,

Thank you very much for all your hard work on the year-end submissions.

Please find attached the final Key Message Guide and Key Metrics. The Digital team has been kind enough to compile a list of videos to accompany this year-end messaging, which is also attached.

Please review and reference these guides going forward, as they will not only help inform your year-end products, but will also help refine your work throughout the coming year.

Thanks again and happy holidays,

DESCRIPTION

TW

Tonight, families from Iranian, Afghan, Tajik, Azeri & Kurdish communities in BC, & around the world, will be celebrating #Yalda — the celebration of the winter solstice.

To everyone celebrating, I wish you a wonderful evening and brighter months ahead. Shab-e Yalda Mobarak!

FB (if needed)

Tonight, families from Iranian, Afghan, Tajik, Azeri and Kurdish communities in British Columbia, and around the world, will be celebrating Yalda, the ancient celebration of the winter solstice. To everyone celebrating Yalda, I wish you a wonderful evening and brighter months ahead for you, your family and all British Columbians.

Shab-e Yalda Mobarak!

NOTES

“Tonight, families from Iranian, Afghan, Tajik, Azeri and Kurdish communities in British Columbia, and around the world, will be celebrating Yalda, the ancient celebration of the winter solstice.

“For thousands of years, family and friends have gathered together to mark the longest and darkest night of the year.

“Yalda Night is an opportunity to join together in ritual to reflect on the arrival of winter, the renewal of the sun and the victory of light over darkness.

“To everyone celebrating Yalda, I wish you a wonderful evening and brighter months ahead for you, your family and all British Columbians.

“Shab-e Yalda Mobarak!”

I guess we'd use Minister James in the contact information block? Seems odd to have a minister as the primary contact for media requests, however.

Thanks, Sage. Will still need a headline (something more specific than "Premier makes statement") and lede for each of these.

I guess we'd use Minister James in the contact information block? Seems odd to have a minister as the primary contact for media requests, however.

Hello,

Attached are two statements, one for a yes vote and the other for a no vote.

Could we get these ready to go hair-trigger on my say so?

Seeking your advice on formatting the contacts – the official statement will be from the Premier, then Minister James will respond to media requests. How best to indicate that?

Hi Sage,
One other thing.

In a government release, even a Premier's statement, we can't mention parties by name or platforms as it's too political.

This line:
s.13

Here's a suggestion we could use instead:

A commitment to pursue a referendum on proportional representation was a key priority of the Confidence and Supply Agreement between government and the B.C. Green caucus.

Confirming in either case MCJ will make a short statement and take questions.
In the event of a Yes vote, we want to go further and pitch her into radio (should we get the results in a timely fashion).
In the event of a No vote, the scrum should stand as her media availability.

With a No vote, the broadcast appetite for a clip will be so overwhelming it'll be easiest just to do a short scrum and get it done.

To confirm – in either event, MCJ will also be making a statement? I thought that the plan had been in case of a no we wouldn't be doing a scrum/stand up.

STATEMENT
Premier's statement on proportional representation 'No' vote

VICTORIA - Premier John Horgan has provided the following statement about the vote on proportional representation:

"This year, British Columbians participated in an important conversation about the future of our democracy.

"People took part in the largest public engagement in B.C.'s history and gathered in communities around B.C. for town halls and discussions about how we vote in our province.

"British Columbians have now spoken and chosen to stick with the current voting system. This referendum was held because we believe that this decision needed to be up to people, not politicians. While many people, myself included, are disappointed in the outcome, we respect people's decision.

"British Columbians are passionate about our democracy. I want to thank everyone who turned out to vote in such strong numbers and express my gratitude to Elections BC for its work running a fair referendum that engaged people throughout B.C.

"Since forming government, we have been working to make life better for people. We've already banned big money and introduced tough new restrictions on lobbyists to put people back at the centre of our politics. There's a lot more work to do, and our government is going to keep working with our partners in the B.C. Green caucus to make government work for people in B.C."

Carole James, Minister of Finance, will respond to media requests.

Importance: High

Initial Report:

We have been made aware of a bomb threat in Port Alberni. First Responders are in the process of evacuating those affected at or near the site located at 3978 8th Ave. It is estimated at this time that 40 people may be affected in three separate buildings. The local authority is in the process of opening a warming centre to temporarily receive those that have been impacted. The Regional Duty Manager is aware. There are currently no requests for assistance and no media interest.

Further updates are expected.

Amber,

Thanks for meeting this morning. Good to review the general outline of the 16th Annual Forum. As discussed here is the draft press release related to the launch of the Mining for Miracles Campaign. We are pleased to work with you on the details early in the new year, however as discussed the press Conference is being planned immediately following the Premiers key note address.

Best regards,

Got a out of office reply from Jen. Just wanted to touch base with you on CBC requests for the Premier after the results. Looking to see if the Premier would be available between 3-6pm to join Gloria Macarenko and get his reaction on camera for TV and potentially live between 6-7pm. If he is able to come into the CBC, even better.

Let me know.

Thanks Aaron.

VOTING RESULTS

Voting results for the 2018 Referendum on Electoral Reform have been reported to the Speaker of the Legislative Assembly and are now available below. 1,403,358 completed voting packages were returned to Elections BC by the deadline of 4:30 p.m. on December 7, representing returns from 42.6% of registered voters.

Question 1: Which system should British Columbia use for provincial elections?

Of the validly cast votes in Question 1:

61.3% (845,235) supported the current First Past the Post (FPTP) voting system, and 38.7% (533,518) supported a proportional representation (PR) voting system.

FPTP

61.3%

845,235

PR

38.7%

533,518

Question 2: If British Columbia adopts a proportional representation voting system, which of the following voting systems do you prefer?

The Mixed Member Proportional (MMP) voting system is the system with the most support on Question 2. It was selected after a second round of counting.

Question 2 Round 1

In the first round of counting for Question 2:

29.45% (244,973) of valid votes supported Dual Member Proportional (DMP), 41.24% (343,038) supported Mixed Member Proportional (MMP), and 29.31% (243,749) supported Rural-Urban Proportional (RUP).

DMP

29.45%

MMP

41.24%

343,038

RUP

29.31%

243,749

Question 2 Round 2

Per the Electoral Reform Referendum 2018 Regulation, a second round of counting was required for Question 2 because no system won a majority of first preferences. RUP had the fewest first preferences, so it was eliminated and its votes were transferred to their second preferences.

In the second round of counting for Question 2, 36.95% (288,068) of valid votes supported Dual Member Proportional (DMP), and 63.05% (491,630) supported Mixed Member Proportional (MMP).

DMP

36.95%

288,068

MMP

63.05%

491,630

A total of 1,391,423 ballots were considered. There were 1,378,753 valid votes for Question 1, and 831,760 valid votes for Question 2. 2,461 ballots were rejected.

I sent this email to Jen Holmwood but received an auto-reply suggesting I forward it to you.

I am with CBC's Power & Politics. We would like to see if Mr. Horgan would potentially be available to come on our show tomorrow to discuss the referendum results.

If you could let me know his availability that would be great.

Thanks,

Hi Bijoy,

I would like to bring to your attention a matter of grave concern in regards to the way Parliamentary Secretary Ravi Kahlon was treated on air today. To backtrack a bit, I received a request by phone (3:36 incoming call) for Premier John Horgan yesterday to discuss Proportional Representation from producer Kiran Singh. He was advised that Premier Horgan was out of town, but that we could offer Deputy Premier Carole James instead.

This offer was refused by Mr. Singh saying Mr. Thind is only interested in the Premier (outgoing calls yesterday to producer Kiran Singh at 3:49 pm and 3:54 pm). This morning, Mr. Thind while commenting on this issue said that the government had offered no one from their side despite trying. This of course was incorrect information as Minister James was offered for comment yesterday. I spoke with Kiran again this morning (8:54 am outgoing call) pointing this out and he texted me back (8:55 am) asking whether someone was available to comment. Despite it being really short notice, we made PS Ravi Kahlon available but while on air when he tried to clarify that the government was available for comment and especially Deputy Premier Carole James, he was interrupted and told that what PA Kahlon was saying was not correct and that the government hadn't offered anyone.

We understand that there might have been miscommunication between Kiran Singh and Mr. Thind, but nevertheless this reprimanding of an MLA on air especially when he was right is of grave concern. We would like RED FM to clarify this on air when the Harjinder Thind program next airs (Monday) at the beginning of the program that the government had offered a spokesperson and despite that request being flatly refused, we still offered someone at very short notice. We would also like it to be mentioned that MLA Ravi Kahlon was not talking out of turn and was absolutely correct. The government has always taken requests from Red FM seriously and has made available a number of Ministers and MLAs. But to have our elected officials treated in this fashion and to have incorrect information relayed to a host as in this case is very unfortunate and unbecoming of a credible news outlet. I hope you will take notice of this and ensure that on air programming is unbiased and respectful.

Subject: rough draft statement

Hi all,

I pulled together a short draft statement on the storm aftermath and extended power outages. Thoughts?

The warming centres I listed were from a text Liam sent based on a morning update – don't know if there is more recent / more information to add on the emergency response.

Rough Draft Statement:

The Windstorm on December 20th caused significant damage to BC's electrical transmission infrastructure in the Lower Mainland and Vancouver Island.s.13 BC Hydro crews and other personnel who have been working around the clock to respond to the storm.

BC Hydro has indicated that this storm is one of worst they have experienced in 20 years and while more than 500,000 customers have had power restored, 66,000 remain without power. Due to the extent of the damage and the number of trees down across roads, restoration of services to some communities and homes will take several days.

Emergency Operations Centres have been activated in affected areas and warming centres have been opened^{s.13}

I would ask all British Columbians in affected areas to ensure that they have supplies and plans in place to remain safe during this difficult period, and to please check in on neighbours, particularly anyone in a vulnerable situation ^{s.13}

I would also remind people that downed power lines should be considered live and members of the public should keep back at least 10 meters.

I know that an extended power outage during the holiday season presents particular challenges for many and want to ensure British Columbians that provincial staff as well as BC Hydro personnel will continue to work to restore power as quickly as possible.

Hi Kim,

A very nice message from the Premier translated in two languages, but neither one is French.

Good afternoon!

Attached is the proposed poster (being mailed to all B.C. schools, mayors, rec centres and libraries) for the 2019 Premier's Awards for Excellence in Education.

I'm seeking both MO and PO approval.

My apologies, but program staff are hoping this can be signed off on as soon as possible due to Queen's Printer and BC Mail deadlines to time their distribution with the Jan. 7 NR launching the nomination period.

I told them you and the PO were likely swamped right now, so this might not be realistic.

Thanks for all,
Erin

Hi Jackie

This looks great. The two small tweaks we'd like to see are to lighten the blue and/or increase the visibility/contrast of the mountains, and also raise the mountains higher in the backdrop

If the mountains intersect with the provincial logos perhaps the logos might need to be in colour to be better seen, perhaps it is possible to try that both ways, with the logos in colour and as is.

Let me know
Thanks

Things are all lined up for the writ on Jan 2.

LG's people have suggested 9:30 am would be a good time to effect this.

Just thought I would check in and see what the plans re Premier and official announcement would be?

Thanks.

Don
