Mr. Horgan

I voted for you but I am so disappointed now in regards to your Christmas plans, and it doesn't matter a bit that you've walked them back. So many people in B.C, my family included, have been following strict restrictions and you of all people are making plans to get together with family members? I am beyond disgusted.

And no longer a supporter.

Subject: The Rules Don't Matter?

Hello,

s.22 here again, resident of B.C.

Now I understand why you refuse to take stronger action. You don't think its a big deal and the measures needed don't matter. Why do I believe this? Because of the 1130 interview where you said you're son and daughter in law would be over for Christmas dinner.

While I know you've now walked it back because of the massive political blow out, I mean because because of the concerns of your daughter, it still clearly shows that you're taking a cavalier "this are fine" approach and they are most certainly not.

Have you thought about the literal hundreds of family's who will have lost a loved one this year and hundreds more who will lose a loved one during the holiday season? Literally hundreds will die between now and the end of the year given current trends. For years to come, the rest if their lives, the holidays will be a reminder of the most painful part of their lives, when they couldn't be there as a loved one dies.

They are helpless to stop this from happening, but you're not. You are in a position of power, you're the literal leader of the province. You have the most power. Please, use that to do the right thing and do something.

Look at New Zealand. They are now officially COVID free, and how did they do that? With strict measures the government put in place to stop the spread of the virus.

Why, seriously why, like I want an answer why, are we not doing the same thing? It would be difficult, challenging and one of the hardest things we've faced, but if we take similar measures we can stop COVID in its tracks. They have proven it works, meanwhile we, all other provinces and most of the world have proved half measures doesn't work.

Lives can be saved. Please take strong and strict measures to save people. I am begging you. That would be the best Christmas present I could get.

Thank you,

s.22

Premier Horgan

It's so great that you and your buddy, Adrian Dix, agreed you could circumvent the rules and see your son and daughter in law this Christmas. Meanwhile my wife can't be with her parents (who live 2 minute from us). Her father has severe Parkinson's disease and may not see next Christmas

I'm glad you found a way to see your loved ones in person. I hope my wife gets to spend next Christmas with her dad. Unlike you, we have always planned on following the guidelines. Even though we are both teachers and you don't give a shit about our safety

Solid leadership

Dear Premier Horgan,

I have just read that you planned to have your son and daughter-in-law over for Christmas, and only when challenged did you change your plan. I have been a strong supporter of yours and your leadership as I considered you a steady hand in charge of our province. I am now left with the choice that either you don't think the rules apply to you and your family, or you did not take the trouble to, or were unable to understand them. As the Premier, none of these possibilities is compatible with being considered competent to lead our province through this pandemic.

I would like to be angry but am really just so very very disappointed.

Yours, s.22
